About the Author.....	398
-----------------------	-----

Before there was a Rose Bowl... before the establishment of the Davis Cup, before baseball's first World Series, the first Indy 500, and decades before golf's Masters, the best players in tennis were congregating in the southwest corner of Ohio for a very special tournament.

It was called "The Cincinnati Open," and organizers advertised their creation in national publications, including the USTA's American Lawn Tennis Bulletin, hoping to draw the best players.

And a century later the event is alive and well, still attracting the best players and entertaining fans.

Today, it is arguably the oldest tournament in the United States still played in its original city. However, as the word "arguably" in the preceding sentence suggests, this distinction needs a bit of explanation.

The oldest American tournament is the U.S. National Championships, now known as the US Open. The distinction unique to Cincinnati, however, is that its tournament is still played in its original city.

The U.S. National Championships were first played at the venerable Newport Casino in Newport, Rhode Island, in 1881.

Ironically, the Casino sat approximately 20 miles from Narragansett Pier, Rhode Island, where in 1874 vacationing Cincinnatians saw tennis played for the first time. One of those Cincinnatians, Stewart Shillito, was credited with bringing the sport back to Cincinnati.

In 1878, he built a tennis court – the first one in Cincinnati – at his father's home in the suburb of Mt. Auburn. Interest in the sport grew rapidly in the city, and in 1880 a group of players established the Cincinnati Tennis Club, which is today one of the oldest active clubs in the nation.

The U.S. Nationals continued its run at Newport until 1915, when it moved 175 miles southwest to Forest Hills, New York, to find a home at the West Side Tennis Club.

Back in Newport, the intrepid tennis enthusiasts wasted no time in replacing the U.S. Nationals with another tournament for their hometown.

Only two weeks before the inaugural U.S. Nationals at Forest Hills, the "First Annual Newport Invitational" was held at the Newport Casino.

It featured a 50-man draw in singles, and was won by Richard Norris Williams II, who beat Maurice McLaughlin in four sets in the final. There was no women's competition. Today that event is known as the Hall of Fame Tennis Championships.

In contrast, the Cincinnati Open was played at the Avondale Athletic Club from 1899 to 1902, and then moved two miles away – to the Cincinnati Tennis Club at the corner of Dexter and Wold Avenues in the suburb of East Walnut Hills.

With a few exceptions, the tournament was played at that location for the next six decades. Today, it is played in the Cincinnati suburb of Mason, about 20 miles from the spot where the tournament's first ball was struck in 1899.

What does all this mean?

Maybe it means Cincinnatians are adept at identifying a good thing and holding on to it.

Maybe it means Cincinnatians are so adverse to change they've kept the tournament going over the years simply in order to avoid doing something else.

Whatever the reason, the simple fact is that the best players in tennis are still finding their way to Cincinnati more than 100 years after their first arrival.

The names have changed. The game has changed. But one thing remains: they still come to Cincinnati.

If nothing else, that makes Cincinnati a true tennis town, with a tournament history unlike any other city in America.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

As was stated in the first edition of this book, assembling more than 100 years of lost history isn't easy, and it's not something one does alone. Among those who were particularly helpful was Steve Headley (who researched thousands of articles on microfilm at the Public Library of Cincinnati and Hamilton County), Joanne & J. Howard "Bumpy" Frazer (who donated a collection of drawsheets from the Open Era which formed the backbone of this book), Frank Phelps of Philadelphia (who provided a peek into the past via his collection of ancient and exceedingly rare tennis annuals), and Brian Nester (who helped review the book and supplied additional information).

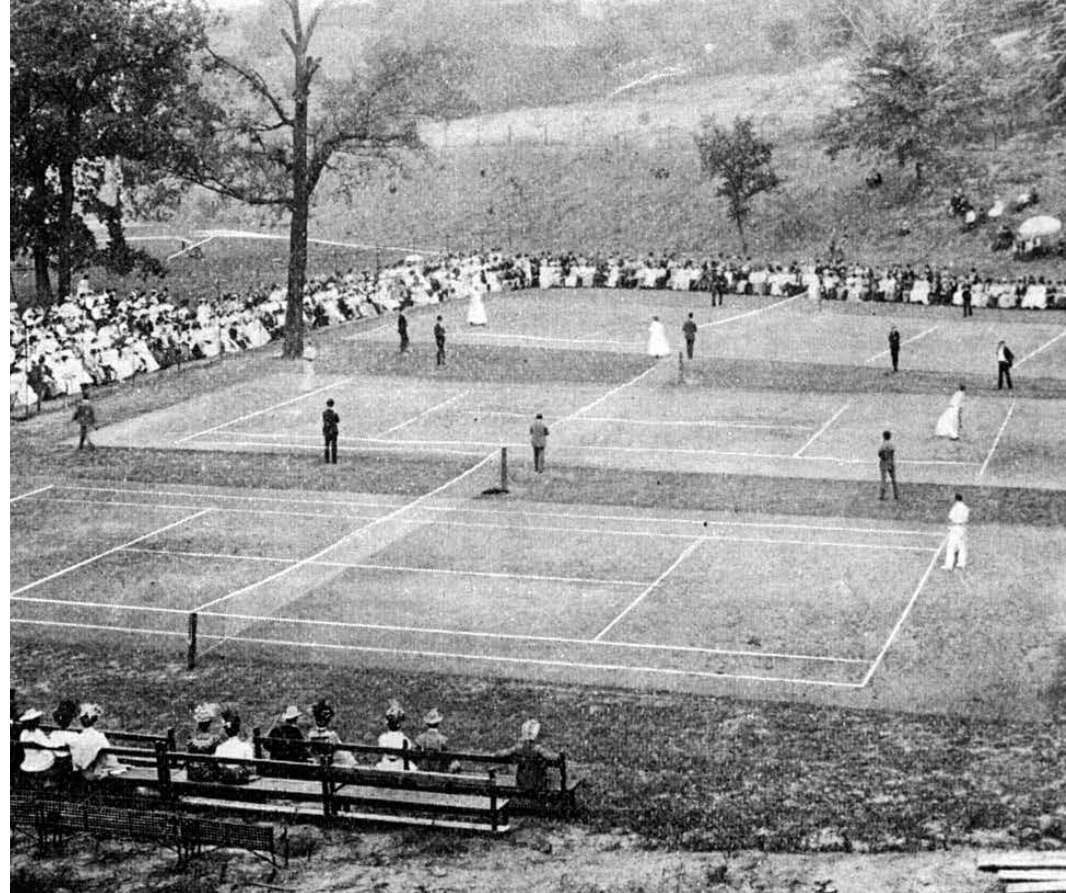

However, there are two people who have expended the most effort, brain-power, and expertise to make this possible: Will Sikes (former Director of Marketing for the Western & Southern Open) and Pete Holtermann (of HolterMedia and a long-time volunteer and contractor for the tournament).

“The tennis tourney Tuesday was marked with brilliant and fast playing on the part of the contestants, awakening the greatest interest in what promises to be the most successful tournament

ever held in Cincinnati, if not in the entire West.”

– The September 19, 1899, edition of the Cincinnati Times Star, reporting on the tournament's first day of existence.

HISTORY – The Tournament, Year-by-Year

1899 The tournament begins at the Avondale Athletic Club, located on what is presently the site of Xavier University. The first tournament is known simply as the "Cincinnati Open." The word "Open" in the name indicates the tournament is open to all players, not just those from Cincinnati. In this era, the American tennis circuit consists of state tournaments and national tournaments. Many of the state tournaments were open only to players from that state. Therefore, as an "open" tournament, the Cincinnati event attracts players from all over the country.

Thirty-six players enter the men's singles field (32 in main draw with four playing in the "preliminary" round), making the draw larger than the 1899 U.S. National Championships. Players in the preliminary rounds are J.B. Fenley, George DeCamp, Robert Mitchell and Nat Wright. DeCamp beats Fenley to advance to the main draw, and Mitchell beats Wright. DeCamp and Mitchell play each other in the first round, with Mitchell winning 6-2, 6-3. All men's and women's singles and doubles matches are "best-of-three-sets" until the finals, which are all best-of-five. The playing surface is described as being "elastic clay and brick dust."

Nat Emerson, the champion of the Ohio state tournament, becomes the first men's champion, and Myrtle McAteer of Pittsburgh becomes the first women's champion by defeating future Hall of Famer Juliette Atkinson of Brooklyn in the final. McAteer, the reigning U.S. women's doubles champion and the "international champion," then teams with Atkinson to take the women's doubles title over two Cincinnatians: Winona Closterman and Julia Doherty. The tournament also includes mixed doubles.

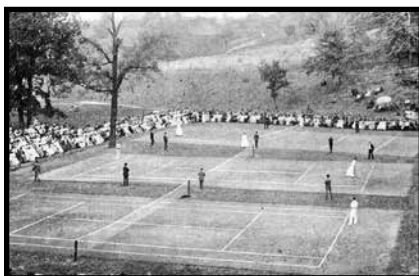

Also, in what would be a trend many years later, there are six "doubles-only" players on the men's side.

Edith Parker of Chicago also plays in the ladies singles and the Cincinnati Enquirer reports that she and McAteer "rank among the first four women (tennis) experts in the country," although national rankings for women do not start until 1913.

There is no trophy or purse, but players compete for these valuable prizes: Gentlemen's Singles – 1st prize: Rookwood ale set – a tankard and six mugs (cost: $150, which equates to $5,200 in today's dollars. However, in today's Rookwood market, this set could fetch $10,000 if auctioned now); 2nd prize: Dress suit traveling case, with toilet kit; Consolation prize: Rookwood tobacco jar. Ladies' Singles

The tournament started as the Cincinnati Open at the Avondale Athletic Club in 1899. The land is presently occupied by Xavier University, and the clubhouse in the photo was the university's first student center.

– 1st prize: Rookwood vase (cost: $100); 2nd prize: Three-piece silver berry set; Gentlemen's Doubles – 1st prize: Seven piece silver toilet set; 2nd prize: Diamond scarf pins; Ladies' Doubles – 1st prize: Gold belt buckles; 2nd prize: Cut glass silver toilet bottles; Mixed Doubles – 1st prize: Pearl pendant, cut-glass decanter; 2nd prize: "pim" tennis rackets.

Attendance over the week is described as "excellent," and 2,000 spectators are estimated to be in attendance on the final day. As the Cincinnati Times-Star reports: "Just think of it! The leading tennis players of the United States are here!" Several people rotate the position of tournament director during the week. The first person to hold the title is Ralph Holterhof. He is followed during the week by Dudley Sutphin, Harry MacKoy, A. Bart Horton, Frank Williams and Frank Garrison. George DeCamp is in charge of the facilities, and John B. Keys is selected as the tournament's first referee.

The 1903 tournament as seen in Cosmopolitan Magazine.

1900 Myrtle McAteer of Pittsburgh, the singles champion at the 1900 U.S. National Championships (what is now called the US Open), wins her second women's singles title, becoming the first player – male or female – to retain a title in Cincinnati. She also repeats as ladies doubles champion, another first. Players in the 28-man men's draw include Raymond D. Little of New York, Nat Emerson of Cincinnati (also winner of the Ohio State Championships), and Fred Alexander of New York (the Western Section doubles champion with Little). (The USTA's Western Section is the current USTA/Midwest Section, encompassing Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and parts of Illinois, Wisconsin, Kentucky, and West Virginia.) Those three men and John Roche of Chicago reach the semifinals.

Wright & Ditson's Lawn Tennis Guide states "The courts upon which the matches were held are perhaps the most beautifully situated in the country. Steep hills sloping upward on three sides form a natural amphitheater and offer a vantage ground for a perfect view of the play below."

Champion & finalist prizes were:
Gentlemen's Singles – 1st prize: A silver loving cup; 2nd place: a dressing case.
Gentlemen's Doubles – 1st prize: alligator dress suit case; 2nd prize: field glasses.
Ladies' Singles – 1st prize: a silver chafing dish; 2nd place: colonial silver candle sticks.
Ladies' Doubles – 1st prize: silver jewel cases; 2nd place: "dull silver" candlesticks.

1901 The Ohio Lawn Tennis Association changes the name of the tournament to the "Tri-State Tournament scene in 1904.

Tennis Tournament." The media refers to this year's tournament as the "third-annual Tri-State." It is in this way that the name "Tri-State" is applied, albeit posthumously, to the first two tournaments.

Along with a new name, the tournament now has a trophy: a sterling silver bowl called the "Governor's Bowl" in honor of the board of governors of the Avondale Athletic Club. It is considered the finest trophy in competition at the time. The Cincinnati Enquirer reports, "The Governor's Bowl is the best and most expensive trophy in the United States. It was purchased by Cincinnati insurance agent Charles J. Iredell in 1900 for $500 at Theodore B. Sparr's in New York. It is a massive, gold-lined bowl, over two-feet in diameter with a beautiful embossed design of grapevines and Bacchus heads." (That $500 in 1900 would equal $17,000 today.)

It is inscribed with both names for the tournament: "The Cincinnati Open Tennis Tournament" and "Tri-State Championship."

Future Davis Cup player Raymond D. Little plays through the 32-man field (the challenge round format will not start until 1902) and successfully defends his title, the first men's singles player to do so. He also is the first player to have his name inscribed on the bowl. Fred Alexander and Little also defend their doubles title, becoming the first men's doubles team to retain a title. It is the first time in tournament history that both men's titles are retained from the previous year.

Future Hall of Famer Juliette Atkinson of Brooklyn, New York, reaches her second singles final here, only to lose for the second time. This year, she loses to Ohio State Championship singles champ and a 23-year-old Cincinnati named Winona Closterman. Atkinson pairs with fellow future Hall of Famer Marion Jones of Nevada (daughter of Senator John P. Jones of that state), to take her second doubles crown here.

1902 A new addition to the tournament is the "Challenge Round" in men's singles. Under this arrangement, the singles champion from the previous year does not play until the tournament

Kreigh Collins of Chicago reached seven finals in Cincinnati between 1901 and 1905. His eyesight began to fail in 1904, and in 1909 he was killed when struck by a street car in Chicago.

Martha Kinsey reached nine Cincinnati finals: four doubles finals, three singles finals and two mixed doubles finals. She won every doubles final she played in Cincinnati, and won one singles title as well.

Ray Little won more titles (11) than anyone: three singles, six doubles, and one mixed doubles title with May Sutton.

Future Hall of Famer Beals Wright won singles titles in Cincinnati in 1904, 1905 and 1906.

1904 U.S. Championships winner May Sutton chose to play Cincinnati in 1905 rather than defend that title.

is over, and then plays against whomever wins the tournament.

Raymond D. Little, the 1901 champion, beats Kreigh Collins of Chicago, the top player in the USLTA's Western Section, in the Challenge Round and wins the title. The match goes five sets (3-6, 6-8, 6-4, 6-1, 6-2) – the first five-set singles match in tournament history. The Challenge Round format would last at the tournament until 1917.

E.R. Patterson of Canada enters the men's singles and becomes the first non-American ever to enter the tournament. Reuben Hunt of California reaches the final of the challenge round before falling to Collins. Reuben's son, Joe Hunt, would go on to be enshrined in the International Tennis Hall of Fame. Winona Closterman wins the mixed doubles title and is a finalist in both the women's doubles and singles. Closterman loses to Maud Banks of Philadelphia in singles and Banks and Hallie Champlin of Chicago in doubles. Three weeks later, Closterman and Banks team up and reach the doubles final at the U.S. National Championships.

Also, the first men's doubles match to go five sets is played. In the final, Ernie Diehl and Nat Emerson defeat Royal Miller and Lincoln Mitchell: 3-6, 4-6, 7-5, 6-4, 6-3.

1903 The tournament moves from the Avondale Athletic Club to the Cincinnati Tennis Club at the corner of Wold and Dexter Avenues in East Walnut Hills, which was founded in 1880 and is still active today, making it one of the oldest clubs in the nation. Members include future US President William Howard Taft and James Norris Gamble (inventor of Ivory Soap). Kreigh Collins of Chicago slices through the 32-man field (30 battled in the preliminary round) to win the men's title over Raymond D. Little. On the final day, it is reported that "there was scarcely enough standing room for many who came to view the finals." In men's doubles, every match is best-of-five sets, whereas in the past only the finals were best-of-five sets. This would be the format for men's doubles until 1912 when only the semifinals and finals would be best-of-five.

