ABOUT

Richardson | Danner is a golf course architecture firm founded by Forrest Richardson and Jeff Danner. They have over 50 years of experience in designing and building golf courses that adapt to each site and embrace the natural terrain. Their designs balance creativity with features and nuances, and they consider the needs of the golfer, the membership, and customers who will ultimately play the course. Established in 1988, the firm has completed over 70 courses and has won awards for excellence, innovation, and attention to detail.
