To Whom It May Concern:

Coach Ryan Varga has been named interim head coach for the Washington High School boys' basketball team for the 2017-2018 season.

Ryan is a South Bend native and graduate of Clay High School. While at Clay Ryan played four years of basketball and received NIC honors.

Ryan graduated from Valparaiso University in 2008 with degree in Elementary Education and earned his Masters in Special Education Mild Interventions in December of 2017 from Ball State University.

Ryan is in his 7th year with the South Bend Community School Corporation as both a teacher and coach. He has been a special education teacher at Washington High School for the last three years. He has served as the JV head coach and varsity assistant at Washington for the last seven years.

Ryan Varga: "I'm blessed and honored to be given this opportunity by the administration at Washington and the leadership of SBCSC. It's truly a dream come true to be a head coach at Washington in the city I've grown up in. I love being a part of the Pride of the West Side, and am very excited to get to work."
