There's good reason behind the buzz about Reliance Ranch's Big Lew.

First, there's his breeding: Big Lew is by AQHA Hall of Fame sire Corona Cartel, the AQHA's No. 2 all-time leading sire.

Second, there's his record as a winner on the track. Big Lew had eight wins, including the Grade 1 Los Alamitos Super Derby. He earned $638,878 and retired sound after three years.

"He was an amazing individual, just the picture of a horse that could do it all," said Bobby Mote, head of Reliance's Second Career Program.

Then there's his progeny. On the racetrack, sons and daughters of Big Lew have earned nearly $1.8 million from just four crops to reach racing age thus far.

But the buzz behind Big Lew also includes anticipation for his progeny to hit the performance arena, an anticipation based as much upon his demeanor and intelligence as his incredible athletic prowess.

All of Reliance's trainers rave about the speed with which Big Lew's foals learn and retain skills, all signs pointing to horses that will shine behind the barrier in roping or running down a barrel racing alley.

Standing 15 hands, Big Lew can add brains to perform and speed to augment the cow breeding of many roping programs.

Bucks Hancock Dude's reputation as a sire and performer is as impressive as the dappled buckskin himself. Joining Reliance Ranches in 2022 from Namgis Quarter Horses, Dude is a key piece of the Reliance's strategy to grow their performance breeding program by adding a solid cross on their race-bred mares.

The 2008 AQHA All Around Performance Stallion was shown in halter, tie-down roping and heeling, earning accolades in each discipline, during a four-year career. He was the 2007 AQHA Reserve World Champion in Junior Tie-Down Roping, earning a notable 553 AQHA points. He went on to win the NRHFA Futurity the very same year.

As a sire, Dude's progeny continue to accumulate accolades including AQHA World Show appearances across several roping disciplines and in the barrel racing pen. Perhaps the most famous is Namgis D 33, "Chongo," Emily Beisel's NFR berth horse for the past eight years, earning an impressive $858,317 throughout his career.

Dude's foals are known for their athleticism and winning dispositions and have earnings exceeding $1.5 million.

"He is a proven performer and producer. He is the original all-around rope horse who can go from tie-down to halter and excel at both," said Lazy E Ranch Manager Monty McNair. "His progeny are highly decorated in the performance arena and will continue to dominate the competition regardless of discipline."

With sound minds to go along with electric speed, the progeny of Coronado Cartel are a perfect fit for the ambitious plans of Reliance Ranches. Already a top breeder of racing Quarter Horses, Reliance is heavily invested in its Second Career Program and in bringing the remarkable traits of Corona Cartel into the performance horse world.

Like his Hall of Fame sire, Coronado Cartel stood out in his racing career, collecting $416,178 in 12 starts on the track before moving to the breeding shed. His racing progeny are already in the bank for $7.6 million with 199 race winners.

As his first sons and daughters begin to reach the arena, it's evident that Coronado Cartel is passing on not only his athleticism but also an early maturing, sound mind that is needed to excel.

Coronado Cartel's performance progeny have racked up $127,254, a chunk of that attributed to SR Roman Cartel who stood out at the 2023 Pink Buckle Barrel Race.

Fiestas Gotta Gun, the 2005 gray stallion known as "Curly," combines the best of cow and run. His sire, Playgun, has more than $10 million in progeny earnings, while his dam, NFR mare Firewater Fiesta, boasts lifetime earnings of $800,000 and has produced winners totaling over $782,000.

Curly himself has sired offspring earning in excess of $500,000, with progeny producing at all levels—from futurities and ProRodeos to high school rodeos and open events. Curly's notable offspring include Minnie Gun, the 2022 San Angelo barrel racing Round 2 winner and Round 1 winner of the 2022 Denver Stock Show and Rodeo; PC This Dude's Got a Gun, the two-time PRCA/AQHA Reserve Steer Roping Horse of the Year; and Fiesta Cantina, the 2023 National High School Rodeo Association barrel racing champion. These achievements highlight the stallion's versatility as a roping and barrel racing sire.

Fiestas Gotta Gun's unique pedigree makes him an ideal outcross for racebred mares, offering breeders an opportunity to tap into his exceptional genetic qualities. Standing 15.2 hands, Curly is known for his strong build, great bone and good foot, traits he passes on to his foals. His offspring are highly trainable and good-minded, excelling in multiple disciplines.

Dirty Fling, a standout 2019 son of Metallic Cat out of A Streak Of Fling daughter, is paving his way both as a rope horse and a sire. Now owned by 1957 Quarter Horses, this homozygous stallion brings guaranteed roan color and just the right blend of cow and run to the team roping pen.

With more than $29,000 in earnings, Dirty Fling has consistently showcased his talent with both Miles Baker and the King of the Cowboys, Trevor Brazile.

His notable achievements include claiming Reserve Champion at the Texas Best Rope Horse Open Heeling Futurity and clinching the Round 4 Open Champion title at the RFA Timed High Stakes Slot Heeling. Dirty Fling also secured the Reserve Champion spot in the Royal Crown Breeders OKC Judged Heading 4-Under Futurity Round 3 Open.

Beyond his earnings, Dirty Fling impresses with his unique personality, his fluid movements and his exceptional cow sense. Matching his to-die-for looks, Dirty Fling has a big motor that comes from the A Streak Of Fling side and exceptional foot speed from Metallic Cat. This combination of traits makes him an exceptional sire prospect for breeders making the next generation of rope horses.

"Dirty Fling is a really good mover with a ton of expression," Baker said. "He's a cowy-type horse and tries hard every time he enters the arena."

DAM: Paulena by Doc Olena

INCENTIVES:
Diamond Classic, Riata Championship, Royal Crown Roping

WSR Hesa Dunofa Lena—raised by Wes Adams' iconic Western States Ranches—is the winningest rope horse stallion in the history of ProRodeo.

The sturdy-boned dun stallion called Rooster started his career under World Champion Randon Adams as the backup to Adams' four-time AQHA/PRCA Horse of the Year, Diesel. WSR Hesa Dunofa Lena carried Adams to the California Rodeo Salinas title in 2012—heeling for his paternal sibling, WSR Hesa Alive.

When Adams stepped away from rodeo in favor of running the family business, Rooster stepped into a pinch-hitter role for the who's who of ProRodeo's heelers.

He helped get Dakota Kirchenschlager to his first NFR, and Russell Cardoza rode him to place at the US Open. Cesar de la Cruz got a go-round check on him at the Finals behind Derrick Begay, and Adams jumped back on him to win Logandale's ProRodeo, too. Then, two-time World Champion Patrick Smith borrowed the stud for the summer run, and he just had to have him—so Smith bought, rodeoed on and stood the horse.

In the spring of 2024, David and Miranda Zito of 1957 Quarter Horses bought WSR Dunofa Lena from Smith to kickstart their own horse program, and they moved him to the Lazy E. But just as Rooster got comfortable in Guthrie, Levi Lord called on the stud to go back to Las Vegas for the 2024 NFR—putting the sport's pinch-hitter back in the game for another trip to the big show.

His offspring, following in his footsteps, have now earned more than $4.1 million, showcasing the stallion's genetic legacy.

Owned by Johnny Trotter and Reliance Ranches, Hez Our Secret is a standout for his impressive size and conformation. He's one of the tallest stallions in the Lazy E lineup, with a physique that commands attention.

Hez Our Secret's impact goes beyond the racetrack. His progeny are proving themselves in barrel racing and roping. The trend in the performance horse industry is leaning toward incorporating race-bred qualities like speed and size. Hez Our Secret is at the forefront of this shift, bringing these attributes to the breeding table. The cross-breeding strategy involving Hez Our Secret and various cow-bred mares yields promising results, suggesting a bright future for his offspring in performance arenas.

Hez Our Secret is a prime example of a stallion that offers the best of both worlds. His contribution to the next generation of performance horses is about creating well-rounded, capable athletes.

One Fabulous Time has already made his mark in the arena, and now his babies are gaining recognition in the performance space.

The stout 2008 blue roan stallion is by One Time Pepto and out of Cat Mist by High Brow Cat. With lifetime earnings of $21,548, his achievements include the 2012 East Coast RCHA Classic Open Derby Champion and 2012 NRCHA Stakes Novice Horse Open Champion, showcasing his remarkable athleticism and versatility.

One Fabulous Time progeny have shown their prowess in the roping pen and inherit his exceptional conformation and speed, particularly in working with cattle.

"One Fabulous Time has a lot of bone and a lot of body to him," Monty McNair, Lazy E Ranch manager, said. "He has a great hip, big hind leg and most importantly, he's extremely good-minded."

Crossed with a variety of mares, from racehorses to cow horses, One Fabulous Time's progeny have excelled in multiple disciplines to earn more than $142,000.

His son, Air Force 1, ridden by Joseph Harrison, has already claimed multiple futurity wins and earned more than $40,000.

On the barrel racing front, Downtown Cashbrown, another standout offspring, has won multiple 1D events in recent years.

The 2015 gray stallion, Oz Ona Hot Streak, knows what it takes to be a winner. Oz Ona Hot Streak is a son of A Streak Of Fling and out of Oz One Hot Momma. With his striking gray coat and stout stature at 14.3 hands, Oz Ona Hot Streak turns heads in and out of the arena.

In 2019, Oz Ona Hot Streak clinched the AQHA World Champion Junior Heading title and secured a top 10 position in the AQHA World Junior Heeling Level 2 Open—proving his abilities on both ends of the steer. He has also been a force to be reckoned with at ProRodeos, ridden by Ross Ashford. His accolades include wins in 2023 at Ashley, North Dakota; Redmond, Oregon; Clovis, New Mexico; and stopping the clock with a 4.0-second run to win the 2022 Calgary Stampede, accumulating more than $200,000 in lifetime earnings. The stallion was also featured in the 2023 X-Factor Match Roping.

"He's so versatile," Monty McNair, Lazy E Ranch manager, said. "To be able to go win the [AQHA] World Show in the heading, be top 10 in the heeling the same year, then go out to win $200,000 plus in the PRCA, that speaks volumes of his versatility."

As Show Me The Buckles embarks on his third year at Lazy E Ranch, courtesy of an acquisition by Reliance Ranches, his impact on the team roping world continues to grow exponentially.

A former NRHA Open Futurity Co-Reserve Champion, "Buckles" has transitioned to a successful rope horse sire. His offspring, born as early as 2015, have demonstrated his strong influence in the arena. Notable among Buckles' offspring are Tuckin Away Buckles, shown by Trevor Brazile and Miles Baker to $103,827 in futurity earnings; RR Buckles Clubhouse, also shown by Brazile and Baker to $47,165 in earnings; and A Big Vintage Buckle with $43,782 in earnings under the Relentless Remuda. Buckles' progeny have collectively earned more than $265,000 across various events. In 2024 alone, the total earnings of Buckles' foals reached an impressive $114,200.

The versatility of Buckles' progeny is further exemplified by their performance across different events. Beyond team roping, these horses have shown impressive results in reining and ranch events, proving the adaptability and well-rounded skill set inherited from their sire.

"While cutting bloodlines have more hesitation to the cow, this stud's genetics put him on the offense, and since we've been riding him, we've seen it in action," Trevor Brazile said. "He's the kind of aggressive to the cow that ropers want—whether it's in the breakaway, tie-down, heading or heeling."

Pride And Joyy—with his $313,423 in lifetime earnings—is the winningest futurity rope horse of all time with a royal pedigree to match.

Pride And Joyy won with Chris Dawson in the cow horse, finishing third in the NRCHA Snaffle Bit Futurity as a 3-year-old. Solo's Ty Smith, who originally raised the horse, bought him back in the winter of his 4-year-old year with Kaleb Terlip, Miles Baker and Trevor Brazile, and the Remuda crew went straight to heeling on him.

"It was probably as easy of a transition as anything that I've ever rode," Baker said of the swap to heeling from the cow horse. "His ability is just insane. He's natural. He's so natural with a cow. He was just so broke and had such a good feel and good timing and a good stride that, from the first time I swung a rope on him, it was about 60 days until I took him to the Red Bud in Oklahoma City, and I want to say was the highpoint horse at the AQHA horse show."

