

Men's Club

Bender JCC of Greater Washington

June 2025, Edition 14

About This Book and Our Club

The Bender JCC Men's Club is a friendly place for retired men to make new friends, meet up with old friends, schmooze, share experiences, find a poker game, discuss a book, share a meal, and much more.

This book is an extension of the Men's Club. It provides members with another way to get to know each other better. Over the years, each edition of this book will become a way to record and remember who we are. Member biographies were edited for format consistency. It is intended to be a "living" document, designed for easy updating as new member contributions are provided. The first edition was dated December 2018; updates are published semi-annually.

The content of this book is supplied by members and is for the sole and private use of the members.

Preface

A Personal Note from Toby Gottesman, Club Founder

After I retired, it dawned on me that the daily structure and human interaction that enriched my workplace were gone. I was sure that others felt that way too. Having survived a serious bout with cancer, I felt blessed and wanted to give something back for all the good that was bestowed on me.

In the fall of 2011, I decided to create a “men’s friendship circle” to provide scheduled, structured get-togethers with other retired men to replace the social interactions that they had in their workplaces. So, I approached senior staff at the JCC with a written proposal of my plan.

The plan outlined: (a) a weekly “place to be” for retired men, where they would have chances to exercise their mental and social skills; (b) a forum where members could get feedback from others about issues facing them; and (c) a setting where men can get to know new people and develop new friendships. I thought this “JCC Men’s Club” would be member led, member-facilitated and would meet weekly for about 1 1/2 hours at the JCC. Members would propose topics they’d like to discuss that day, such as current events, politics, religion, personal relationships and issues, and health. Initially, I served as the facilitator. JCC members and men from the community-at-large would be eligible.

Our first meeting occurred on Tuesday, March 5, 2012, with 14 men in attendance. Selma Sweetbaum, Director of Senior Services, became our JCCGW liaison. She was supportive and instrumental in our development. In August 2012, we started a second meeting on Wednesdays to offer a smaller, more intimate setting for comfortably sharing personal issues.

Our membership grew. One day, after a discussion about prostate issues, a member suggested that we ask a urologist to speak to us about male health. Our first formal lecture a few weeks later was a big hit, so we scheduled periodic lectures on other topics of interest.

In 2013 Debbie Sokobin took over for Selma. To help the club to meet the members’ interests, I recruited a “board of advisors” named the “Seal Team” to discuss any problems and decide on new policies. After two years, I asked one of our active members, Herb Heldman, to take over the day-to-day facilitating and planning which he accepted and did a fantastic job. Unfortunately, Herb passed away after two years of leadership - a deep loss for all members of the club. Therefore, the leadership and direction of the group evolved into the Seal Team, taking the collective responsibility for organizing and running club functions. I lead the Men’ Club Seal Team with close support of Jay Doniger.

Over time we added new functions and activities, including: (a) a weekly email “Blast” to all members announcing upcoming meeting and events and other information of interest; (b) a member roster with contact information and interests; (c) a weekly “going out to lunch” group; and (d) periodic field trips. We developed traditions such as annual Hanukkah, Purim, and Halloween parties, an anniversary luncheon, and a quarterly birthday celebration. To pay for these activities, we started collecting annual dues. After Debbie Sokobin left the JCC to pursue her career goals, Donna King took over her duties followed by Marcie Blackman. Their hard work, enthusiasm, and dedication were major factors in our continued growth and the diversity of our programs.

The Seal Team, with other member volunteers, are responsible for the following: Jay Doniger composes and emails the weekly Blast and other correspondence and leads our in-person and Zoom general meetings; our Treasurer, Paul Weinberger, with the assistance of Simon Sznurman, collects dues and prepares the budget; Dave Fenster and Chuck Brownstein manage the member roster. Gary Feldman and Charles Heller recruit general meeting facilitators; Ross Dicker serves as our “good and welfare” person taking care of get-well and in-memoriam cards; David Gross and Gary Feldman organize the monthly special lectures; Paul Weinberger and David Gross help coordinate member run field trips and outings. David Frome coordinates production of nametags; and Ed Chidakel leads a team of volunteers to put together food at our events. Finally, Chuck Brownstein, and Jay Doniger put together this Club Book. With the recent retirement of Ross Dicker and David Frome from the Seal Team, Martin Frank, Gary Katz, and Dan Snow have been added.

