📍 China - Zhanjiang

Experience China's lifestyle and culture whilst assisting and caring for the children with autism in Zhanjiang city!

Disabled children in this village are usually from families that are required to work and cannot afford caretakers at home. You will help take care of these children by feeding them, comforting them, play games with them and helping to make them more socially active and confident.

Program Description

This disabled children center houses around 20 local children with autism.

These children are around the ages of 4-8 years old. They spend the whole day in the center playing and learning with other children and teachers. They have simple classes everyday such as drawing, sports, music and so on.

The main role you will play at this project is caring for the children. This will be in the form of comforting them, playing games and socialising with them.

Daily physiotherapy routines may be carried out for the children to help them develop themselves, in which you can play a part.

But other activities encouraged and greatly enjoyed by the children too, for example playing games, dancing and singing, painting, art and other means of creativity, are all encouraged for the children.