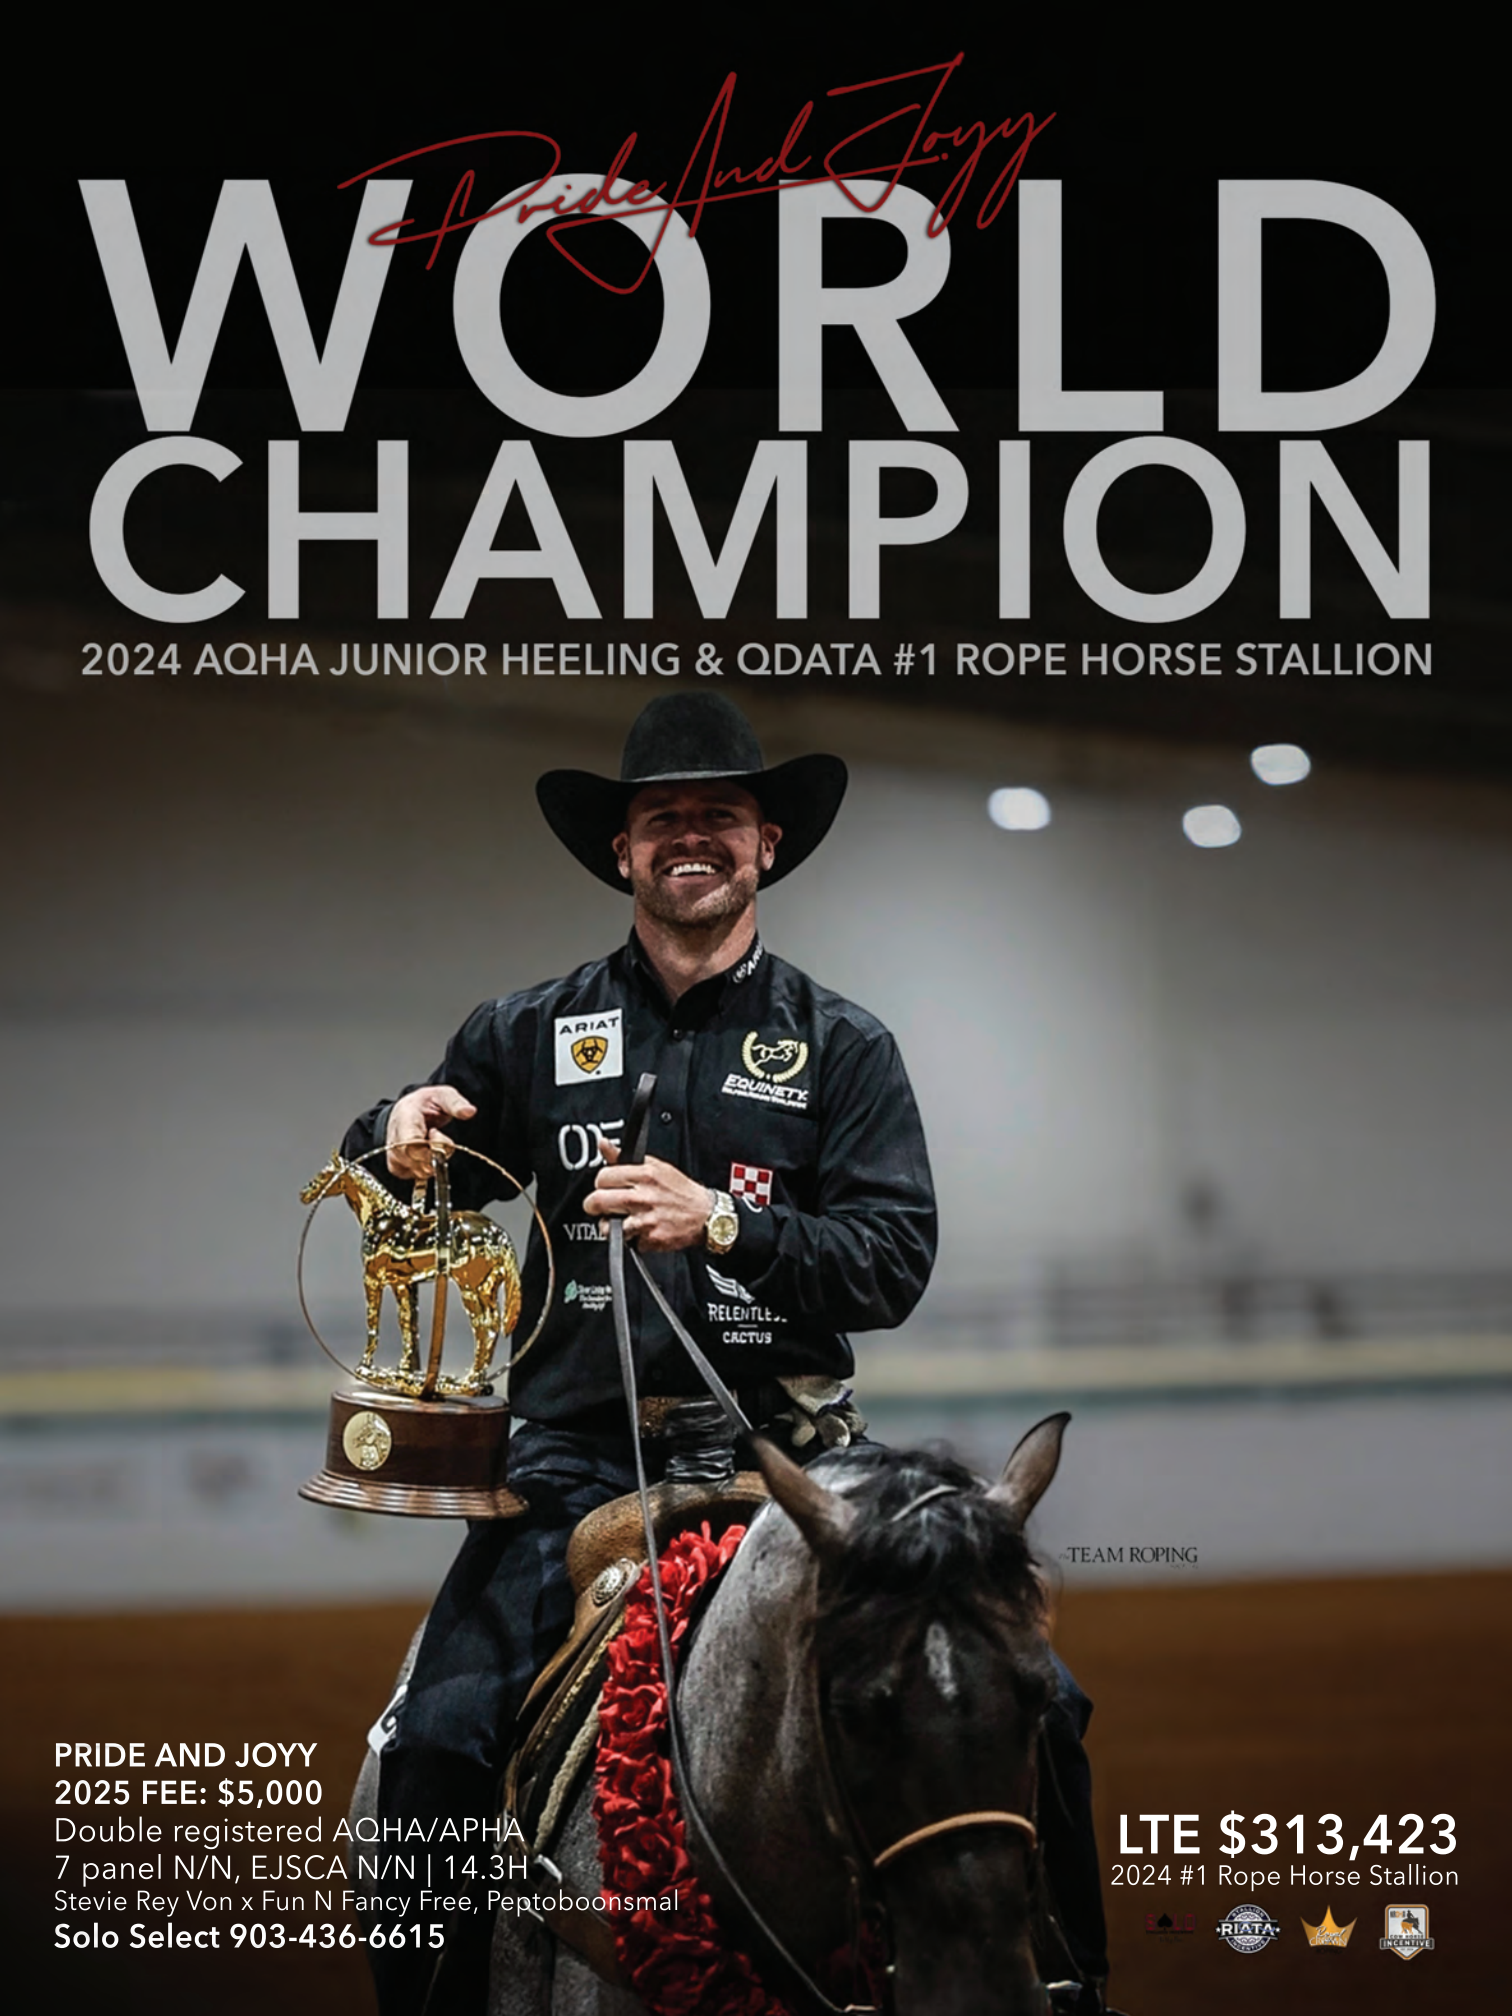

After a six-figure 4-year-old year, Pride And Joyy kicked it into high gear in 2024. "The real deal" is how World Champion Jeremy Buhler described him after winning the Royal Crown Futurity on him in Buckeye, Arizona, filling in for an injured Brazile.

Pride And Joyy ended the year with the 2024 AQHA Junior Heeling World Championship with Miles Baker at the helm, making him the most accomplished futurity horse in history with 12 full months left in his career.

Solo Select will offer its own exclusive stallion incentive for 2025, making available hundreds of thousands of new dollars to ropers, owners and breeders.

The event—held Oct. 1-2, 2025—will pay out an estimated $330,000 in added money in its first year.

Solo Select split the program into two phases: Phase 1 will take place from 2025-2029, and Phase 2 will begin in 2030. Beginning with bookings for the 2025 breeding season, a portion of each stud fee will go into a dedicated account for the Solo Stallion Incentive.

For Phase 1, the heading, heeling, breakaway and calf roping futurity—held Oct. 1-2, 2025, during the Clay Logan Open—is open to any 4-year-olds whose AQHA-registered owners or riders have purchased a breeding to one of the stallions standing at Solo Select.

The foals resulting from breedings in 2025 will exclusively be eligible for the 2030 Futurity Incentive as 4-year-olds, the first year the event will shift to Phase 2, focusing solely on the offspring of Solo Select Stallions.

In Phase 2 of the incentive, beginning in 2030 (the year the foals resulting from 2025 breedings will be 4-year-old futurity horses), the incentive will be exclusive to horses sired by Solo Select Stallions in the incentive. As a result, breeders of these foals will be able to advertise them as "Solo Select Stallion Incentive-Eligible," competing only against other foals exclusively by Solo Select Incentive Stallions for an incredible amount of money

A breeding to any stallion in the Solo lineup will allow one entry. The entry fees will be $1,000, with three judges and a fourth score based on time. With both Intermediate and Open short rounds, the payout will be based on four head.

SHEIK JEAN FLY HTT

What began in 1878 as a stage stop, supplying horses for stage changes, has morphed into the modern 88 Ranch Performance Horses, a Douglas, Wyoming-based program committed to breeding top-level horses that can effortlessly transition between heading, heeling, breakaway, barrels, cow horse and just about any desired event.

Nurturing a lineage that excels in the arena, the 88 Ranch's stallions, Casino Heist and new addition, Sheik Jean Fly HTT, are the heart of their operation.

Purchased in 2024, Sheik offers the ultimate outcross in barrel racing, a sire who is still successfully competing with lifetime earnings over $80,000 while passing on his exceptional speed and remarkable disposition.

With a pedigree well proven in barrel racing, it's Sheik's potential beyond that discipline that has the 88 Ranch excited.

"We wanted to make an impactful change and move the needle forward on building elite bloodlines," Garret Henry, the fifth generation now running the 88, said. "We needed our horses to be suitable for barrel racing and for roping."

Sheik was just what the Henrys were looking for: a stallion with an established brand and eligible for a slate of incentives, including the Pink Buckle, Solo Stallion Stakes and his own bonus program, the Triple Buckle.

"It's for the first Sheik babies to win any money in all three Buckles [Pink, Ruby and Riata] and we have $100,000 prize money," Henry said. "It's a huge thing that Keith Nielson did with Sheik, and we're continuing, as a crossover ... to see a horse show the ability to in multiple events at a high level."

Standing at Solo Select Horses in Texas has given Sheik the opportunity to cross on Solo's elite band of roping mares and prove himself outside of barrel racing.

"He's very low to the ground and can really move and fly," Henry noted. "He will definitely be able to produce rope horses."

With Sheik representing the future, Casino Heist continues to fill the present with winners for the 88 Ranch. The Frenchmans Guy son has progeny earnings exceeding $182,000 in everything from reined cow horse to ranch versatility to every timed event in rodeo.

In 2024, Casino's progeny qualified for multiple ProRodeo circuit finals rodeos from the Mountain States to the Wilderness Circuit, claiming both average and year-end titles in team roping, tie-down and breakaway.

CASINO HEIST

"Casino continues to make his mark producing standout timed event horses," Henry said.

In addition to Bugzees Heist in 75, the 2023 Reserve Montana Circuit Champion in breakaway; Summer Colada, a futurity winner and ProRodeo winner; Clear Creek Canyon, a ProRodeo barrel racing money earner; and Dunn Good Girl, a winner in reined cow horse and ProRodeo tie-down roping, Casino Heist has also sired Sagebrush Cantina and Hair Trigger Ophelia, an up-and-coming steer wrestling team for NFR qualifier Stetson Jorgensen.

With each stallion carefully chosen for their exceptional traits, 88 Ranch continues to sculpt a future in which their horses are athletes ready to perform in the arena, on the ranch and anything in between.

The Animal—a son of Cat Ichi out of Little Miss Abra by Abrakadabracre—won the NCHA Futurity's Reserve Championship and the Summer Spectacular Open Derby with Lee Francois, and with his oldest crop just 5 in 2025, he's got colts excelling across disciplines.

The Animal already has colts in the hands of World Champion Breakaway Ropers Lari Dee Guy and Hope Thompson, as well as eight-time PRCA World Champion Tie-Down Roper Fred Whitfield.

"My Animal baby is coming 4," Thompson said. "He's been so easy, and so good-minded. He's the kind of horse anyone could get along with, and my 2-year-old filly by The Animal is the same way. They're the kind of horses that are perfect for ropers because they aren't fractious or fragile. They want to work, and they want to please."

Three-time NFR heeler Tyler Worley has a 4-year-old son of The Animal out of the dam to his NFR horse.

"Mine is so gentle, we're going to keep him for my kid," Worley said. "He's been easy. I can break in 40 steers on him, then take him and jackpot that night. Nothing bothers him."

The Animal is one of the industry's most-enrolled stallions, meaning there are millions of dollars in added money his colts are eligible for each and every year. And the purses are always growing, with owner Cindy Perez paying him into more incentives each year upon breeders' requests.

The Notorious B I G has continued his streak as a popular junior sire, booking full all three years the 7-year-old black stallion has stood to the public.

"He's just the whole package," said owner Jessica Boston. "People assume he's a stud because of his looks. Honestly, while he is beautiful, it's secondary."

Last June, the stud won the American Rope Horse Futurity Association's Red Bud Spectacular for $14,205, besting 98 other horses in the 6-&-Under Heeling. Earlier in 2022, "Bigs" claimed the ARHFA 4-Year-Old Open Heeling Reserve World Championship and came back in 2023 to finish third in the Open Heeling of the same event. He also placed in the top five at the AQHA World Show in Junior Heeling.

Billie Jack Saebens has already piloted Bigs to more than $110,000 in lifetime earnings in only one event.

"Juggling breeding and showing is tricky for a young stud," Boston said. "We felt like he deserved to compete all last year in his final futurity season. He's freakishly good-minded and people are seeing that in his babies now, as well. He's structurally appealing to a market that's moving toward more bone and size and, of course, he boasts a pedigree with which you just can't go wrong."

He is sired by CD Lights, a million-dollar producer in the NCHA and NRCHA. His dam, DT Sugar Chex Whiz, was the 2019 AQHA/PRCA Horse of the Year and was ridden to the National Finals Rodeo by Saebens. "Sugar"—a granddaughter of both Shining Spark and a half-Thoroughbred former NFR barrel horse—is the all-time leading dam of multiple rope-horse earners of more than $242,000. The oldest foals by Bigs himself are just 3 this year.

Raised by Arizona's Gianna Hansen, Bet Hesa Shiner started in the cow horse with World's Greatest Horseman Corey Cushing before transitioning to team roping with WGH Finalist Tyler Merrill.

In 2022, Merrill won the AzQHA Year-End Championship in junior heeling before passing the reins to five-time NFR heeler Ryan Motes.

"We call Bet Hesa Shiner 'Ironman,'" Motes explained, "because he can do it all and he's as strong as you could hope for. At the same time, he's the kindest, most gentle horse in my barn. Your kids, your mom, anyone can ride him and have a great time. He's easy, but he's got the talent, too."

On Bet Hesa Shiner, Motes placed on both ends at the 2023 AQHA World Show, and he placed in the top 20 at the 2024 ARHFA World Championship in the Open Heeling—the single most competitive feat in all of the rope horse industry. The same week, Bet Hesa Shiner made the finals in the Intermediate Heading at the ARHFA.

Throughout his futurity career, the big-boned, flashy red roan gelding consistently made the finals of the country's largest shows on both ends.

Originating from Haythorn Land & Cattle Co., Four Chex Bay is not just a sight to behold at 15.1 hands and 1,250 pounds, but the 2009 AQHA stallion is a winner who is producing winners. A full brother to Four Bonnie Bay—a winner in numerous AQHA events, including heading, heeling and calf roping—Doobie brings a legacy of excellence to the breeding world.

Doobie's foals, the oldest born in 2016, are already making a mark in roping arenas across Texas and Arizona, inheriting his desirable traits: big bone, striking color, luxurious mane and tail and significant speed. While Doobie himself excels as a head horse, he produces versatile progeny suitable for both heading and heeling, with several being capable switchenders.

"He passes everything down—from his looks to his talent," Danny Massingill said, who noted he won close to $20,000 roping on the stallion in 2024 at World Series Team Roping and other events.

"Doobie is as quiet and calm as they come, and all of his babies are that way. They are real easy to start and super easy-going, reflecting his calm disposition and athletic ability, making them suitable for a range of riders, from beginners to advanced ropers."

Bryant Ranch has prioritized elite rope-horse breeding for more than two decades. Jimmy and Kim Bryant, with daughter Jimmie, currently stand four stallions including their Riata sire, Watch Jack Winit.

In 2019, the buckskin stallion landed in the top 10 in Level 3 Senior Heeling at the AQHA World Show. A year earlier, he was the AQHA Open High Point Tie-Down Stallion and the American Buckskin Registry Association world champion in heading and reserve world champion in heeling and tie-down roping. Watch Jack Winit has accumulated 222 AQHA points in heading, heeling, tie-down roping, breakaway roping and halter with Superiors in both heading and heeling. He has 20 AQHA World Show qualifications to his name.