Over the years, some members took the initiative to organize other interest groups, such as memoir writing, poetry, poker, financial investment, chess, books, movie watching, and Yiddish culture and learning. Dr. Lou Siegel put together and led a monthly Men’s Health Group which is now run by Victor Steiger; Jay Doniger and Vince Berg coordinate the Yiddish Language Group; Ed Chidakel coordinates the Friday Lunch Group; Steve Sherman and Gary Katz each lead an Investment Group; Ron Kligman and Burt Bachrach host evening poker games; Dave Fenster coordinates the Film Group which shows a movie twice a month; David Frank leads the Talk Sports Group; and Ron Kligman leads the weekly Poetry Group.

In 2022, as the Covid-19 pandemic slowed, we started to meet in-person again at the JCC with hybrid in-person/Zoom meetings on Tuesdays and in-person meetings on Wednesdays. Investment Group 2, the Poetry group, the Yiddish Group, and the Scrabble Group now meet in the JCC. We continue to welcome new members.

Our club continues to provide opportunities for senior men to connect and form friendships. We are about to celebrate our thirteenth anniversary. I hope that 20 years from now there will be a new set of Seal Team members who will be leading an even larger and more active group of retired men.

Toby

What would you like your fellow members to know about you? i.e., Short Bio:

When I was 14 my family was settled in Dayton, Ohio by HIAS. It was a culture shock for us. There I had my first hamburger at Big Boy. Because my family was not fluent in English, our first trip to Kroger supermarket was a challenge. For example, we bought a jar of peanut butter thinking it was mustard. We learned English by watching I Love Lucy, The Three Stooges, Red Skelton, etc. The first time I saw a football player in uniform it scared me. It took me a few years to understand the rules and the games of baseball and football- nobody in Europe was exposed to them.

Interesting anecdotes in your life:

Before leaving Romania I went to school with Ilie (Nasty) Nastase tennis player (#1 rank, 23 August 1973). Notable alumni of W.H. Taft: director Stanley Kubrick; producer Jerry Weintraub; novelist Judith Rossner; and singers Eydie Gormé, Chuck Negron, Luther Vandross and Alan Merrill. I drove a NYC taxi as a summer job while in college. Florence Henderson, Horace McMahon (Naked City) and Fran Tarkenton were some of my fares. I attended a campaign rally for L. Johnson at the old Madison Square Garden.

8 years military and 48 years providing IT consulting services to all sectors of the US federal government, state/local governments, large corporations, and overseas. Founded/established two businesses. Don't see the point of lazy retirement, so I evolved what I do into the things I like to do and leave all the anxiety and pressure to younger folks that want that.

Now, I write and manage proposals for a big company, as a little wheel. I like to work on home upgrade/repair projects, and I enjoy reading, music (most genres), art, theater, film, not much television, and two grandchildren.

What would you like your fellow members to know about you? i.e., Short Bio:

I am a native of Washington, DC and grew up in Silver Spring, MD. I attended the University of Maryland followed by graduate studies at George Washington University and Catholic University. My professional career covered 35 years with the Federal government including 30 years with the Department of Energy. At DOE, I was involved in numerous assignments including the conduct of analytical studies on residential energy consumption and natural gas markets; participating as a Watch Officer in the Emergency Operations Center during the two Persian Gulf wars and 911; and serving as the DOE representative to the Federal emergency response to natural disasters. Upon retirement in 2004, I returned to DOE as a consultant evaluating the capability of DOE facilities to respond to all-hazard emergency events. I enjoy traveling (latest trip to Nova Scotia), photography, golf, softball, reading, building jigsaw puzzles and balsa wood model airplanes, and attending various cultural and educational events. I have one daughter who works for the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill as an Associate Vice Chancellor and Senior University Counsel. I am also blessed to have three beautiful grandchildren, ages 9, 3, and 7 months who I visit monthly.

Interesting anecdotes in your life:

One of a set of triplets – story ran on the front page of the Washington Post. Received a Distinguished Career Service Award for work with the Department of Energy. Conducted a study on the effect of rising oil prices on the elderly that served as a basis for a Congressional hearing convened by the Senate Select Committee on Aging and chaired by Sen. John Glenn. Earned my way through college working in a pawnshop at 7th and U Streets, N.W. – a real-world learning experience that far exceeded anything that I ever encountered in the classroom. As a member of the North Bethesda and Gaithersburg Camera Clubs, I have displayed images in numerous juried exhibits in affiliation with these organizations. My images have also appeared in solo and joint exhibits at local galleries including a recent exhibit entitled “A Visual Journey” at the Bender JCC Goldman Art Gallery. Recipient of a Single Image Award in both 2018 and 2017 and a Portfolio Merit Award in 2014 for images published in Black & White Magazine.

