ABOUT

Vulcana is a company committed to creating a greener, eco-friendly environment by innovating recycled materials. They specialize in manufacturing rubbRe, a non-woven sheet rubber material made from recycled post-consumer tires. This versatile and eco-friendly material comes in various colors and thicknesses and can be customized to meet customer requirements. Vulcana also produces fuzun, a sheet rubber material created by bonding rubbRe with a woven material, such as hemp. Their products can be used in a wide range of applications, including luggage, upholstery, flooring, roofing, and wall coverings. By repurposing car tires, Vulcana aims to reduce the environmental impact of landfills and promote sustainability.