The 2012 stallion stands a perfect 15 hands and weighs 1,240 pounds. He crosses back to AQHA Hall-of-Famer Two Eyed Jack 11 times and his own sire, Jack To The Hilt, was a Superior earner in heeling and won World Series money. Meanwhile, Watch Renee was an own granddaughter of the legendary rope-horse sire and AQHA Hall-of-Famer Zan Parr Bar. That could be why this stallion passes along his unsurpassable mindset, athletic ability and willingness to his offspring.

In October, Jimmie Bryant turned fast enough steers on the stallion to place sixth in the 12.5 at the '24 Riata Championship to split $39,000. Like Watch Jack Winit, his foals are confident, friendly, easy to handle, super cowy and willing.

The Busbys weren't looking for a new stud back in 2023 but found they couldn't pass up the chance to add A Blazin Dude to their lineup. A Blazin Dude is by Busby's great sire Blazin Jetolena, whose progeny earnings have crossed $10 million; his dam, Dasher Dude, went to a pair of NFRs, winning go-rounds en route to lifetime earnings of $570,000, and has now produced progeny with earnings north of $118,000.

Part of a growing legacy of champions, A Blazin Dude also boasts a now NFR-bound full sister, Blazing With My Dude, who helped Andrea Busby earn her first NFR qualification in 2024.

"The stallion game is tough; it's a long process, to say the least," Andrea said. "I'd watched A Blazin Dude, and I just thought, 'Man, what better horse to add to our program?' He's had success, and we've had so much success with his full sister."

A Blazin Dude is proving versatile enough to produce both in the roping and barrel racing pens with enough cow and speed for any job. But it is his kind and willing demeanor that truly completes the package, making A Blazin Dude the type of horse that can easily move from one event to another.

Busby Quarter Horses' Blazin Honor is a versatile performer who is passing his adaptability on to his offspring.

A product of elite lineage, Blazin Honor is a son of Blazin Jetolena, a $10 million sire, and a maternal grandson of Power Train, a $2.5 million track and barrel sire.

The 2008 stallion has proven his winning pedigree in his own right, earning money in the WPRA on the barrels and racking up more than $90,000 in team roping earnings. Blazin Honor has 57 AQHA points in heading, heeling and performance halter as well as an AQHA Performance Register of Merit.

As a sire, Blazin Honor's progeny are excelling in multiple disciplines as he produces horses that can run barrels and rope, whether it be heading, heeling or breakaway roping.

Amongst his winning progeny are multiple winners in the team roping including Blazin Merada, the 2024 Reserve Champion at the Riata #10.5 Youth with Hoyt Darnall. On the barrel pattern, Blazin Honor's offspring Honorably Rebellious has earned over $16,000 while BQH SB Honor Roll holds arena records.

Crossing well on mares with Stylish Rey, Highbrow Cat and Peptoboonsmal bloodlines, Blazin Honor produces versatile horses that can do it all, showing exceptional trainability and adaptability.

Bet Hesa Freckledcat was the answer to a prayer for his owners John and Kay Coltharp. After tragically losing their son Caden at just 16 years old, the Coltharps hoped for a red colt out of their all-around mare "Angel", MS Freckled Star. Angel delivered "Answer", by Bet Hesa Cat, on the same day they had adopted their son years before.

Like his maternal brother, JKC Seven Freckles, who recently won the 2024 Reserve Steer Roping Horse of the Year in the PRCA with Trenton Johnson, Answer has also displayed his mother's versatility, winning money in the NRCHA and the roping arena to the tune of more than $308,000, picking up a Register of Merit as well.

"He has all the tools, the athleticism, he's built right, but the best thing about him is his personality," Kay said. "The mind means so much to us in these horses . . . they better be trainable."

With foals just beginning to hit the arena, Answer is passing on both his physical attributes and his kind demeanor to his offspring as he continues to win himself, taking both of his owners and pro roper Denton Parish to short rounds during the 2024 Riata.

"We're older and we love our horses but we want to ride them," Kay explained. "Answer takes very good care of us but he's so versatile a pro can get on him and win too."

Playen Spades came to 3C Performance Horses as a 6-year-old, and for 10 years has been a star for John and Kay Coltharp. An own son of the legendary Playgun, sire of earners of over $10 million, "Gunner" has carried both Coltharps to the pay window throughout his long career.

"When we first got him, John heeled on him for a while and then he talked me into getting on him," Kay said.

In one memorable stretch, Gunner went to the ARHFA World Championships as a helper horse for pro ropers, then just days later took Kay to a World Series roping, qualifying for two short rounds.

"He's the coolest dude," Kay said. "When the pros had him, he could be tied up with the mares and was still a perfect gentleman."

Gunner came through the AQHA sale and has earned 89.5 points in both heading and heeling. His lifetime earnings top $120,000.

Shay Carroll is a fan of Gunner's offspring, with three full sisters in his program, including JKC Playen Lectric, a multiple arena record setter and futurity winner, and JKC Smart Playen Sis, who recently placed sixth in the ARHFA World Champion Heeling Futurity.

"He is a really nice horse and his foals are intelligent," Kay said. "He definitely puts bone and height on them. You're gonna get a great big baby."

TWO-TIME ARHFA WORLD CHAMPION SEVENS STAR GLO

WIER RANCH
Lipan, Texas
WierRanch.com
308-750-3745

INCENTIVES:
Riata Championship, NRCHA
Cow Horse Incentives, Pitzer Ranch
HPI, IQHA Ranch Horse

The Wier Ranch horse program is represented by an outstanding lineup of four stallions led by CSR Dual Glo—the 2015 AQHA World Champion Jr Heading Horse and High-Point Jr Heading Horse, plus High-Point Heeling and Open Ranch Riding Stallion. That was in addition to his reserve championships in both the Southwest Reined Cow Horse and National Reined Cow Horse Associations.

"Dual Glo" follows the winning legacy of his sire, Dual Spark, and phenomenal dam, Look At Her Glo—also an AQHA World Champion Jr Heading Horse. She's proven herself as a "blue hen" mare in the roping industry, having produced the likes of CSR Dual Glo, CSR Lay Down Sally, Dual Patron, J Lows Glo, Look At Her Shine and Time To Glo—winner of $230,000 at roping futurities as a 5-year-old. Last year she was the leading dam of multiple roping money-earners, according to QData.

Dual Glo is poised to continue the legacy, having already sired several world and reserve world champions in the AQHA and ARHFA. He was bred to a full book of mares for the first time the past two years, which should put a huge wave of excellent roping prospects in arenas in 2028, aside from some great ones at this year's futurities.

While Dual Glo had limited breeding in his first foal crops, Sevens Star Glo ("Hank") is his most well-known progeny. The Wiers' buckskin stallion, 8 this year, clinched back-to-back ARHFA world championships in heeling, as well as the AQHA world championship in Jr Heading in 2023, when he also was Reserve Superhorse at that year's World Show. In November, Hank won the Sr Heeling Preliminaries before a miss took him out of the finals.

Also last year, the Wier-raised Sevens Smokin Glo—by Dual Glo and out of Tuf Cooper's NFR calf horse "Topaz"—started winning in Jr Heading, as well, under Cade Rice. Yet another Dual Glo son, Bobby Glo Harlan, claimed the 2020 AQHA Junior Heeling World Championship and later became the 2022 AQHA Reserve World Champion in Senior Heading.

The Wiers are excited to see Hank's 2025 crop of foals, likely to include several black and buckskin babies. They expect great things from this young son of a great family of champions. Hank's dam, Sevens Tootsie Time, is a daughter of 1995 NRHA Open Futurity Reserve Champion Hes Dun His Time. She also produced the top-selling weanling at Wiers' first online sale last August at a bid of $30,500. And at last year's Royal Crown in Buckeye, Arizona, Relentless Remuda's 2019 full brother to Hank—Sevens Hank 2—won the first round, short round and average of the 6 & Under Heading Futurity.

The great mares behind the champions being produced in this program are bearing out the Wiers' belief in strong maternal lines.

"Everybody goes on about the stallions, but the mare power is what makes those horses," Marshall said. "And that's what we've tried to focus on, probably as much as anything, is having good mares."

Sevens Spanish Gold ("Austin") is another Wier stallion with a great maternal family of producers. The golden palomino is a son of Dual Spark out of Madrid—a daughter of the legendary AQHA world-champion team roping mare Jack E Eleven. Madrid, by Gallo Del Cielo, is also a producer of winning rope and reining horses. Her recent filly by Dual Glo is in training with Tate Kirchenschlager for upcoming roping futurities. Austin, the 2021 Intermediate Heading World Champion in the ARHFA, is expected to put more outstanding foals on the ground this spring.

Also, Wiers' 2004 palomino stallion Two Eyed Brazos has held his place of importance over the years because of his size and good mind, which he's passed on repeatedly. "Brazos" has produced outstanding rope horses that continue to bring home big checks from the Riata and the jackpots. Probably the greatest contribution of this great Pitzer Ranch-bred stallion is through his daughters. Big hopes are pinned on a Wier Ranch-raised 3-year-old filly by Sevens Smokin Glo out of a Two Eyed Brazos daughter.

Wier Ranch's pursuit of raising great champions is only successful because of the people in their circle, each contributing to the process.

"We've been blessed with a great circle of talented horsemen, and that's enabled us to bring these winning lines to the public," said Marshall. "From the guys who start these colts and take them to the ranch for day work to the media who cover their big wins to the ropers who win the checks, we've got really great people."

Since acquiring Bobby Glo Harlan, now 9, Dr. David Moss has been building upon the stallion's already notable record.

He was bred by Benny and Susan Scarberry and trained by Bobby Lewis. Under Lewis' tutelage, "Bobby Glo" notched several impressive wins, including the 2020 AQHA Jr Heeling world championship (under Joseph Harrison). Then he became the 2022 AQHA Reserve World Champion in Senior Heading, under Clay Lewis.

Bobby's pedigree reads like a "Who's Who" of the team roping industry. On the top side, a lot of this can be attributed to his second dam, the great mare Look At Her Glo. She produced his sire CSR Dual Glo, Dual Patron and J Lows Glo—all three being AQHA world champions in roping—plus Time To Glo (that earned $228,538 roping by the time he was 5) and the great working cow horse CSR Lay Down Sally.

Bobby Glo's bottom side is just as impressive. His dam, Harlan's Bobbi Jo, was considered by many to be a "once in a lifetime" horse. Earning 344 AQHA points, she was the Reserve High-Point Jr Heading and Jr Heeling champion. Her sire, Jodie Bob Harlan, has produced several great, athletic working horses and has carried on the legacy of Harlan.

"This stallion is living up to his remarkable heritage," said Dr. Moss. "He's proven himself to be a great athlete. And I've always heard the mark of a great stallion is that he produces horses as good or better than himself."

Even at his young age, Bobby Glo has offspring already demonstrating his same promising attributes. As a new generation of talent gets ready to enter the arena, Dr. Moss' mission is to continue Bobby Glo's heritage through his progeny.

Cee My Special Nite is a 2017 stallion by $7 million sire Gunners Special Nite and out of NRHA top 25 producing mare, Cee Dun It Do It by Hollywood Dun It.

Cee My Special Nite, aka Diablo (aptly named after the high-performance sports car) has over 380 Open AQHA points spanning eight events and is a Superior Stallion in Reining, Ranch Riding and Heading. He has over $50,000 in winnings, excelling in roping, reining, ranch events and halter. Along with several top 5 and top 10 AQHA Open World Show awards, he was named Reserve World Champion in Performance Halter Stallions and finished fifth for the prestigious Superhorse title at the 2023 World Show.

While the 2024 World Show was not complete at the time of printing, Diablo had already won the Level 1 Ranch Trail Stakes with professional horseman Ryan Kail, and was named AQHA Reserve World Champion in Senior Open Heading with 2024 ProRodeo Hall of Fame cowboy, J.D. Yates.

"Cee My Special Nite gave me one of the best heading World Show runs that I have ever had," Yates said of the jaw-dropping World run. "This horse has a unique ability to run a steer down, put his left leg down and keep the steer in motion."

Under the continued guidance of top trainers, Ryan Kail, J.D. Yates and Pete Kyle in reining, combined with a long, proven pedigree, the sky's the limit as to how far this kind, willing, hard-working, athletic, handsome stallion will go.

Gone but not forgotten. CD Dyna Cee's untimely death as a young sire was a blow to the Hockensons in 2022, but his dynasty continues to flourish. He sired the defending Snaffle Bit Limited Open Champion HQ Time To Shine, as well as a top-four finisher in Sr Heading at the latest AQHA World Show–HQ Blondes Love Me.

CD Dyna Cee ("Lights") was by $5 million sire and NCHA World Champion CD Lights, and out of ARC Dyna Cee. She's by ARC Matt Olena and out of Hickorys Holly Cee.

The stallion, a former Snaffle Bit Futurity competitor, won more than $26,500 in NRCHA, NRHA and ARHFA paychecks, plus earned 168 AQHA points in 10 different AQHA disciplines. He was a 2017 Superhorse contender, with a Superior in Jr Heading that same year, in which he was also SDRCHA Jr Cow Horse of the Year. An injury forced his show career to end at age 6.

At 14.3 and thick, CD Dyna Cee had "the prettiest front end on a cow horse" that Reid had ever seen.

The second-highest leading stallion in the IQHA Ranch Horse Futurity, he sired the 2019 IQHA Ranch Horse Futurity High-Point Yearling, the High-Point 2-Year-Old and the 2024 champion Halter Yearling. That's in addition to siring HQ Blondes Love Me, the working cow horse that was also the 2023 AQHA World Champion in L2 Jr Heading under Cort Jones and 4th in the Sr Heeling with John Philipp. Lights also sired HQ BlondesROverrated, the AQHA Reserve World Champion in Jr Tie-Down Roping.

In the performance-horse world, athleticism and intelligence are critical to success, but jaw-dropping looks aren't a liability. Hockenson Quarter Horses' stallion CT Show Me Your Guns ("Joe"), the 2021 AQHA World Champion in Sr Heading that looks both grey and buckskin, carries three color genes–creme, grey and dun.

"There's going to be a boom of them in the next couple of years," said Reid Hockenson. "They're big, strong with lots of run and really trainable, plus pretty."

Hockensons bought Joe as a weanling at the Pitzer Ranch Sale from Terry and Mary Mailander to make him an AQHA World Champion. His dam had placed in the Jr Heading at the 2007 AQHA World Show, and his sire, Show Me A Song Joes, was the 2011 AQHA Sr. Heading World Champion.

Joe was a Superhorse contender multiple years after qualifying for the AQHA World Show in tie-down roping, heading, heeling, ranch riding, barrel racing and performance halter.

"Most of these smaller cow-bred mares need more foot, bone and size to them," Hockenson said. "Joe adds all three, but then makes them prettier, too. We bought him hoping he would make our offspring a little bigger and stronger, while keeping the quick feet and adding the looks. He's done all of that and a shot of color doesn't hurt anybody either."

Joe's offspring have earned more than 556 AQHA points and $93,253 and climbing. He's also the all-time high-money producing stallion in the IQHA Ranch Horse Futurity, just one of the many incentives for which his progeny are eligible.

The Hockensons had a vision of raising a winner when they crossed NCHA Hall-of-Famer Metallic Cat on their Bronze Champion AQHA Sr Heading mare, Bound To White Chex. She had more than 328.5 points in all three roping events, earned $20,189 and was an AQHA Performance Champion.

The result, HQ Helluva Cat, "was absolutely everything we hoped for," Reid Hockenson noted of the 2016 palomino roan.

"His mama, Bound To White Chex, was an absolute rock star in roping events," said Reid. "She only stood 14 hands and was still Top Three at the World Show against the best head horses. That mare was gritty and tough, and all her colts are the same way."

HQ Helluva Cat made the Open Finals of the 2019 Snaffle Bit Futurity with Luke Jones before they started heeling and roping calves on him. An injury shortened his career just after he added an All-Around Ranch Horse Versatility Championship to his resume.