Because of the snow in Buffalo, we are snowbirds with a second home in Florida. I practiced tax law for about 60 years & in 1977 I took the Florida Bar and wrote a book - How Smart Snowbirds save New York Taxes. The result was a lot of new clients not only in Buffalo but throughout NY, many of whom changed domicile to Florida and were audited by NY Tax Dept.

Interesting anecdotes in your life:

I took my own advice and changed my domicile to FL and had a condo in Valencia Reserve in Palm Beach County as well as Buffalo, but I was never audited. Last year we moved here to be near our daughter and 4 grandchildren who live in Potomac. The downside is I now pay Maryland income taxes which are almost as onerous as NY.

What would you like your fellow members to know about you? i.e., Short Bio:

I graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1963 with a Ph.D. in physics, stayed at Penn as a physics instructor and assistant professor, joined RCA Laboratories in Princeton NJ in June 1966, became a section chief at the National Bureau of Standards (NBS) in Gaithersburg in June 1970, a division chief in 1974, and manager of the NIST Fundamental Constants Center (FCDC) in 1988 until my retirement in March 2001. (NBS became the National Institute of Standards and Technology or NIST in 1988). Since retiring I have been a NIST Scientist Emeritus, an unpaid position, in which I have continued much of the work I previously did. The areas I have worked in include electrical metrology, international standards, expressing measurement uncertainty, analyzing data for the determination of recommended values of the fundamental constants, and revising the International System of Units (SI), the modern metric system. Here is a link to our fundamental physical constants Web site: <https://www.physics.nist.gov/constants>.

Interesting anecdotes in your life:

In June of 1980 I was asked to review a paper authored by Klaus von Klitzing by the editor of a prestigious physics journal. I was about to leave for a conference in Germany when I received the request and did not have time to write a detailed review. I prepared a handwritten letter and sent it to the editor stating that it was a very significant paper reporting a unique phenomenon and should definitely be published in the journal. I also suggested in my letter that the title of the paper be changed from one that emphasized the importance of the paper to electrical resistance standardization to the determination of one of the most important fundamental constants in physics, the fine-structure constant. I then went off to the conference where in fact I met Klaus. The editor accepted his paper for publication but told him about my suggested change of title, to which he agreed. Klaus was awarded the 1985 Nobel Prize in Physics for his discovery, but in nearly every presentation he gives about his discovery he talks about how his 1980 paper was "rejected" by the journal unless he changed the title, and usually says that I was the person responsible!

Bill taught for Montgomery County Public Schools – first as a High School science teacher, then as the head administrator for the Home and Hospital Teaching program (available to students who were unable to physically attend school). After retiring from MCPS, Bill launched a consulting business, Databases Unlimited, through which he worked with small companies and non-profit institutions, and taught computer classes. In retirement, Bill became an active volunteer as he continued his love of teaching. Most recently he taught English as a Second Language to adults at Wheaton's Gilcrest Immigrant Resource Center, while also serving as the lead organizer of the Bethesda Library Thursday Conversation Club that provides practice opportunities for international non-native English speakers.

What would you like your fellow members to know about you? i.e., Short Bio:

After several research grants at Lehigh, I left for Washington to manage the funding program at the National Science Foundation. Over the next 20 years, I directed the Division of Information Science and Technology, the Computer and Information Science and Engineering Directorate and the Office of Strategic Planning. On White House detail, I organized the cross-agency National Performance Review, "Reinventing Government with Information Technology ". I retired and joined the Corporation for National Research Initiatives to direct an IT industry consortium. After a decade, I joined the National Academy of Science to direct the Computer Science and Telecommunications Board, then joined ANSER Corporation as a Fellow to work on a broad variety of national/homeland security technology and operations topics. I retired for the last time in 2017.

Interesting anecdotes in your life:

On the way to teach at Lehigh, I attended a seminar at Harvard on "the information economy" and refocused my career to computing and information technology. NSF invited me to DC for a year; I took "early retirement" after 20. Fond memories include a Proxmire "Golden Fleece" award, working with Al Gore to computerize the federal government, being involved in consequential research in computing and telecommunications, two Senior Executive Service Presidential Rank Awards, and NSF's Distinguished Service Award. In the private sector, I worked with the inventors of Internet technologies and key people in industry to advance the technology and its diffusion, and in related areas of public policy. Homeland and national security studies took me to interesting places on and under US borders, in the US maritime and abroad working on issues of technology, operations and policy.