On the women's side, Winona Closterman defeats Myrtle McAteer of Pittsburgh to take the singles title and a "silver-handled silken parasol". Miss McAteer wins a "silver belt" for her efforts.

1904 Tournament officials wait in suspense as Kreigh Collins of Chicago tries to decide if he is well enough to return to Cincinnati to defend his title. Finally, on Thursday, September 8, Mrs. Ruth Collins sends a telegram to the tournament and to the Cincinnati Enquirer stating that her husband is too ill to compete. In fact, her letter states he is so ill he will not play tennis again for the rest of the year. In a battle of southpaws, Beals Wright of Boston beats L. Harry Waidner of Chicago in the final of the regular draw in men's singles. He takes the title and his first "leg" on the Governor's Bowl.

The Cincinnati Enquirer reports "Such a number of noted tennis players from cities throughout the United States has been entered that the Tri-State Tournament ranks very high, being only surpassed in importance by the tennis tournament of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association at Newport, Rhode Island (now known as the US Open)." The Cincinnati Commercial Tribune reports "The Cincinnati open tourney is now recognized as the largest event of its kind in the United States. It is far superior to the Western Championships held every year in Chicago."

Wright & Ditson's Tennis Annual calls Cincinnati "one of the chief tennis centers of the United States."

A snapshot of the 1908 men's singles final. Nat Emerson, seen above, wins the match, but not the tournament. Between 1902 and 1916, the tournament features a Challenge Round, in which the defending champion sits out until one player emerges from the tournament field. That player, Emerson in 1908, then "challenges" the champion from the previous year. In 1908, the defending champion, Robert LeRoy of New York, beats Emerson to retain his title.

Ironically, the "Wright" of Wright & Ditson's is George Wright, the man who founded the Cincinnati Reds baseball club in 1869, along with his brother Harry Wright. George also is the father of Beals Wright, who would win the Cincinnati tournament each year between 1904 and 1906, and Irving C. Wright, who would win the mixed doubles title and reach the doubles finals in 1907.

1905 Wright & Ditson's Lawn Tennis Annual states, "The most brilliant and successful tournament ever held in the West was played August 26 to September 4 on the courts of the Cincinnati Tennis Club." At the end of the tournament, the Cincinnati Enquirer reports "The week has been a strenuous one for the followers of the game. No less than 124 matches were played in all the events, not counting in the consolation games. Apart from marvelous playing of Miss Sutton, the spectators had the opportunity of seeing some of the foremost players in the country, including Miss Homans, Miss McAteer, Robert Leroy, Raymond D. Little (and) Kreigh Collins.... It was the most successful tournament the city has ever known, and means that subsequent ones in the coming years will bring additional world-famed players to the local courts. In fact, it is the consensus of opinion among the visitors that Cincinnati will eventually become the Mecca for tennis players in this country."

Boston's Beals Wright retains his singles title, and Little and LeRoy of New York retain their doubles title. It is the second time in tournament history both men's titles have been successfully defended.

Californian May Sutton, fresh from winning the Wimbledon title, wins the women's title. Although she won the U.S. Championships in 1904, she chooses to play in Cincinnati rather than defend that title in 1905. She arrives in Cincinnati a week before the tournament and it is reported that her "daily practice at the various local clubs aroused the enthusiasm" of those who witnessed them, according to Wright & Ditson's Lawn Tennis Annual.

Sutton plays six matches to win the title (including the Challenge Round) and loses only one game in all six. (She wins 60 of 61 games – 56 in succession.) She beats a woman listed only as "Miss Smith" 6-0, 6-0, in the preliminary round, Ruth Cowing 6-0, 6-0 in the first round, Helen Ratterman 6-0, 6-0 in the second round, Marjorie Dodd 6-0, 6-0 in the semifinals, Helen Homans 6-0, 6-1 in the final round, and Myrtle McAteer 6-0, 6-0 in the Challenge Round. In that Challenge Round match, McAteer never reached "40" in any game.

Crowds swarm the Cincinnati Tennis Club for the tournament that includes noted players Little, Collins and Wright. The men play in a 64-draw for the first time (not including preliminary rounds). In attendance is George Wright, father of Beals and Irving, who founded and played for the Cincinnati Reds in 1869.

The Cincinnati Commercial Tribune reports, "The five thousand people that crowded and jammed into every seat, on every stair, on house tops and in trees left the grounds feeling that no shot in tennis is impossible."

1906 Wright & Ditson's Lawn Tennis Annual reports "Cincinnati's position as the foremost tennis center of the West was again evidenced" by the 1906 tournament. A total of 180 players enter the tournament in the various draws, making it "the largest lawn tennis tournament in the history of the game," according to the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

This year, the Sutton sisters cause a stir by competing in the same tournament. Two weeks before the start of the tournament, California's Oakland Tribune reports, "In the ladies events, May Sutton will be on hand to defend her title, and her sister, Miss Florence Sutton, is coming all the way from Los Angeles to play in this one tournament.... This is Miss Florence Sutton's first appearance in any tournament east of the Pacific Coast, and tennis experts all over the country will watch her progress with interest." The sisters eventually meet, with May defeating Florence for her second consecutive singles title. She then pairs with Marjorie Dodd to beat Florence for the doubles title as well.

Beals Wright wins the men's singles title, beating Raymond D. Little in five sets. It is the first time there are repeat champions in both men's and women's singles in tournament history.

It is the third singles title for Wright, and in winning that title he "retired" the Governor's Bowl. At most tournaments at the time, it is customary for the tournament to offer a trophy to the players, but to bestow that trophy unto a champion only after that player had won the tournament three times, not necessarily in succession. The practice was called "retiring a trophy" and each title was called a "leg" of the trophy. When a player won three "legs" he/she was allowed to keep the trophy. With his wins in 1904 and 1905, Wright's title this year allows him to retire and take possession of the Bowl.

The bowl was particularly attractive to players, according to the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune, which reports this on Sunday, September 9: "Shortly after the Wright-LeRoy match, the presentation of prizes was made, and Wright took permanent possession of the far-famed elusive Governor's Bowl, and it is now up to the Cincinnati Tennis Club to find a man with the goodwill of tennis at heart, like Colonel Bragg, the donator of the Governor's Bowl, who will hang up another trophy that will attract the stars of the East as this bowl has attracted them."

Another future Hall of Famer, Karl Behr of New York, "plays in sensational form," according to a report in American Lawn Tennis magazine. He reaches the singles semifinals and wins the doubles title with Raymond D. Little.

Crowds for the tournament are larger than expected and many are turned away at the gate. Ads for the event call it "the most important tournament in the West," and newspaper accounts call it "second in importance in the United States, the National Championship being first."

When Sutton wins the title, she is given possession of the women's trophy, described by American Lawn Tennis magazine as "massive and valuable," to keep for the year. She would be given permanent possession of the cup if she won the title in 1907. Unfortunately, Sutton placed it in a car and then "lost trace of it." It hasn't been found to this day.

During the week, Ohio Congressman Nicholas Longworth of Cincinnati is a regular attendee with his bride, Alice Roosevelt Longworth. Mrs. Longworth is the daughter of then-President Theodore Roosevelt, and the two were married only six months earlier in a grand ceremony in the White House. Nicholas went on to be the Republican speaker of the house, and Alice went on to become one of the most outspoken women of the century. The color, "Alice Blue" was highly fashionable, a light blue with a hint of gray to match her eyes. Hundreds of Americans sang or listened to the songs, "Alice Blue Gown" and "Alice, Where Art Thou?". Alice became a popular baby name. Her motto was "If you have nothing good to say, come sit by me." She met every US president since she was six (when her father took her to the White House to meet Benjamin Harrison) and she was reportedly underwhelmed by them all. She became known as the "ambulatory Washington monument," and died at age 97 in 1981.

The Cincinnati Trophy could have been called the "Ivory Soap Bowl."

1907 The tournament has a new men's trophy. After Beals Wright won the 1906 title, he retired the Governor's Bowl, retaining possession of it. For 1907, the tournament pays for the creation of the Charles DeCamp bowl. It is made of solid silver, weighs 17.11 pounds, is 10.5 inches high, and 16 inches in diameter. The cost in 1907 dollars is $500 (approximately $15,300 in today's dollars). It is named after the tournament's correspondence secretary as a "tribute to the man to whose energy and loyal work the success of past Tri-State tournaments had been largely due," according to a report in American Lawn Tennis magazine.

May Sutton wins her third women's singles title and retires the Ladies Trophy. She also wins the mixed doubles crown with partner Irving C. Wright, brother of Beals Wright. The Cincinnati Commercial Tribune reports "The Tri-State tournament, while it carries with it the title of champion of Ohio, Indiana, and Kentucky, brings to Cincinnati the foremost tennis players of the country, and is in fact the largest tournament in the West, outranking all others but the National Tournament which is held at Newport, Rhode Island (today's US Open)."

Total attendance is estimated at 6,000, with 2,000 people attending on the final day. The tournament added 800 seats for the 1907 event after overflow crowds in 1906.

1908 Five separate draws hold 160 entrants for the 1908 tournament. The Wright & Ditson's Lawn Tennis Guide describes the tournament this way: "No matter how many miles separate you from Cincinnati, the last of August should see you on your way to the (Cincinnati tournament) if you wish to experience one of the richest of lawn tennis experiences." Ruth Sanders of Cincinnati, who eventually will win five singles Cincinnati titles, plays in the tournament for the first time. Phillip B. Stanberry is tournament director. The crowd for the men's singles final is estimated at 3,000 by American Lawn Tennis magazine.

According to Wright & Ditson's Lawn Tennis Guide: "In this Middle West feature we find a gallery which for numbers, enthusiasm and 'tennis sense' is certainly not surpassed by any tournament in the United States."

1909 Robert LeRoy wins his third Tri-State title and retires the DeCamp Bowl. Therefore, a new trophy would be put in competition in 1910. Edith Hannam, a British citizen living in Canada, wins the ladies singles title and becomes the first non-American woman to do so. Nat Emerson, the 1899 Cincinnati champion who was ranked as high as No. 7 in the U.S., makes his seventh and final appearance in the semifinals. A former Cincinnati, Emerson had moved to Washington state to be an apple grower, but returns for the tournament.

In 1906, May Sutton took temporary possession of this trophy - described by American Lawn Tennis as "massive and valuable." She placed it in a vehicle and then "lost trace of it." It remains lost to this day. Sutton officially retired the trophy the following year with her third Cincinnati title.

Fashions in tennis wear have changed considerably since Marjorie Dodd (above) won the 1911 ladies singles title.

1910 With Robert LeRoy's retiring of the DeCamp Bowl in 1909, a new trophy is needed for the tournament. The tournament commissions world-famous Tiffany of New York to create a new trophy, and the result is an impressively huge bowl called the "Cincinnati Trophy." The cost for the trophy is $550 (which would equate to $16,700 in today's currency). The money is donated by two of the world's most recognizable names in consumer products: James Norris Gamble and William Cooper Procter.

Procter, a grandson of Procter & Gamble founder William Procter, is president of the company at the time. (He was president from 1907 to 1930 and chairman of the board from 1930 until 1934.) He is credited with conceiving P&G's employee profit-sharing plan, and it is on his watch that the company goes international, and begins the "soap opera" by sponsoring the "Ma Perkins" radio program. Gamble is the son of founder James Gamble. He is a trained chemist, and early in his P&G career he develops an inexpensive white soap that is equal to the finest imported soaps of the day. It is called "Ivory Soap." Both men are tennis fans, and Gamble also is credited with donating the money for the construction of courts on the west side of Cincinnati where five-time singles champion Ruth Sanders learned to play.

Before it is retired in 1927 by George Lott, the bowl will be inscribed with the names of four Hall of Famers (Clarence Griffin, William Johnston, Bill Tilden and Lott) and a US Davis Cupper (John Hennessey).

1911 Richard Palmer, the "New Jersey southpaw," wins the men's singles title over Richard Bishop of Boston. Hazel Hotchkiss enters the women's field and defaults in the first round. Also in the round of 16 is C. Drummond Jones of St. Louis, who in 1915 would wed Marie Busch, the daughter of August A. Busch, the beer baron.

1912 When the Titanic sets sail on its maiden voyage from England to New York in April, 1912, two future Tennis Hall of Fame enshrinees are on board. Both had connections to the Cincinnati tournament.

Karl Behr, who was a singles semifinalist and doubles champion (with Raymond D. Little) in Cincinnati in 1906, was on the ship that night. He was in Europe ostensibly on business, but was actually in pursuit of a love interest, Helen Monypeny Newsom. Miss Newsom's mother didn't approve of Mr. Behr, a Yale educated lawyer, and took her daughter to Europe in an attempt to stifle the romance. When Mr. Behr found the two in England and found out they were returning to the States aboard the Titanic, he booked passage on the ship himself. He was still awake when the ship hit the iceberg. When he was told about the situation, he quickly ran below deck and roused the Newsoms' from their cabin, and got them up on deck. He was so quick in doing so that he and the Newsoms were among the first to inquire about lifeboats. An officer on deck was loading Lifeboat 5, and aiding him was Bruce Ismay, the chairman of the White Star Line. Ismay allowed the two women into a boat, and allowed Mr. Behr a seat in the same boat. All three survived. Mrs. Newsom obviously changed her mind: Mr. Behr and Miss Newsom were married 11 months later.

The other player, Richard Norris Williams II, was on the ship with his father. As the ship was sinking, Mr. Williams saw his father die when the forward funnel fell from the vessel and crushed him, and many others. Mr. Williams then jumped into the icy Atlantic and managed to survive by hanging on to a partially submerged collapsible raft. He was alive, but in freezing water up to his waist. Others were dying all around him – freezing to death, not drowning – but he hung on for six hours. When he was pulled from the water and put aboard the Carpathia, a doctor examined his legs. He suggested amputation to fight hypothermia and prevent gangrene, but Williams refused. The doctor warned he'd lose the legs if he didn't work very hard to get the proper circulation back in them. Within weeks he was playing tennis again, and three months after the disaster he entered the Cincinnati tournament.

On the courts in Cincinnati in 1912, Gustave Touchard of New York wins the title over Richard Palmer of New Jersey in the Challenge Round. Touchard had to defeat Reuben Holden, a Cincinnati and the 1910 intercollegiate champion from Yale, in the main tournament to reach the Challenge Round. On the women's side, two Hall of Famers reach the final round and May Sutton defeats Mary K. Browne 6-2, 6-2. In the Challenge round that followed, defending champion Marjorie Dodd of Cincinnati takes the singles title by default over Miss Sutton. Browne pairs with future Canadian Hall of Famer Lois Moyes to take the ladies doubles crown over Emiline Holmes (Mrs. Gus Touchard) and May Sutton.

1913 Ruth Sanders, a young school teacher from the west side of Cincinnati and former champion at the University of Cincinnati (from which she graduated in 1912), wins the first of five titles here. William S. McElroy of Pittsburgh wins the men's crown.

1914 Because the Tri-State represents the championship of three states, playing it in other states is considered appropriate. The first time the tournament is not played in Cincinnati is in 1914 when it moves to Indianapolis. In Cincinnati, the National Clay Court Championship is held at the Cincinnati Tennis Club.

William S. McElroy of Pittsburgh and Ruth Sanders of Cincinnati win the Tri-State titles in Indianapolis. Clarence "Peck" Griffin and Mary K. Browne win the national clay court titles in Cincinnati.

1915 Molla Bjurstedt won an Olympic bronze in singles for Norway in 1912 at Stockholm, but was a relative unknown when she arrived in the United States in 1915. She enters many tennis events, and quickly makes a name for herself. In Cincinnati, she runs through the field, losing exactly 15 games in six matches. Her least lopsided match is in the final when she beats Ruth Sanders 6-0, 6-4.

On the men's side, players include William Johnston, Clarence Griffin (men's champion) and Irving Wright. Maurice McLoughlin and Elia Fottrell (who reaches the final of the tournament but loses in the Challenge round) play an exhibition match against Griffin and Johnston to cap off the tournament.