"His half-brother HQ Blondes Love Me, out of Bound To White Chex by CD Dyna Cee, is an AQHA World Champion in Jr Heeling, plus John Philipp just placed fourth on him in the Sr Heeling at the World Show in November," Reid said.

And the stud's half-sister was a reserve world champ in tie-down roping, as well, proving further the roping ability in this line of horses. Hockensons recently bred HQ Helluva Cat, a carrier of both the cream and roan genes, to some "really big-time rope horse mares," while the oldest foals, just 2, are already being ridden and their trainers are impressed with their talent, trainability and grit.

Reid and Melanie Hockensons' junior stallion, HQ Top Gun, is a pretty gray that is following in his daddy's footsteps.

In 2023, HQ Top Gun was the AQHA Reserve World Champion in Jr Heading, winning $16,536. Last winter at the Best of the West at the Black Hills Stock Show, he won the Heeling Futurity under Jay Wadhams and was the reserve champ in tie-down roping under Luke Jones. His success at the Cornhusker Futurity with Jones in the heading brought his total paychecks to $28,182 as of last fall. He finished earning his title of AQHA Champion in June with a total of 253 points in five disciplines.

"He's big, strong, fast, pretty," said Reid. "He exemplifies all the attributes of his sire, without the cream gene."

HQ Top Gun is by the Hockensons' stallion CT Show Me Your Guns – also an AQHA Champion and the 2021 AQHA World Champion in Sr Heading. His sire, Show Me A Song Joes, was the 2011 Sr Heading World Champion, and his dam was a finalist in Jr Heading.

"We absolutely love the bottom of his pedigree," said Hockenson. "We raised several foals out Music N Jewels. She's been a tremendous producer for us. We love that she's out of a Colonel Freckles daughter – that line brings a lot of beauty and athleticism."

HQ Top Gun will hit the road to futurities in 2025 with Luke Jones, sons Will and Cort Jones, Jay Wadhams and John Philipp. He'll likely be a Superhorse contender at the 2025 AQHA World Show, so, high-quality frozen semen is available while he's being shown.

"He's a really cool horse because he has a lot of try, but gives you the same run every time," Hockenson said. "He's easy to heel on–Jay had never thrown a leg over him before winning that futurity last winter."

CFR Arete Gun has proven his mettle as a rope horse, not only banking money for his owners Jared Crain, Buddy Wacaser and Jack Bogart, but providing invaluable assistance as a helper horse as well.

A son of $9 million sire Gonnatrashya and out of a daughter of Tribeca Tucker, Arete has enjoyed success as both a tie-down and heel horse at the AQHA World Show with Cody McCartney, Jared Crain and Steve Orth along with wins at the Royal Crown and Red Bud Classic with Dakota Kirchenschlager.

The stallion earned the 2023 AQHA Senior Tie-Down Roping High Point award and returned in 2024 for a top-10 finish. He now has lifetime earnings of $68,000 with 419 AQHA points and growing.

In addition to his own winning record, Arete has been one of the most used helper heel horses in the budding rope horse futurity game, helping his partner head horses and their riders win $60,000 at the 2024 ARHFA World Championships and AQHA World Show with Kirkenschlager in the saddle.

While his first foals arrived in 2024, Arete is still competing and having success with riders of all levels. Coming from a reining background, the stallion has proven to be versatile and steady, yet user-friendly.

"I got to take him home this summer and, once he got done breeding, I took him to jackpots myself as an amateur all summer and just had a blast and won quite a bit of money, " Crain said. "Then he gets back in the hands of Cody and Dakota and is competitive as ever at the World Show. Arete is such a solid horse—good-minded but also has the athleticism to do the job in each discipline. With Arete, you've got it all."

Owned by Russell Tharp of Las Cruces, Charlie excels on both ends of the team roping and added to his success by placing in breakaway roping at college rodeos in 2024. Charlie's success in all areas highlights his work ethic, intelligence and adaptability.

What sets Charlie apart is not just his athleticism, but his mind—he approaches every challenge with focus and an easygoing attitude. Whether it's a team roping jackpot or a rodeo, Charlie handles the pressure with stride and calmness. His unique blend of strength, agility and willingness make him a horse that stands out in every setting.

With just two foal crops on the ground, Charlie's progeny display excellent shape, strong bone structure and impressive size along with their sire's extraordinary mind and athleticism.

Crossed with both running-bred and cow-bred mares, Charlie's foals show a remarkable blend of both bloodlines, making them well-suited for a range of disciplines.

With his strong maternal and paternal lines, Charlie Truckin Chex is emerging as an up-and-coming sire with the potential to shape the future of performance horses.

As Charlie continues to excel in competition, and with an exciting group of foals on the ground, we can't help but remain excited about his future.

Luckily for team ropers, Sheri Matthews is continuing the legacy she and her late husband Jeffrey started with leading cutting and reined cow horse sire One Time Pepto. The $23 million-plus sire, now deceased, has recently emerged as a leading team-roping sire with earners of a half-million in roping.

One Time Pepto's offspring include a couple of NRCHA superstars in Hickory Holly Time (LTE $231,025) and One Fine Vintage (LTE $135,187). Another son is Nu One Time Blues, the 2022 Snaffle Bit Futurity finalist that won the 2023 ARHFA 4-Year-Old Heeling World Championship under Joseph Harrison and won four more heeling futurities last season. All three of these "One Time" babies were kept as studs.

"One Time has truly been a once-in-a-lifetime horse," Sheri said. "He has so exceeded our hopes and dreams, both competing and as a sire. Today, it's such a blessing to be raising some of his best foals yet and breeding the One Time Pepto daughters, who are emerging as exceptional producers. This would have made my husband especially happy; he's always been a huge proponent of great mares."

Clearly, Jeffrey Matthews knew what he was doing when he plunked down $380,000 for then-yearling One Time Pepto in 2002. The stunning red roan was by the legendary NCHA Futurity champ Peptoboonsmal, by $25 million sire Peppy San Badger out of the cloned and All-Time Leading Dam Royal Blue Boon. And the stallion's dam, One Time Soon, was a $1.3 million producer by Smart Little Lena out of Uno Princess by the cutting world champion Jose Uno.

With a show record on both ends as impressive as his stunning good looks, Rising Sun Quarter Horses' stallion Dreamy JJ is proving himself now as a sire of roping futurity champs.

The 2011 buckskin beauty is by Pitzer Ranch's Joe Jack Red and out of the Two Eyed Red Buck mare Dreamy Two Eyes. In his first year competing in roping, Dreamy JJ was the 2018 AQHA High-Point Open Heeling Stallion.

His quiet mind and athleticism have allowed him to accumulate hundreds of AQHA points in heading, heeling, tie-down roping and halter. In 2023, he was also the Reserve Senior Heading Level 2 World Champion.

Dreamy JJ has also excelled in the American Buckskin Registry Association, taking home the Honor Roll Open Heeling Reserve Championship as well as the Cattle World Senior Tie-Down Roping Reserve championship.

"I'm 73 and I still rope on him," Owner Ron Mobley said. "He's very gentle and his colts are, too."

In 2020, Dreamy JJ was the Open Heeling Reserve Champion at the ARHFA's Oil Can Classic Maturity under Atchison. As recently as 2023, he was the AQHA Reserve World Champion in L2 Sr Heading.

"You might think he's a little big to rope calves on, but he never feels big when he travels," Atchison said of the 15.1-hand stud.

On two of Dreamy JJ's oldest campaigners, Atchison earned almost $40,000 in 2024. On the 5-year-old bay gelding Kandy JJ, Atchison won a Royal Crown Heeling Futurity. And in August on 4-year-old JJ's Hollywood Star—a buckskin like her sire–he won the 4-and-Under Heeling Futurity at the Royal Crown.

In just his third year as a sire, this blue roan Metallic Cat son has become a versatile $3 million producer of cow horses, cutters and rope horses.

Hashtags himself was described as "a Navy SEAL" in the cutting pen for the way he won everything regardless of footing, including the NCHA Super Stakes Open Championship and the NCHA World Championship. Now, having sired the 2024 NCHA Open Horse of the Year in 4-year-old Jazlyn, he is known for producing intense, powerful offspring.

The winningest futurity heeler in America kicked off his season last winter with a big win aboard the Hashtags son Purposely Tagged in Scottsdale, Arizona for $11,473. When asked what it was about him, Joseph Harrison said it was the two things he feels are most important in a heel horse: being good in the box and good on the end of the rope.

That colt was sold to a high-school roper before the year was out, but Tate Kirchenschlager also won a 4-and-Under ARHFA last spring aboard Lazzertag–a Hashtags product that transitioned from the cow horse. In October 2024, Tanner Nall split $39,000 heeling on 5-year-old Josey Walez by Hashtags in the #12.5 at the Riata, and split another $19,500 heading on him in the #12.5.

Junior Nogueira even bred his gold-buckle mare Apach R Hali to Hashtags and has a 4-year-old now.

"My Hashtags filly is absolutely beautiful, and she moves so effortlessly," he said. "Everything has been easy for her, and she's been gentle and kind since Day One."

He's only 5, but Famous has the run-and-cow mix on his papers that's been so successful at recent roping futurities.

He's by all-time leading barrel-racing sire Dash Ta Fame, with progeny earnings topping $42 million. And he's out of Shegetscash by the great Peptoboonsmal out of Corona Cash, a mare that earned more than $1.5 million on the racetrack. She's by First Down Dash and out of a half-sibling to Corona Cartel.

Cross 4 Performance Horses bought Famous out of the 2022 Solo Select Sale after reining trainer Dakin Allred had him in training.

"I'm always a little hesitant of these barrel colts being hot, but Famous has been kind and willing the whole time," said Allred. "This horse has a great mind and feels like he will take the heat."

The Kremers—Doug and Lacey—both come from families who have been breeding, raising and training horses for generations, including their grandfathers Bubba Echols and Butterfly Cowan. They operate Cross 4 along with their four kids.

Famous stands 15.2 hands, and the Kremers have been heading, breakaway roping and running barrels on him about two years.

"We can see the smarts of Pepto in this horse," Lacey said. "And out of our seven weanlings by him, there's everything from black to roan to bay, and a line-back dun."

The Kremer daughters are breakaway ropers, and Lacey thinks Famous babies will excel in that and the barrel pen as easily as they'll dominate the roping.

"His feet are really good," said Lacey. "We've kept him barefoot, and we ride him out here in this mountainous terrain. I feel like this is important stuff for our industry."

A million-dollar sire, Feel The Sting carries the legendary genetics of leading barrel racing sire Dash Ta Fame and nine-time NFR qualifier MP Meter My Hay ("Stingray"). With $138,000 in lifetime earnings, "Stinger" is an NFR qualifier himself who was brought into the limelight by Ryann Pedone, but fate intervened—a fractured hock precluded his run in Vegas. Despite his setback, the stallion made a comeback to end up in the hands of his dam's jockey, Sherry Cervi.

Raised by Highpoint Performance Horses, Feel The Sting was acquired by 70 Ranch Performance Horses during his comeback season. Under Sherry's guidance, he excelled until an unfortunate knee injury led to his retirement.

His progeny, however, speak volumes of his ability as a competitor and sire—HP Feel The Fame, his first foal, clinched the 2021 Barrel Futurities of America Juvenile World Championship and now has lifetime earnings near $300,000.

Being a quick and agile competitor, Stinger passes those traits down to his offspring. Standing 15 hands tall, stout, and conformationally correct, Stinger has all the attributes of a standout team roping sire, with his offspring being able to be successful in barrel racing or as a head or heel horse.

Coming from a family of winners, Cadillac has an impressive resume of his own with 197 AQHA points in the heading, heeling, tie-down and cow horse events, as well as superiors in heading and heeling. Cadillac is also an NRCHA money earner, PRCA money earner, barrel racing money earner, has multiple all-around titles and was a 2019 Superhorse contender.

As a team roping sire, Cadillac offers more than his outstanding genetics. His ability to excel in multiple disciplines demonstrates his adaptability, intelligence and athleticism. Being a well-rounded competitor, Cadillac passes his incredible versatility to his offspring. His oldest foal crop is just beginning to be of competition age, already showing promise in both roping and cow horse.

"His babies are just as pretty as they are talented," Don Ham, stallion manager, said. "If you need a horse that is just the right combination between fast and agile, Cadillac offers just that."

Metallic Malice is the exceptional 2015 son of Metallic Cat. After winning in the cutting arena, Metallic Malice transitioned into the cow horse under Brad Lund. A money earner in the cow horse and an AQHA World Show qualifier, the stallion flaunts substantial ability as a rope horse sire.

Malice stands 15 hands and wears a size 1 shoe, breaking the mold of typical cutters and boasting a stature that appeals broadly to cow horse and rope horse breeders alike. While Malice has the build and athleticism that breeders desire, the stallion also carries the homozygous roan gene—meaning he will throw a roan foal every time.

His oldest progeny have already made waves at the Royal Crown and Riata roping events and in the barrel racing. With more foals just coming of age, Malice's influence is set to extend across various events. As versatile as they come, his offspring exhibit high-level potential for professionals while retaining the gentle disposition for amateur riders.

"I think once enough people ride his babies, they will be able to compete at all levels," Don Ham, stallion manager, said. "Malice has such a good mind, is really quiet and just a good horse to be around, and he passes that down to his offspring."

A product of Firewaterontherocks and NFR mare Mulberry Canyon Moon, SR Industry Titan is a part of barrel racing royalty. Living up to—and exceeding—the expectations that come from being genetically gifted, Titan has proven himself time and time again. Trained and campaigned by Troy Crumrine, Titan placed in multiple go-rounds in the barrel racing at the 2020 NFR, and has repeatedly set ProRodeo arena records with Brittany Pozzi-Tonozzi.

With progeny just hitting the competitive arena, Titan's foals are showing great promise. From barrel racing to team roping, his offspring are equipped with the genetics to excel. Titan stands 15 hands tall, has impeccable conformation and carries all the traits that make a standout rope horse. Crossing well on various mares, Titan is the perfect fit for adding speed without adding too much height.

Acquired by 70 Ranch Performance Horses in September 2023, the purchase was driven by Titan's exceptional pedigree and performance.

"I had been watching Titan on the Cowboy Channel and was curious about him," said Don Ham, stallion manager for 70 Ranch. "He's a fabulous horse to watch and, as I was researching him, every rock I would turn over, Titan would just keep checking all the boxes for everything that makes a great stud."

FDD Dynasty has lifetime earnings of $1.1 million, a pair of year-end racing titles and is a two-time World Champion Sire with progeny earnings over $31 million. Firewater Fiesta has two AQHA/WPRA Barrel Horse of the Year titles and has produced winners of more than $700,00.

An AQHA Reserve Champion in Heading with J.D. Yates, Fiestas Dynasty has earned 83 AQHA points across multiple disciplines and won with Kelly Yates in the barrels.

Fiestas' standout offspring, Mister Doc Dynasty won more than $44,000 with owner Darla Hoover and Fiesta Got Feelins, owned by DeLancey Enterprises, LLC/The Rodeo Ranch, has qualified to the American Rodeo Semi Finals twice as well as Wild Card Round with lifetime earnings above $33,000.

His sire, Fire Water Flit, has progeny earnings over $5 million while his dam, the Dash Ta Fame/Bully Bullion-bred Famous Silk Panties, won better than $240,000 in her career, setting a then-record for barrel futurity earnings by a mare.

Drip's versatility is shown in his work around the ranch in Wyoming, college rodeo competition, and 1D barrel racing earnings and he'll soon add roping to his repertoire. He has an exceptionally quiet and willing disposition, and his foals are big-boned, quick-footed and conformationally correct with straight legs.

HR BARNEY REY

The distinctive HR brand on a colt stands for Harrison Ranch, but even babies from outside mares have been phenomenal by HR Smart Rey. In fact, since Elsworth and Kathy Harrison began breeding their bay stallion known as "Gus," they've gone ahead and given old-school names to his colts, too. Watch for Oscar, Barney, Amos and Walter—the stallion's latest winners.