I was born in Southern California and lived there until 2007 when I moved with my wife to Bethesda, Maryland. My wife is from Mexico City. Next June we will be married for 50 years. I retired from the Navy back in 1993 after 21 years of service. The first four years of my military service were in the Air Force. While in the USAF I spent a year in Vietnam and then a year in Thailand. My last assignment in the Navy was onboard the USS Enterprise as a member of the admiral's staff as a deception planner. After the military I spent 23 years working for the government first for the Immigration and Nationality Service (INS) and then for US Citizenship and Immigration Service (USCIS), (as part of the Department of Homeland Security). I retired in June 2020. Most of my years working for USCIS, I worked as an Adjudications Officer. Over the years I conducted numerous citizenship interviews and thus had the opportunity to welcome many people from numerous countries as new citizens. I also had the opportunity on many occasions to oversee Citizenship Ceremonies during which an average of 2000 people from as many as 70 or more countries were naturalized. Besides working with citizenship issues, I worked with international students and the colleges where they studied. I also spent some time as a Fraud Detection and National Security Officer working on fraud and national security issues. I had an opportunity to work at the Interpol National Central Bureau in DC for three years assisting in the location of fugitives from justice who had fled to the US. from any one of the 190 signatory countries. My last six years were spent working at the Immigrant Investor Program Office in DC where I adjudicated petitions for conditional and permanent residence status for immigrant investors.

What would you like your fellow members to know about you? i.e., Short Bio:

I am a son of a holocaust survivor and a strong supporter of Israel. After retiring in 2014 from the legal profession during which I was, for more than two decades, the managing partner of a medium size law firm whose main practice area was Workers' Compensation, I became an author, Israel advocate, and grandfather of four great kids. Over the last few years, I have served on AIPAC's national Council, served on the international Advisory Board of Alma (a northern Israel Education and Research Center), written three books (two about Israel) and am working on a third to be published in 2022 about the threat posed by Hezbollah, spoken to various student groups about my mother's holocaust experience, and have engaged in modest philanthropic activities in northern Israel. I also spend considerable time in Jackson Hole, Wyoming where I hike, ski, and do many other outdoor pursuits. And much to my surprise and to my wife's credit, I have started to play pickleball and enjoy the competitive nature of the game.

What would you like your fellow members to know about you? i.e., Short Bio:

I grew up in the Bronx, NY. My dad worked for Irving Berlin. My Aunt Jean was Mrs. Berlin's bookkeeper and that's how my mom & dad met. My younger brother, Paul, is deceased. I entered City College (CCNY) in 1962 majoring in engineering. After two & a half years, I changed my major to history. I met my wife, Nancy, at CCNY and we began dating in 1966. Nancy's parents were holocaust survivors, and she was born in Germany. They moved to the Bronx when Nancy was 2 years old. I graduated in 1967 and went to the University of Illinois for graduate studies in history. I began to get interested in geology through history of science courses. Nancy & I were married in June 1968. My draft board's alternative to Viet Nam was teaching in the South Bronx. I began to take geology courses at Queens College at night with the idea of returning to U of I for a PhD in history of geology. But after a few courses, I was bitten by the geology bug! I was awarded a teaching assistantship (Lecturer Part-time) and received a Master's degree in Geology in 1975. I am a Licensed Professional Geologist (PG) in California; Certified Professional Geologist in Virginia and was previously certified in Indiana and Missouri. As an engineering geologist, I applied geologic principles to investigate sites for: geologic and seismic hazards assessments; critical facility site selection; radioactive and hazardous waste management; nuclear facility licensing; LNG facility permitting; and NEPA compliance. Prior to retiring in January 2018, I was a principal geologist and the engineering geology group supervisor and was recognized as an Elite Technical Specialist for Bechtel Power Corporation (2006-2018). Most of my work for Bechtel included site investigations and report preparation for the current generation of commercial nuclear power plants. I had begun my career as a geologist with Dame & Moore in 1974 investigating sites for the first generation of commercial nuclear power plants. I also worked on foundation and ground water investigations and other aspects of applied geology. We lived in western New Jersey where our son, Scott, was born in 1975. We moved from New Jersey to a northern suburb of Chicago in 1978 when I transferred from D&M's NJ office to their Chicago-area office. Our daughter, Robyn, was born in 1980. I worked on the geologic isolation of high-level radioactive wastes while with Argonne National Laboratory (1982-1985). We moved from Buffalo Grove, IL to North Potomac when I took a job with Roy F. Weston, Inc. (1985-1991) to support the Department of Energy's high-level radioactive waste disposal program. I continued to work on a more active part of the program with Woodward-Clyde/URS (1991-2006). At URS, I also worked on LNG facility permitting and supported FEMA while working on the Pre-Disaster Hazard Mitigation Program and other geology-related programs. Both Scott & Robyn graduated from Quince Orchard H.S. and went on to the U of I/Michigan Law & the University of Rhode Island respectively. Scott has a beautiful, smart wife, a 15-yr old son and a 13-yr old daughter. Robyn has a handsome, terrific husband and two boys, a 3-yr old and a 3-monthold. We're lucky to have 4 terrific grandkids. I joined the Association of Environmental and Engineering Geologists (AEG) in 1982. I chaired several technical committees, had several officer positions, and served on the AEG Foundation's Board of Directors from 2006-2016 as Secretary for two years and as President for 2015. I was appointed by the AEG Board of Directors as interim Vice President of AEG in 2017 and was elected as Vice President/President-elect for 2017-2018. I served as AEG President for 2018-2019 and am the current Immediate Past President.

