Project Purpose	The purpose of our Serve Nights is to invite our middle school and high school students of the Kroc Center CDA to be the hands and feet of Jesus, not just a youth group member.
Project Description	The Connection Serve Night happens the last Wednesday of every month. Instead of meeting and having Bible study every week for youth group, our students have a deep passion to serve their city. From that heart beat, we decided to set up a serve night for our middle school and high school students at the Kroc CDA. We meet at 6:00 p.m. and have food ready for our students and leaders to eat. We gather for a description of the night and prayer, then head out. We have done everything from playing BINGO at an assisted living home, feed dorm students at North Idaho College, handed cocoa, coffee and cookies out to people who use our public transit, and shoveled snow on winter days here in North Idaho. St. Patrick's Day Green Kettles

Project Purpose:

This springtime fundraiser is a one to two day event using green kettles and volunteers also wearing green, ringing bells at sites that celebrate St. Patrick's Day.

Project Description:

The Green Kettle Campaign satisfies those volunteers who didn't get quite enough bell ringing at Christmas. It also appeals to those who like being outside in spring weather. We identified approximately 20 sites, grocery stores and restaurants and obtained permission to set up our stands for this one day, St. Patrick's Day. Some volunteers ring all day and others work in shifts; 11:00 – 2:00, 2:00 – 4:00 and 4:00 – 7:00. We have local "celebrity" bell ringers at several sites and most volunteers dress in the spirit of the occasion. The newspapers and radio stations have given us free publicity, mostly because of the novelty of the event. We have been holding this event for several years now and usually raise between $3,000 and $5,000 in a single day. We hope to break that record in the coming year.

A temporary shelter for homeless families

Project Purpose

Project Description

We have created a temporary tent city inside a building for homeless families. It is limited to 6 months by the city and was created on short notice to shelter homeless families during the winter. We decided to set up tents inside the building so each family would have privacy and defined space. It is a 24/7 shelter so families with young children have a place to stay during the day.

Project Name	It Just Takes One - Annual Giving Campaign
Project Purpose	The purpose of the “It just takes one” giving campaign is to raise funds to help support The Salvation Army Boys & Girls Clubs of Louisville. These funds directly support the operations of all four clubs.
Project Description	The most effective way to raise money is through the person visit “face to face” ask. Your chances of getting what you want increase greatly when you are able to make a personal appeal. There is some risk of being told no, but if you do not ask, it will not happen. A personal visit not only conveys the information most effectively, but also demonstrates respect for the prospect properly recognizing their value and dignity. Quite often when you receive a letter, the individual will make a token gift well below their capability, because a letter alone says, “our cause is not that important.” You need a well developed plan and a personal approach that will set the pace for the level and success your campaign will receive. You will need not only the staff to buy-in, but most importantly you need your Council/Board to be invested in terms of time, effort and support.

Project Name	Stuff the Stocking
Project Purpose	To engage the community in stuffing stockings with toys for families receiving Christmas assistance from The Salvation Army in the Piedmont Triad area of North Carolina which includes 7 Corps and one Area Command (3 Corps).
Project Description	The Salvation Army teamed up with a local company, Sonoco Corrflex, to design a display to be used for the "Stuff the Stocking" campaign. The display was a fireplace with a mantle that hung stockings and included the logos of all the campaign partners. Sonoco Corrflex designed, produced and then sent volunteers to assemble the fireplace displays - all for free. TSA also worked with 19 local Chick-fil-A restaurants and 12 Mattress Firm locations to place the displays in their retail locations across the Piedmont Triad area. The community then picked up the stockings, filled them, and returned them. In all, more than 8,200 stockings were filled to help families receiving Christmas assistance from TSA. The media partner, WFMY television, donated more than $82,000 in advertising for the event which included The Salvation Army's red shield.
Project Categories	Public Relations & Communications, Volunteers, and Holidays
Approximate Community Size	> 750,000

Project Name	Sealy FOX8 Holiday Concerts
Project Purpose	To raise money, awareness and collect food for The Salvation Army in Piedmont Triad area of North Carolina which includes 7 Corps and one Area Command (3 Corps). This concert series is free to the public with their canned food donation.
Project Description	The Sealy FOX8 Holiday Concerts is a free concert series that takes place over two nights in December to benefit TSA. They feature the Greensboro Symphony at the Greensboro Coliseum and Winston-Salem Symphony at the Winston-Salem Coliseum. The holiday concerts are free to the public with a canned food donation to benefit TSA. Last year more than 20,000 people attended the two performances and donated 730,874 cans of food. During the concert, TSA is able to share how it is "Doing the Most Good" and make an appeal for donations, after which volunteers assist in the passing of buckets down each row. In less than 3 minutes, TSA collected $13,063.08. The concerts are more than a way to collect cans of food and money - the increased awareness of what TSA is doing in the community is enormous. The media partner, FOX8 television, donates more than $500,000 in advertising for the event which includes The Salvation Army's red shield.
Project Categories	Fundraising, Public Relations & Communications, Doing the Most Good Branding Promise, Special Events, Volunteers, and Holidays

Project Name	Give a Kid a Coat
Project Purpose	To collect new and used coats to give out to anyone who may need one, free of charge. The Salvation Army in the Piedmont Traid area of North Carolina, which includes 7 Corps and one Area Command (3 Corps), teamed up with a local dry cleaners to clean and mend the coats for free.
Project Description	The Salvation Army partnered with local dry cleaning franchise, A Cleaner World, for the Give a Kid a Coat campaign to collect new and used coats. The campaign kicked off in the end of October as colder weather started to set in, and ran for 6 weeks. Community members were encouraged to drop off a coat at any of the 24 A Cleaner World locations. The dry cleaners then cleaned and mended the coats, free of charge. TSA picked up the coats from each location. In the end, 27,817 coats were donated. TSA coordinated the distribution of the coats to anyone needing one. The media partner, FOX8 television, donated more than $40,000 in advertising for the campaign which included The Salvation Army's red shield. TSA's partnership with A Cleaner World has since grown. The dry cleaning franchise is now a permanent drop off location for the community to donate clothing and household items to TSA family stores.
