

ImPACT® Baseline Concussion Testing

Saturday, July 25th

Every year, 2 - 3.5 million sports-related concussions occur, mostly in middle and high school athletes. A baseline test establishes the standard that's normal for an individual's brain, and is used as a comparison tool when an athlete experiences a concussion. The information from ImPACT® testing helps determine when and if the athlete is ready to resume regular activities, including athletics.

Computerized baseline screenings are the gold standard in collegiate and professional athletics. Methodist Healthcare System, in conjunction with Sports Medicine Associates of San Antonio and the Valero Alamo Bowl, are happy to offer this free baseline testing.

With all of the equipment and training aids parents use to protect their kids and improve skills, this baseline test is a quick, free, valuable resource that will ensure accurate detection and a safe return-to-play process should your child experience a concussion.