1916 William "Little Bill" Johnston wins the singles title and teams with Clarence Griffin to take the doubles crown. Actually, Johnston wins the main draw and is to face the defending champion, Griffin, in the Challenge round. Griffin, however, refuses to defend his title against his close friend Johnston, but gives no reason for doing so. Willis Davis, who has a top 10 world ranking (world rankings at this time were not generally considered credible), is a finalist and pairs with Princeton's Dean Mathey to reach the doubles final. Martha Guthrie of Pittsburgh defeats Margaret "Ruth" Davis of St. Paul to take the women's title.

Another player of note is James Gamble Nippert, grandson of James Norris Gamble of Procter & Gamble (the inventor of Ivory soap and the purchaser of the tournament trophy in competition at the time). The young Nippert loses in the first round but would go on to play football for the University of Cincinnati. On Thanksgiving Day in 1923 in the Bearcats' season-ending clash with rival Miami of Ohio, Nippert sustained a spike wound injury. He died a month later of blood poisoning. The stadium in which he played was renamed Bill Johnston (left) and Bill Tilden both won singles titles in Cincinnati - Johnston in 1916, and Tilden in 1926.

One of the best players ever to come out of the Midwest, Clara Louise Zinke reached 18 finals in Cincinnati, winning 12 titles (five singles, six doubles and one mixed doubles title) during the 1920s.

in his honor, and the James Gamble Nippert Memorial Stadium was dedicated on November 8, 1924.

1917 The tournament is once again moved to Indianapolis so that Cincinnati may host the National Clay Court Championship. In support of World War I, and through the urging of the U.S. Secretary of War, the U.S. Championships is renamed the National Patriotic Championships. Following that lead, the National Clay Court Championship is renamed "The National Clay Court Patriotic Championship." Festivities during the tournament include "Surgical Dressing Day." Money from the tournament — $2,699.99 (about $61,000 in today's dollars) is donated to equip an ambulance for service in France.

In Indianapolis, Fritz Bastian of Indy wins the men's singles title and Katharine Brown wins the women's singles title. At the national clay court tournament in Cincinnati, Ruth Sanders wins the singles title, the women's doubles title and the mixed doubles title with her fiancé, Howard Cordes. Sam Hardy of Chicago wins the singles title over Charles Garland of Pittsburgh.

1918 The tournament is suspended for a year.

1919 The tournament is awarded to Indianapolis for a third time so that the National Sectional Doubles Championship may be held in Cincinnati. In Indy, Fritz Bastian retains his title over future Davis Cup player John Hennessey of Indianapolis. Paul Voris and Alfred Weller win the men's doubles title. Although it would become the norm in the post-1973 tournaments, this is the first time in tournament history there is no women's draw of any kind.

As the name implies, the National Sectional Doubles Championship determines who will play for the National Doubles Championship. It pits an Eastern team versus a Western team. The Eastern team consists of Bill Tilden, Vincent Richards, S. Howard Voshell, and Itchya Kumagae. The Western team is made up of William Johnston, Sam Hardy, Robert Kinsey and Axel Graven. The East wins, 6-3.

President Warren G. Harding's funeral in 1923 interrupted the tournament.

The 1920s

1920 For a fourth time, the tournament is awarded to Indiana and is played in Ft. Wayne. John Hennessey, U.S. Davis Cup team member in 1928, wins the men's title and Ruth Sanders Cordes wins her fourth singles title.

1921 The tournament is suspended for one year.

TOURNAMENT NOTES

"Reservations for the finals have been coming in to Chairman Gordon Small from various parts of the country, one for several seats being sent in from London, England."

1922 After a one-year suspension, the tournament is revived in Cincinnati after having been played in Indiana since 1917. Louis Kuhler wins the men's singles title, and Ruth Sanders Cordes takes the ladies title. Reuben Holden of Cincinnati, who won the intercollegiate singles crown while at Yale, teams up with H. Truxtun Emerson to take the doubles title over brothers and Georgetown University teammates Ray Kunkel and Paul Kunkel.

Loving cups are presented to the champions. Louis J. Tuke donates the cup for the men's champion, and other cups are donated by Judge R.K. LeBlond, John LeBlond and George H. Phillips. "Merchandise orders" and medals are given to finalists in all events.

1923 Clara Louise Zinke makes her first appearance in the women's singles finals. It would be 10 years before Zinke is not in the finals.

The tournament is stopped at the hour of the funeral of President Warren G. Harding. Harding died of a stroke on August 2, 1923, and his funeral is held on Friday, August 10. On that day, play stops between 4 and 5 p.m. to allow the players and fans to honor the president. Those in attendance face east and observe silence for two minutes. Afterward, Ruth Sanders Cordes, the women's singles finalist that year, sings the President's favorite hymn, "Lead, Kindly Light." Meditation and hymn singing continues until 5 p.m., when quarterfinal matches resume.

Rain makes this year the longest Cincinnati tournament in history. Although all rounds but the finals are finished by Tuesday, August 14, the finals are not held until Saturday, August 18. On Saturday, August 11, a men's singles semifinal and a men's doubles semifinal match are in progress when rain washes out the day. All matches resume on Sunday, August 12, but rain interrupts again. The men's semifinals are finally complete on Monday, August 13, and the tournament must decide to play the finals either Tuesday, August 14, or Saturday, August 18. The tournament waits until Saturday. Louis Kuhler wins the singles title by beating Paul Kunkel in the final.

1924 George Lott of Chicago wins the first of four singles titles. Lott also teams with fellow Chicagoan Jack Harris to take the doubles title over Charles Garland (Pittsburgh) and Paul Kunkel. Defending champion Louis Kuhler reaches the quarterfinals before falling to Julius Sagalowsky. Kuhler will not get the chance the following year to earn his third Cincinnati title. He dies in March, 1925, four months shy of his 23rd birthday.

1925 George Lott of Chicago wins his second singles title and his second doubles title. Marion Leighton of Chicago takes the women's title. Former NCAA champ Reuben Holden is a doubles finalist.

1926 Bill Tilden takes the men's title over George Lott, the first time two future Hall of Famers square off in the men's final. Another first occurs when Francisco Aragon and Guillermo Aragon, the Philippine Davis Cuppers, win the men's doubles crown. The tournament is played at the Hyde Park Tennis Club once again with E. K. Wuerdeman as tournament director.

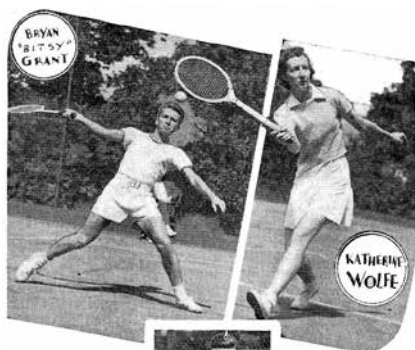

1927 The tournament returns to the Cincinnati Tennis Club. George Lott is ranked third in the U.S. and wins his third title here, retiring the huge Tiffany-made "Cincinnati Trophy" (which was purchased in 1910 by William Cooper Procter and James Norris Gamble). As was the case in 1906, 1907 and 1909, a player keeps the tournament trophy after winning a third title. Together with his wins in 1924 and 1925, Lott now has his third title and possession of the bowl.

George Lott of Chicago was the first to win four singles titles in Cincinnati, the others being fellow Hall of Famers Bobby Riggs and Mats Wilander and future Hall of Famer Roger Federer. Lott won his singles titles in 1924, 1925, 1927 & 1932.

Frank Shields kicked off the 1930s by winning the singles title in Cincinnati, and reaching the semifinals in doubles.

Lott, who turned pro in 1936, retains possession of the bowl until 1938. That year, he wins a pro tournament in White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia, at the Greenbrier Resort. Rumors drift back to Cincinnati that he's left a good portion of his winnings at the Casino there. It seemed a good time to negotiate with him for the purchase of the valuable and historic bowl. Tournament officials drive the 350 miles to White Sulphur Springs, talk with Lott, and return with the trophy.

This is the first year in tournament history that players are seeded. The men's seeds are: 1) Lott (Chicago); 2) Emmett Paré (Chicago); 3) Jose Alonso (former captain of the Spanish Davis Cup team, now of Philadelphia); 4) Paul Kunkel (Cincinnati); 5) Ray Kunkel (Cincinnati); 6) Sidney Meyers (Cincinnati); 7) Ellis Flax (Cincinnati); 8) Archie McCallum (Cincinnati); 9) Willard Beckman (Cincinnati); 10) Ellis Klingeman (Chicago). Three foreign players are seeded separately: 1) Charles Leslie (Toronto); 2) Brian Doherty (Montreal); 3) Lorn McLean (Toronto). On the women's side, the seeds are 1) Marion Leighton (Chicago); 2) Clara Louise Zinke (Cincinnati); 3) Ruth Riese (Saginaw, Michigan); 4) Olga Strashun Weil (Cincinnati); 5) Margarite Kommenda (Chicago); 6) Helen Canfield (Detroit); 7) Marion Pearson (Detroit).

The concept of seeding was introduced at Wimbledon in 1924 to separate the best players in the draw, thereby helping to ensure their success. The U.S. National Championships begins seeding in 1927 as well.

In women's singles, second-seeded Clara Louise Zinke beats top-seed Marion Leighton (ranked No. 20 in the U.S. and No. 1 in the Western section) for the title.

In addition to the "Cincinnati Trophy" in competition, other trophies, donated by individuals and businesses, are given to the players as well: Men's Singles Champ – Hotel Sinton Trophy: a 15-inch solid bronze cup
Men's Singles Finalist – The Taylor Stanley Trophy: a solid bronze cigarette humidor

Men's Doubles Champs – One player receives the Hotel Gibson Trophy and the other the Hotel Alms Trophy. Both are the same: a London-made Gladstone bag.

Men's Doubles Finalists – The W.E. Hutton & Co. Trophies: Bronze, silver-encrusted cigarette boxes with tennis figures raised in sterling.

Ladies' Singles – The Swiss Garden Trophy: a 14-inch solid bronze lamp
Ladies' Finalist – The Miller Jewelry Co. Trophy: a 15-inch brocaded-gold vase

Juniors Singles – Phillips Swimming Pools Trophy: a 15-inch silver cup
Junior Singles Finalist – Hotel Metropole Trophy: a bronze tennis figure on stone base

Junior Doubles Champs – The Bolles Brendamour Trophy: Two 12-inch silver cups, gold lined, on ebonized bases

Junior Doubles Finalists – The B.F. Keith Theatre Trophies: two ebonized plaques (silver plates)

1928 Marjorie "Midge" Gladman of Santa Monica, California, and the University of Southern California, wins the women's title and Emmett Paré of Chicago takes the men's title. Ruth Oexman of Cincinnati wins the first of five doubles titles here, all with Clara Louise Zinke. As a junior girl in 1927, Zinke is ranked No. 2 in the nation.

Rain interrupts play on Thursday, July 12, and again on Friday, July 13. The tournament director, Taylor Stanley, is forced to take the tournament indoors to the Cincinnati Indoor Tennis Club at the Freeman Avenue Armory, marking the first time tournament matches are played indoors. Jose Alonso, of the Spanish Davis Cup team, enters but loses in the first round. Gordon Lum, Chinese Davis Cup star, also enters and reaches the fourth round.

There is a new men's singles trophy this year: The Wilfred M. Tyler Bowl. Tyler had been actively involved in Cincinnati tennis circles and 1930 Junior Boys singles champion (and future Hall of Famer) Frank Parker of Milwaukee. He continued to compete in Cincinnati in his adult years, reaching five singles finals before finally winning in 1941.

Hall of Famer Bobby Riggs won four singles titles in four straight appearances in Cincinnati – 1936, 1937, 1938 & 1940. It would be nearly 50 years before another male player would win a fourth Cincinnati title.

had been an officer of the Ohio Lawn Tennis Association for many years until about 1915. Tyler died in 1923, and when the new trophy was needed for 1928, someone associated with the tournament recalled a mention of tennis in Tyler's will. His estate's executor was consulted, and it turned out he had left $500 with which to purchase a new trophy should it ever become necessary. That occasion having now arisen, the tournament purchased a new bowl and named it after the benefactor. It was constructed to be a replica of the bowl which had just been retired.

- 1929 Herbert Lee Bowman of New York beats Julius Seligson, the 1928 national collegiate champion from Lehigh and the No. 9 player in the country, for the title. Clara Louise Zinke of Cincinnati wins her third of five titles. Visiting players stay at the Hotel Alms in Walnut Hills. Taylor Stanley is tournament director.

- 1930 Frank Shields of New York, grandfather of actress Brooke Shields, wins the men's title. Fourteen-year-old Frank Parker of Milwaukee wins the junior boys title. The future Hall of Famer will go on to win a Cincinnati men's title in 1941. In women's singles, Clara Louise Zinke makes her eighth consecutive appearance in the finals, defeating Ruth Riese of Saginaw, Michigan.

- 1931 Cliff Sutter of New Orleans wins the men's singles title over Bruce Barnes. Sutter is a direct descendant of John Sutter, who, in 1848, was operating his mill on the American Fork River, near San Francisco, when gold was found on the property. That discovery at Sutter's Mill touched off the Gold Rush that started that year and exploded the next year, 1849, and the men who came to the area looking for gold were called "49ers." In women's singles, Clara Louise Zinke wins her fifth and final title, beating Ruth Riese of Saginaw, Michigan.

Also this year, Bill Tilden returns to Cincinnati for a February pro exhibition against Karel Kozeluh, considered the "world champion of the professionals." Tilden defeats Kozeluh, 8-6, 6-3, in front of 4,500 fans.

- 1932 A second men's all-Hall-of-Famer final is witnessed as George Lott, ranked No. 2 in the nation, defeats 16-year-old Frank Parker. Dorothy Weisel Hack, wife of Chicago Cubs third baseman Stan Hack and the No. 11 woman in the country, beats Clara Louise Zinke to take the women's title.

- 1933 The third all-Hall-of-Famer final in men's singles occurs as Frank Parker bows to Bryan Grant.

Pancho Segura won two Cincinnati singles titles: 1942 & 1944. He beat Bill Talbert in the finals both times.

The men's doubles competition begins in Cincinnati and concludes in Chicago at the Chicago Town & Tennis Club, due to rain on the final day, July 2. Bryan "Bitsy" Grant and Fred Mercur of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, are leading Robert "Lefty" Bryan and John McDiarmid 6-5 in the third set when rain hits Cincinnati. Since all four players are entered into the National Clay Court Championship, set to begin in Chicago on July 3, the final is moved to the Windy City. Grant and Mercur win, 2-6, 7-5, 7-5, 12-14, 6-4.

- 1934 The tournament is played for one year at the Kenwood Country Club. The four men's semifinalists include future Canadian Tennis Hall of Fame inductee, Marcel Rainville of Montreal. Henry Prusoff, American top-tenner from Seattle, defeats Arthur Hendrix of Lakeland, Florida, another American top-tenner, for the title. Gracyn Wheeler of Santa Monica wins the women's singles by default when Dr. Esther Bartosh, the "reigning queen of the Los Angeles courts," is too ill to compete. Rain forces the singles finals to be played at the Cincinnati Tennis Club.

The men's and women's doubles final are decided by coin flip because of rain. Rainville and countryman Walter Martin (Toronto) win the toss and defeat Karl Kamrath (Austin, Texas) and Prusoff for the men's title. Helen Fulton (Chicago) and Elizabeth Kesting (St. Paul) win the coin flip over Esther Bartosh (Los Angeles) and Marianne Hunt (Los Angeles) for the women's title.

- 1935 The tournament is scheduled for June 24-30, but with the country in the throes of the Great Depression, it's suspended for a year.

- 1936 In the revival of the tournament, Bobby Riggs of Los Angeles wins the first of his four singles titles here, beating Charles Harris of West Palm Beach, Florida, in the final. Lila Porter of Mobile, Alabama, wins the women's title. The second-seeded team of John McDiarmid of Chicago and Eugene McCauliff of New York upset top seeds Riggs and Wayne Sabin to take the doubles title. Future Hall of Famer Don McNeill of Oklahoma is the No. 8 seed.

- 1937 Top seed Bobby Riggs defends his crown by beating John McDiarmid of Chicago in the final. McDiarmid then teams with Eugene McCauliff to defend their doubles crown. By winning the title, they become the first repeat doubles champions since 1901. No other doubles team would repeat until Jonas Bjorkman and Max Mirnyi do it in 2006.

