Roberto H. Castro is principal of Murphy Business Central Washington, manager of Central Washington Appraisal, Economics and Forensics, LLC, and managing member of Law Office of Roberto Castro, PLLC, with offices in Chelan, Washington and Wenatchee, Washington. Prior to returning to live and work in Washington State, Roberto worked as senior advisor with Brown Gibbons Lang & Co., a middle market investment bank, where he led the firm's Utah operations. He is also the associate editor for the Journal of Business Valuation and Economic Damages. Mr. Castro is a Vassar College, Cornell Law School (JD), Fairleigh Dickinson University (MS in Taxation), and University of Portland (MBA) graduate. Although he maintains a general valuation and litigation support practice, his valuation and litigation support practice incorporates advanced quantitative methodologies (Monte Carlo, Real Options, etc.) in the reports. These methods are regularly used, especially in the IP, healthcare, estate and gift, and the marital context. As a senior advisor with Brown Gibbons Lang & Co., he is a generalist—a status that he expects will change shortly—and is active with Utah-based incubators, the Utah Technology Council, ACG of Utah, Salt Lake County CFA Society, and the Mountain West Capital Network. Mr. Castro served in the Editorial Advisory Board to Shannon Pratt and Alina Niculita's The Lawyer's Business Valuation Handbook: Understanding Financial Statements, Appraisal Reports, and Expert Testimony (2nd edition 2010) (ABA Publishing).
