Ambassador's Editorial Board Initiatives—Third Quarter 2014

- CEO's Message—Expanding NACVA's Worldwide Network

By Board Chair, Jeff Harwell, CVA, MAFF, CMEA

As the newly appointed Chair of the Ambassador's Editorial Board (AEB), I continue to struggle with several questions as our Board works diligently to connect with our membership and meet its responsibility of providing relevant and timely intellectual and professional content through QuickRead and special "Think Tank" projects. So to address those questions, I decided to take this opportunity to review the role and responsibilities of the AEB and solicit our membership's active participation.

Think Tank—the AEB should act as a think tank on behalf of NACVA, staying plugged into the newest thought and research in our disciplines and should produce, commission, or obtain at least one white paper per year related to the process for publication.

Question—Are you familiar with the AEB, its role and responsibilities, and more importantly its current work? If not, please read on.

The AEB's current Think Tank project centers on an element in the determination of the cost of capital, specifically Company Specific Risk. The objective of the project is to understand and identify the key factors that valuation analysts consider in their build-up approach to cost of capital determination. As part of the research and study, your AEB surveyed a sample set of NACVA membership during our annual Conference. At this writing, we are continuing and expanding our research and survey work. If you have not participated in the survey, we need your input and thoughts. The following link will take you to the survey and allow you to be a part of your Association's contribution to the valuation community.

weekly QuickRead. The topical articles are current issues and thoughts relevant to our valuation disciplines. They range from as little as 300 words to upwards of 2500. However, the average article approximates 600 to 800 words (1 to 1 ½ pages).

Questions:

1. Are you familiar with and receiving our weekly QuickRead? If not, you may subscribe here or view the weekly articles here.
2. Would you like to increase your professional credibility and recognition? If so, consider writing and submitting an article to your Association's QuickRead. Contact me or any member of your Ambassadors Editorial Board for information, topics, ideas, and submission requirements.

As I close this Third Quarter Association News column, I would like to express my gratitude to NACVA for allowing me to serve our membership through the AEB and serve as its current Chair. My wish to my fellow members is that you take the opportunity to get involved with NACVA and grow professionally. If I can be of any assistance to that end, do not hesitate to contact me.
