The Value Examiner Receives Award of Excellence in 26th Annual APEX Awards

Journal Selected from among 2,100 Entries This Year
Award-Winning Publication Offers Valuable CPE

We at NACVA are very pleased to announce that The Value Examiner[®] (Examiner), an independent, professional journal published by NACVA[®], is once again a winner of an APEX Award of Excellence, sponsored by Communications Concepts, Inc. The Examiner has now received its sixth APEX award. The Examiner won its first APEX award back in 2007 and then each consecutive year from 2010 to 2014.

The APEX Awards are based on excellence in graphic design, editorial content, and the ability to achieve overall communications excellence. The Examiner received the Award of Excellence in the category of Magazines, Journals, and Tabloids. This year, the number of entries topped 2,100.

“This is an honor and it really celebrates the hard work of everyone involved in making sure The Value Examiner is the premier, professional journal it is,” said Nancy McCarthy, senior editor.

The Value Examiner is published bi-monthly and contains substantive, peer-reviewed articles covering a spectrum of consulting disciplines, including business valuation, forensic accounting, mergers and acquisitions, fraud risk management, business and intellectual property damages, healthcare consulting, and practice development.

NACVA Practitioner and Professional members receive a hard copy of the journal mailed bimonthly while Associate members receive access to electronic versions via NACVA's website. A subscription is available to non-members at a cost of $215 annually. In addition, complimentary copies of The Examiner are available to university libraries and colleges, upon request. If you happen to know of a college or university library who would benefit from receiving a free subscription to the Examiner, please direct your requests to KarieA1@NACVA.com

Members will find a few great Examiner-related benefits in the Members Only section of NACVA's web site. One benefit is that members can access the current issue as well as past issues stretching back to 2003. If you're wrestling with a particular problem or concern, The Value Examiner archives offer a valuable, rich resource for assistance and support.

A second benefit is the opportunity to receive up to five hours of NACVA Continuing Professional Education (CPE) for answering a few short questions related to each issue*. Corresponding with each issue is a link to the CPE exam. Simply read the issue, answer the questions, and follow the instructions to send the completed exam back to NACVA along with the fee, which is $76.50 for members; $85 for non-members. (Please note that for issues that precede January/February 2014, NACVA's address has changed. Please scan and e-mail your completed CPE exam to NACVA1@NACVA.com, or fax to (801) 486-7500, or mail to 5217 South State Street, Suite 400, Salt Lake City, UT 84107).

Members can also create their own customized CPE exam based on a particular topic. On the Value Examiner past issues landing page, there is a link in the upper-right corner titled "Examiner® CPE On Demand Database." Members can perform a keyword search to access all past articles on a particular topic. Simply perform your search and select the articles you'd like to read by clicking the PDF link under the "Link" column. When you're ready to take the exam, check the box under the "Exam" column and click "Create Exam." This will build your own custom CPE exam. The cost is $15 per exam and members receive one hour of CPE credit for each article they complete*.

Both of these features offer a quick and convenient method for members to gain additional NACVA CPE hours* to maintain their NACVA credential(s).
