Moorefield Selected to Participate in Community Revitalization Program

Community members from Moorefield were selected to participate in the West Virginia Community Development Hub's (The Hub) Cultivate WV program. Cultivate WV helps towns get started on their journey of creating an engaged, revitalized community.

Residents of Moorefield participated in a competitive process to be selected for this opportunity. They included Hardy County CVB Director Michele Moure-Reeves, Eastern WV Community and Technical College President Chuck Terrell, members of the the Moorefield Town Council, Doug Boswell, Mike Crites, Larry Curtis, and AmeriCorps volunteers from Eastern.

Cultivate WV builds a community's ability to engage and mobilize residents, promote community projects and events, develop the town's infrastructure, such as downtown buildings, grow their entrepreneurs and small businesses and secure funding for small and large-scale community improvement projects.

Community members will go through a coaching process to unearth challenges and carry out ideas to overcome them. While facilitated by the team at The Hub, the process is driven by the community members themselves so that the solutions and ideas put forward by participating teams are unique to the individual town. Residents are connected to outside resources along the way to ensure their success.

I am so excited to work with the community of Moorefield," said Amanda Workman, Hub's director of Community Engagement. "My first visit to Moorefield was in July and I was blown away. I met with some amazing people that obviously care very deeply about the future of their community and are ready to work."

Weekend Events at the Seneca Rocks Discovery Center

Live music at the Seneca Rocks Discovery Center this weekend.

Saturday, Sept. 8, 1-3 p.m.

Bear Hill Bluegrass Band, from Moorefield WV, will be playing in front of the SRDC fireplace. They will be playing a mix of bluegrass, gospel and classic country with a little home-grown comedy thrown in for good measure.

The Seneca Rocks Discovery

Center is open Wednesday-Sunday from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. to October 28. For more information, call 304-567-2827.

Tomato, Feta and Basil Salad

Recipe courtesy of Beth Vlasich Pav of Cooking by Design, LLC, on behalf of Les Dames d’Escoffier International
Servings: 15-20

- 8 medium size tomatoes, sliced into 1/8-inch slices
- 1 block (8 ounces) feta cheese, sliced into 1/8-inch pieces
- 2 small packages fresh basil, leaves picked off stems
- 3 teaspoons sea salt
- 2 teaspoons fresh ground pepper
- 1/4 cup olive oil

On large platter, arrange slices of tomato and feta so they overlap. Place basil leaf between each tomato and Feta slice. Repeat. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Drizzle with olive oil. Serve immediately.

Make it Mediterranean

3 dishes to highlight the next trend in internationally themed cuisine

FAMILY FEATURES

Just like forward-thinking culinary artists, many at-home chefs seek out the next trendy flavor to provide friends and family gathered around the table. When pondering which trend you’ll dive into in the future, consider incorporating tastes from an especially influential international location – the Mediterranean Sea region.

Considered by the experts at Les Dames d’Escoffier International (LDEI) in the organization’s 2018 Trends Report to be one of the most influential parts of the world on the American food scene, flavors from the Mediterranean Sea focus on a diet heavy on fruits, vegetables, grains, beans, seeds and nuts. Take this Hummus recipe, for example, which involves processing a host of beans, seeds and seasonings to create a light, smooth dip to serve with anything from vegetables to crackers.

Because the fare is typically lighter, small bites and salads such as Fresh Figs with Honey or this Tomato, Feta and Basil Salad provide easy-to-prepare versions of Mediterranean cuisine. Incorporating vegetables (tomatoes and basil) along with the salty, milky flavors of feta cheese makes the salad a distinctly Mediterranean dish.

In addition to Mediterranean food, the trends report highlighted Middle Eastern cuisine and Latin American flavors as areas of the world that will influence American dining in the next year.

Additionally, LDEI highlighted these regions as likely to be influential in the next three years:

- 1. East Africa
- 2. The Balkans
- 3. The Caribbean Sea

To go along with specific regions and countries to influence American food culture, the report identified these international food concepts as the most likely to become prominent food trends:

- 1. Puebla Hot Pot (Latin America, Mexico) – ancho chile, smoked paprika and spices in chicken stock, served with chicken or pork, corn, avocado crema and fresh garnishes.

- 2. Manouri (Mediterranean, Greece) – a semi-soft, fresh white whey cheese made from goat or sheep milk.
- 3. Millet (India) – ancient grains harvested from small-seeded grasses used for porridge.

Mediterranean food, because of its reliance on the inclusion of vegetables and exclusion of red meat in many of its dishes, also squarely fits into the top established and growing health trends, according to the report, which are:

- 1. Vegetarian cuisine
- 2. Organic
- 3. Vegan cuisine

Find full results from the report and learn more about the organization at LDEI.org.

Fresh Figs with Honey

Recipe courtesy of Beth Vlasich Pav of Cooking by Design, LLC, on behalf of Les Dames d’Escoffier International
Servings: 6

- 6 fresh figs
- 1 tablespoon honey

Slice figs in half lengthwise (stem to bottom). Distribute on small platter.

Drizzle honey over each fig equally. Serve immediately.

Hummus

Recipe courtesy of Beth Vlasich Pav of Cooking by Design, LLC, on behalf of Les Dames d’Escoffier International

Yield: 2 cups

- 2 cans (15 ounces each) garbanzo beans
- 1 medium garlic clove, peeled
- 1 teaspoon sesame oil
- 1/4 cup fresh lemon juice
- 2 teaspoons sea salt
- 1 teaspoon fresh ground pepper

- 1 teaspoon black sesame seeds
- 1 teaspoon olive oil
- 1 teaspoon toasted sesame seeds

Drain garbanzo beans reserving 1/2 cup liquid.

In food processor, process garbanzo beans, garlic, sesame oil, lemon juice, salt and pepper until incorporated. Stop and scrape down sides of bowl. Add garbanzo liquid and process until smooth.

Scoop mixture into medium bowl, add black sesame seeds and mix gently. Serve with drizzle of olive oil. Sprinkle toasted sesame seeds on top.

It's about how you live

Talking about palliative and end-of-life care is not easy. It's important to learn about your options and share your wishes with loved ones and care providers so you can live every day to the fullest.

Make sure your loved ones know the type of care
you want at the end of life. Submit your advance directives and medical orders (DNR and POST) to:
