New River Polymers has over seventeen years of experience in the recycling marketplace. We specialize in post-industrial recycling, and do business both domestically and internationally. Our mission is to provide customers and suppliers the highest quality products and services, and to build mutually beneficial long-term relationships. In an industry based on transactional relationships, we take pride in on our commitment to service and our long-term approach. New River Polymers wants to partner with you to keep our country green through recycling efforts! Our primary business is buying and reprocessing recyclable plastic scrap, but buying scrap is only one part of our service. We consult manufacturing facilities on waste reduction through recycling, and help you identify measures that can be taken to reduce the amount of waste your organization generates.
