PROFILE

Dr. Cynthia Howard is an Executive Coach and Performance Consultant working with organizations and individuals who want to break away from status quo and mediocre results. Her toolbox includes power tools in lean sigma along with the best assessments used worldwide to unlock potential in leaders. Her coaching style quickly brings out untapped potential and leaders' superpowers. Cynthia works with leaders and organizations to define and grow their leadership brand.

Dr. Howard began her career in healthcare as a registered nurse before moving into management. She was responsible for developing leadership tracks, shared governance, and stopping the leak of wasted money and resources through ineffective programs.

Cynthia has worked with hundreds of leaders and developed the resilience pyramid, recognizing a pattern that successful leaders took as they navigated performance pressures. This foundation of emotional effectiveness is what differentiates good leaders from great ones.

Innovative and a disruptor of status quo, Cynthia offers the R.E.A.L difference: resilient, emotionally intelligent, agile leadership. She provides results-driven professional development.