- 1938 Bobby Riggs, now of Chicago, defeats Frank Parker of Milwaukee in the men's final to collect his third Cincinnati title. It is the fourth all-Hall-of-Famer men's final. With that victory, Riggs retires the Wilfred M. Tyler Bowl. That trophy is currently on display at the Bobby Riggs Tennis Club in San Diego, California.

- 1939 The tournament now has a new trophy. It is a silver bowl named "The Cincinnati Trophy," the second trophy so named in tournament history. It is donated to the tournament by Charles Tobias. By the time it is retired in 1947, it will be inscribed with the names of six champions: Bryan "Bitsy" Grant, Bobby Riggs, Frank Parker, Pancho Segura, Bill Talbert and Clarence D. "Nick" Carter. The fifth meeting between two future Hall of Famers in the men's final takes place as Grant defeats Parker.

1940 Bobby Riggs and Alice Marble take all the titles: men's singles and doubles and women's singles and doubles. Top-seeded Riggs beats the No. 9 seed, Arthur Marx of Los Angeles, for the singles title. Marx is the son of comedian Groucho Marx. Riggs then pairs with Charles Hare, British Davis Cupper, for the doubles title over Ron Lubin and Frank Froehling. Marble beats second-seeded Gracyn Wheeler for the singles title, and then takes the women's doubles crown with Mary Arnold. Marx upsets John Doeg in the third round, and Charles Garland in the semifinals before falling to Riggs. Riggs beats Jimmy Evert, father of 1973 singles finalist Chris Evert, in the fourth round.

1941 The sixth all-Hall-of-Famer men's final takes place. Frank Parker finally wins a men's singles title in Cincinnati (after finals appearances in 1932, '33, '38 and '39) by beating Bill Talbert. Pauline Betz wins the women's singles title, Parker and Gene Mako win the doubles title, and Doris Hart is a women's doubles finalist.

1942 Pancho Segura of Ecuador becomes the first non-American men's singles champion in tournament history when he defeats U.S. top-tenner and Cincinnati William Talbert in the men's final. It is the seventh time two future Hall of Famers meet in a men's final.

The tournament is the first "Patriotic" event (tournaments in which money is raised for a war effort) in Cincinnati since 1917. The Patriotic point is driven home when Joe Davis of Nashville is ordered to report immediately to the Navy after his semifinal loss to Segura. (At the end of the tournament, $1,300 is given to the Emergency War Relief Fund.)

Segura also pairs with Fred Kovaleski to win the doubles crown. They beat Talbert and Robert Smidl in the semifinals en route to that win. Later that year, Smidl, ranked No. 21 in singles in the U.S., joins the Army to fight in World War II. He is killed, making him the first tennis player with a national ranking to perish.

This is the last year a mixed doubles event is held in conjunction with the tournament. No mixed doubles would be played until 1999 when the Seniors event format is switched to all-mixed doubles. A pair of Philadelphians, Peggy Welsh

In 1951, Tony Trabert (left) and Bill Talbert squared off in the final. The 5-7, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4 win was Trabert's first over his mentor. The two then paired up to take the doubles title over Hugh Stewart and Grant Golden.

Beverly Baker won the singles and doubles titles in 1950.

U.S. Top Tenners Pat Canning Todd and Dorothy Head squared off in the semifinals in Cincinnati in 1951. Todd would win in three sets and win the title over Romanian Magda Rurac.

of Rollins College and William Vogt of Princeton, pair up to take the title.

1943 William Talbert, ranked No. 4 in the nation, wins the singles title over Seymour Greenberg (a former standout at Northwestern who is ranked No. 5 in the nation), and then pairs with fellow Cincinnati Al Bunis to win the doubles title. (Bunis would go on to start the first senior tennis tour. It was the first senior tour in either tennis or golf.)

In beating former U.S. top-tenner Catherine Wolf in the final, Pauline Betz scores a rare "golden bagel." She beats Wolf 6-0 in the first set, taking all 24 points, and hitting 18 winners. She wins the second set 6-2. She also takes the women's doubles crown with Nancy Corbett.

This is the third "Patriotic" tournament held, and $800 is given to the USO at the end of the week (the equivalent of $13,300 today) with the promise of more to follow.

1944 Akron, Ohio, native and future Hall of Famer Shirley Fry plays in her first Cincinnati tournament, reaching the semifinals before falling to eventual champion Dorothy Bundy. The 17-year-old pushes Bundy, daughter of May Sutton, to three sets before losing 3-6, 6-2, 9-7.

Two Hall of Famers square off in the men's final for an eighth time, with Pancho Segura winning his second Cincinnati title over William Talbert. The final score is 9-11, 6-2, 7-5, 2-6, 7-5, and the match lasts more than four hours. The tournament is the fourth "Patriotic" event in tournament history. More than $1,500 ($25,000 today) is raised for the Navy League.

While Segura is winning his second title in Cincinnati, Gloria Thompson, playing in her third Cincinnati tournament, is playing well enough to reach the quarterfinals in singles and the finals in doubles. In addition to having a Cincinnati connection, Thompson and Segura would develop another connection over time.

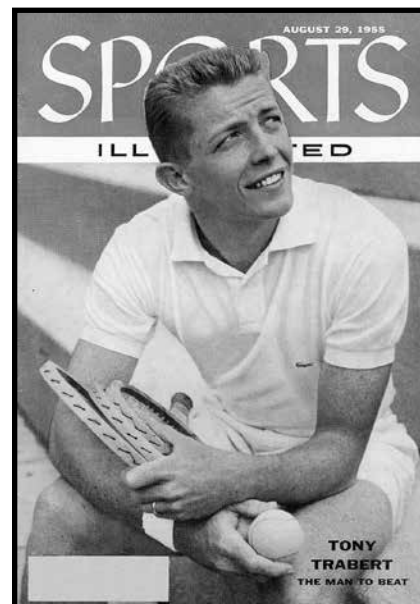

After their playing days are over, both Thompson and Segura stay close to the game by teaching tennis. Segura teaches in Los Angeles, while Thompson teaches in her hometown of East St. Louis. Eventually, one of her tennis students, her star pupil, is her own son, James. James thrives under Gloria's tutelage, but eventually she realizes he needs additional help to reach the next level. For that help, she turns to Segura.

Gloria Thompson, now Gloria Thompson Connors, packs up her son and her mother and moves to Los Angeles, where Segura takes the reins of the boy's tennis development. Gloria's son, and Pancho Segura's student, develops into one of the greatest players of all time: Jimmy Connors. Not only does Connors follow Segura and his mother in playing Cincinnati, he also follows Segura into the International Tennis Hall of Fame.

A first-round loss by the No. 8 seed makes headlines. George Ratterman, who is recovering from "ptomaine poisoning" (commonly known as food poisoning) loses to Leonard Schiff of Columbus, 8-6, 6-3. Ratterman was the No. 1 junior in the Ohio Valley Tennis Association at the time and a football standout at Cincinnati's St. Xavier High School. He would go on to Notre Dame and the NFL, playing with the Buffalo Bills and the Cleveland Browns. In 1954, under the direction of Browns' head coach Paul Brown, Ratterman wore the famous "electricified helmet" into a game against the Detroit Lions – a helmet rigged with a radio so Ratterman could hear Brown's instructions from the sideline. The suspicious Lions twice ripped the helmet off Ratterman's head and attempted to break the device.

- 1945 Bill Talbert and Elwood Cooke are seeded No. 1 and No. 2 respectively, but the women's field includes the most stars. Five of the top 10 women in the United States are in the field, and are seeded based on their 1944 rankings: (1) Pauline Betz (ranked No. 1 in the U.S. in 1944); (2) Dorothy Bundy (No. 4 in the U.S.); (3) Mary Arnold (U.S. No. 5); (4) Shirley Fry (U.S. No. 8); and (5) Sarah Palfrey Cooke (who wasn't ranked in 1944 because she didn't play enough, but was ranked No. 1 in 1945).

WWII makes fielding the men's draws difficult and, as a result, Palfrey Cooke asks to enter the men's doubles draw with her husband, Elwood Cooke. The rule book is consulted, and no rule is found that forbids a woman from playing in a men's draw. Tournament Director Bill Ruxton therefore allows Palfrey Cooke to become the only woman in the history of the tournament to compete in a men's draw.

All those draws made for a very busy Palfrey Cooke. On Thursday, June 28, she plays Fry in a ladies singles quarterfinal match at 2 p.m., then teams with Bundy in a ladies doubles match, then plays a men's doubles match at 5 p.m. She loses to Fry, but wins both doubles matches.

Talbert goes on to win the men's singles title over Cooke, and Betz wins her third singles title. Palfrey Cooke and Bundy win the women's doubles title, beating Arnold and Fry. The husband and wife team of Sarah Palfrey Cooke and Elwood Cooke reach the men's doubles final before falling to Talbert and Lt. Hal Surface.

It is the fifth "Patriotic" event in tournament history. The Navy League receives $1,000 ($16,000 today) from event proceeds.

- 1946 Clarence D. "Nick" Carter of San Francisco, seeded No. 5, wins the singles, dropping only one set along the way. His name is inscribed on the "Cincinnati Trophy" alongside future Hall of Famers Bryan Grant, Bobby Riggs, Frank Parker, Pancho Segura and Bill Talbert. Carter also teams with Norman Brooks to take the doubles titles. Virginia Kovacs of San Francisco takes the women's singles title over Shirley Fry. Fry then teams with Mary Arnold Prentiss to take the ladies doubles crown. William Ruxton is the tournament director. Proceeds benefit the Hamilton County chapter of the Elizabeth Kenny Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Carter beats fourth-seeded Earl Cochell in the quarterfinals en route to the title. Cochell, who was ranked No. 6 in the U.S. at one point in his career, would go on to become the first and only player banned from tennis for life by the USTA. He was banned in 1951 for "unsportsmanlike conduct on the court and related actions detrimental to the welfare of the game." The action was taken by the USTA after Cochell's behavior during his fourth-round match at the U.S. Championships at Forest Hills against Gardner Mulloy. He argued many lines calls, argued with fans, and blatantly threw a number of games by playing left-handed (he was right-handed). He verbally attacked the referee (Dr. Ellsworth Davenport), and he even tried to grab the chair umpires mic to lecture the crowd. The USTA's ban was lifted some years later.

- 1947 Bill Talbert wins his third Cincinnati singles title and the "Cincinnati Trophy" (the second so-named) is retired. Talbert would later donate it back to the tournament. The tournament contracts for the creation of a new trophy. The "Boyd B. Chambers Memorial Trophy," named

- 1948 Herbert Behrens upsets the great Pancho Gonzalez in the semifinals en route to the men's singles title. Behrens, the No. 3 seed, beats Irvin Dorfman in the final. Dorfman is the No. 2 seed and is ranked No. 15 in the U.S. On the women's side, top-seeded Dorothy Head of Alameda, California, wins the title on Sunday, July 4: her 23rd birthday.

- 1949 The tournament is 50 years old and holds its "Golden Anniversary" event. A new element is a qualifier tournament, which is held on Saturday and Sunday prior to the main draw. One qualifier is Barry MacKay, a native Cincinnati and future Davis Cup player. One thing that isn't new: rain halts play entirely on the qualifying Saturday and interrupts play for half of the next day.

James Brink, formerly of the University of Washington, wins the men's singles title while Magda Rurac, one of the greatest female tennis players in Romanian history, wins the women's title.

- 1950 Third-seeded Glenn Bassett wins the title over unseeded Hamilton "Ham" Richardson of Baton Rouge, Louisiana. Beverly Baker, ranked No. 8 in the U.S., beats defending champion Magda Rurac for the ladies crown.

- 1951 Tony Trabert knocks off William Talbert in the finals, the ninth all-future Hall-of-Famer final in Cincinnati history. It is Trabert's first win over his mentor and fellow Cincinnati. The two then pair up to take the doubles title.

Top seeded Pat Canning Todd takes the women's singles title over Romania's Magda Rurac. Todd also pairs with Dorothy Head to take the doubles title.

- 1952 Noel Brown of Los Angeles wins the men's singles and doubles title, while Anita Kanter of San Francisco takes the women's crown. Tom Price is tournament director. Three weeks after the tournament, a Davis Cup tie is held (July 25-27) at the Cincinnati Tennis Club, pitting the United States against Japan. Behind player/captain William Talbert and players Tony Trabert, Art Larsen, Gardner Mulloy, and Vic Seixas, the U.S. wins 5-0.

- 1953 Tony Trabert, recently discharged from the Navy, takes the singles crown over fellow Davis Cupper Ham Richardson. Australian Thelma Coyne Long beats Anita Kanter of San Francisco for the ladies title. Also this year, Jack Kramer and Frank Sedgman stage an exhibition indoors at the Cincinnati Gardens. They play before 5,000, the biggest crowd to see a tennis match in Cincinnati to that date.

- 1954 Davis Cup player Straight Clark of Philadelphia, the No. 5 ranked player in the U.S., wins the singles title over unseeded Sam Giammalva of Houston, Texas. Lois Felix of Meriden, Connecticut, the No. 3 seed and the nation's 13th best player, beats Ethel Norton of San Antonio, Texas, for the ladies singles title.

Barry MacKay loses in the second round and his sister, Bonnie, loses in the third round to eventual finalist Ethel Norton. Cincinnati Al Bunis upsets the No. 8 seed, Les Longshore, in the second round. Don Fontana, future Canadian Tennis Hall of Fame inductee, is seeded third among foreign players and loses in the third round. Tom

Since seeding began in 1927, Miguel Olvera is the only unseeded player to win a men's singles title. The Ecuadorian collected the trophy in 1960, and, as seen above, a congratulatory handshake from 1960 tournament co-director Rowland Hopple.

Peaches Bartkowicz of Michigan won singles titles in 1966 & 1967.

Champions Bill Lenior and Stephanie DeFina pose with Tony Trabert in 1965.

Price, who reached the quarterfinals in 1938, is tournament director.

1955 The Western Tennis Association, the section of the USTA now known as USTA/Midwest, accepts the offer of the Cincinnati Tennis Club to combine the Western Tennis Championship (WTC) with the Tri-State and play both at the CTC. The WTC was having difficulty securing a site that year. Sixteen-year-old Mimi Arnold of Redwood City, California, wins the women's singles title over top seed Barbara Breit, but things get complicated after that. Tony Trabert and Bernard "Tut" Bartzan reach the final and then play three of five sets before rain halts play. They agree to replay the match in September after the U.S. National Championships. When Bartzan and Trabert finish the match on September 13, Bartzan wins. It is the first of Bartzan's three Cincinnati titles, and it is the last match Trabert plays as an amateur in Cincinnati. He turns pro in 1956. The biggest upset of the tournament may be the second-round loss of eventual Hall of Famer Alex Olmedo to Allen Quay.

1956 Second-seeded Eddie Moylan of Trenton, New Jersey, defeats sixth-seeded Alex Olmedo in the quarterfinals en route to the title match against top-seeded Bernard "Tut" Bartzan of Texas. Bartzan, the defending champion, is the No. 4 player in the U.S. (but is probably No. 3 as Tony Trabert is No. 1 and has already turned pro), and is generally regarded as the world's greatest clay court player. Moylan is one place behind Bartzan in the national rankings, but, nonetheless, it is considered a tremendous upset when Moylan knocks off Bartzan 6-0, 6-3, 6-3. Yola Ramirez, 21, of Mexico City, wins the women's singles title.

Also in the men's field is Richard Raskind, who would later undergo a sex-change operation and become known as Rene Richards. Raskind reaches the third round in singles, beating Bill Long in the first round, and Al Bunis in the second (11-9, 7-5) before losing to seventh-seeded Pancho Contreras, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Also this year, an exhibition featuring Ken Rosewall, Vic Seixas, Ashley Cooper, Barry MacKay, Eddie Moylan, and Neale Fraser is held at the Cincinnati Tennis Club in September.

1957 Bernard "Tut" Bartzan, top seeded and fifth-ranked in the U.S., wins the men's title over Grant Golden (ranked No. 10 in the U.S.) of Wilmette, Illinois. Top seed Lois Felix of Meriden, Connecticut, (ranked No. 14 in the U.S.) wins the women's title over No. 2 seed Pat Naud of San Mateo, California.

