The free streaming applications, add-ons, and paid IPTV services you use are usually hosted on insecure servers. If you don't have a VPN, your IP address will be recorded. Your IP address points to your location and identity and compromises both your privacy and security. The current IP address is 2605:a601:a888:5e00:c131:b6b0:ce8f:211f – a VPN converts the actual IP address to an anonymous new address. A VPN provides anonymous connecting to the Internet. This prevents internet service providers, app/add-on developers, government agencies, and third parties from recording what they access online. The most popular VPN among cord cutters is IPVanish due to its blazing high speed and zero log policy. Since we stream large HD files, it is important to use a fast VPN. It's also important to look for keeping logs that subscribers access while online. Setting up an IPVanish VPN on a streaming device is simple! Click the link below step 1 to register for an IPVanish VPN account. This exclusive link gives you a hefty discount that is only available to Trojan Point visitors like you. Step 9 – When the connection request appears, click OK. Step 10 – You'll see that your IP address changes with your connection location. It now works anonymously through your device. When you click the home button on the remote control, the VPN continues to run in the background. Axis!
