Elimination of Asian Carp in Kentucky and Tennessee!

The Tennessee and Cumberland rivers are inundated with Asian carp. Major tourism attractions created by recreation in reservoirs like Kentucky and Barkley Lake are already being negatively impacted. The lakes create fishing and recreational boating worth over a billion tourism dollars annually and ASIAN CARP are moving further up the two river systems threatening eleven other very large, economically important reservoirs. Let's declare war on this invasive fish!

Millions in federal funding is spent annually to protect the Great Lakes, but very little federal funding is allocated to save economically important recreational fisheries on the Tennessee and Cumberland rivers like Barkley and Kentucky Lake. It's our turn to receive help.

URGE Congress to provide federal funds for the WAR on CARP pilot project in Kentucky and Tennessee. The funding will provide more efficient commercial fishing methods for Asian carp, assist the marketing ability of Kentucky's three processing facilities targeting Asian carp, increase dramatically the commercial harvest on our lakes and - if the sound/bubble barrier works - it will place one at Kentucky, Barkley and other important dams. Asian carp were brought to this country with the blessings of the federal government; now we must demand that the federal government assist us with this problem! Time is short for Kentucky and Barkley Lake as Asian carp already threaten this immense economic and ecological area! We need your support NOW!