1958 Bernard "Tut" Bartzan makes his No. 1 seeding stand up, winning his third title. With that title, he retires the massive Boyd B. Chambers Memorial Bowl. Gwyn Thomas of Cleveland, ranked No. 5 in the U.S., wins the women's singles title.

1959 The men's intercollegiate final is replayed one week later in Cincinnati as Whitney Reed (San Jose State) faces Donald Dell (Yale) once again. The result is the same as top-seeded Reed beats second-seeded Dell to take the Cincinnati title. In women's singles, Donna Floyd of Virginia beats Carol Hanks of St. Louis in three sets to take the title. In the men's doubles final, the top-seeded tandem of Reed and Grant Golden have match point in the third set against the unseeded team of John Powlless and John Skogstad, but can't prevent the upset. Gene Scott, future publisher of Tennis Week magazine and U.S. top five player, makes the quarterfinals in doubles with Ronnie Fisher. Scott also reaches the quarters in doubles in 1960.

Cliff Richey won the 1969 title in Cincinnati, the first year of the Open Era in the Queen City.

1960 Miguel Olvera of Ecuador becomes the second non-American men's singles champion in the history of the tournament with a straight-set (three of five) victory over No. 10 seed Crawford Henry of Georgia. He's also the first unseeded men's champion in tournament history since seeding began in 1927, and the only one since. Tournament referee Arch Trabert, father of Tony, makes the decision to play a best-of-three-sets final on Sunday, July 10, probably because of the coming rain. The rain comes nonetheless, and the match is postponed until Monday, July 11.

In women's singles, only four players are seeded and Carol Hanks of St. Louis, the finalist in 1959, is not one of them. However, she beats top seed Farel Footman of San Francisco for the ladies title. Seeds are determined by a player's previous year's ranking, but Hanks ends 1960 ranked No. 10 in the nation.

Just before the tournament starts, a Jack Kramer Pro Tour event is held featuring Tony Trabert, Lew Hoad, Ashley Cooper and Alex Olmedo. In singles, Hoad beats Trabert 9-7, 7-5, Cooper defeats Olmedo 6-2, 6-2. In doubles, Hoad and Cooper beat Trabert and Olmedo in a one-set match: 8-6.

1961 Former champion Bobby Riggs returns to Cincinnati but loses in the second round. Allen Fox takes the men's title over Bill Lenior, while Peachy Kellmeyer of West Virginia upsets Carole Caldwell (ranked No. 12 in the U.S.) in the women's final. Tournament director is Bud Wagner.

1962 Arthur Ashe makes his first appearance in Cincinnati and becomes the first African American to play the tournament. He reaches the semifinals before falling to eventual champion Marty Riessen. Riessen, the No. 3 seed, beats defending champion and top-seed Allen Fox in the final. Julie Heldman beats top-seeded Roberta Alison of Alabama for the women's title.

1963 U.S. No. 5 Marty Riessen of Hinsdale, Illinois, repeats as singles champion by beating Herbert Fitzgibbon in three straight sets in the men's final. Stephanie DeFina beats Peaches Bartkowicz for the ladies title.

1964 Cliff Buchholz of St. Louis is seeded No. 1 and becomes the first men's top seed ever to lose his first match. Herbert Fitzgibbon, the captain of the Princeton tennis team and ranked No. 14 in the U.S., wins the singles title. Jean Danilovich, of Jackson, California, beats U.S. No. 10 Julie Heldman in the semifinals and takes the women's crown over Alice Tym.

1965 Bill Lenior takes the men's title over Herb Fitzgibbon and Stephanie DeFina is the ladies champ. For the first time, the tournament name includes the word "International." The tournament had attracted international players for most of its existence, but this year organizers decide to emphasize this point by putting the word "international" in the title. Also this year, Paul Flory begins his association with the tournament as a volunteer in player recruitment and housing. Bud Wagner is tournament director. On July 5, the day after the scheduled last day of the tournament, the tournament stages a pro exhibition between Rod Laver, Ken Rosewall, Tony Trabert and Barry MacKay.

1966 The top two seeds, Bill Lenior and Cliff Buchholz, go down in the third round, leaving the door open for third-seeded Dave Power of Fort Collins, Colorado. He wins the singles title over fourth-seeded William Harris, the son of 1937 singles finalist Charles Harris.

It is a "peachy" year in women's singles as Detroit's Peaches Bartkowicz (seeded No. 2) takes the title over Peachy Kellmeyer (No. 1). The No. 4 seed this year is Mimi Heinreid, the daughter of actor Paul Heinreid, who played Victor Lazlo in Casablanca.

Rain plays havoc with the final rounds of the tournament, causing postponement of the men's final until July 9 rather than the scheduled date of Monday, July 4. On the 4th, the women's singles final is played, but rain hits during the first set (of five) of the men's singles final (Power and Harris were tied 5-5). After a two-hour delay, it is decided to finish the match on Saturday, July 9, as both finalists must be in Indianapolis the next day. On July 9, the men's final resumes, but the men's doubles final is played on July 10 in Indianapolis because Joaquin Loyo-Mayo (one of the four doubles finalists) is a semifinalist there.

On July 5, the day after the scheduled last day of the tournament, the tournament stages a pro exhibition between Lew Hoad, Rod Laver, Ken Rosewall and Pierre Barthes. Hoad beats Barthes 8-5 in one singles match, and Rosewall beats Laver by the same score in another. Then Laver and Rosewall square off in an exhibition using the new way to score a tennis match, which is called VASSS (Van Alen Simplified Scoring System). In this match, Laver beats Rosewall 21-18. In doubles, Barthes & Laver defeat Hoad & Rosewall, 10-7.

1967 Cincinnati hosts the world's first amateur/professional combination event. The "Cincinnati Professional Tennis Championship" is held simultaneously with the all-amateur Tri-State on the hardcourts of the University of Cincinnati. It is held, in part, as an answer to the problem of amateur and "open" (as in "open to professionals as well as amateurs") tennis. It features a 12-man field, and is won by Spain's Andres Gimeno, who upsets Rod Laver in the semifinals and Ken Rosewall in the finals. Other players include Dennis Ralston, Fred Stolle, Pancho Segura, Alex Olmedo, Mal Anderson, Earl "Butch" Buchholz, Mike Davies, Barry MacKay and Pierre Barthes. Gimeno earns $2,850 for the win; Rosewall takes home $1,800. In the consolation match, Laver defeats Ralston to collect the $1,500 prize. Ralston gets $1,200. In doubles, Stolle and Laver take the title over Ralston and Rosewall. Stolle and Laver split $1,050 and Ralston and Rosewall split $750.

On the amateur side, Joaquin Loyo-Mayo of Mexico City wins the men's title over Santiago, Chile's Jaime Fillol. Loyo-Mayo is the No. 3 foreign seed and Fillol is the No. 2 foreign seed. Peaches Bartkowicz of Hamtramck, Michigan, is ranked No. 5 in the U.S. and is the No. 1 seed. She defeats second-seeded Patsy Rippey of Shawnee, Oklahoma, for her second consecutive Cincinnati title. Both tournaments are held on the University of Cincinnati's Boyd B. Chambers Courts. It is the first time in history the tournament is played on hardcourts. Chambers was a former basketball, baseball and football coach at UC, and was its first Athletic Director. He also was a former tournament player and referee. The tournament trophy in competition between 1948 and 1958 (retired by Tut Barten) was named in honor of his son, Boyd Chambers Jr., who died during World War II. Another son, Marshall Chambers, also competed in the tournament.

over Tom Gorman of Seattle. No. 2 seed Linda Tuero of Metairie, Louisiana, beats top seed Tory Fretz for the ladies title. Tuero's coach is Emmett Paré, who won the Cincinnati men's singles crown 40 years earlier. It is the last tournament where only amateurs play.

Although this year marks the beginning of the Open Era, Cincinnati's event would not "go open" (allow professionals to play with amateurs) until 1969. That's because the USTA did not vote to allow Open tennis until February, 1968. By that time, plans for the Cincinnati event (played July 1-7) already were well underway, and it's too late to change.

1969 A new era is born in Cincinnati as "Open" tennis arrives and professional players take over. But even as players are arriving in Cincinnati, tournament organizers struggle with the distribution of the $17,500 purse. Upon hearing this, a few of the players approach tournament officials with their ideas. According to the July 15 edition of the Cincinnati Post, the tournament committee agrees "to give the question consideration over the next 48 hours and arrive at a decision."

In addition to adding prize money, the tournament also endures its second name change. The "Tri-State" is now called the Western Tennis Championships. Changing the name is a minor consideration. The real change (and the real reason for the change) is the swapping of a week on the tennis calendar. The week the Western occupied (the third week of July) was far superior to the week the Tri-State had (the first week of July).

The Western was so named because it was the Championship of the USTA district known as the Western Section. That section, which includes Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and parts of Illinois, Wisconsin, Kentucky and West Virginia, would be renamed "USTA/Midwest" in 1997 after 102 years of being called the Western Section.

The name changes, but not the venue – the Cincinnati Tennis Club. Eight of the top 10 players in the U.S. enter on the men's side, and Cliff Richey walks away with the title by beating Allan Stone of Australia in 55 minutes. Richey pockets $5,000 ($40,000 today) and Stone gets $2,500. After the match, a reporter told Richey "you won't often make a quicker $5,000 than that." Richey replied "Yeah, 55 minutes today, and 10 years of hard work to get to these courts."

The women's final, however, is no short affair. Lesley Turner Bowrey of Great Britain takes the women's title and the $500 first prize ($4,000 today) by beating Gail Sherriff Chanfreau of France in a three-hour-and-20-minute final that ends when Chanfreau, who was suffering from leg and stomach cramps, hits a forehand, lets out a shriek and falls to the court. She is attended to where she drops, and eventually gets to her feet and retires from the match. "We're both alike," she said later. "Neither would give up."

1970 Cliff Richey returns to defend his title but loses to Ken Rosewall, who's 11 years older, in the final. The match lasts 46 games, the longest Cincinnati best-of-three-sets final ever: 7-9, 9-7, 8-6. Two weeks later, the tiebreak is introduced to tennis. Cliff's sister Nancy Richey also reaches the final, only to fall to another future Hall of Famer: Rosie Casals.

The Tournament Director is J. Howard "Bumpy" Frazer, who would serve in this role for four years (1970 to 1973). Frazer would go on to become the President of the United States Tennis Association, the only Ohioan to hold that office.

1971 Stan Smith wins the men's title and $5,000. Still an amateur, he

An 18-year-old John McEnroe made his first appearance in Cincinnati in 1977, fresh from his semifinal run at Wimbledon. The tournament was in its 79th year, and McEnroe did his best to "buck the establishment."

donates the money to the Davis Cup Fund. He later takes the doubles title with Erik van Dillen. Virginia Wade is the ladies champ. In his first appearance in Cincinnati, future singles champion Harold Solomon reaches the quarterfinals, beating Frank Sedgman in the first round, and defending champion, and second-seeded, Cliff Richey in the second round. The tournament is played at the Cincinnati Tennis Club for the last time.

1972 The tournament moves to the new Queen City Racquet Club in Sharonville, Ohio, with facilities allowing night matches for the first time in tournament history. Onny Parun of New Zealand, the No. 11 seed, defeats Butch Seewagen of New York on Monday, July 31, in the first night match in tournament history.

The singles final is a battle between two left-handed 19-year-olds who would both eventually land in the Hall of Fame. Jimmy Connors beats Guillermo Vilas to take the singles title in the tenth all future Hall of Fame final in Cincinnati.

Actually, every player who wins a title this year would go on to the Hall of Fame. Margaret Court beats Evonne Goolagong for the ladies title. They also pair up to take the women's doubles crown. The men's doubles crown goes to Frew McMillan and Bob Hewitt.

Five married couples play the tournament: Anna Maria and Jaime Pinto-Bravo (Chile), Patrick and Maria Proisy (France), Andrew and Daphne Pattison (Rhodesia), Barry and Ann Phillips-Moore (Australia) and Gail and Jean Baptiste Chanfreau (France).

1973 This is the last year the tournament is held at the Queen City Racquet Club. Ilie Nastase ("Nasty Nastase") lives up to his name, due in part to his lengthy arguments with the umpire in the process of besting Manuel Orantes 5-7, 6-3, 6-4 in the final. All but $1,000 of his $9,150 winnings (singles and doubles) is withheld pending an appeal to the USTA, which was later upheld. Although Nastase is reluctant to accept the trophy, he eventually does.

On the women's side, top-seed Chris Evert loses in the final to second-seeded Evonne Goolagong, 6-2, 7-5. It would be six years before Evert would lose another match on clay. After that "Final Sunday" in Cincinnati (August 12), Evert went on to win 125 straight matches on clay, finally losing on May 12, 1979, when Tracy Austin beats her in the semifinals at Rome.

Although attendance is increasing, the tournament, which has lost money for years, faces financial problems with the loss of its principal sponsor, Cincinnati businessman Robert Harpenau, who retires to Florida. Prior to the tournament, an exhibition is held at the Queen City Racquet Club to raise money for the tournament. Fresh off a victory over Margaret Court (but prior to his loss to Billie Jean King), Bobby Riggs comes to town and plays against Cincinnati Al Bunis, the founder of the first seniors tennis tour and the 1943 doubles champion here. This was followed by a doubles exhibition that included then-U.S. Representative Bill Keating and former University of Cincinnati basketball star Jack Twyman.

1974 For the first time since 1919, the tournament is men-only and, for the first and only time, it is played entirely indoors. Although the tournament moves back outdoors the next year, it would be 14 years before the tournament would have a women's element.

The 1974 tournament is held on two specially constructed Supreme courts at the downtown Cincinnati Convention Center, with noon-hour matches scheduled to attract the lunch crowd. Also, the tournament begins its involvement with Children's Hospital Medical Center as profits of $15,000 are contributed to the new beneficiary.

Howard "Bumpy" Frazer. A Cincinnati Enquirer article quotes Frazer as saying, "There's a time when the reins should be turned over to someone else in the community." Vice Chairman Don Fovel is quoted in the same article as saying "This is the year when the tournament turns around and becomes financially successful, or goes away for good."

The $30,000 Cincinnati tournament faced competition in the form of a $100,000 event in Louisville, Kentucky, the same week. To help attract players, the singles champion's check is made the same in Cincinnati as it is in Louisville ($8,000), despite the overall smaller purse.

Paul Flory is in charge of player recruitment. His big recruit, top-seed Marty Riessen, wins the singles title and the $8,000 first-place prize. Bob Lutz, the finalist, gets $4,500. The doubles champions, Dick Dell and Sherwood Stewart, earn $1,400. The doubles finalists, Jim Delaney and John Whitlinger do not collect their $800 finalist money: they're both in college and are therefore amateurs. (Also, this is the first year players are awarded points based on doubles matches.) Jack Kramer, executive director of the Association of Tennis Professionals, comments on the level of play for a Cincinnati Post article. "Many of the first- and second-round losers today are better players than most of the fellows who were playing during my career."

1975 The tournament moves to the courts of the Sunlite Swim and Tennis Club at Old Coney, which is east of Cincinnati on the Ohio River. Six hardcourts are built for the tournament. (The tournament would return to clay the next year.) This is a turning point in the tournament, as Paul Flory, an executive with Procter & Gamble, comes on board as tournament director. He immediately enlists the co-sponsorship of the Cincinnati Enquirer and Taft Broadcasting. In his first year, Flory increases the number of individual sponsors (at $1,000 each) to 30. He will raise that number to 50 the following year. On the court, Tom Gorman of Seattle wins the singles title over Texan Sherwood Stewart. The rain twice interrupts the singles championship match, which needs four hours for completion. The rain also forces the doubles final to be moved indoors to the Eastern Hills Indoor Tennis Club. Phil Dent and Cliff Drysdale beat Marcello Lara and Joaquin Loyo-Mayo for the title.

1976 No. 2 seed Roscoe Tanner beats top seed Eddie Dibbs in the singles final to collect his only professional clay court title. Stan Smith and Erik van Dillen, the top-seeded doubles team, take the doubles title over Dibbs and Harold Solomon.

1977 An 18-year-old John McEnroe makes his Cincinnati debut, fresh off a semifinal run at Wimbledon. McEnroe battles opponents, umpires and the media to reach the quarterfinals. In his second-round match with Andrew Pattison, he is given four warnings for delaying the game and misconduct but is not defaulted, although three warnings constitute default. He upsets No. 5 seed Phil Dent in the round of 16 but falls to qualifier Rick Fagel in the quarters.

