

WARE - SCREENING REPORT		WARE R &amp; D
SUBJECT NAME: Claire Sandfield
METHODOLOGY: Rorschach test
MEDICAL EXAMINER: A. Rhodes Ph.D
DATE: 2018/02/16

	PATIENT RESULTS: Patient's initial response to the ink blot was a monster that she'd found under her bed. She later revised her answer to the face of a bad wolf or a fox. Answer could indicate a strong aversion to adversity.
---	--

MEDICAL EXAMINATION EXTRACT: Data originating from the exosuit's phased array radar has been observed interfacing (benignly) with headset software visuals. All dreamers manifested a similar static pattern across their fMRI monitors from 14:32-14:35, when a thunderstorm abruptly began outside the W/ARE facility. Visuals seemed to specifically resemble precipitation - not just random electrical interference. Note: These visuals coincided with a release of cortisol in many of the dreamers, and a non-organic, unidentified increase in moisture was detected in the suit fabric - this must have originated from the suit itself.
--	---

SCREENING FOR POTENTIAL FOR HARM TO SELF OR OTHERS
Note: These questions didn't apply to the subject. Reason: Child.
Have you ever hurt someone?
N/A
Have you ever thought of killing someone?
N/A
Have you ever lied?
N/A
On a daily basis?
N/A