Interesting anecdotes in your life:

I worked on a nuclear power plant site study in Iran (for an agency of the Shah's government). While giving a partner of Dames & Moore a tour of the site under consideration, he turned to me and said, "What are 2 Jewish boys from the Bronx doing in a place like this?"

I often had to admit to my son, Scott, that he was right, and I was wrong. My daughter, Robyn, still knows it all and my wife, Nancy, is ALWAYS right.

What would you like your fellow members to know about you? i.e., Short Bio:

My passions are my three grandsons (after having three beautiful daughters it's nice to be able to have someone bait his own fishing hook). I love biking up in the country near Poolesville and I go whenever the weather permits. My third love is traveling. I like to plan trips all over the world with friends and family. And my main squeeze, my wife Brooke who was 20 when we got married and still puts up with me. Usually. I appreciate that the men's club gives us alter kockers the chance to meet new friends to hang out with, laugh with and learn from. I look forward to being able to spend more time here once I really retire.

Interesting anecdotes in your life:

When I was sixteen, I spent the summer as a dishwasher at a fleabag Catskill hotel. With the thousand dollars I saved I spent the next summer on a kibbutz near Ashkelon. I was supposed to be earning my keep picking pears but it's hot there. I lived with the Israeli teenagers, and I could actually speak Hebrew by the time I came home.

What would you like your fellow members to know about you? i.e., Short Bio:

I had a particular interest in the mind-body interaction and introduced biofeedback into our practice as a treatment for headaches. I have 4 children and 7 grandchildren. One son is a radiation oncologist, and another is a professional cellist. My daughter is a Spanish professor at the University of Vermont. I played violin since age 8 and played string quartets/quintets weekly for 35 years after I moved to Washington. A destroyed left rotator cuff ended my hobby as a violinist, but I continue to enjoy photography both in taking the pictures and processing them in Photoshop. I am presently learning to play bridge, no small task.

Grew up in the small Jewish Community in Bogota, Colombia; after high school went to Israel, then a young nation. Studied and worked in a kibbutz and went to Bar Ilan University for two years, ending my college studies in New York at Yeshiva Univ. Summer work at a Catskill hotel. The cold weather drove me to the University of Miami where I got a PhD in pharmacology. This led to positions in the FDA, the Pan American Health Organization/ World Health Organization and the US Pharmacopeia Most of my professional life was in international health, focusing on Latin America and Caribbean - working with governments, universities and industry to improve drug regulation, quality and the availability and use of basic drugs/essential medicines.

Enjoying retirement - traveling the world with my wife, taking advantage of all the Washington area has to offer, and enjoying our family.

Dr. Fred Poker has over 30 years' experience in management and professional services roles in premier American and international consulting companies (IBM, Serco, Booz Allen Hamilton, OAO Technology, Abt Associates, the Inter-Action Group of Companies) and nongovernmental organizations in the United States, Middle East, Europe, and Russia. As a manager, Fred has been recognized for his demonstrated success in enabling superior ROI and stakeholder value.

