

UNITED STATES MILITARY ACADEMY SEEKS
PROFESSOR, USMA, AND DEPUTY HEAD
DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL SCIENCES

The United States Military Academy (USMA) is accepting applications for Professor, USMA, and Deputy Head in the Department of Social Sciences. Principal responsibilities of the position include academic leadership, teaching, scholarship, and administration. Specific duties include teaching undergraduate courses in political science, economics and/or public policy; supervision of faculty and academic programs; curriculum development, faculty development, service on faculty committees, and research. Supervision of the Department's Centers of Excellence (Office of Economic and Manpower Analysis and the Combating Terrorism Center) are included in responsibilities. Applicants should possess a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, business administration, economics, or a closely related field, with extensive college or professional teaching experience preferred. Applicants should possess an exemplary military record including significant leadership experience, experience in operational units, and advanced military schooling (Intermediate Level Education as a minimum). Applicants should demonstrate a high capacity for excellence in teaching, scholarship, faculty development, and service. Applicants must have a strong commitment to the educational, military, physical and ethical development of cadets. The selection committee will evaluate breadth and depth of military experience, academic achievement, scholarly potential, and evidence of leadership and vision. The officer selected for this position may serve at the discretion of the Secretary of the Army until age 64. The minimum rank to apply is lieutenant colonel.

Officers interested in applying for this position should contact CPT Andrea Mazda, Search Committee Secretary, United States Military Academy, West Point, New York 10996 by mail; email andrea.mazda@westpoint.edu; commercial telephone (201) 427-0800. Completed applications must be received no later than 30 September 2024.

The United States Military Academy is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer.
Women and minority officers are encouraged to apply.