

This does not quite work. Here's what I did in Safari on the PC:

1. Go to https://www.mountaineers.org/learn/courses-clinics-seminars#c9=&b_start=0

The screenshot shows the website for The Mountaineers. The top navigation bar includes links for Shop, Blog, Events, Donate, Log in, and Join. Below this is a main menu with categories: LEARN, EXPLORE, CONSERVE, VOLUNTEERS, YOUTH, MEMBERSHIP, and ABOUT. The page title is "COURSES, CLINICS & SEMINARS" with a subtitle "search results". A search bar on the left contains the text "Leader, keywords, etc.". Below the search bar are filters for "All items" and "in current results". A list of categories is provided under "I want to learn...", including Backpacking (5), Climbing (15), Day Hiking (5), Exploring Nature (2), First Aid (5), Navigation (8), Sailing (1), Scrambling (2), Sea Kayaking (12), Skiing/Snowboarding (1), Snowshoeing (1), and Youth (28). Another section, "I'd like it to be...", lists difficulty levels: For Beginners (Getting Started Series) (59), Easy (6), Moderate (9), and Challenging (11). The main content area displays search results for "Trail Emergency Preparedness for Hikers and Backpackers (For B3 Students and Qualifying Activity Leaders Only) - Foothills - 2015" and "Basic Sea Kayaking Course - Olympia - 2015". Each result includes a small image, the course title, dates, prerequisites, and availability information. The availability for the first course is 3 participants, and for the second is 1 participant. The third result, "Seattle Climbing Lecture Series", has an availability of 21 participants.
