📍 Laos - Vientiane (Naxaythong District)

Engage with the local village children by teaching English classes at local primary schools in rural Laos!

Teach English to these bright eyed children in an informal way through engaging activities and games...feel free to get creative! Aside from teaching your students a new language that can impact their future, you will also get to interact with the kids, who might end up teaching you something back!

Program Description

This teaching program may take place at a variety of schools, although our primary teaching location is situated in a local village primary school. Here, you will teach English to the approximately 100 children between the ages of 4-12 years.

Even though we do aim to follow a curriculum, we also focus on informal teaching - the classes can vary widely in content - from playing games, sports and music to handicraft making, all whilst using the English language. This means you can get creative and teach them in the way you find best. These classes are meant to improve the English language skills of the children and develop their interests and ambitions in different fields.
