

The Walrus

Thanks You

THE WALRUS believes in the idea of a better Canada, and believes that a strong democracy depends on informed citizens. Through the exploration of stories, art, and unexpected ideas, The Walrus provokes new thinking, widens perspectives, and inspires engagement. We are deeply grateful to the following individuals and organizations for helping us fulfill this mandate with their gifts and sponsorships in 2017.

Optimistic Canadians

The Walrus salutes community leaders who have made substantial multi-year commitments, allowing us to plan on a longer horizon and execute projects in an environment designed for success.

The Walrus Fellowship Program

We are grateful to The Chawkers Foundation, Lucille and Urban Joseph, Donald Bainbridge, and Sandra and Jim Pitblado for their generous support of The Walrus Editorial Fellowship Program, which provides young professionals with the training they need to become successful editors.

Authoritative, well-researched journalism matters!

The need for well-researched, independent, fact-based journalism has never been greater — and producing it has never been harder. Thanks to readers like you, The Walrus tells the stories that matter and inspires discussion to support a culture of interested and interesting citizens. Please support independent journalism by joining our community of donors today!
