Get Ready for Fall Movie Season

By Teddy Durgin

Special to the Examiner

I've seen a bunch of good and really good flicks this year. But not a lot of truly great ones. I'm hoping some of the films below will qualify as exceptional. These are the 10 that I am most looking forward to between now and Christmas/New Year's (in order of release dates, which are always subject to change):

1) "The Old Man & the Gun" -- By all accounts, this will be Robert Redford's last film in which he appears as an actor. What a remarkable run! But you wanna know something more remarkable? He's never won a Best Actor Oscar. In fact, he's only been nominated once! Here's hoping this comedy-drama about a legendary bank robber nearing the end of his life gets the former Hollywood Golden Boy his golden statue. (Sept. 28)

2) "A Star Is Born" -- All eyes and ears are on Lady Gaga as the lead in this remake of the '70s-era Barbra Streisand rock musical (which was a remake of the 1950s-era Judy Garland musical that itself was a remake of the 1937 original). But for my money, I'm looking forward to seeing what Bradley Cooper does with the Kris Kristofferson hair and beard ... er, role. (Oct. 5)

3) "First Man" -- It's just stupid that director Damien Chazelle didn't include Neil Armstrong planting the American flag on the moon. It would have taken all of three or four seconds of screen time. It's just created controversy that never needed to be there, it's hung Ryan Gosling out to dry in interviews, and it mars what I'm hearing is an otherwise exceptional dramatization of the historic moon landing. (Oct. 12)

4) "Bohemian Rhapsody" -- I really, REALLY hope this film is as good as it looks as I'm a big Queen fan and the group's story -- and Freddie Mercury's story -- has been a movie waiting to happen.

(Nov. 2)

5) "The Front Runner" -- If I was ranking these 10 films in order of what I want to see the most, this would be my ... er ... "Front Runner." Hugh Jackman stars as Gary Hart, who was a candidate for President in 1988 when his campaign got derailed by his marital infidelity. Before that, those running for office could have their way with secretaries, interns, Hollywood starlets, or whoever and the press would simply ask, "So, Senator ... did you get a good night's sleep last night?" (Nov. 7)

6) "Fantastic Beasts: The Crimes of Grindelwald" -- This is the second prequel to all the seven

"Harry Potter" sequels. Right now, it's being sold on the star power of Johnny Depp in the title role and Jude Law as a young Dumbledore. I just want more of those wonderful beasts. (Nov. 16)

7) "Creed 2" -- I love that this new series of films set in the Rocky Balboa universe is taking "Rocky IV" SO seriously! When I was 15, that movie was THE most hardcore dramatic film I'd seen with the whole U.S. vs. Russia theme, Apollo Creed getting killed in the ring, Rocky's vowing Siberian Christmas revenge. And now 33 years later, the son of Creed gets to fight the son of Drago?! Oh, if only Survivor was still making music! (Nov. 21)

8) "Ralph Breaks the Internet"

-- I agree with the characters in the trailer. This sequel should have been called "Ralph WRECKS the Internet!" (Nov. 21)

9) "Mary Poppins Returns" -- I hope today's young 'uns know who Mary Poppins is, that she was once on the big screen, and now she's indeed returning. I mean, 21st century kids know Batman when he returns. They know Superman when he returns. And they certainly know whenever a Jedi returns. But Mary Poppins? Fingers crossed that the box office returns will be good. (Dec. 19)

10) "Welcome to Marwen" -- What do you get when you cross the heady kookiness of "Being John Malkovich" with the post-traumatic stress dramatizations of "Born on the Fourth of July" and "The Deer Hunter" and throw in some ... wooden dolls? This movie! (Dec. 21)

AND 10 MORE THAT COULD BE SPECIAL: "Venom" (Oct. 5); "The Oath" (Oct. 12); "Halloween 2018" (Oct. 19); "The Hate U Give" (Oct. 19); "The Nutcracker and the Four Realms" (Nov. 2); "Green Book" (Nov. 21); "Mary, Queen of Scots" (Dec. 7); "Aquaman" (Dec. 19); "Holmes and Watson" (Dec. 21); and, last, "On the Basis of Sex" (Dec. 26).

