ABOUT

Loadmaster is a leading manufacturer of high quality refuse equipment, located in Norway, Michigan. The company's equipment is proudly made in the USA. Loadmaster's product line, originally started by John G Hagan and manufactured by City Tank Corporation, includes garbage collection truck bodies marketed under the name Roto Pac. The company's history includes a move from New York to Virginia and a change in ownership in 1992 when David Brisson purchased Loadmaster to revitalize the line of refuse bodies. Loadmaster's legacy of quality products continues into the future as they look forward to the next chapter in their history.