Fred is a specialist in the leveraging of technology and advanced management processes to lead organizations enabling the delivery of healthcare, education, and social services. As Deputy Chief Executive Officer of The Inter-Action Group of Companies, the organization the Council of Europe called "The most exciting community education agency in Europe", he managed IT staff and content providers for an on-line network reaching over 8000 educational, health, government, and public organizations.

Fred was the technology lead on the Navy-sponsored telemedicine research project that pioneered the use of videoconferencing and telemetry devices for home healthcare services in remote and rural communities. In support of the National Guard's $250M "Distributive Training Technology Program (DTTP)", Fred provided expertise to the Guard's CIO and Training communities and coordinated strategic input to Presidential Executive Orders, Department of Defense ADL Strategic and Implementation Plans, and National Guard ADL Strategic Plans.

As a Fellow at Harvard's Institute for Social and Economic Policy in the Middle East, Fred led a team of physicians, nurses and public health officials that developed a health information portal enabling the sharing of clinical information and health education and training support. During the "Operation Moses" rescue and airlift of Ethiopian Jews to Israel, Fred led the effort to prepare Israeli local governments, healthcare agencies, social welfare, and education organizations throughout the South for the treatment and integration of refugees.

Fred's past professional recognitions include: Member, U.S. Distance Learning Association's Hall of Fame; Vice President of the Federal Government Distance Learning Association; and recipient of Booz Allen Hamilton's Professional Excellence Award. The Office of the Secretary of the Army twice appointed Fred to the Army Education Committee's Distance Learning/Training Technology Subcommittee. Additionally, the Department of Defense's Advanced Distributed Learning (ADL) Initiative awarded Fred a commendation for coauthoring Strategic and Implementation Plans and helping establish ADL's Co-Laboratory. The National Guard presented Fred the prestigious Minuteman Award for his strategic and operational support to their $250M e-learning program. He is a former military officer.

What would you like your fellow members to know about you? i.e., Short Bio:

Two of my favorite quotes by Samuel Johnson are: “Almost every man wastes part of his life attempting to display qualities which he does not possess” and “If a man does not make new acquaintances as he advances through life, he will soon find himself left alone. A man, sir, should keep his friendship in constant repair.” That pretty much says it all.

What would you like your fellow members to know about you? i.e., Short Bio:

Born and raised in Brooklyn in an orthodox Jewish home. Parents, sister and brother were Polish immigrants. Father and mother were kosher butchers. Brother became a successful clothing manufacturer (Hartz & Co.). I worked as a waiter in the Catskill Mountains at Gibbers and Tamarack Lodge while attending college. After graduating from U of M in 1956, I worked at General Electric for 10 years, went to evening law school for 4 years, moved to D.C. in 1966, to work as a patent examiner at the US PAT. and TM Office. After 2 years, I left the government for private practice. 3 years later I and a friend formed a partnership, Wigman & Cohen, which continued for over 30 years until we merged with Blank and Rome, as partners. My other partner, Brenda, raised our 3 sons and was busy running her invitation business, Invitations by Brenda. I retired in 2003 and spent the next 6 years administering my brother's estate, as executor. We are blessed with 9 grandchildren and now spend a lot of time downsizing and decluttering. Those are new words to us since deciding to move next year from our home to a CCAR retirement community at King Farm. Stay tuned for further developments.

Interesting anecdotes in your life:

I represented a company named US EXPRESS that was sued for trademark infringement by another company with the same name. I won the case by pointing out that just as the Judge knew a person who had the same name as me, he was not confused that I was that person he knew. The Judge ruled that there was no confusion between my client and the plaintiff despite having identical names and being in similar businesses. You never know how lawsuits will turn out.

Add additional biographical information below:

I was born in Munich, Germany and I spent the first 2 years of my life living in the Landsberg Displaced Persons Camp, in the American Zone of Occupation. My parents began their stay in the camp after being liberated from Nazi concentration camps (My mother from Auschwitz and my father from Buchenwald). We came to the U.S. in 1949, and were settled in Pittsburgh, PA by the Jewish Federation. The Federation believed that my father could easily find a job there because the Nazis taught him to be a machinist making munitions and Pittsburgh was a good area for machinists.