7 Ways to Help Hurricane Victims

FAMILY FEATURES

Natural disasters come in multiple forms and can quickly devastate many lives in a matter of moments. While they all can cause nightmares for those affected, few are as powerful and destructive as hurricanes. That's why, when hurricanes make landfall and wreak havoc, help is immediately needed and accepted by the people and communities impacted the most. Here are a few ways you can make a positive impact for those affected by natural disasters, specifically hurricanes:

Start a Fundraiser

One of the most potentially impactful ways to lend a hand after a natural disaster is to start a community fundraiser. This can be as simple as an online account accepting donations for a group of people and sending a large sum to a relief organization, or as thought-out as a large-scale event, like a raffle or dinner, accepting donations for entry.

Donate

Money is typically the resource relief organizations can use the most during natural disasters, and it can also be the easiest way for people to lend aid. There are typically many trustworthy organizations available to donate to during times of need.

Promote Fundraising Efforts

After you've made a donation yourself, spread the word to others whether it's via word of mouth, social media or other forms of communication. Let friends and family know how they can join the cause.

Volunteer

While it isn't viable for everyone, some people closer to the affected region can directly help those in need with physical help at the place it's most needed. Whether it's passing out supplies, serving food to those displaced or other means of lending a hand, volunteers are a valuable resource following natural disasters.

Provide Shelter

Another option for people looking to help who are closer to the devastation is to offer shelter, especially if they have family members or friends who have been affected. Assisting at places sheltering the displaced is another way to provide help, if offering space in your home is not an option.

Give Blood

Injuries can be unavoidable when hurricanes and other disasters strike. One way to help those hospitalized or otherwise injured is to donate blood, possibly saving lives in the process.

Stay Persistent

In the immediate aftermath of storms and natural disasters, the news cycle is dominated by stories of triumph and despair, and by ways people can help. However, the storm is eventually overshadowed by other, more recent news. One major way people can help after a hurricane is by continuing their support long after the storm has passed, as those affected will need assistance, supplies and donations for much longer than just a couple of weeks after the incident. As time passes, it can be helpful to continue donating money and supplies, committing to helping physically rebuild structures and promoting fundraising efforts.

Find more ways to help those in need at eLivingToday.com.

Staying Safe Through a Hurricane

While the immense power of hurricanes and tropical storms can greatly affect the lives of many in an instant, there are ways to increase your safety before, during and after the storm. These tips from the American Red Cross can help protect yourself and your family.

Before

- Put together an emergency kit, including basic but crucial items such as: water, food, a first aid kit, cell phones with chargers, contact information for family and friends, flashlights, extra batteries, medications, radios, copies of key personal documents, extra cash and maps.
- Working with your family, create an evacuation plan for your home. This includes discussing how to prepare and respond to emergencies, identifying the responsibilities of each person in the home and practicing the plan.
- As a storm is approaching, stay tuned to local radio or TV stations for the latest updates.
- Be prepared to evacuate quickly, and ensure that your emergency kit and other necessities are ready.

During

- Stay inside.
- If power is lost, use flashlights in the dark rather than candles.
- If possible, keep radio or TV stations tuned in for any new or developing information.
- Because waters could be contaminated with sewage or contain other dangerous substances, avoid contact with floodwater.
- If instructed to do so by local authorities, shut off the power and water mains.
- If you must be outdoors, don't walk, swim or drive through floodwater. Don't walk on beaches or riverbanks, and don't allow children to play in or near floodwater.
- Stay out of areas subject to flooding, such as underpasses, dips and low spots.
- If you must drive and are caught on a flooded road with rising waters, get out of the car and move to higher ground.

After

- Communicate with family and friends to let them know you're safe.
- If you are evacuated, don't return until authorities confirm it is safe to do so.
- Continue listening to radio or TV stations for new or developing information.
- Be prepared for continued rainfall and additional flooding.
- Don't use water that could be contaminated.
- If possible, help friends, family and neighbors who require assistance, especially the elderly, people without transportation, large families and people with disabilities.
- When returning home, stay away from buildings that have water around them.
- Stay away from dangling power lines and report them to power companies.
- For insurance purposes, take pictures of home and item damage.
- When cleaning your home, wear protective clothing like rubber gloves and boots, and be cautious.
- Inquire with professionals to check for roof damage and other more technical tasks.