Gus himself, now 15, went to the AQHA World Show six times including heading and heeling, with several top-10 finishes. In 2018, the stallion won the Amateur Heading world championship and placed third in Senior Heading. In 2016, he was a reserve world champion in Senior Tie-Down Roping, as well.

HR Smart Rey is also putting his winning traits in offspring, excelling at both ends. In fact, 4-year-olds Smart Josie Rey and Smart Scottish Guy actually competed at the 2023 Riata Buckle at only 3 years old. They're still at the top of their game, handling the pressure with the distinctive calm they inherited from their sire. After seeing how Josie turned out, Harrisons bought her dam.

Kathy won the Amateur Heading world championship in 2022 aboard HR Oscar Rey And HR Barney Rey has nearly $90,000 in lifetime earnings. He and his owner, Jeff VanPetten, clocked the Overall Fast Time at the latest Riata #9.5. Also in Guthrie in October, HR Walter Rey won the second round of Cowgirl Steer Stopping under Bri Votaw, while HR Amos Rey also made that short round.

"We've crossed Gus on several different bloodlines, and every foal is good-minded with plenty of size and bone to do their job," said Kathy. "The offspring all have that chill factor and are always quiet, calm and ready to take on what's next."

Gus exemplifies old-school cool with his vintage bloodlines, blending a gritty toughness with a quiet mind.

Bubba and Courtney Nixa share more than 30 years in the horse industry—breeding, racing, showing and team roping. The couple was fortunate enough to acquire one of the top 25 rope-horse sires going today, Jazarell Cat.

The bay roan stallion has earned more than $43,000 in the NCHA and sired several cutting standouts.

An own son of High Brow Cat, Jazarell Cat's bottom side also sports one of the most prevalent sires of any rodeo heel horse, Doc Quixote. Jazarell Cat produced Wesley Thorp's good rodeo horse Juiced Up Cat (out of a Shorty Lena granddaughter). "Juice" won Thorp the 2020 ARHFA World Championship in heeling as a 6-year-old, and garnered more than half Thorp's rodeo earnings last season on his way to a second gold buckle.

"Juice was very smart and he had all the tools," Thorp said. "Foot speed, athleticism and he was smooth."

Jazarell Cat also sired Sid Sporer's and Corey Hendrick's good horse Opie, an earner of more than $100,000 and the 2022 CPRA Heel Horse of the Year.

"He's really forgiving and lets you do whatever you need to do," Lucas Falconer said of the gelding he borrowed from Sporer in 2021 to win the first round at Salt Lake City. "It feels like he's always right there when he needs to be."

Jazarell Cat's offspring have earned more than $300,000 and have been super versatile, including last year's Reserve World Champion Versatility Ranch Horse and Jett Petkovich's barrel horse that clocked just a half-second off American Rodeo champ Brandon Cullin's tough horse in 2023.

"This stallion's babies are competitive, athletic, versatile and smart," Nixa said. "So, we wanted to give the outside world a chance at breeding to him."

Cash is also the 2024 AQHA Level 2 Senior Heeling World Champion, Platinum Medal Intermediate Heading and Heeling Champion and a 2023 ARHFA finalist. He continues to be shown in the NRCHA and AQHA at both ends with Dustin Rogers. When it comes to versatility, Cash defines it.

"He is a well-rounded horse," Rogers said. "He's great in the cow horse events and still winning in the roping. He has the right mind to back into that roping box however many times you need to get the job done."

In Rogers' opinion, Cash has a great combination of good looks, a good mind and athletic ability.

"When you walk into the arena on that horse, he stands out in a crowd," he said. "He's got cow sense, a lot of run and is a natural stopper; has a huge stop. He's also blessed with a good mind. I can tie him around geldings and haul him with other studs. He's a quiet horse."

Rogers and M Bar W Ranch are looking forward to Cash's offspring coming into training age.

"He's got everything you would want to pass on to your babies," Rogers said. "He has proven that he can go show and win in multiple events and on both ends. He has the right mind to go win. He's not a one-hit wonder."

The rising price of horses—thanks to the booming rope horse industry—provided the motivation for KH Rope Horses to take a chance, leading them to a big change in order to keep producing winning performance horses.

"We've been training and selling rope horses for seven or eight years and when prices on nice prospects kept climbing, we decided we need to buy a good stud that will breed some colts we like to ride ourselves," Kirk Hostetler said.

The Berryville, Arkansas, program had been raising ranch-bred colts and started by breeding to outside stallions for a few years before finally settling on the decision to buy and stand their own stallion in 2022 to modernize their bloodlines.

Josey Walez, aka "Outlaw," is a 2019 stallion sired by the great Hashtags out of Winenshineme, a producing daughter of the AQHA Hall of Fame stud Shining Spark. Competing in the ARHFA, Royal Crown and Riata events, Outlaw has won $23,000-plus under the guidance of Daniel Reed and Tanner Nall.

With his solid conformation, including good foot and bone coupled with a superb disposition, Outlaw is helping the KH reach their goal of raising quality, sound, good-looking rope horses.

"His first colts arrived in 2023 and we are excited to be riding them in the spring," Hostetler said. "We think his offspring will have the ability to excel in many different disciplines."

"Rebel" is one of the cutting and cow horse industry's most in-demand sires, so not many team ropers have been able to get their hands on them—yet. But some of the best have, including NFR Average Champion Cody Snow, ARHFA World Champion and Leading Rider Joseph Harrison and three-time NFR Heeler and ARHFA World Champion Dakota Kirchenschlager.

"They're put together exactly how I want my rope horses built," Kirchenschlager said. "They've been good since day one."

Kirchenschlager has won $41,750 on Mayhemm, a Metallic Rebel out of the Dual Rey mare Katniss, in the last two years, while Joseph Harrison finished in the top 10 in the 4-&-Under Finals at the ARHFA World Championship on his in 2024.

With Kaleb Driggers' history of owning elite-level performers, it comes as no surprise that when he decided to stand a stallion, that stallion would align with his high horse standards.

That stallion—Metallic Payday—came from fellow World Champion and ARHFA Reserve Champ Colby Lovell's program. Lovell, with his background in cutting, ranching and cow horse, put a foundation on Metallic Payday that's allowed him to cross $104,000 in lifetime earnings.

The 2017 stallion has placed in the average and go-rounds on both ends at the Riata, Royal Crown and ARHFA events under everyone from Lovell to Driggers to Andy Holcomb, Junior Nogueira and Dakota Kirchenschlager. He owns the 2023 ARHFA Reserve World Championship on the heeling side and finished in the top 10 at the 2024 AQHA World Show in Senior Heeling.

Though aged out of futurity competition, Metallic Payday's success has continued in open events with a win at the Royal Crown Rock Springs Open Team Roping. He's provided helper horse services for the best in the futurity business and even took fourth at the Bob Feist Invitational.

"His colts have proven to be really willing and versatile," Driggers said. "Kollin VonAhn has one that Chance Harman broke for me, and he said he is one of the best colts that he has had. Colby has a few that he has taken in different directions and says they are very willing to learn. All of them have big bones and good feet."

Mike and Sheila Ingram's Spur Cross Ranch is the home of Ingram Quarter Horses. Located in beautiful Gallatin Gateway, just outside of Bozeman, Montana, they have been breeding, raising and training quality American Quarter Horses for more than 30 years.

Ingram Quarter Horses is dedicated to producing top-quality horses with proven bloodlines, and the star of the Ingram breeding program is Peptoes, their red roan stallion by the legendary $26-million producer Peptoboonsmal, out of a producing daughter of the great Doc O'Lena. Ingrams' broodmares are individually selected based not only on their bloodlines, but also their conformation, disposition, color and overall looks.

All foals are mare-raised under the clear blue Montana sky and abundant green grass pastures, and are nurtured and socialized by ranch managers Tyson and Wendy Wood. The resulting offspring have been performers in a variety of disciplines, including the show arena, team roping, reining, cutting and barrel racing, and as solid working ranch horses.

Peptoes has NCHA lifetime earnings of $11,584 and was an NCHA Super Stakes Semi-Finalist, as well as a Multiple Aged Event Finalist. Peptoes sires colts that are good-boned, thick and athletic.

Peptoes inherited his very strong red roan genes from his handsome sire, and many of his colts could be considered his spitting image! Three different times, Peptoes colts have topped the Colorado State University Legends of Ranching Sale in Fort Collins, Colorado. His colts are proven winners.

One Fine Vintage, the No. 11 team roping sire of 2024 according to QData, has offspring that have won nearly $500,000 in roping alone. Known as "Vinnie," the stallion is himself an AQHA and NRCHA world champion, and the cornerstone of Robertson Ranches' breeding program.

Sired by $22 million producer One Time Pepto and out of Shiners Siena by Shining Spark, Vinnie's pedigree is stacked with impressive bloodlines that cross well on a number of mares.

"I think One Fine Vintage horses make a pretty picture," ARHFA World Champion Andy Holcomb said. "Even when they aren't perfect, they manage to catch your eye. They also learn fast and pattern well, so they fit my roping program well."

In October, Kaleb Driggers made the ARHFA Open Futurity Heading Finals aboard 4-year-old Chex Out My Finey, going on to place fifth in the 4-and-Under and 14th overall. In September, Logan Anseth split $21,600 aboard 6-year-old First Class Vintage in the Riata #14.5. Anseth also rode him at the latest World Series Finale in Las Vegas.

Of course, Holcomb put Vinnie on the futurity roping map with Fine Vintage Cash, a now-9-year-old Vinnie daughter that became the all-time earnings leading futurity mare with $112,361. Futurity breeders and NFR ropers Driggers and Jake Cooper plan to breed their stallions to embryos out of the mare, now owned by Kingpin Genetics. In 2022, Holcomb also won the 2022 ARHFA 4-Year-Old Heading World Championship on One Vintage Merada. In 2023, they combined again to win the futurity sidepot at the Riata, banking another $51,750.

Standing at 15.1 hands, Vinnie's versatility and athleticism are unmatched. He is not only, himself, a world champion in working cow horse, but also has AQHA Open Superiors in Working Cow Horse, Heading and Heeling. His average money earner has won $23,725, according to QData, with six having won AQHA points early into his breeding career.

"That horse just gives you confidence," said $2-million rider Corey Cushing after winning the 2016 AQHA Senior Working Cow Horse World Championship on Vinnie. "I've watched him for a long, long time, and I've never seen him be outdone. There's nothing that horse can't do great. He's a natural athlete."

In addition to riding several of his offspring, Daniel and Jazlyn Rice of Clements, California, have fit Robertson Ranches' One Fine Vintage yearlings for sale over the past several years.

"We've been so impressed by the consistency in their size, build and demeanor," Jazlyn said. "They are equal parts smart and sweet and possess the athletic ability to excel at multiple events just like Vinnie did. He puts his stamp on them every time."

Probably A Shiner, just 9 years old, is one of the winningest junior stallions today and one of very few horses to have won both ends of the AQHA Junior Team Roping at the World Show in the same year. He won the Jr Heading and Jr Heeling, worth $27,184, in 2022 under J.D. Yates—the same year they also won the Royal Crown heeling futurity.

The buckskin stallion's broodmare sire, With All Probability, nearly did the same thing in 2005, winning the heading and a reserve championship in heeling under Kory Koontz to become that year's Superhorse—also the winningest performance stallion in AQHA history.

Probably A Shiner has earned points over the course of his young show career in tie-down roping and working cow horse, as well. He's by another AQHA World Champion Senior Heel Horse—the program's own Smart Nu Shiner, now standing in Brazil.

"He's so easy to show," said owner Mike Van Egdom. "He's had a nice temperament from the day he hit the ground."

Probably A Shiner has had such a well-rounded career that Van Egdom is likely keeping him in the breeding barn for good.

They don't make many stallions with more chrome than Probably By Design. Eight years old this year, the bay stallion stands 16 hands and weighs 1,300 pounds with a striking bald face and white legs. He turns heads and, according to trainer J.D. Yates, couldn't be more "gentle, quiet and easy."

The stallion's owner, Phil Tearney, who raised Probably By Design ("Splash"), has won two AQHA non-pro world championships and a reserve title heading on him. As recently as November, Tearney rode Splash to the AQHA Select Heading world championship, while Trey Yates placed the stud fourth in Senior Heading, worth $10,272.

J.D. had already piloted Splash to the 2022 Reserve AQHA World Championship in Jr Heading, plus made the stud that year's Junior and Open High-Point Head Horse. The stallion had earned upwards of $40,000 at the World Show alone by the time he was 7.

"For a big horse, he can really use his hind end," said Yates. "You seldom find horses at that age that like to do what he does that much."

Splash is by Slick By Design, the top-earning barrel racing stallion of all time; a $6.5 million producer that also ran barrels at the NFR. But it doesn't show in temperament.

"Splash is the most docile stud," said Tearney. "He could care less about mares or anything else. He's easy."

Splash's dam, Probably Got It All, was a Reserve World Champion in Jr Heading, and garnered an Amateur High-Point award and 600 AQHA points in heading.

Splash's broodmare sire, With All Probability, was the AQHA's 2005 Superhorse, out of the Lazy E's legendary Jack E Eleven.

Tearney bred Splash to both the mother and the full sister of DT Air Jordan, another standout baldy that won back-to-back ARHFA world championships in heading in 2017-18 and the 2019 AQHA Sr Heading world championship.

"His strongest characteristics are his disposition and athleticism, coupled with his size," said Tearney. "He's going to put a lot of bone on his babies and size."

Reys Of Pep, first started and shown by Brad Lund at the NRCHA Snaffle Bit Futurity, carried Lovell to the American Rope Horse Futurity Association's Reserve Heeling World Title in 2022, marking the highest score of the entire show, qualifying for the short round in the heading, too. The horse won the 2023 RFA Heeling Derby with Lovell, the 2023 ARHFA Cowtown Classic Heading Futurity with Lovell and the TX Best Heading Futurity with Driggers, too. In 2024, he came out of the breeding barn to win the Old West Futurity's Non-Pro Heading Championship with Halie Richey.

"He can do anything—he's outstanding on each end—truly one of the best I've ever rode," Lovell said. "He's good-minded enough to take the heat of battle any time you ask. My little girl can warm him up, and I don't give it a second thought."

For his exceptional 2023 campaign, Reys Of Pep won the ARHFA Head Horse of the Year title, awarded at the World Championship in Fort Worth in October.

SEVS Judgement Day is perhaps the most exclusive opportunity in all of team roping, with only limited frozen semen available by application only in 2025.

The gray stallion first saw success with Hillary Hilzendeger in the barrels and Cody Hilzendeger in the heading. When life changed for his then-owners in the fall of 2023, SEVS Judgement Day sold to 2020 PRCA World Champion Header Colby Lovell at the Barrel Futurities of America Sale.

"I thought he was a real-deal head horse from the first steer I ran on him," Lovell said. "He can go anywhere, and I think he can be one of the best head horses at the highest level."

Lovell took him to the Clay Logan Open, where he turned plenty of heads. Two days later, Summers tried the horse, and four days later, he and Marshall owned him.

"He looked like exactly the kind of horse I want to ride when my money is up," Summers said. "He scores, he can really run, but he stays in control and handles the cow. He's a freak facing. I wanted Colby to continue to season him because it's obvious he was doing all the right things. Our goal is to showcase him on all the biggest stages in the sport and offer him to select mares that will continue to elevate the rope horse game."

Born from the pairing of two Superhorses—Genuine Doc and the AQHA Hall of Fame mare Diamonds Sparkle—Shining Spark garnered $62,674 in earnings alongside 17 AQHA performance points in reining, securing an AQHA Open Performance Register of Merit (ROM). He became the youngest NRHA $1 million sire in 2002 and was inducted into the NRHA Hall of Fame in 2011.

