How to create a PowerPoint Flowchart slide from PPTB templates while you've gone through our flowchart PowerPoint templates and found the one you'd like to use, it's time to customize and create your own flow pattern. Fortunately, this is easy to do, as the hard work of creating flowchart has already been done. Here's how to set up the PowerPoint flowchart template in four simple steps. For this tutorial, I'll use the Arcama Template from Envato Elements to contain scalable vector infographics.1 Content with your OwnThe first step in setting up your chosen PowerPoint template is replacing demo content with your own. Who to who it's just click in any text area. Select the text by clicking ctrl-L-A. Then start inputting your own information, as I did on the slide #9 in the Arcama template. 2. Edit the process maps to customize the process map, select the slide that matches the desired chart style the most. For this tutorial, I chose a slide #87 that shows a map of the process. To edit the colors, all you have to do is click right on the form and select the format form. From there, adjust the color as well as the text by clicking on Text Options.3. Set up graphicsIn a similar fashion, set up graphics and infographics. For example, I decided to edit the slide #136. By clicking on one of the charts, I can easily access the data by selecting the Excel Data Editing option as part of the chart development. 4. Replace images The last step is to customize the images with your own. For example, on slide 21, I can easily insert an image instead of a color form by simply changing the type of fill to the image instead of the color. Want to know more about PowerPoint flowcharts? Take a look at our tutorial on using flowchart templates for PowerPoint: Microsoft PowerPoint How to Make Flowchart in PowerPoint with Andrew Childress5 Fast (Useful) Tips for Creating Big Flowcharts in PowerPoint If you use the Microsoft PowerPoint flowchart template, you'd want to get a big part of it. Here are five tips to help you do just that:1. Don't overpopulate the PowerPoint Flowchart slide just like with any other slide in the slideshow, too much information on the slide can make it confusing. For this reason, try to document the high-level processes in your thread. Rare exceptions to the process can be discussed without illustrating. Separate the subprocessors and use a separate slide if you need to. Be careful with color color is a good way to make your flowchart design stand out. At the same time, you don't want to overdo it with too many colors or clashing colors. This is one area where pre-built colored themes in the premium PowerPoint template can help. In addition, you can color the molds in your flowchart. Arcama does a great job using additional color schemes through different slides to keep it consistent. Keep your appearance consistent with your listener should understand your PowerPoint pattern at a glance, so be consistent with the shapes and their values. Use the same forms to represent processes, solutions, connectors, and other common elements of the flow chart. Make the key symbol to make your flowchart for PowerPoint even easier to understand. Make sure your fonts are the legible fonts you use on slides can make a difference in whether your slides read or First, you want to use a good clear font (usually a serif font). Next, you should make sure that the font is large enough that all members of your audience can read it, even if at the back of the room. Clear fonts, similar to those in the PowerPoint v2 deck, help you tell stories dramatically. Use the professionally designed PowerPoint Flowchart template One of the best ways to save time and still create an attractive flowchart design to give yourself a start. The best way to get started is to start with our professionally designed infographic templates designed specifically for PowerPoint. Find flowchart templates for PPT on Envato Elements or GraphicRiver.5 Infographic PowerPoint Slide Design Trends for 2020 These tips for your flowchart infographic template will help you create an amazing PowerPoint presentation. If you want an added benefit, then take a look at these PowerPoint:1 infographic design trends. Line of Art StyleIn the past, infographics and flowcharts are known to be visually busy and almost over the top. This trend pushes back on this idea, toning the design down the art line. Using this trend will still create interesting flowcharts that have a minimal, modern look. The startup infographic flowchart template uses minimal linear art for great effects. Monochrome color schemes I mentioned in the section tips you should be careful with the colors you use. Fortunately, this trend follows this advice. If you want to use monochrome colors, head for this colored wheel from Adobe and find an appearance that works with your content and tone3. Illustrated illustrations for infographics and PPT process flow patterns continue to be a trend in 2020. While this may seem distracting, this trend actually does a great job of connecting parts of the data and creating a narrative. This flowchart template includes many illustrated characters. Dynamic DataSpeaking data, adding a little dynamism is a popular infographic flowchart pattern trend this year. The movement in your flowchart is visually interesting. It also does a great job of creating certain data points stand out. Custom TypographyLegible fonts are important, but no one says that the font used in the PPT process flow chart template should be boring. There are many bold, attractive fonts in PowerPoint. If you want a special, creative font, check out those from Envato Elements. Use your new custom font with Maxpoint workflow chart template for PowerPoint.