Fagel, of Miami, Florida, is eligible for the main draw but arrives too late to sign in and is forced to play the qualifier. He loses only one game in three qualifying matches, and then beats Doug Crawford, Tim Gullikson, Gene Mayer and McEnroe to reach the semifinals, only to fall to Great Britain's Mark Cox.

Third-seeded Harold Solomon picks up his first title in Cincinnati with a straight-set victory over Cox. Cox would be the last player from Great Britain to reach a final in Cincinnati until Tim Henman in 2000.

Stan Smith was 34 years old when he made his third semi-final appearance in Cincinnati in 1981, 10 years after winning the singles title.

Each year between 1984 and 1987, there were four Swedes in the quarterfinals, the greatest domination by any country other than the U.S. in tournament history. Above, Anders Jarryd and Joakim Nystrom play their 1984 semifinal match.

heat sets in. Dick Crealy and Bob Hewitt both retire in matches due to the heat, and top-seed Roscoe Tanner considers it during one match. The singles final is scheduled for Monday night, rather than the traditional Sunday, in the hope of getting the match televised on PBS. However, PBS does not air the final. Also in Cincinnati this year, Bjorn Borg collects $13,000 for defeating Rod Laver 6-7, 6-3, 6-2 in an exhibition February 12 at Riverfront Coliseum.

1978 In the final year at Old Coney, Eddie Dibbs makes his top seed stand up, taking the title by beating No. 2 seed Raul Ramirez in the final. Ramirez redeems himself, however, by taking the doubles title with Gene Mayer. Cars are given to players for their use during the week for the first time in tournament history and, it is believed, for the first time at any event.

1979 The tournament changes names again and is now called the "ATP Championship." Just as in 1969, the tournament receives a new name and a new calendar date, but the tournament organization is unchanged, as is the tournament's sanction. However, unlike 1969, the venue and the playing surface do change. The tournament moves from Old Coney to the suburb of Mason, 25 miles north of downtown Cincinnati. Plans are made for a permanent stadium. A center court with temporary stands (capacity: 5,200) and three other courts (current courts 10, 11 & 12) are constructed. The stands are the same used at Old Coney, and Clinton Asphalt Paving Company installs the new DecoTurf II courts.

Torrenial rain causes the Sunday finals to be postponed until the next day, Monday, August 27. CBS broadcasts the event for the first time, televising the final two days. The network would broadcast the tournament each year until 1982, when cable's USA Network takes over. USA stays in that capacity until 1990, when ESPN takes over. Also, 5,100 people show up for the night session on Friday, August 24, the first single-session crowd exceeding 5,000 people in tournament history. The tournament also has a new trophy, a loving cup with a lid, created by Tiffany. Peter Fleming becomes the first player to have his name inscribed.

1980 Harold Solomon wins the title in a star-studded field that includes Jimmy Connors, Guillermo Vilas and Ivan Lendl. A sold-out crowd is on hand on Sunday, when Solomon wins the title and has his $28,000 check delivered by a skydiver who lands on court. Solomon donates $1,000 to tournament beneficiary Children's Hospital.

1981 Top-seeded John McEnroe blasts through a field that also includes Stan Smith, Jimmy Connors, Ilie Nastase, and Vitas Gerulaitis. McEnroe only loses one set during the week and meets unseeded New Zealander Chris Lewis in the final. "Mac the Brat" is his typical self in that final, blasting linespeople and chair umpire Jim Brockhoff. (Footage from that final was seen in the A&E Biography on McEnroe, first aired in May, 2001). McEnroe wins it in straight sets and also takes the doubles title with Ferdi Taygan. McEnroe is the last male player to win both the singles and the doubles titles in one year in Cincinnati, and is the last player to win a Cincinnati title with a wooden racquet.

Also, permanent seating is added as the lower bowl is constructed. Seating capacity is 6,900 in the stadium that is said to be one of only six in the world built specifically for tennis. Also in Cincinnati, a final round of Davis Cup is held at Cincinnati's indoor Riverfront Coliseum as the United States takes on Argentina. Behind

In 1983 in Cincinnati, Mats Wilander won the first hardcourt title of his career. Of his 33 career titles, only eight came on hardcourts, and half of those came in Cincinnati.

Captain Arthur Ashe and players McEnroe, Roscoe Tanner and Peter Fleming, the U.S. wins the Davis Cup by beating Argentina 3-1. It is Ashe's first Davis Cup title as Captain.

- 1982 Ivan Lendl takes his only Cincinnati title, beating Steve Denton in the final. The field also includes John McEnroe (who reaches the semifinals), Jimmy Connors (who loses in the semifinals to Lendl), and Vitas Gerulaitis (who reaches the quarterfinals). Guy Forget of France, who would win the singles title in 1991, reaches the quarterfinals as a qualifier. McEnroe and Peter Fleming, one of the greatest doubles teams of all time, take the doubles crown. Before the tournament begins, construction increases the stadium court's capacity to 7,586. CBS broadcasts the tournament's final two days.
- 1983 Fifth-ranked Mats Wilander beats world No. 1 John McEnroe to win the first of four singles titles here. He wins the title the day before his 19th birthday, making him the youngest Cincinnati champion in the Open Era to that date. (Boris Becker would become the youngest champion in 1985 when he won the title at age 17 years and nine months.) It's also Wilander's first hardcourt title of his career, and his first title in the United States. USA Network broadcasts the final two days of the tournament for the first time. It would be the tournament's host broadcaster until 1990.
- 1984 John McEnroe enters the tournament as the No. 1 seed and the No. 1 player in the world. He's lost only one match all year. But just prior to the tournament, McEnroe graces the cover of Sports Illustrated, and becomes one of many athletes to who succumb to the "Sports Illustrated Cover Jinx." A 2002 issue of SI examined the jinx, saying this about McEnroe's appearance on that July 16, 1984 cover: "John McEnroe would win 82 of the 85 singles matches he played this year, but he takes a first-round, post-cover drubbing from unseeded Vijay Amritraj in Cincinnati." It's the second time a No. 1 seed has lost his first match in Cincinnati (Cliff Buchholz in '64 was the first).
That first-round debacle aside, three Swedes and four seeds reach the semifinals. The lone "non-blond" is American Jimmy Connors, the No. 2 seed who still wields his T-2000 metal Wilson racquet. Third-seeded Mats Wilander knocks him out and then dispatches Anders Jarryd to repeat as singles champion, his second of four Cincy titles. Off the court, Crush becomes the first presenting sponsor in tournament history.
- 1985 Boris Becker makes his first appearance in Cincinnati and wins the title at the age of 17 years, nine months, to become the youngest champion in the Open Era in Cincinnati. No. 1 seed Mats Wilander is Becker's opponent in the final, and No. 3 seed Yannick Noah reaches the Round of 16, his best finish in Cincinnati. Off the court, the Championship Club, a private dining club, and the Grandstand Court are added. This year marks the first time in tournament history the event is not run completely by volunteers. Elaine Schneider (later Bruening) started volunteering in 1977, and this year becomes the tournament's first paid employee.
- 1986 Mats Wilander of Sweden is seeded No. 1 and wins his third singles title, defeating No. 2 seed Jimmy Connors in the final. Wilander doesn't drop a set all week, the first champion to do that since Ivan Lendl in 1982. In his third appearance in the main draw here, Stefan Edberg makes his first appearance in the semifinals. He would go on to reach more semifinals in Cincinnati than any other player in the Open Era (8). Also, lights are added to the Grandstand Court (the No. 2 court), allowing night play on two courts for the first time. The players name Cincinnati "Super Series" event of the year.

Jimmy Connors (left) was 8-0 in Cincinnati in quarterfinal matches, but 2-6 in semifinals. His last came in 1987, against Stefan Edberg (right).

Barbara Potter won in 1988, the first year for a WTA tournament in Cincinnati since 1973.

Brad Gilbert beat Pete Sampras, Michael Chang, Boris Becker and Stefan Edberg to win in 1989.

- 1987 In winning his first title in Cincinnati, Stefan Edberg has to beat four seeded players along the way: Tarik Benhabiles (16), Brad Gilbert (7), Jimmy Connors (4), and Boris Becker (2). The Swede doesn't drop a set all week.

A $2.1 million expansion increases seating on Center Court by 13 percent, (from 7,732 to 8,748). Also, two new air-conditioned levels are built beneath the west stands, adding a player lounge, player locker room, lavatories, a training room and a whirlpool room, as well as administrative offices, a conference suite, a first-aid facility, offices for the referees and umpires, a news-media interview room, a media lounge and darkroom facilities. Along the upper rim of Center Court, an enclosed, air-conditioned, 65-seat news-media box is added, as well as private luxury suites, built on either side of the news-media box. Also off the court, Thriftway Food & Drug signs on as the first title sponsor in tournament history. Chiquita becomes presenting sponsor.

- 1988 Top-seeded Mats Wilander wins his fourth and final title in Cincinnati, beating No. 2 seed Stefan Edberg in the final. In his first appearance here, Michael Chang reaches the quarters at the age of 16 years, six months, the youngest player to reach Cincinnati's Final Eight in the Open Era.

A women's tournament, the Pringles Light Classic, is played two weeks before the start of the men's event. Although it will be a financial success, tournament officials learn prior to the start of the tournament that it will not be added to the women's calendar for the future due to issues within the WTA Tour.

Expansions to the tennis complex include Courtside Cafes, an area of eight tents with various dining options, and a new, 3,000-foot road, which provided better access to the tennis complex.

- 1989 No. 5 seed Brad Gilbert is the surprise singles champion over Stefan Edberg. Gilbert beats Pete Sampras, Michael Chang, and Boris Becker en route to the final, which he wins 6-4, 2-6, 7-6(5).

This is the year the ATP Tour is formed. The ATP Tournament Application Committee convenes to evaluate the petitions from tournaments wishing to be a part of the new Tour. A group of independent representatives of both players and tournaments meet in January, 1989, in Ponte Vedra Beach, Florida, to establish the 1990 calendar. After four days of reviewing more than 110 tournament applications, they emerge with a new calendar for 1990 and a new ATP Tour. Committee members include Harold Solomon (Cincy champ in 1977 & 1980), Stan Smith (1971 champ), Jaime Fillol (1967 singles finalist and 1966 doubles winner), Zeljko Franulovic (1969 quarterfinalist), and Ross Case (1971 competitor). Also this year, Cincinnati is named the first "Tennis City of the Year" by the International Tennis Hall of Fame, and an economic impact study by the University of Cincinnati shows the tournament contributes $10 million to the regional economy during the week.

- 1990 Off the court, the tournament joins the new ATP Tour, greatly improves its facility and increases its prize money dramatically. On the court, Stefan Edberg takes his second title in Cincinnati and becomes the No. 1 player in the world in doing so. In a rematch of the 1989 final, Edberg and Brad Gilbert square off for the title on the final Sunday. Unfortunately for Gilbert, the result is completely different as Edberg wins 6-1, 6-1. It is the shortest final match in the Open Era in Cincinnati, and ties the record for shortest final of all-time in Cincy (1946: Clarence D. "Nick" Carter beat George Richards; 6-1, 6-1). After the 51-minute match, Gilbert apologizes to the fans, joking that the trophy presentation took longer than the final.

A $4 million expansion adds more than 1,500 seats to Center Court, and all seats are improved to be either chairs or bleachers with backs. Eight new luxury skyboxes also are added as are four new suites built inside the north section of the bowl, and a new covered patio lounge atop the North stands. Those extra seats help attendance exceed 10,000 for a single session for the first time in tournament history. It happens on Wednesday, August 8, during the day session.

The tournament realizes the biggest jump in prize money in its history: the purse goes from $602,500 to $1.3 million. Great American Insurance becomes presenting sponsor, and the tournament is on ESPN instead of USA Network.

1991 The average world ranking of the eight quarterfinalists is 9.6, the lowest of the year at any "major" tournament (the four Grand Slams and the nine "single-week" events on the ATP Tour, later known as the ATP Masters Series). Those making the final eight are Boris Becker (ranked No. 1), Stefan Edberg (2), Jim Courier (5), eventual champion Guy Forget (7), Pete Sampras (8), Brad Gilbert (14), Andrei Cherkasov (17) and Derrick Rostagno (23). Also this year, the tournament stages its first Seniors tournament to showcase the talents of such legends as Rod Laver, Ilie Nastase and Ken Rosewall, among others. With the beginning of this Seniors tournament, the tournament begins its involvement with Tennis For City Youth, an organization it developed to help provide tennis lessons and equipment to kids who could not otherwise afford them.

1992 Pete Sampras and Ivan Lendl make return trips to the final, and it is the youthful Sampras who takes the title with a 6-3, 3-6, 6-3 win over Lendl, who is 11 years his senior, just 40 days after Lendl officially becomes a U.S. citizen. Also, lights and extra seating are added to courts three and four making night matches possible on four courts. Also, the food court is widened to allow more vendors and extra seating, and the southeast section of the tennis complex is black-topped.

1993 Michael Chang beats Andre Agassi in the semifinal to set up his showdown with two-time champion Stefan Edberg. Chang wins the first set 7-5, and then drops the second 0-6. But in his typical fighting fashion, Chang rallies to take the third set (6-4) and his first of two titles in Cincinnati. Agassi teams with Petr Korda to collect the only doubles title of his career. They beat the Swedish team of Edberg and Henrik Holm in the final. Because of rain, Agassi and Korda must play their semifinal doubles match and the final on the same day. Edberg's appearance in both the singles and doubles finals makes him the 68th and last male player to reach a singles and doubles final in the same year in Cincinnati.

The tournament enters yet another new era: the era of the "Super 9". Although the tournament was designated a "Championship Series, Single Week" event on the ATP Tour in 1990 (which meant it was given exclusive possession of the week over all other large men's tournaments, ensuring it greater player fields), the "Super 9" concept is introduced in 1993 as a way of promoting the Tour's biggest events even more. Part of the bargain of being a "Super 9" is to run a Challenger event, a tournament for up-and-coming players. The tournament features a $50,000 purse, and is held the week prior to the main draw. Players in the Challenger draw include future main-draw singles champion Patrick Rafter. Also, 200 seats are added to Center Court, the food court is expanded again to allow more seating and more vendors, and the retail area is enlarged. An economic impact study by Xavier University shows the tournament contributes $13 million to the regional economy.

1994 In a repeat of the 1993 final, Michael Chang beats Stefan Edberg for his second Cincinnati title. Off the court, seats are added to the north sides of courts three and four, new administrative offices are constructed and the locker room, the player lounge, the media interview room, and media lounge areas are enlarged. Also, the Challenger event, in its last year in Cincinnati (it would be moved to Lexington the next year), is won by Vince Spadea.

1995 Michael Chang reaches his third consecutive final in Cincinnati but bows to Andre Agassi in one of the hottest years on record for the tournament. Also this year, the Grandstand Court is reconstructed to replace the wooden temporary bleachers with a concrete bowl with box seats and benches with backs, and seating for nearly 5,000 — an increase of approximately 1,000 seats. Also, the food court is expanded again to allow more seating as is the west media box to add a restroom. Prize money is at a record level: $1.8 million. The Challenger tournament is moved to Lexington, Kentucky.

1996 Seven of the eight players who reach the quarterfinals are in the top 10 in the world, the best quarterfinal line-up of any tournament, including the Grand Slams, in tennis since 1985 (when the ATP Tour began keeping the stat). The average world ranking of the eight quarterfinalists is 5.625, the best in tournament history. The quarterfinalists, their seeds and rankings are: Pete Sampras (#1 seed, #1 ranking); Thomas Muster (#2, #2); Michael Chang (#3, #3); Yevgeny Kafelnikov (#4, #4); Goran Ivanisevic (#5, #6); Andre Agassi (#6, #7); Wayne Ferreira (#9, #10); and Thomas Enqvist (#10, #12).

Agassi would eventually win the title, but only after beating Kafelnikov, Muster and Chang in the final three rounds. This is the final year for Stefan Edberg. Edberg played the tournament 13 consecutive years and during that time set Open Era records for most semifinal appearances (8), most quarterfinal appearances (11), most times seeded (12), most matches played (56), and most singles finals appearances (6). As a tribute, "Stefan Edberg Night" is held, with a ceremony on Center Court where a portrait of the great champion is presented to him.