"My greatest passion has always been team roping," owner Carol Rose shared. "Shining Spark was an exceptional head horse and outstanding steer stopping horse. His incredible speed out of the box and quick stopping ability were unmatched. Unfortunately, the public never witnessed his roping skills, as Bobby Lewis was training him for the World's Greatest Horseman when an unrelated illness ended that career."

Shining Spark's impressive progeny feature 26 AQHA World Champions across various disciplines, including the 2003 Superhorse Shine By The Bay, with total earnings exceeding $10.4 million. His descendants also include the ARHFA World Champion Chics Magic Corona and the 2019 PRCA/AQHA Heel Horse of the Year DT Sugar Chex Whiz, who has become a leading producer in rope horse futurities.

A proven sire in the Western performance horse world, Shining Spark's offspring consistently demonstrate exceptional athleticism, trainability, cow sense and speed.

A $7 million reining producer also loaded with speed and intelligence? That's the holy grail for ropers. The late, great Smart Chic Olena®, known as "Chic," is by $42 million cutting sire Smart Little Lena, and his dam Gay Sugar Chic boasts the speed of Thoroughbred ancestors like Three Bars and Chicaro.

Chic is the only horse to have ever won AQHA world championships in both cutting and reining. It's no surprise that Chic is enshrined in the AQHA Hall of Fame, the NRHA Hall of Fame and the NRCHA Hall of Fame. The 1985 stallion's legacy, expertly preserved by Trevor and Tiffiny Bond, exemplifies a commitment to allow Chic's legacy to continue to transcend time.

"We recently decided to increase our focus on the rope-horse industry," said Trevor Bond, whose Infinite Reproduction & Genetics (IRG) is a Riata Championship sponsor and helps ropers break into the breeding industry via ICSI fertilization (IRG and Smart Chic Olena are also ARHFA sponsors). "But then when these roping futurities started, we knew he'd be an incredible cross not just on older bloodlines, but on a lot of the newer ones. Chic was old-school, with a lot of bone and size. He was fast, cowy and smart."

Last February, a 15-hand, 3-year-old son of Chic became the highest-selling horse in the history of the Billings (Montana) Livestock when the palomino colt sold for $147,000. A handful of months before that, Collen All Chics (a son of Smart Chic Olena), helped his heeler, Cody Marx, split $112,060 in the 2023 Riata #9.5. With more than $14.7 million in progeny earnings, Chic's lineage boasts winners in every discipline.

Starlight Oak 017 is proving that it doesn't matter where you start, it's where you finish. While his contemporaries were prepping and showing as 3- and 4-year-olds for the lucrative roping futurity schedule, the 2017 son of Starlights Gypsy was busy on the ranch with owner Tyler Schaffner.

"I don't even think Tyler started roping on this horse until he was almost 5 years old," Tate Kirchenschlager said after the stallion claimed the 2024 AQHA Senior Heading World title.

"He just kind of used him as a ranch horse. Then the futurity deal was here and he thought, well, we better get to roping on him. He didn't have a fair shake at being a futurity horse."

Starlight Oak 017, aka Pocket, definitely has the genetics to easily move to the roping pen as a full sibling to Lari Dee Guy and Trevor Brazile's American Greed and Parker County Oak, who took Jake Cooper to the NFR and his sister Jill Tanner to an American Rodeo title in the breakaway.

Despite the late start, Pocket claimed plenty of accolades during his short show career, including the 2023 Intermediate Heeling title at the Royal Crown Rock Springs with Schaffner. To date, his lifetime earnings are pushing $90,000.

Further displaying the disposition and ability that will pass on to his offspring, Starlight Oak 017 has also shined as a help horse for major events like the ARHFA Championships while continuing his day job on the ranch.

Royal Crown

With all the red roan color and swagger of his $52 million cutting-legend sire, Metallic Cat, the 7-year-old stallion Test My Metal is proving himself.

The young stallion had already earned $81,390 at both ends by the time he was 6 at roping futurities with Dakota Kirchenschlager at the reins.

Test My Metal stands 15.2 hands and weighs 1,200 pounds, and his first foal crop, at 2 years old, look strong with great bone and color.

"Metal" won the 2023 Royal Crown Open Heeling Futurity in Buckeye, Arizona, and was the reserve champion at the Roping Futurities of America High Stakes Heeling Slot, plus he placed third in the RFA Open Heading Futurity. The stud also has points at both ends in the AQHA.

"We bought him as a 2-year-old at the NCHA Futurity Sale," said Kirchenschlager, 31. "I rode him at the Snaffle Bit and did horrible going down the fence. Then we started roping on him, and he's won quite a bit. He can run, he can stop, and he's a phenomenal horse. I'm blessed to have him."

Kirchenschlager competed on the stallion at the futurities, but Metal also became his go-to horse when he was helping other partners, taking the majority of help runs day in and day out.

Travelin Jonez—a $1.2 million reined cow horse sire—earned nearly $200,000 in his own career that kicked off with a top 10 finish in the 2011 Snaffle Bit Futurity. As a 5-year-old, Travelin Jonez won three of the NRCHA's premier aged events, plus racked up AQHA World Show qualifications in Jr Working Cow Horse, Jr Cutting and Open Ranch Riding.

Travelin Jonez is a maternal grandson of the great $2 million cutting producer Travalena through Travelin With Sass (a $400,000-plus producer). And that's aside from being sired by Smart Chic Olena—a Hall-of-Fame producer of reined cow horses earning $14.6 million.

With Doc O'Lena on both sides and Gay Bar King on his top side, Travelin Jonez offers the athleticism, cow sense and speed ropers love.

"He's making both roping and reined cow horse winners," said co-owner Paula Mize. "In the cow horse industry, a lot of the cutting-bred stallions have gotten smaller. But he's a good cross on those mares because his babies are super athletic and a little bigger than most cow horses."

Travelin Jonez's first foals hit the arena in 2017. Les Oswald placed Lena Jonez deep in the 4-year-old heeling futurities in 2022, and they were fourth last summer in the Royal Crown Guthrie futurity. In only two years, Mize said Travelin Jonez babies have earned more than $400,000 team roping.

"Dakota Kirchenschlager had as many last fall as he could get his hands on, said Mize. "They make really nice rope horses without hardly trying."

Born on the Tongue River Ranch, TRR Lucky Brazos ("Hiptown") is a 2016 son of Pepcid, by leading cutting sire Peptoboonsmal. Purchased as a yearling by Tripp Townsend of Sandhill Cattle + Horses, the stallion went on to win the Limited Open at the 2019 National Reined Cow Horse Association Snaffle Bit Futurity. Hiptown has since earned approximately $100,000 in lifetime earnings in reined cow horse events, team ropings and ranch rodeos.

Townsend knew exactly what he was looking for when he purchased Hiptown.

"The first horse I bought from Tongue River Ranch was a full brother to TRR Lucky Brazos," he said. "That horse's name was TRR Lucky Playgun, and he won two AQHA world championships, plus my son won the 2009 World's Greatest Youth Horseman on him."

Townsend continued to buy full siblings each year, with Hiptown being the only one that remained a stallion.

"Hiptown and his siblings are just good every time, it doesn't matter if you're heading or heeling," he said. "They are all good in the box, they run, they rate, they are just easy to catch on."

Last October, Townsend not only nabbed the overall fast-time in the Riata #10.5 on Hiptown to split $10,000, but placed sixth on the stud in the #9.5 to split another $28,500.

The Sandhill Cattle + Horses program took the time to prove the stallion before breeding, so Hiptown's first foal crops were limited and are just starting their careers. Townsend is encouraged by what he's seen so far. He expects the progeny to be quiet, trainable and have a big stop like their sire.

PREMIER ROPE HORSES
Sunset, Texas
Jason & Jennifer Richey
premierropehorses@gmail.com

Headlined by the talents of two-time World Champion Clay Smith, Premier Rope Horses combines extraordinary genetics with exceptional horsemanship and care to build the next level of rope horse.

Premier Rope Horses is owned by Smith and his father- and mother-in-law, Jason and Jennifer Richey, with children Taylor (Smith), Halie, Cason and Miley.

One of the roping industry's top 50 owners of 2024 and top 40 of all time, Premier Rope Horses is home to Lead On, the 5-year-old by Corona Cartel that set records when he won $104,000 for four runs at the Old West Futurity in Wallsburg, Utah, in July 2024.

Premier Rope Horses is also home to mares like Apache Promise, who Smith rode at the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo at the end of her final futurity season and who's already amassed over $142,000 in lifetime earnings at just 7. They also own Hello Lashes, daughter Miley's mare, who Smith, as of press time Dec. 1, was planning to ride in Round 1 at the 2024 NFR. The Richeys own Call Sally, too, a mare that Chris Dawson showed to a finals spot in the NRCHA Snaffle Bit Futurity.

Premier Rope Horses also own One Smart Pistola, who was a standout futurity mare for A&C Racing and Roping, and they're set to cross her on their own stallion—Bet Hesa Ginnin.

Born on the legendary 6666 Ranch, Bet Hesa Ginnin is a flashy 9-year-old red roan stallion that enjoyed a successful early cow horse career under Terry Riddle before Clay Smith, a two-time world champion header, took the reins.

Smith and his partners understood the value of crossing the greatest cow horse line of all-time on the Four Sixes' own successful run-cow cross. The perfectly-sized 15-hand roan is by the world-champion cutting sire Bet Hesa Cat, by High Brow Cat, out of a daughter of both Freckles Playboy and the greatest-producing cutting dam of all-time, Royal Blue Boon. On the bottom, he's out of Ginnin Stoli, by the $17 million racing stallion Stoli and out of a daughter of the Four Sixes' late, great leading cutting sire Tanquery Gin.

That kind of lineage is famous for performance and versatility. Bet Hesa Ginnin, himself, won the 2021 Colorado State Fair Open Derby Herd Work reserve championship, the 2022 Panhandle Reined Cow Horse Open Two Rein championship, and got qualifications to the NRCHA 2x Celebration of Champions and AQHA Versatility Ranch Horse World Championships.

"He's smart," Smith said. "He has a quick response to the reins, from the back of the box to the steer."

The stallion is passing on his combination of size, speed and intelligence. Premier Rope Horses invested in the traits of this stallion with the intention of creating a new generation of top rope horses.

A young ranching family in California decided to start raising their own working horses, and discovered the progeny cross over really well into the roping pen.

"We're not really show-horse people," said Lacy Bourdet, who owns 24/7 Livestock with her husband, Wyatt. "We like rodeo, roping and barrel racing plus reined cow horse, cutting and versatile ranch horses. Wyatt started colts for people for a lot of years, which gave us an idea what we're looking for in a good horse."

Their program proudly stands Isaac Starlight (Stud fee: $1,500). They raised the 2014 stud—a grandson of Grays Starlight and Gay Bar King on top, out of mare going back to Colonel Freckles, Doc Bar, Smart Little Lena and Gun Smoke.

At last fall's ARHFA World Championships, Jake Bourdet placed a full sister and three fillies by Isaac Starlight in the top 15 of the Intermediate Heeling. And in '23 ARHFA World Championships, Paul Eaves was the reserve champ in the 4-&-Under and placed ninth in the Open Heeling aboard Ryan Fowler's Isaacs First Cody–and they also banked $16,800 in the 5-year-old incentive of last fall's Riata #14.5.

Isaac's progeny have done well at the Snaffle Bit Futurity, too. In fact, the 24/7 mares are rich in NRCHA talent and pack the blood of Stevie Rey Von, Woody Be Tuff and Metallic Cat, along with older lines like Smokums Prize, Highbrow Cat and Colonel Freckles.

The family also purchased the 2019 blaze-faced bay stallion Three Xs The Magic to cross on Isaac's daughters, so his first foals will hit the ground this spring. "Tripp" is by WR This Cats Smart–the late, $18.7 million sire–out of a Grays Starlight granddaughter.

At the 2023 ARHFA World Championships, Holcomb was the reserve champ in the 4-and-Under Heading on Tripp.

The Bourdet family, including kids Braydee and Emitt, rodeo on the horses they raise and train. A full sister to Isaac and a gelding out of one of their favorite mares helped Braydee become the 2023 national junior-high girl's breakaway and all-around champ, and she has competed in reined cow horse events on Tripp.

For nearly 20 years, Billadeau Quarter Horses has raised all-around prospects by crossing cow-bred studs on race-bred mares. Their goal is a performance horse that can excel across events.

Their broodmares' pedigrees range from Dash For Cash, Easy Jet and Frenchmans Guy to Genuine Doc, Freckles Playboy and Peptoboonsmal. And they stand three stallions, two of which boast the blood of the $4 million reined cow horse producer Shining Spark, while the other is by the already legendary, athletic uber-producer

Metallic Cat.

"Breeding athletic horses was what we'd always done, but more as a hobby," Layne Billadeau said. "It seemed a little selfish. We wanted to share these horses with the industries that we so enjoy."

Billadeau's sorrel stallion, Exagereyt, coming 8, was campaigned by NFR header Britt Williams. He's a son of Metallic Cat out of Reytaliate by Stylish Rey, and is eligible for three big roping incentives, as are the other two. The family's other junior sire is another sorrel. Smart Shinin Spook, just 6 this year but booked full last year, is by the Smart Chic Olena son Smart Spook (a $7 million reining sire) out of Shining Mona by Shining Spark.

The family also offers the flashy palomino stallion Shiner's Suduko by Shining Spark, out of Docs Sulena by Doc O'Lena. Ropers will note that the reining money-earner and finished heel horse is an own grandson of Doc O'Lena—an AQHA and NCHA Hall-of-Fame sire.

Shiner's Suduko is siring proven roping futurity performers, including 5-year-old Shiny Coyote, and 5-year-old Shiny Lil Peso (out of a daughter of Poco's Little Tess) that was the Silver reserve champion at the 2024 Platinum Medal Heading Futurity. Plus, at the 2024 Royal Crown Futurity in Rock Springs, their filly Shiny Lil Ike captured the 4-Year-Old Incentive in Intermediate Heeling.

"We really love the Shining Spark horses," Billadeau said. "They are very trainable. They put substance and a good mind in our foals."

The most outstanding head-horse breeders today are lauded for combining cow horse and racing bloodlines. But the Myers family has been doing that for 40 years.

Their late stallion Frenchmans Guy, with $20 million in progeny earnings, was all roping blood up top courtesy the Doc's Jack Frost and Driftwood Ike blood of his sire, Sun Frost. But his dam was by South Dakota racing stud Laughing Boy.

"We roped on a lot of Frenchmans Guy's colts, but about the time [Kristie Peterson's world champion brother] Bozo made him famous as a barrel sire, there were no roping futurities," Myers said. "Actually, we had a few in South Dakota, and his colts did really well at those."

In late August, Dakota Kirchenschlager piloted 5-year-old Guyz Magic by Frenchmans Guy to the Silver Division heading championship at the Platinum Medal Futurity, and a few weeks later, placed fifth in the Pro Futurity at the Riata Championship despite two leg penalties.

Three other Frenchmans Guy sons have helped the program add even more blistering speed. The late A Smooth Guy has sired earners of $4 million, while another up-and-comer is Mr Sassy Frenchman, out of a mare by Mr Jess Perry out of a Corona Cartel daughter. The Myers clan knows you can always ride a fast horse slowly, but you can't ride a slow horse fast.

Recently, Yes Im Sassy earned $158,182 at roping futurities including a big win at the ARHFA Red Bud Spectacular last year under Kaleb Driggers, and one at the Rock Springs Royal Crown under Colby Lovell.

"She's good in the box, she runs right to the cow, finishes good, is strong to the horn, really doesn't make any mistakes," Lovell said. "She's dependable."

Frenchmans Guy might be a legendary barrel-racing sire, but he has untold potential in the roping boxes, as do his sons.

"Any rodeo event needs a great-moving horse with a great mind," Myers said. "And conformation is a factor some people leave out when they breed horses, but we try to be really strong in that in our program. We're pretty strict on bone, substance, straight legs—just overall balance."

