Bogan movie songs ringtone

By David Weedmark Using the song editing feature in iTunes, you can transform any song into a personal ringtone for your iPhone. All you have to do is make a copy of your favorite track and then adjust it a little to make it a ringtone your iPhone can use. Ringtones must be 30 seconds or less, so you need to choose which part of the song you want to use. Launch iTunes. If prompted, sign in with the same Apple ID and password you use for your iPhone. Drag a music file into your iTunes Music library, or press Ctrl-O to import it. Find the song in your music library or playlist. Right-click the file name and select Get Info. In the window that opens, click the Options tab. Check the check boxes next to the song's start time and stop time, and change the times so that the song is 30 seconds or shorter. To start the song one minute in, change the start time to 1:00 and Stop time to 1:30. Click OK. Right-click the song again. This time, select Create AAC version to make a copy of your song in AAC format. If you don't see this option, you'll need to change your iTunes settings (see next step). A duplicate 30-second version of the song appears in the music library below the original. If you don't have the option to create an AAC version of a song, press Ctrl-B to display the iTunes menu bar. Then select Settings from the Edit menu and click the Import Settings button on the General tab. Click the Import Using menu and select AAC Encoder. Click OK twice to close the Settings windows. Right-click on your original song file - the one that still shows full-time length - and select Get info again. Select and delete start time and stop time, and then click OK. This returns the original song file to normal length. Open the Windows Control Panel, point to Appearance and Personalization, and then click Folder Options. Click the View tab, and then uncheck the box next to Hide extensions for known file types. You must be able to see the song's file type to make it a ringtone file. Right-click on the 30-second AAC version of your song in iTunes and select Open in Windows Explorer. In Windows Explorer, right-click the file and select Rename. .mp3 extension and replace it with the .m4r file extension used for ringtones. Press Enter. Click the menu button in the upper-left corner of iTunes, which should say Music and select Tones. The new ringtone appears on this page, indicating that you changed the file type correctly. Connect your iPhone to your computer using the USB cable. Select your iPhone when it appears in the upper-right corner of the iTunes window. Click the Toner tab, and then click the Sync Tones button. Click Apply, then Sync After syncing is complete, close iTunes and disconnect the USB cable. Start Settings from home screen. Scroll down and tap Sounds. Scroll down again and tap Ringtone. You can now select your custom ringtone from the list of available options. Picture: Great American Films Limited Partnership Movie soundtracks can turn a regular movie into a cult classic. They can turn a drama into an Oscar-winning phenomenon. The music you hear in movies changes the whole tone, takes viewers back in time, and may even be the only reason a movie is successful. If you think back to some of the greatest movies ever made, you'll probably be able to discover the perfect timing of a song that helps the plot, gives a setting or gives a deeper meaning to an emotional moment. In fact, there are movie soundtracks that are so popular that the albums sold out just as fast as the VHS tapes. Some of these films are even less popular than the soundtracks themselves. This quiz isn't for just movie goers. You have to know your music as much as you know your movie history. When you remember a favorite movie, chances are you remember the melody(s) you heard in it. Some songs are so inextricably linked to a movie that it instantly conjured up a plot, scene or image. Manufacturers put a lot of thought into the soundtrack for a good reason. The song is what lingers long after the credits roll and will leave you humming as you remember the movie. If you've seen the movie, you'll probably remember the melody, and if you've heard the melody, you'll probably remember the movie. Sometimes you may even feel like you've seen the movie from the theme song. Take Bond movies, for example. Their theme songs easily evoke the feeling and tone of the film in question. The melody highlights the film's concepts and what it aims to convey. Call it a symbiotic relationship, if you like. With this in mind, we have compiled a list of songs that have a famous film attached to it. How many of these can you identify? Take this quiz and find out how many movies you can remember by the titles of their songs alone! Then test your friends' knowledge of the same titles. I'm sure it'll be fun for everyone. So what are you waiting for? Hum together! How much do you know about dinosaurs? What is an octane rating? And how do you use a proper noun? Luckily for you, HowStuffWorks Play is here to help. Even the biggest entrepreneurs can fall prey to mental and spiritual fatigue. The stress of deadlines, fear of failure, the barrage of varying options and opinions - a balance can be hard to find.