This also is the first year Great American Insurance is title sponsor, following the sale of Thriftway to Winn Dixie. RELCO Resources is presenting sponsor. Prize money stands at a new record — $2.2 million.

1997 Pete Sampras claims his second of three Cincinnati titles, beating crowd favorite Thomas Muster in the final. Muster had to battle his way to the final, never winning in straight sets all week. Prize money increases to $2.3 million, and a third permanent stadium (Court 3) is added to the tennis complex, making it the only facility outside the Grand Slams with three permanent stadiums.

1998 Patrick Rafter wins two consecutive Mercedes Super 9 titles (Canada & Cincinnati) in just 14 days in two different cities. He plays 10 matches, against opponents with a combined average ranking of just 28.6 (38.4 in Canada and an incredible 18.8 in Cincinnati). His final opponent in Cincinnati: Pete Sampras.

1999 The tournament celebrates its 100th birthday and adds a museum to the tennis complex. Also new are a ticket office and a mezzanine on the outside of the northeast corner of Center Court. Pete Sampras wins his third title (beating Patrick Rafter in the final), and doesn't drop a set all week. He's the only player in the Open Era to win two Cincinnati singles titles without dropping a set either time.

The 21st Century

2000 The tournament enters its third century of existence and changes its name for a fifth time. The new name is Tennis Masters Series Cincinnati. Unlike the name changes in 1969 and 1979, the only change in 2000 is the name. (In '69 the week changed as well as the name, and in '79 the week, surface and location changed along with the name.)

The tournament is now mandatory for all players ranked high enough to enter, the draw returns to its pre-1990s level of 64, first-round byes are eliminated, CBS signs on to broadcast the finals and prize money increases to $2.95 million. Also new: purple courts. The paint job is instituted by all Masters Series events as a way to visually link the tournaments together on television.

In keeping with the heightened "international" flavor of the event, 2000 marks the first time in tournament history that only one American is in the quarterfinals, and the first time there are no Americans in the semifinals. Thomas Enqvist of Sweden takes the singles title and wins the biggest paycheck of his career: $400,000. He also becomes the first champion ranked outside the top 10 in 21 years. Tim Henman is the runner-up, the first player from Great Britain to reach a Cincinnati final since 1977 (Mark Cox). Off the court, an economic impact study by the University of Cincinnati shows the tournament contributes $23.3 million to the regional economy during its one-week run.

2001 Gustavo Kuerten becomes the 35th No. 1 seed and the first South American in 41 years to win the title in Cincinnati with a 6-1, 6-3 victory over Australian Patrick Rafter. Rafter was making his third consecutive appearance in the finals in Cincinnati (he didn't play in 2000). Also this week, Boris Becker comes out of retirement to play his first professional match since 1999. He pairs with Goran Ivanisevic in doubles but they fall in the first round.

Rain during the night session on Saturday, August 11, causes the cancellation of matches and flooding in parking lots. It also forced a Sunday morning resumption of the partially completed semifinal match between Tim Henman and Kuerten. Kuerten wins the first set 6-2, but Henman was leading 5-1 in the second when a massively powerful storm hits the area. After the storm, the match is restarted, but is halted again when light rain starts falling. After waiting until nearly midnight, the match is postponed until the morning at 11:30 a.m. The doubles semifinal between Martin Damm & David Prinosil and Jeff Tarango & Nicolas Lapentti was never started. It was postponed until 11:30 a.m. on Sunday, and slated for the Grandstand Court.

2002 The tournament changes its name for a sixth time with the addition of its third title sponsor. The new name is the Western & Southern Financial Group Masters. On the court, former world No. 1 Carlos Moya returns to form and wins the biggest hardcourt title of his career. Moya beats qualifier Cyril Saulnier, Sjeng Schalken, Michael Chang, Rainer Schuettler, No. 8 seed Juan Carlos Ferrero, and world No. 1 Lleyton Hewitt to take the title and become the first Spaniard in the tournament's 104-year history to etch his name on the champion's list.

2003 After years of speculation, the tournament purchases the tennis complex and the golf course surrounding it, ensuring its continued operation in the area where it started 105 years earlier. The deal is consummated on December 31, 2002, after years of negotiations. Cincinnati also is successful in getting back on the WTA Tour. With the help of Octagon, a tournament is purchased from Bol, Croatia, and moved to Cincinnati to start in 2004.

A new era in American tennis dawns as Andy Roddick wins the singles title in an epic three-set final with countryman Mardy Fish. Tennis Week calls it "...a 4-6, 7-6 (3), 7-6 (4) masterpiece..." The match is Cincinnati's first all-American final since 1996, and the second-longest three-set final in tournament history, tying the 1960 final in terms of total games (36). The longest three-set final was in 1970, when Ken Rosewall beat Cliff Richey, 7-9, 9-7, 8-6. That final was played just two weeks before the tiebreak was used for the first time in major competition.

2004 The big story going into the 2004 tournament was the return of women's tennis to the Queen City. The big story after the two tournaments were over was the return of both Andre Agassi and Lindsay Davenport from the precipice of retirement.

Agassi turns in one of the best weeks of his career. His six opponents have an average world ranking of 18.16. The result is an astounding 17th Masters Series title, and a third singles title in Cincinnati, putting him on a list of three-time champions that includes Hall of Famers Bill Talbert, Beals Wright and Pete Sampras. (Only three players - Bobby Riggs, George Lott and Mats Wilander - had won four singles titles in Cincinnati at that time.) At age 34, he also becomes the second-oldest champion in the 106-year history of the Cincinnati tournament, second only to Ken Rosewall, the champion at age 35 in 1970.

Davenport drops only one set en route to her fourth straight title of the summer - the most consecutive titles of any player in 2004. She defeats the No. 9 player in the world - Vera Zvonareva - in the final in straight sets, and in one hour and seven minutes.

Ironically, just before the start of the tournament, the Cincinnati Enquirer prints a story detailing the 25 greatest men's matches in the tournament's 25 years in Mason. Before the end of the men's week, Agassi and Andy Roddick square off in a semifinal match that may have made them all pale in comparison.

The two lions of American tennis clash for what British television commentator John Barrett calls "two hours and six minutes of pure magic," and "a match which will we all remember for as long as we live." Neither player gives an inch in the match, which goes to three sets before Agassi finally pulls out the win: 7-5, 6-7 (2), 7-6 (6).

Miraculously, Agassi has enough energy left over to dispose of Lleyton Hewitt the next day in the final: 6-3, 3-6, 6-2. It is Hewitt's second appearance in the finals in Cincinnati, and his sixth appearance in a Masters Series final, and the loss gives him a 2-4 record in Masters Series finals.

2005 The women's field is upgraded considerably, and the men's field is as strong as ever. But two Swiss players, Patty Schnyder and Roger Federer, make winning the titles look effortless.

Schnyder slices through a women's field that included four top-25 players that includes herself, Daniela Hantuchova, Jelena Jankovic, and Vera Zvonareva. She defeats unseeded Akiko Morigami in the final, 6-4, 6-0.

On the men's side, Federer enters the tournament a year after becoming only the third top seed to lose his first match. He's 1-4 lifetime in Cincinnati, and seemingly has a tough draw, starting with James Blake in the first round. Federer dismisses Blake in straight sets, and marches on to Sunday, where he meets American Andy Roddick. It is the eleventh meeting of the two players, and Federer holds a commanding 9-1 edge.

Andre Agassi first arrived in Cincinnati in 1990. By 2004, he had three singles titles, and his only career doubles title.

Agassi in 1996

The match also is a rematch of the past two Wimbledon finals. Federer easily handles Roddick, and rolls to a 6-3, 7-5 win.

2006 Serena Williams breaks her self-imposed exile from tennis, and Andy Roddick breaks his major-title drought. Williams plays in Cincinnati for the first time since suffering an injury at the Australian Open in January. Unfortunately, she draws the tournament's No. 2 seed, Ana Myskina, as a first-round opponent. But it was Myskina who has the misfortune as Williams rolls through her and two other players en route to the semifinals where she meets 2004 singles finalist Vera Zvonareva. The Russian plays a near-flawless match to take out Williams, and has gas in the tank to win the title the next day.

Roger Federer was the odds-on favorite to repeat as champion, but up-and-coming Scot Andy Murray beats the Swiss star in the second round. That ends a dream finals match-up of Federer and Rafael Nadal, the top two players in the world, and Nadal is halted in the quarters by fellow Spaniard and former world No. 1 Juan Carlos Ferrero. Ferrero eventually reaches the final, but falls to a resurgent Roddick, who had recently begun working with a new coach: Jimmy Connors.

2007 Roger Federer comments in the singles final trophy presentation that he seems to "either lose in the first round here or win the whole thing." Federer beats James Blake in the final and collects his second Cincinnati title, his 14th ATP Masters Series title and his 50th career title. Federer's toughest match of the week comes on Saturday in the semifinals when he's tested by two-time Cincinnati finalist Lleyton Hewitt. Anna Chakvetadze of Russia takes the women's crown, the fifth title of her career to that point.

2008 There's a changing of the guard both on and off the court in 2008. On the court, Rafael Nadal reaches the semifinals and in doing so earns enough points to take the world No. 1 ranking away from Roger Federer. On Final Sunday, Andy Murray becomes the first Brit to win the men's singles title and the first Brit since Virginia Wade in 1971 to win a title in Cincinnati.

Nadia Petrova rolls to the women's singles title and is the third straight Russian to claim the women's crown. She also becomes the first woman to win both the singles and the doubles titles in Cincinnati since Margaret Court in 1972, and the first player (male or female) since John McEnroe in 1981.

Off the court, the tournament finalizes its association with the United States Tennis Association and makes plans for an elevated women's event and new construction on its facility.

2009 For the first time in ten years, the top four seeds advance to the semifinals in the men's event and total prize money tops $5 million for the first time ever. But the real story is Roger Federer, who wins his third title in Cincinnati, tying him with Andre Agassi and Pete Sampras for second most in the Open Era. He defeats Novak Djokovic, who was playing in his second consecutive finals, in two sets to take the title.

Federer, ranked No. 1, also had to defeat the World No. 2 in the semifinals (Andy Murray) en route to the title. It was the first meeting of No. 1 and a No. 2 in tournament history. Jelena Jankovic defeats the largest women's field in Cincinnati history to claim her fourth Premier Level and first Cincinnati title, the first Serbian to do so.

The addition of the Grandstand in 1995 and Court 3 in 1997 made Cincinnati the only facility outside of the Grand Slams with three permanent stadiums.

In 1997, Thomas Muster thrilled fans with his passionate play en route to the singles final.

Immediately after Tim Henman knocked off Pete Sampras in the Round of 16 in 2000, he was asked by a reporter what he considered to be the biggest win of his career. "That one I just played," Henman said.

history: for the first time, both the men's and women's events are on the top level of each professional tour.

Another change is the first of a three-phase construction project that begins with a $10 million facility for fans, players, sponsors and media.

The new facility is on the west side of Center Court and is named the Paul Flory Player Center. It features a dedicated women's locker room, an expanded player lounge, training facilities, and player dining, six new luxury suites for fans, and an expanded media center.

Another change this year comes in the form of a new trophy. Champions didn't earn trophies by winning in Cincinnati in the first year (1899), but the tournament did provide them with mementos from Cincinnati's world-famous Rookwood Pottery. With new trophies needed in 2010, Rookwood Pottery steps forward. Rookwood artist Roy Robinson crafts the tournament's 12-pound perpetual trophy featuring tennis balls clinging to acanthus leaves and bearing the inscription honoring "the oldest tournament in the United States still played in its original city." Kim Clijsters becomes the first player to hoist the new trophy when she improves on her quarterfinal finish of 2009 to take the title over Maria Sharapova. Reportedly, she couldn't take her eyes off "the work of art."

On the men's side, Roger Federer becomes the first player since Mats Wilander in 1988 to win four titles in Cincinnati. Federer joins Wilander, Bobby Riggs and George Lott as the only players to win four singles titles since the event began in 1899.

2011 The tournament adds six new courts, including a new 4,000-seat television court, a new entrance, and a new ticket office.

With the top players on both Tours playing in Cincinnati for the first time ever and in the same week, Andy Murray of Great Britain marks the occasion by winning his second Cincinnati title when Novak Djokovic retires in the final (the first retirement in a men's final here since 1952) and Russian Maria Sharapova captures her first title in the Queen City. The women's draw is the strongest in tournament history, and the average ranking of the players to reach the men's quarterfinals also ties the tournament record of 5.63, the strongest since 1996.

2012 For the first time in tournament history, the top two ranked men's players in the world square off on Final Sunday. Roger Federer marks the occasion by becoming the first male player in tournament history to win five titles when he bests four-time finalist Novak Djokovic. Li Na tames a tough field to become the first player from China to win a title in Cincinnati.

2013 In a year of firsts, lasts and "onlys," Rafael Nadal reaches his first final in Cincinnati, facing Roger Federer, Grigor Dimitrov, Tommy Haas and Tomas Berdych before dispatching John Isner (in his only Cincinnati final) to take the title. World No. 1 Serena Williams also reaches her first Cincinnati final, facing world No. 2 Victoria Azarenka. It was the first meeting between the WTA's two top-ranked players in Cincinnati. Williams falls in a third-set tiebreaker to Azarenka, the only time in 10 matches as No. 1 she loses to No. 2. Marion Bartoli, just 40 days after winning the Wimbledon singles title, comes to Cincinnati and announces her retirement from tennis, citing injuries sustained over her career. In her first match of the tournament, she falls to Simona Halep. It would be her final professional match.

2014 Roger Federer claims an unprecedented sixth men's singles title in Cincinnati, while Serena Williams goes one step better than the previous year by claiming her first title in the Queen City. Bob & Mike Gustavo Kuerten beat six players with an average ranking of only 13.8, a tournament record, to win in 2001.

Carlos Moya won the biggest hardcourt title of his career in Cincinnati in 2002.

Childhood friends Andy Roddick and Mardy Fish (below) squared off in the 2003 final, which Tennis Week called "a masterpiece."

In 2004, Lindsay Davenport showed talk of her retirement was just talk.

The 2010s

2010 The scope of change in this year is the greatest in tournament

Bryan reach their eighth doubles final in Cincinnati and win a team-record fifth title.

2015 For the first time since 1938, both the men's and women's singles champions are repeats from the previous year. Roger Federer claims his seventh men's title in Cincinnati, while Serena Williams takes her second. Federer defeats world No. 1 and five-time Cincinnati singles finalist Novak Djokovic in the men's final, while top-ranked Williams takes out Simona Halep in women's final. Daniel Nestor pairs with Edouard Roger-Vasselin to win his fifth doubles title in Cincinnati, while Hao-Ching Chan and Yung-Jan Chan win the women's doubles title.

2016 Karolina Pliskova becomes the first former qualifier to win the women's singles title, and Marin Cilic bests two-time champ Andy Murray in the final to take the men's crown. Pliskova defeats Angelique Kerber in the singles final; had Kerber won the title she would have become the No. 1 player in the world the following day. Both would go on to be ranked No. 1 in the world: Kerber the following month, and Pliskova on July 17, 2017. Both Kerber and Murray arrive in Cincinnati with medals from the Rio Olympics in singles competition (Murray won gold while Kerber won silver).

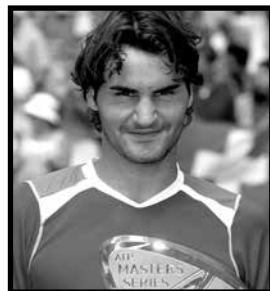

2017 Grigor Dimitrov doesn't drop a set en route to the biggest title of his career to date, while reigning Wimbledon champion Garbiñe Muguruza cuts through a stacked women's field to take the title. Dimitrov celebrates his first ATP Masters 1000 final by dismantling rising star Nick Kyrgios in straight sets, but Muguruza has a potentially bigger challenge by facing off against world No. 2 Simona Halep. Muguruza wins 6-1, 6-0, the most lop-sided women's final in Cincinnati since 1952.

For the second consecutive year, a player enters the women's final with the opportunity to be the world No. 1 with a win. Halep is that player and for the second consecutive year the finalist in the Cincinnati women's final is denied the No. 1 ranking.

2018 In his sixth singles final in Cincinnati, Novak Djokovic defeated Roger Federer to win the title, becoming the first singles player in ATP Tour history to win all nine Masters 1000s titles in his career, completing "The Golden Masters". It was his 28th career Masters 1000 title. The women's field contains seven current or former world No. 1 players, and an eighth who would become No. 1 within a few months. Kiki Bertens defeats world No. 1 Simona Halep in the final to win her sixth career WTA title, and her first on hardcourt. She becomes the first unseeded player to win in Cincinnati since 2006.

2019 Both singles champions win the biggest titles of their careers to date, and the women's field includes the most former or current No. 1s ever: 10. American Madison Keys defeats three of those former World No. 1 players to reach the final, and then rallies from being down a break in the first set to win the title over 34-year-old Svetlana Kuznetsova, herself a former World No. 3. Daniil Medvedev defeats defending champion Novak Djokovic in the semifinals en route to winning his first Masters 1000 title over David Goffin.

2020 The COVID-19 pandemic forces the tournament to be held August 20-28 in New York City at the USTA's Billie Jean King National Tennis Center. It becomes the first ATP Masters 1000 and WTA 1000 tournament to be held since the pandemic suspends play in March 2020. It is the fifth time the tournament is played outside of Cincinnati. The last time the event was played temporarily outside of the Queen City was exactly 100 years earlier, in 1920.

The 2005 tournaments belonged to the Swiss as top seeds Patty Schnyder and Roger Federer took home the hardware.

Andy Roddick kissed the court after winning the 2006 title, his fourth ATP Masters Series title and his first since 2004. He then took a victory lap around Center Court to thank the fans.

The tournament examined multiple scenarios with the USTA, ATP Tour, WTA, a team of medical advisors, as well as government officials to ensure the event would be safe for players and tournament personnel. Playing the event in New York allowed it to be held in succession with the US Open at a single venue, a decision which was deemed to pose the lowest risk to the players and all others involved. The Western & Southern Open utilizes the Grandstand Court at the National Tennis Center as its primary show court, with match play occurring on other outside courts. In announcing the move, the tournament also pronounced its intention to play the 2021 event at its traditional home in Mason.

The tournament includes other firsts as well - it's the first combined event to exclusively use electronic line calling (instead of linespeople), it's the first time rain causes the men's final to be played indoors, and it's the first time since 1923 the event is halted for a reason unrelated to the weather: at the behest of the players, play is postponed during the semifinals for a day in recognition of racial injustice.

Playing without fans, Novak Djokovic snags his second W&S Open singles title, defeating Milos Raonic in the final. Victoria Azarenka also picks up her second title, lifting the trophy in a walkover over an injured Naomi Osaka.

2021 After a year's absence, the tournament returns to the Lindner Family Tennis Center to large and enthusiastic crowds.

Four former Cincinnati champions enter the men's field, and the top four seeds all make the semifinal for the first time since 2009. The No. 3 seed, Alexander Zverev, fresh off a Gold Medal run at the Tokyo Olympics, makes his seventh consecutive appearance in Cincinnati, a place where he'd never won a main draw match. But Zverev runs through the field, facing three seeds and dropping only one set en route to the title over fourth-seeded Andrey Rublev.

Asleigh Barty makes her fourth appearance in Cincinnati, taking the No. 1 seed in a field that includes four former champions and seven current or former world No. 1-ranked players. She plays five matches without losing a set and lifts the Rookwood Trophy on Final Sunday after defeating wild card entrant Jil Teichmann in straight sets. Teichmann is the third consecutive wild card to reach the Cincinnati women's final.

HISTORY – Major Facility Improvements Since 1979

- 1979 The tournament moves from the Old Coney Amusement Park along the Ohio River to land in Mason owned by Taft Broadcasting.
- 1981 Permanent seating is added as the lower bowl is constructed. Capacity is 6,900.
- 1982 Construction increases capacity to 7,586.
- 1985 The Championship Club, a private dining club, and the Grandstand Court are added.
- 1986 Lights are added to the Grandstand Court (the No. 2 court), allowing night play on two courts.
- 1987 A $2.1 million expansion increases seating on Center Court by 13 percent, (from 7,732 to 8,748). Also, two new air-conditioned levels are built beneath the west stands, adding a player lounge, player locker room, lavatories, a training room and a whirlpool room, as well as administrative offices, a conference suite, a first-aid facility, offices for the referees and umpires, a news-media interview room, a media lounge and darkroom facilities. Along the upper rim of Center Court, an enclosed, air-conditioned, 65-seat news-media box is added, as well as private luxury suites, built on either side of the news-media box.
- 1988 Additions to the tennis complex include Courtside Cafes, an area of eight tents where patrons could choose from such food items as pizza, subs or salads, and a new, 3,000-foot road, which provided better access to the tennis complex from the south.
- 1990 A $4 million expansion adds 1,500 seats, eight skyboxes on the west side and four luxury suites on the north side. Capacity is at 10,000.
- 1992 Lights and extra seats are added to courts three and four, and the foodcourt is widened.
- 1993 Nearly 200 seats are added to Center Court.

- 1994 Seats are added to the north sides of courts three and four, new administrative offices are constructed and the locker room, the player lounge, the media interview room, and media lounge areas are enlarged.
- 1995 The Grandstand Court is completely reconstructed to replace the wooden temporary bleachers with a concrete bowl with box seats and benches with backs, and seating for nearly 5,000 — an increase of approximately 1,000 seats. Also, the food court is expanded again to allow more seating as is the west media box to add a restroom.
- 1997 A third permanent stadium (Court 3) is added to the tennis complex, making it the only facility outside the Grand Slams with three permanent stadiums.
- 1998 Two new practice courts, Courts 9 & 10, are added to the southeast corner of the complex.
- 1999 A new ticket office and a new mezzanine on the north side of Center Court are added. The former ticket office becomes a new museum in celebration of the tournament's 100th anniversary.
- 2000 The Lindner Family Tennis Center becomes the second facility in the world to feature purple/blue courts as the Tennis Masters Series switches to the new color for its courts.
- 2006 Approximately 180 seats are added to the southeast corner of Center Court.
- 2008 The oldest seats in Center Court, those in the lower bowl, are replaced with seats that also feature cupholders.
- 2010 A $10 million renovation includes the construction of a new West Building (named the Paul Flory Player Center) with new facilities for players, media and fans.

- 2011 The addition of six new courts, including a 4,000-seat television court, brings the total number of courts to 16 and the number of stadiums to four.
- 2012 The third and final phase of recent construction is the expansion of the food court area.
- 2017 An additional court, additional court lighting and parking lot improvements are part of a $5 million improvement project. LED digital displays are added running the length of the court on both sidelines of center court.
- 2018 The new $25 million South Building is unveiled. It is the tallest structure on the facility, and includes the world's first indoor air-conditioned box seats at an outdoor tennis tournament. The building has views of both Center Court and the Grandstand Court as well as practice courts 16 and 17, and contains 40,000 square feet, a full commercial kitchen, meeting rooms and a conference room, with restrooms, air conditioning and food options on every level. The building also is the home of new broadcast facilities and includes a bar and retail at ground level. Digital display panels also are used on all sides of the net judge box on center court.
- 2019 The sides of the center court umpire's chair that face the baselines feature digital displays measuring nearly six feet tall.
- 2021 All lower bowl seats are replaced on the Grandstand Court.
- 2022 The static Center Court backwalls are changed to digital LED panels, creating an immersive digital display around all four sides of the court. The Grand Courtyard, located to the southwest of Grandstand Court, is added; the area is designed to be a go-to spot for fans of all ages, featuring outdoor lounge seating, a pop-up bar, interactive entertainment experiences and a full line-up of programming.

HISTORY – Men's Trophies Since 1899

1899-1900 - No Trophy

1901-1906 - The Governor's Bowl

Called the "Governor's Bowl" in honor of the board of governors of the Avondale Athletic Club, the bowl is considered the finest trophy in U.S. competition at the time. It is purchased at Theodore B. Sparr's in New York by Charles J. Iredell in 1900 for $500 ($17,000 in today's dollars). The trophy is sterling silver and the interior of the two-foot diameter bowl is gold-lined. It is embossed with designs of grapevines and Bacchus heads. Retired by Beals Wright (titles in '04, '05 & '06).

1907-1909 - George DeCamp Bowl

The trophy is solid silver, weighs 17 pounds, is 10½ inches high, 16 inches in diameter and is made at a cost of $500 ($15,300 in today's dollars). It is named after the tournament's correspondence secretary as a "tribute to the man to whose energy and loyal work the success of past tournaments had been largely due." Retired by Robert LeRoy (titles in '07, '08 & '09).

1910-1927 - The Cincinnati Trophy

Tiffany's of New York creates this huge bowl for $550 (which would equal $16,700 in today's dollars). The money is donated by two of the world's most recognizable names in consumer products: James Norris Gamble and William Cooper Procter. The bowl is retired in 1927 by George Lott of Chicago, who retains possession of it until 1938, when, according to legend, he won a pro tournament in White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia, at the Greenbrier resort. When reports drift back to Cincinnati that he is leaving a good portion of his prize money in the casino there, tournament officials decide it is a good time to negotiate with him for the purchase of the valuable and historic bowl. They drive the 350 miles to White Sulphur Springs, negotiate with Lott, and return with the bowl. Retired by George Lott (champion in '24, '25 & '27).

1928-1938 - Wilfred M. Tyler Trophy

Tyler was actively involved in Cincinnati tennis circles and was an officer of the Ohio Lawn Tennis Association for many years until about 1915. Tyler died in 1923, and when a new trophy is needed for 1928, someone associated with the tournament recalls a mention of tennis in Tyler's will. When his estate's executor is consulted, it turns out he had left $500 "with which to purchase a new trophy should it ever become necessary." That occasion having now arisen, the tournament purchases a new bowl and names it after the benefactor. The trophy is now on display at the Bobby Riggs Museum in San Diego. Retired by Bobby Riggs (titles in '36, '37 & '38).

1939-1947 - The Cincinnati Trophy (2nd)

This silver bowl is made by Revere and donated to the tournament by Cincinnati Charles Tobias, but in deference to his wishes his name does not appear on the bowl. Retired by Bill Talbert (titles in '43, '45 & '47).

1948-1958 - Boyd Chambers Memorial Trophy

This silver trophy is made in Mexico and donated anonymously in memory of Boyd B. "Pete" Chambers, Jr. A former tournament competitor, Chambers was shot down over Italy in World War II. Bernard "Tut" Bartzten of Texas retires the trophy in 1958, and it remains in his personal collection to this day. Once ranked No. 1 in the nation, Bartzten considers it his favorite trophy. Retired by Bartzten (titles in '55, '57 & '58).

1959-1968 - Stanley W. Lewis Bowl

This two-handled, vase-shaped silver bowl was named in honor of Stanley Lewis, who served as tournament director between 1936 and 1941, and then again in 1949 and 1950. The trophy is never retired by a player. Marty Riessen had two legs on the trophy ('62 & '63) when it was retired by the tournament in 1969.

1969-1978 - Western Trophy

This silver trophy on a wooden base is used by the event during the period when the tournament is called the Western Tennis Championship. During the ten-year period, ten different players win titles. The trophy is retired by the tournament, not a player.

1979-1991 - ATP Championship Cup

This trophy is created by Tiffany's of New York and purchased by the tournament when the event changes names and venues in 1979. Mats Wilander wins four titles during the period of this trophy, but by then the practice of retiring trophies has ended.

1992-1999 - ATP Championship Trophy

This trophy, made by Waterford Crystal of Ireland, has the distinction of being the first non-silver trophy in tournament history. Pete Sampras, champion in '92, '97 and '99, is both the first player and the last player to hoist it on a Final Sunday.

2000-2001 - Masters Series Shield

This Waterford Crystal trophy has the shortest tenure of any trophy in tournament history. It's also the first trophy not to have a bowl shape. Its "shield" shape reflects the logo of the Cincinnati tournament, and the logos of all nine Masters Series events, introduced in 2000. Subsequently, when a player wins any Masters Series event, he receives an identical trophy. The trophy is retired in 2002 when the tournament changes names again.

2002-2009 - ATP Masters Series Shield

Rather than resemble the tournament logo, this trophy is the "shield" of the entire Masters Series. For 2002, Waterford Crystal had planned to create individual trophies for each of the nine events. That changes when Lleyton Hewitt won the first Masters Series event of the year (the Pacific Life Open in Indian Wells) and asks for "his crystal shield" to mark his first Masters Series title. The decision was quickly made to produce the shield trophy for all tournaments.

2010-Present (MEN & WOMEN) - The Rookwood Cup

Champions didn't earn trophies by winning in Cincinnati in the first year, but the tournament did provide them with mementos from Cincinnati's world-famous Rookwood Pottery. When the tournament needed new trophies in 2010, Rookwood Pottery once again stepped forward, and in grand style. In 2010, tournament officials "wanted the players to be able to bring home something that said they were in Cincinnati and went beyond the trophies given to them in any other city," said Christopher Rose, Rookwood's president and CEO. Rookwood artist Roy Robinson crafted the tournament's 12-pound perpetual trophy featuring tennis balls clinging to acanthus leaves and bearing the inscription honoring "the oldest tournament in the United States still played in its original city." The Cincinnati Enquirer reported: "The trophy was a hit with Kim Clijsters.... When she hoisted the trophy at Center Court, she could not take her eyes off the work of art."

2004-2009 – Women's Trophy

When the women's event returns to Cincinnati in 2004, Waterford Crystal produces a cup for the singles champions. The initial cup is reminiscent of the men's trophy from 1992 to 1999, but later versions are styled as a bowl.

HISTORY – Tournament Directors

In 1975, Paul Flory became the 27th person to hold the title of Tournament Director, and he held that title longer than anyone: 36 years. Phil Stanberry was TD for 11 years, two more than Tom Price (9). Kris Paulus is the only woman ever to be tournament director (she was director of the 1963 ladies event), while Elaine Bruening is the first person to be CEO. In February, 2022, Katie Haas was named CEO.

Wild Card Stats

Wild cards first appeared in Cincinnati in 1974 and are officially defined as "players included in the main draw at the sole discretion of the tournament." Typically, wild cards are given to marquee players who missed the tournament entry deadline, or players who have significant fan appeal but do not have a ranking high enough to gain direct acceptance. Sometimes, however, a tournament doesn't need all of its wild cards and, if qualifying has not begun, the player (or players) next in line to gain direct acceptance are moved into the main draw. However, in order for that to occur, the tournament must first choose not to bestow a wild card on a particular player. In making that choice, the tournament is, in effect, choosing to include those players who are next in line. The following statistics include all players who were bestowed wild cards by the tournament for any reason.

Phillip S. Smith first touched a tennis racquet when the tennis coach at his high school asked him to try out for the team. The coach didn't know if Phil could play tennis or not; he just knew an injury was preventing Phil from joining the track team that spring, and that his tennis team needed players.

The tennis coach handed Phil a racquet, and Phil started his tennis career by shanking seven balls over the fence behind the opposite baseline. The tennis coach immediately reclaimed his racquet.

By the time Phil graduated from high school and the E.W. Scripps School of Journalism at Ohio University, his tennis skill, or even his knowledge of the sport beyond a rudimentary level, hadn't improved.

Ironically, he began working for the Cincinnati tennis tournament, first as a year-round marketing consultant, then as a member of the staff. And while his knowledge of tennis was growing, he knew the knowledge base of the tournament itself - its rich history and unique place in the sport - was largely unknown.

Phil endeavored to change that by creating this book, and then by producing a new edition every year. He modeled it after The Wimbledon Compendium, but with sections and statistics unlike any other book of its kind. Additionally, he created a museum on the grounds of the Lindner Family Tennis Center to display the history of the tournament.

During his 22-year career with the tournament, Phil served tennis in other ways as well, most notably as a board member and President of the Greater Cincinnati Tennis Association and in volunteer roles with the Ohio Valley Tennis Association and the United States Tennis Association's Midwest Section. He's been honored on numerous occasions with awards recognizing his promotion of tennis in the Midwest, and in 2012 he was enshrined into the Cincinnati Tennis Hall of Fame.

It's a good bet the Hall's selection committee wasn't aware of how his tennis career started in high school.