The family is especially excited about the newest addition to their stallion roster in CR Tuff Dual, just turning 6 this year. He's being campaigned at futurities by Dakota Kirchenschlager. By the legendary $12 million sire Woody Be Tuff, the young stud is out of a Dual Pep/High Brow Cat mare and should make a nice cross on daughters of Frenchmans Guy and A Smooth Guy.

"His mother is a million-dollar producer, and his second dam is a $2 million producer," said Myers. "He's a little bigger with more stride than you see on a lot of cow-bred horses, and is a super good-minded horse."

The Myers family was honored last summer with Frenchmans Guy's induction into the AQHA Hall of Fame, for the way he's contributed to so many breeding programs in a variety of disciplines over the decades. Versatility was always the goal for Myers Performance Horses, but it came to the forefront with the rise of roping futurities and increased reporting.

"Promoting genetics (both paternal and maternal) is essential for a breeder's growth in this competitive world," Myers said. "By presenting pedigrees in the event draws, webcast, announcing and results, it helps the public analyze what might work with their own breeding program. We're excited to be in on the ground floor of this in the roping industry, because it takes continued exposure for young stallions and programs to grow."

Myers, along with select other veteran breeders, knew that infusing racing blood into the traditional cutting- or reining breeding of rope horses would be golden.

"In Myers horses, you get that speed but don't lose that good common sense and cow," he said. "They leave the box at and can fly. Plus, they're cowy and know how to rate, so they're real easy to train as rope horses. Mentally, they can handle the pressure."

DT Horses—managed by Dean and Leslie Tuftin—has had a banner year in 2024, with their sire Hickory Holly Time's foals hitting $3.2 million in earnings and winning an AQHA Senior Heeling World Title, plus qualifying three horses for the NRCHA Snaffle Bit Futurity Finals.

The DT Horses program, though, is about much more than just LTEs and checks at the country's largest events.

DT Horses' mission is to instill excellence at every step of the process: crossing the best bloodlines to create premium prospects, fostering the growth of young trainers into exceptional horsemen and horsewomen, and educating team ropers who come to DT Horses for advice or a new horse. Ultimately, these three pillars of the DT program are advancing the industry like few others have done before.

The program did even more to fulfill that mission this year, with 2016 PRCA World Champion Jeremy Buhler jumping on board, bringing his humble attitude and exceptional horsemanship to the team. Tuftin also added in fellow Canadian, header Stran Pollitt, to round out his team.

HICKORY HOLLY TIME

"We're all on the same page," Tuftin said. "We just want to have a good horse, and if they're good enough to compete on at the futurities, great. If they're great for a 4 or 5, we put just as much value in that, too, because our goal is to make a horse anyone can ride. We want you to be able to put your hand down and have fun."

Tuftin wants to reward ropers who believe in his program, and pay out $50,000 extra to ropers in his Hickory Holly Time Incentive at the Riata Championships.

"We want to pay the owners for supporting Hickory Holly Time," Tuftin said. "They're the ones breeding and raising these horses, and we'll continue to pay out extra money and give back to them."

Tuftin's doors are always open to horsemen and horsewomen looking for their next mount or just wanting to learn how the DT Horses program works.

"An impressionist artist said, 'Perfection is not in the eye of the beholder. Perfection is in the eye of the creator.' Anyone can slap paint on a canvas, but a great artist puts perfection in every stroke of the brush. For me, I've built that in the same way. A great artist holds themselves accountable for every stroke of the brush. People say they're trainers, but great trainers hold themselves accountable for every move that a horse takes and every feel. For me, that's a big piece of it. My mission statement is to build champion horses with solid training techniques while developing the mind of a horse positively. It's not just, 'let's go win at the futurities.' And I want to pass that all on to the horse industry as a whole. So, our doors are open to those who want to learn."

Riata Championship, Royal Crown

Its early, magic cross of cow horse and racehorse blood made Oklahoma's Flag Ranch the second-greatest breeder of team roping horses of all time, according to QData, with earners of more than $616,384. That's partly because of Larry and Bobbie Rice's athletic stallions One Time Honor (by One Time Pepto out of a Holland Ease daughter) and First Prize Diver (by PYC Paint Your Wagon out of a Mr Jess Perry daughter).

In 2024, aboard a 4-year-old filly by First Prize Diver, Miles Baker terrorized the futurity headers to the tune of $126,521, including a $50,000 payday at last summer's Old West Futurity in Utah. Meanwhile, Baker also split $37,400 heading at the 2024 Riata Championship on a 5-year-old by One Time Honor.

"Larry Rice was ahead of his time," Baker said. "Now we're all trying to breed the same horses he bred and raised 10 years ago."

In October, the Flag Ranch bred four colts that made the ARHFA World Championship short round under Baker, Kaleb Driggers and Colby Lovell. Driggers explained that his 4-year-old mare by One Fabulous Time can run, with really good footwork, but collects through the turn. That sentiment is similar to what King of the Cowboys Trevor Brazile said about 2023's leading 4-year-old futurity head horse Bama Fury, by Bamacat out of a Flag Ranch Furyofthewind daughter: "Physically looking at him, you see the run, but riding him, you feel the cow."

The Flag Ranch also bred Chics Magic Corona, the colt on which Rhen Richard won the 2022 ARHFA World Championship, and Tate Kirchenschlager's 2022 Royal Crown Champion Meradas First Diver.

"What really separates their program is the way they find the right cross of size, athletic ability, run and cow," said Kirchenschlager, who has ridden several Flag Ranch-bred horses. "They are just built to be head horses."

Strategically mixing the perfect traits needed by high-level ropers, Flag Ranch offers Riata Championship and Royal Crown prospects with proven genetics.

"We've known Larry a long time, and he's progressively turned out more and more great horses," said WPRA World Champion Heeler Jimmi Jo Montera, who has purchased more than a dozen horses from the Rices with her husband Rick. "Larry is just extremely knowledgeable. He knows his crosses—what goes well with what."

Flag Ranch's own stallions One Time Honor, First Prize Diver and Bobby Starlight, along with stallions they've owned in the past—One Fabulous Time, Vabellez and BR Best Asset—illustrate their variety of proven cow-bred and race-bred mares.

In January, Flag Ranch will offer an outstanding set of prospects at its annual 2-Year-Old Production Sale, which may include full and half-siblings to roping futurity standouts like Relentless PYC, Lunchbox and Blowin In Time.

FOUR SIXES RANCH
Guthrie, Texas
6666ranch.com
806-596-4424

With a rich ranching history, the Four Sixes Ranch has become one of America's most legendary operations. While rooted in cattle, the ranch expanded into horse breeding in the 1960s and now houses one of the nation's most advanced equine breeding facilities and veterinary clinics.

Winner of the AQHA Best Remuda Award, the Four Sixes has produced generations of champion ranch and performance horses from its elite broodmare band. As an AQHA All-Time Leading Breeder of Performance Horses and Race Money-Earners and Winners, the ranch remains dedicated to raising outstanding American Quarter Horses.

"The ranch has been here 154 years and for over 40 of those, we have offered breeding services to the public," said Dr. Nathan Canaday, Horse Division Manager and Resident Veterinarian. "People often have it in their mind that we just handle our own stallions and mares, but we are a commercial breeding facility and offer a fully functioning vet clinic—the only one in 60 miles."

Canaday notes that the equine industry has seen major growth and that the reproduction side of the business has exploded. During Canaday's 14-year tenure, the ranch has gone from breeding 1,200 to 1,500 mares annually to more than 2,000 in 2024, with about 90% of those belonging to Four Sixes' clients.

"We breed on-site and ship everywhere," he added. "As a Select Breeders Services (SBS)-affiliated facility, we have the ability to freeze and export semen all over the world."

The Four Sixes is a comprehensive breeding and equine management program, standing more than 30 stallions. With three full-time veterinarians and 35 staff members, they specialize in advanced reproductive services, including embryo flushes and transfers, and foaling services.

Internship opportunities are a key part of the ranch's success.

"Each breeding season, we bring in interns to gain hands-on experience foaling mares and learning the breeding business," Canaday remarked. Approximately 80% of the current staff began as interns, with many graduates pursuing successful careers as veterinarians, trainers, AQHA judges and university faculty.

The Four Sixes is committed to blending modern technology with traditional ranching values.

"It's this interesting dichotomy here," Canaday explained. "We use the latest, most advanced equipment, but our cowboys still gather our broodmare herd horseback."

"As a working ranch, we aim to raise top-quality horses that excel in athleticism, speed and endurance because they are essential partners in everything we do," Canaday said. "Our horses need the stamina to work all day and rope a bull if necessary, the speed to catch a steer in team roping and the agility to compete in cutting events."

The Annual Return to the Remuda Sale hosted at the ranch highlights premier ranch horse programs, including the Four Sixes Ranch, offering exceptional American Quarter Horses to the public while supporting the legacy of ranching excellence.

Ultimately, the Four Sixes Ranch is dedicated to preserving the legacy and values that have defined it for generations, ensuring that its horses remain central to its mission of blending tradition with innovation.

Forty years ago, newlyweds Bobby Joe and Renee Jane Cudd launched Cudd Quarter Horses, determined to breed sound, tough working horses for the ranch and performance arena. Though Renee lost Bobby Joe in 2005, his legacy continues every day through the quality horses raised through their program.

Built upon the outstanding genetics of AQHA Supreme Champion Goldseeker Bars, Cudd's program produces horses renowned for their versatility and good looks.

Standing two young stallions, One Time Genuine, a son of One Time Pepto, and the Metallic Cat son Metallic Gray, Cudd Quarter Horses is also part of the historic syndicate that owns The Darkk Side.

HIGH-SELLING 2-YEAR-OLD FROM THE 44TH ANNUAL CUDD QUARTER HORSES PRODUCTION SALE, SMART NU MO.

Cudd's renowned genetics are available each June through their annual production sale. Cudd-bred sale graduates made waves in 2024, including Metallic Katrina by Metallic Gray, who claimed the Riata Pro Futurity Championship with Cash Duty, and One Time Hydrive by One Time Genuine who won the Elite Breeder's Incentive and banked $9,000 with Brandi McDowell at the Gold Buckle Futurities Breakaway Roping. Another sale grad, Hotrod Song carried Taylor Munsell to her fourth National Finals Breakaway Roping.

Relentless PYC, who is out of the Cudd mare Chars Gun, made history with Miles Baker after claiming the first ARHFA Old West Roping 4 & Under Futurity title and $50,000.

"Those Metallic Grays are looking super good in the roping pen," Renee said, noting that both are Riata Championship enrolled. "We're excited about the future of all the Riata colts."

The official ranch of the World Series of Team Roping, Las Tunas Cattle Co. was also the most recent winner of the AQHA's International Best Remuda award.

"We have 30-35 mares and numerous stallions on our ranch at any given time," said ranch owner Miguel Guerrero-Elias. "We are also purchasing colts and foals to continue growing and refining our program."

Of course, no top rope horse producer is complete without a Metallic Cat line, and the ranch offers Metallic Play, out of a Playgun daughter. Another young stallion recently added is Wagon Team, with a top side going to Tanquery Gin and Peppy San Badger, out of a Bueno Chex granddaughter.

METALLIC PLAY

Las Tunas also stands San Tomas Doc, by Wimp Olena out of a Smart Little Lena/Goldseeker Bars mare, and LobosWindWalker, by a Hancock-bred stallion out of a Peppy San Badger granddaughter. Additionally, they stand a blue roan stud named Four J Valentine Bar out of a Wilywood-bred mare.

Along with their own mares, Las Tunas covers up to 60 mares per year for outside customers and also offers frozen semen from their stallions that can be shipped to local clinics and breeding facilities in the United States.

Las Tunas hopes with its WSTR partnership to showcase its program of crossing big, stout, beautiful foundation-bred horses with today's top cutting- and cow-bred horses. The cattle company was founded decades ago in Chihuahua, Mexico, and has been owned since 2017 by the Guerrero family. A breeding to a Las Tunas stud means you get proven winners on registration papers plus the looks, demeanor and cow sense every roper needs.

"All of our colts are started right here," Guerrero-Elias said. "Before we ever take them into the roping pen, they spend six to eight months on the ranch being used every day by our cowboys."

Located in Todd County, South Dakota, Fulton Performance Horses is the realized dream of Lisa and Brian Fulton, a National Finals Rodeo competitor who had a passion for training good horses and wanted to raise versatile horses with good conformation, athleticism and trainability. Today, Lisa and her family, Jake and Laney, Jared and John are carrying on the legacy and the dream that their family has worked at for 30-plus years.

Thanks to his dominance as a sire, their program has become synonymous with the great stallion, A Streak Of Fling, who is fourth on QData's All-Time Money Earning Barrel Racing Sire list. Proving his progeny can succeed across disciplines, he also lands 17th on their 2024 Top 50 All Events Sire ranking. His get have earned an incredible $11.2 million, excelling both in rodeo and showing. A Streak Of Fling has produced winners at every level in barrels, roping and rodeo.

Highlighting his adaptability, A Streak Of Fling's foals are eligible for 25 different incentives including those geared to roping and barrel racing.

"We all love horses that are versatile," Fulton said. "To us, that's a signature part of A Streak Of Fling. We use 'diversity' quite proudly. With A Streak Of Fling's passing in September we are also concentrating on the A Streak Of Fling broodmare daughters in our broodmare band. We feel crossing them on a diverse cross of stallions in the industry will keep us going forward with A Streak Of Fling's Legacy."

"That diversity is finally coming out with all this roping," Fulton noted of the growing rope horse futurity industry. "Now we have team ropers coming to us to breed their good mares. And those are the kind you need to bring; bring the mares you love to ride."

The Fulton's have lived their mantra of diversity through a breeding program with proven producing broodmares as well as a lineup of stallions that also includes A Dash Ta Streak and young standout Flingin Jameson, who blends the best of what cow horse, speed horse and rope horses offer.

It's about not only raising top-quality horses but also training with deliberate effort to produce quality, all-around horses for the branded-F. Buyers can occasionally find an older prospect at Fulton's, but there is always a steady supply of younger horses, everything from weanlings to 2-year-olds.

Through their selective breeding process, Fulton Performance Horses continues to produce outstanding rodeo prospects, horses developed with an eye on physical ability and heart and capable of succeeding in any event.

A Streak Of Fling's frozen semen is now being handled by Fulton Performance Horses for the 2025 breeding season, with frozen semen/ICSI available in the United States, Australia, Canada and Italy. Please Contact Fulton Performance Horses at 605-776-4420 or info@fultonranch.com.

Ride The Rim Performance Horses' lineup of top stallions features some of the industry's best bloodlines, all managed by equine reproduction veterinarian Meredith Pierce, DVM, and Lori Lester.

SOMETHING EPIC

"This started as my side passion, with one stallion—One Nation—and then Lori was like, 'I want a stallion!'" Pierce explained. "So we bred a mare and had Lesters Live Wire. And we went from there. This started out as kind of fun, and now it's an obsession."

At 17 hands, Lesters Live Wire (stud fee: $1,250) not only displays the speed of his sire, the First Down Dash son Rare News, and size of his dam, the Thoroughbred mare Ochoco Kitten, but he augments any mare with these traits.

Bench Warrant (stud fee: $1,600) by Judge Cash and out of the Frenchmans Guy daughter RR Frenchmans Smoke, Bench Warrant is a go-to barrel horse for Lester, who's earned arena records and spots in the American Semis and has $65,000-plus in lifetime earnings.

Just 5 in 2025, Something Epic (stud fee: $2,000, frozen only) by Epic Leader, is a full sibling to NFR qualifier Kassie Mowry's superstar Epic Guy, out of Frenchilicious by Frenchmans Guy. Under the saddle of João Leão, Something Epic has lifetime earnings in excess of $60,000.

DOUBLE DOLLAR LIVESTOCK
Holden, Utah
facebook.com/doubledollar

If you've been to a roping in the last 40 years, chances are you've seen the Double Dollar brand, representing the decades that Greg Kesler has been churning out finished rope horses geared specifically for low numbered ropers.

