

Navigating Complexity: Advanced Clinical Mentorship in Attachment, Trauma, and Occupational Therapy

Live, Interactive Clinical Consultation Sessions for Occupational Therapists and OTAs

COURSE OVERVIEW

Tier 3 consists of ten live, interactive clinical consultation sessions conducted over nine weeks. Each two-hour session centers on one participant's comprehensive case presentation using the ATTACH OT Case Study Framework. Participants will present their case presentation according to specific guidelines provided in advance, followed by interactive discussion to focus on collaborative clinical reasoning, discussion, and advanced intervention planning rather than simply presenting information.

WHAT YOU WILL LEARN

- Analyze complex pediatric cases through multiple lenses, including attachment, trauma, sensory processing, development, nervous system regulation, family relationships, and environmental influences.
- Identify the key factors affecting participation and determine which clinical priorities to address first.
- Strengthen collaborative clinical reasoning through authentic case presentations, reflective discussion, and shared insights across diverse clinical situations.
- Adapt intervention plans thoughtfully when initial approaches are ineffective or new information emerges.
- Integrate evidence, clinical observation, therapeutic intuition, and occupational therapy reasoning to create individualized interventions with greater confidence, flexibility, and compassion.

PREREQUISITES

- Practicing OT or OTA,
- Minimum BA, BS Degree or equivalent (OT students eligible to attend)

Learning Objectives

- Participants will be able to assess complex pediatric case presentations by integrating developmental, attachment, trauma, sensory processing, relational, and occupational perspectives to develop comprehensive clinical formulations.
- Participants will be able to interpret assessment findings, clinical observations, caregiver narratives, and occupational performance data to differentiate underlying factors influencing participation and prioritize intervention needs.
- Participants will be able to formulate individualized, occupation-centered intervention plans that integrate neurobiological, relational, sensory, developmental, and evidence-informed approaches while supporting caregiver collaboration and therapeutic safety.
- Participants will be able to validate their own clinical reasoning through collaborative case consultation, integrating peer discussion, current evidence, and therapeutic self-awareness to strengthen ethical, occupation-centered decision-making in complex clinical practice.
- Participants will be able to develop and defend an integrated clinical reasoning pathway for a complex pediatric case, demonstrating how assessment findings, occupational priorities, caregiver perspectives, and evidence-informed practice guide intervention sequencing, adaptation, and measurement of functional outcomes.

INSTRUCTOR

Maude Le Roux – Maude Le Roux is a global trainer in multiple methodologies and a mentor to therapists from multidisciplinary teams. She opened her practice, A Total Approach in Glen Mills, PA, USA in 2001. Maude started her training career in 2007 and opened her online academy in 2019.

She has designed the Developmental Pathways Model (DPM), which she applies to her own unique assessment and intervention protocol for major diagnosis such as Dyspraxia, ADHD and Executive Functions, Autism, Reading and Writing Disorders, and Trauma and Attachment. Maude served 9 years on the Board of Directors for ATTACH and currently serves on their Advisory Board. She also serves on the Advisory Board for LSWorks (Neuralign program). She is a co-author of two books and more recently wrote a chapter on Trauma and the Body in “Healing Connections” which launched in September 2024. Maude received an award for “Continued child advocacy” through the ATTACH organization in September 2024. She also received the Champion Award through ICDL in November 2024. Maude has a “whole child” approach to care and intervention and equipping the child, while empowering the parent is at the core of who she is as a clinician and trainer.