"We've had horses at the NFR and everywhere in between, but our aim is to create nice, quiet, gentle, good minded horses with plenty of run," Kesler explained.

A full ranching operation with a feedlot, Double Dollar also produces most of the World Series ropings in Utah. Ranch work is a critical piece of their training program, which focuses on patience and going slow, and is bolstered by starting with carefully curated genetics.

Though the tragic loss of their son Quinn led to a partial dispersal of their herd, Double Dollar will continue to produce quality horses through their 30 chosen broodmares and three Riata-enrolled stallions, all with bloodlines tracing to their best horses.

DARK N METALLIC

DD Frosty Cowboy, aka Bull, is by Trace of Frost, the heart and soul of the Double Dollar program, one that carried Quinn, a then-junior in high school, to a reserve finish at the BFI. His dam is by the legendary Shining Spark.

Dark N Metallic is by Metallic Cat out of a Hot Spot mare while One Tuff Player is a Woody Be Tuff/Playgun cross.

"Dark just has an awesome disposition and is gorgeous, and Metallic Cat needs no introduction," Kesler notes. "And we're really excited with Player; he has perfect conformation and moves unbelievable."

THE PITZER RANCH BROODMARE BAND

PITZER RANCH
Ericson, Nebraska
pitzerranch.net
308-653-2134

For nearly eight decades the Pitzer Ranch has been raising champion Quarter Horses in the heart of the Nebraska Sandhills ranching country. Owned and operated by Jim Brinkman and his family, the ranch continues the legacy his grandfather, AQHA Hall of Famer Howard Pitzer, began more than 70 years ago with his stallion Two Eyed Jack, also a member of the Hall of Fame.

The foundation laid by Howard and Jack can be found in the blood of Pitzer Ranch's 400-plus broodmare band and 15 proven stallions. The breeding decisions have recently produced Riata Championship winnings, notable AQHA and rope horse futurity successes and all-around great using horses for any type of operation.

Each stallion is proven in and out of the arena. Some stand at the ranch's breeding facility for collection, while others are turned to pasture with their band of mares Each stallion's get is eligible for big money through a number of incentives, from the ranch's own HP Ranch Horse Invitational to the Riata Championship and new Top Gun Stallion Incentive.

Along with their home-raised "Jackbred" stallions, the ranch also offers a couple very successful cow-bred studs who add athleticism and cow sense to the ranch and rope horse program for which Pitzer Ranch is known.

The gorgeous and ultra-talented red roan, Metallic Casanova is a gritty cow horse with more than $204,000 earned under NRCHA showman Clay Volmer. His commanding arena presence, versatility and ability make him a valuable outcross for the ranch. His first available foal crop will be arriving in 2025.

The sorrel Riata stallion, Mia Browbeater has now proven himself as a top sire for the ranch with his first couple crops earning over $150,000.

The line-bred Jack stallions Dukes N Divas and Favorable Intentions carry the blood the ranch was built upon. Both are Riata sires and their get has also had great success recently.

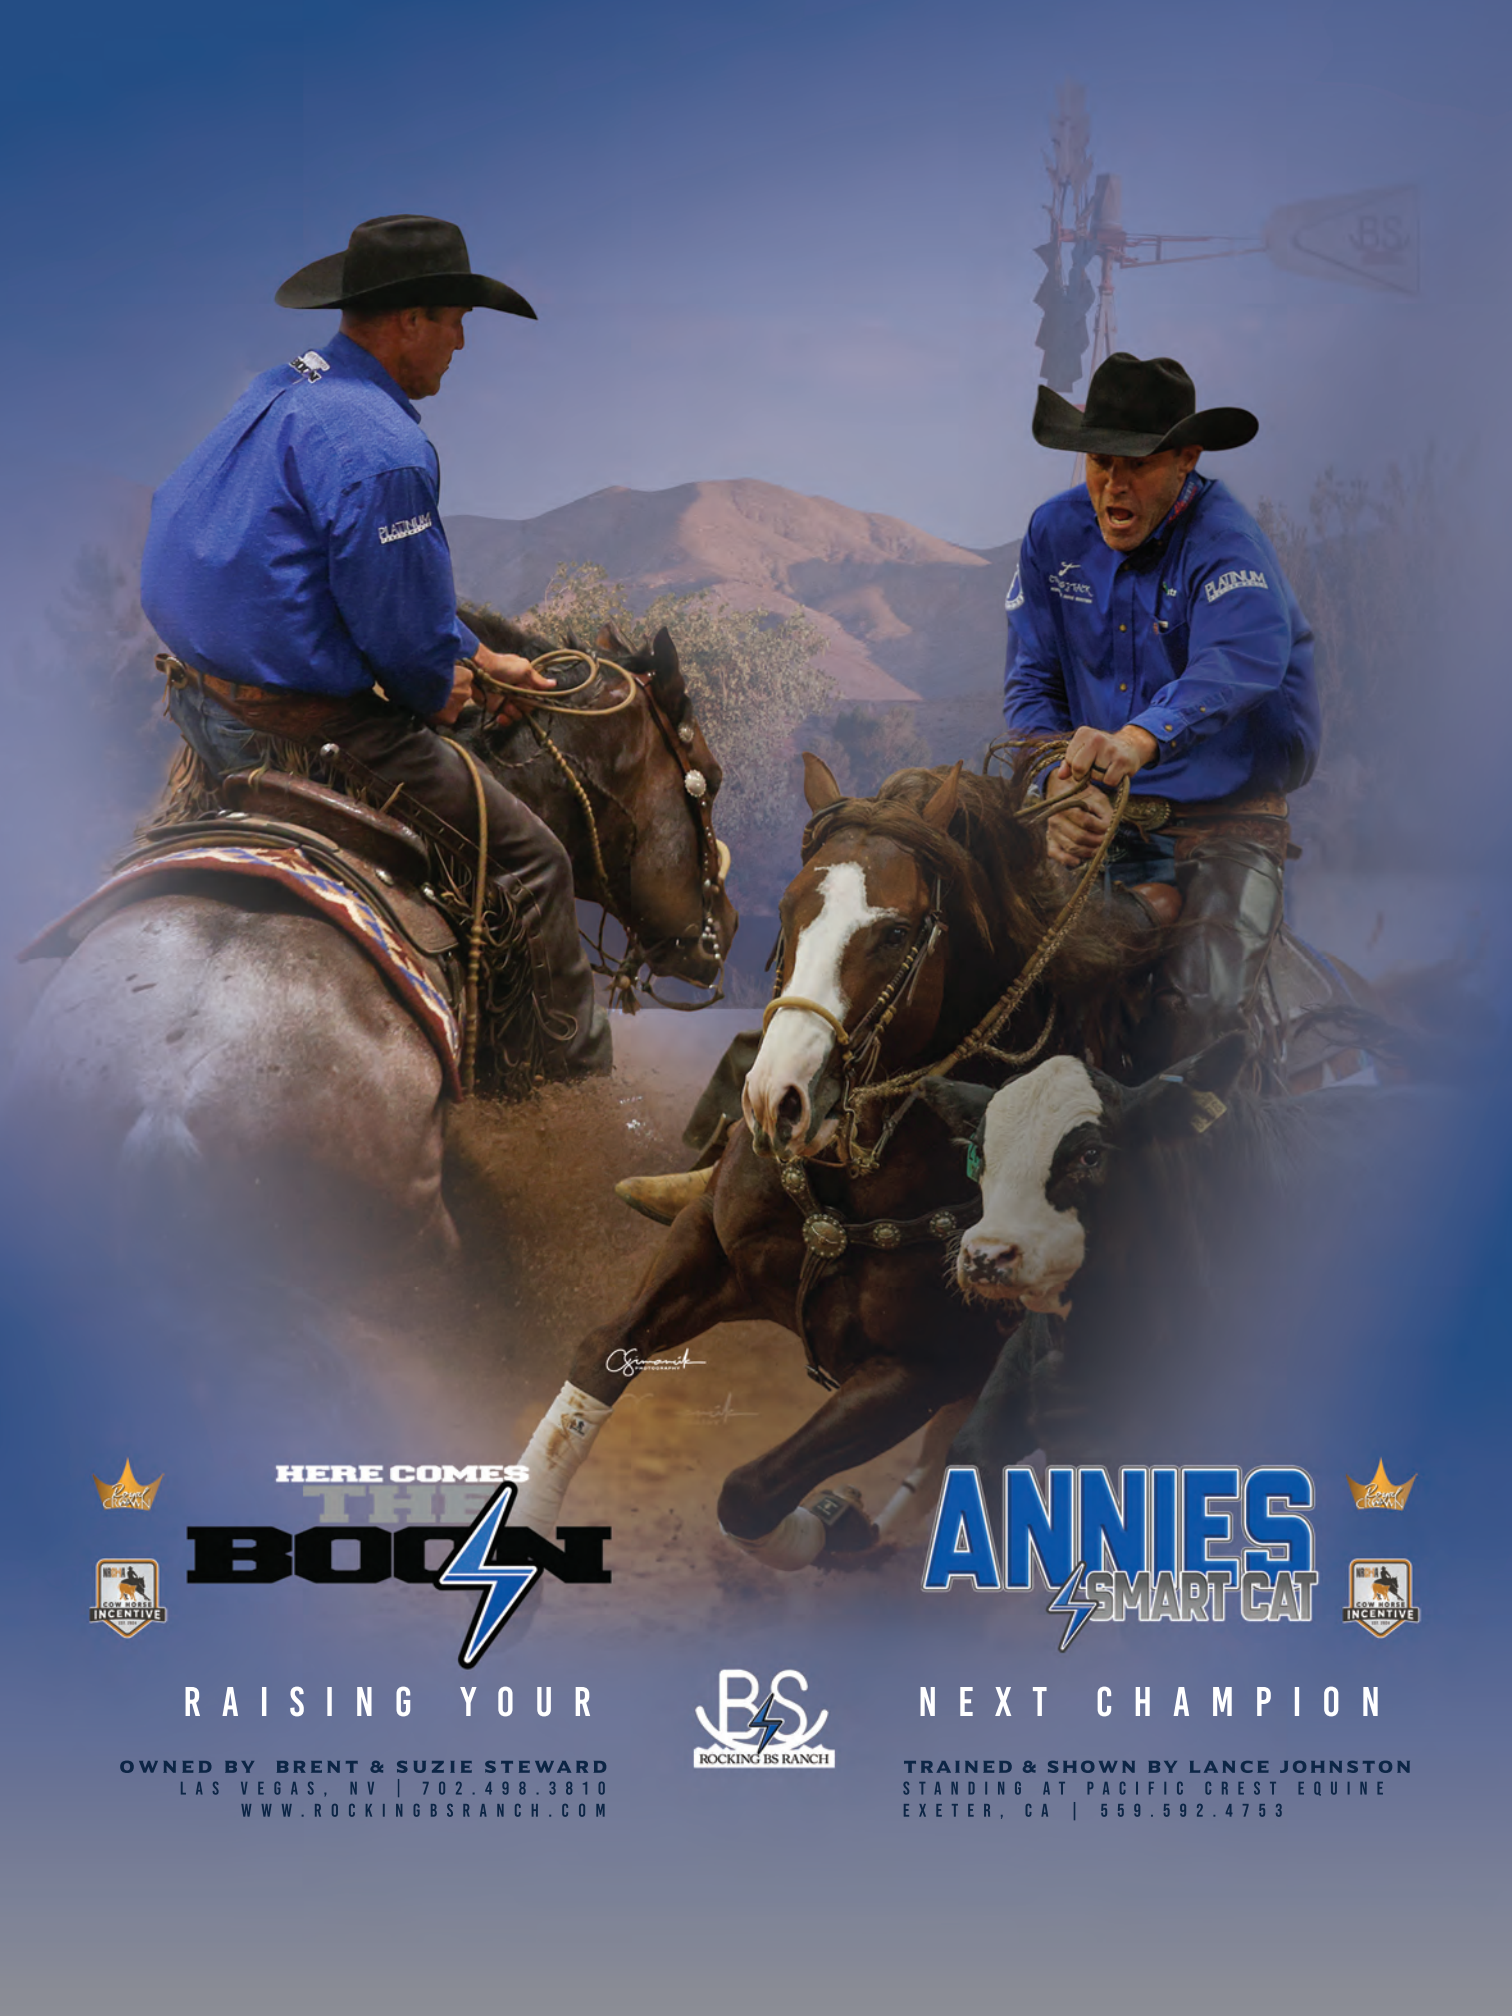

With a focus on sound, good-looking, user-friendly horses that can successfully compete in a variety of areas, there truly is a Pitzer Ranch stallion for any mare customers may want to breed.

The ranch offers offspring through two sales annually. The Spring Sale, scheduled for April 26, 2025, includes several broke horses, high-quality rope horses and yearlings. The Fall Sale, set for Sept. 5-6, 2025, is a production sale with mostly HPI, Riata Championship and Top Gun eligible weanlings, but also includes broke horses, prospects, stallions and broodmares.

The Fall Sale will also host the annual HP Ranch Horse Invitational. Now in its 15th year, it's the highest-paying ranch horse event in the country. It is open to 4- to 6-year-old horses by HPI paid-up sires. The event paid out more than $160,000 in 2024. The HPI tests horses in five events: heading, heeling, cowboy trail, one-man ranch sorting and barrel racing.

Pitzer Ranch horses cover every aspect required of a performance or working horse. The vast Nebraska Sandhills serve not only as a breathtaking location for the ranch, but also provide Pitzer horses a strong foundation in ranch country.

Hillbilly Hallows may well be a passion project for founder Robin Walker, but it was born from the straight-up need for a rodeoing mom to have versatile horses capable of competing successfully in multiple events.

Today, in her pursuit of breeding the ultimate crossover horse, Walker blends her proven band of broodmares, including Fols Dream Of Cash that produced Canadian Finals Rodeo barrel horses and an AQHA world champion, with the outstanding performance and genetics of sire Big Shine In Cowtown, aka "Champ."

Champ is by Shiners Nickle by Shining Spark, a stallion that has $108,790 in lifetime earnings. And he's out of a million-dollar cutting producer named Lil Lena Long Legs, by legendary cutting sire Smart Little Lena.

At only 9 years old, Champ is a futurity and ProRodeo winner. He was ridden at the CFR as a 5-year-old and has continued his success with World Champion Heeler Jeremy Buhler.

"I added multiple-time CFR qualifier Trey Gallais for full-time training and getting our colts the best start we can," Walker said.

With 20 new foals hitting the ground each year, Walker has progeny by Champ as well as other outstanding stallions from hand-selected, proven mares.

All the foals are eligible for the Riata and Royal Crown in both of Walker's favorite disciplines: team roping and barrel racing.

A true all-around stallion, BR Golden Leader not only displays his versatility and easy-going attitude in the arena but he passes those traits onto his offspring as well.

By Confederate Leader out of a ProRodeo money-earning mare, the gray stallion has been successful in the barrel racing pen with top trainers Kassie Mowry, Angie Meadors and Dustin Angelle, amassing more than $58,000 in earnings, and continues to win with owner/breeder Whitney Davison. BR Golden Leader is also used in the roping arena by Whitney's husband, Cole Davison.

With his first crop 5 years old in 2024 and just beginning to show out in the arena, BR Golden Leader is proven a potent sire with winners in roping and barrel racing. His son BR Call A Uber is a futurity winner with PRCA World Champion Kaleb Driggers, already earning better than $22,500 while Golden Kat Olena has lifetime earnings of $18,600 in the tie-down roping. Saylors Packin Fame, a BR Golden Leader daughter picked up ProRodeo wins in the barrel racing with Margo Crowther.

"I'm really looking forward to the future with a bunch of his babies hitting the arena," Whitney said.

BR Golden Leader is an excellent outcross in barrel racing as a suitable match for Dash Ta Fame or Frenchmans Guy bloodlines and he can add speed and quickness for mares producing roping prospects, maximizing potential no matter the discipline.