We were strangers in a strange land. We all learned English (although my native language is Yiddish) and how this new society works. My father went to night school, and my mother learned English from the afternoon soap operas. I attended public school and graduated from the University. I went on to earn a master's degree and a doctorate. I also was an adjunct professor for several Universities, primarily for the University of Maryland for over 30 years.

I entered the U.S. Public Health Service in 1976 and retired as a Captain (CO-06) in 2006 after 30 years of service. I had an interesting and wonderful career. I also taught masters degree classes in health and health administration for over 30 years.

I have 2 daughters and three grandchildren, for which I moved back to Maryland from Florida, and all of which constitute the highlights of my life. They are the hope of the future that rose from the ashes of the Shoah. God help them.

Add unique or interesting events in your life below:

I have had a very interesting life as the child of two Shoah survivors. To honor their memories and the memories of aunts, uncles and cousins I never had the chance to meet because they were all murdered by the Nazis, I am involved in Generations After, an organization that makes presentations to middle and high school students and requesting organizations about the Shoah (Holocaust).

What would you like your fellow members to know about you? i.e., Short Bio:

After Ph.D. became professor at Univ. of Wisconsin, Madison, college of engineering; though tenured described my career as publishing and perishing. Wanted to work in public policy; got a senior position at Congressional Office of Technology Assessment; focused on environmental issues and testified over 50 times at House and Senate hearings. Then became president of an environmental consulting company; worked for major companies and community groups. Ended my working life as an executive at the National Governors Association in charge of Environment, Energy and Natural Resources. During my entire working life, I wrote a number of books and hundreds of articles and papers, including op eds in major newspapers, such as The Washington Post and New York Times. Two last books were Delusional Democracy and Sprawl Kills. Now I devote time to volunteering at Suburban Hospital and the Hebrew Home.

Interesting anecdotes in your life:

I have experienced many of the planet's natural wonders and diverse people through very extensive foreign travel through cruises and land tours. Best trip was a cruise to Antarctica; second best was an African safari.

It took me a long time to organize myself. It was not until age 40 that I began clinical research which for me was a way to combine research with medicine. I retired from US Army Medical Research on Parasitology after 30 years, briefly went to the NIH in Alternative Medicine, then became a consultant to small Pharma on getting drugs registered with the FDA. I am now a Consultant who is almost never asked to Consult.

What would you like your fellow members to know about you? i.e., Short Bio:

After a 30+ year career in investments, starting as an equity analyst and ending as a portfolio manager and investment strategist, I don't think I will consider myself fully retired. I believe a successful retirement requires remaining active mentally and physically. To that end, I remain engaged in markets and investing and enjoy going outdoors to walk in the National Parks and tour our great country, preferably by car. International travel is included in my aspirations. In this new chapter of my life, I look forward to devoting more time to my lifelong support for Israel and the Jewish people. My other interests include politics, world affairs and reading.

What would you like your fellow members to know about you? i.e., Short Bio:

Teenage passions that have stayed with me: astronomy and classical piano. Cosmology: quantum mechanics and general relativity – don't know the details of the math, but try to comprehend the essence. Think there is something fundamentally missing. How did the laws of physics arise? How does consciousness arise – not explainable by known science IMHO. Piano is now difficult because of intention tremor in my hands. But I can't complain, because my other ailments are (so far) manageable. Would like to connect with like-minded others. Like to discuss those kinds of things via email.

Piano lessons were with Madam Hedwig Rosenthal, wife of legendary pianist Moriz Rosenthal. She had an apartment/studio in the Great Northern Hotel on 57th Street on the same block as the old Carnegie Hall. My brother and I both studied with her and have many anecdotes about that indomitable grand old lady.

Current notions: I'm thinking of acquiring a telescope (4-inch refractor) with a filter to reduce light pollution. I'm thinking of assembling some pictures to compare what we knew in the 1940's about Saturn and its moons with what we now know – for a PowerPoint presentation. Same, perhaps, for Jupiter. How our notions about the solar system have overturned. Regret that I cannot live long enough to find out the life chemistry that likely exists in the deep oceans under miles of ice in places like Jupiter/Saturn moons Europa, Enceladus, Titan, and others. Will the notion of panspermia, favored by Francis Crick, turn out to be true? Will it turn out that extraterrestrial creatures have a DNA-like genetic code? Does it make sense to try to colonize extraterrestrial worlds? Our moon, Mars, asteroids like Ceres, moons of Jupiter/Saturn? It seems technologically feasible, but are there good reasons to plan on doing that? Maybe forthcoming artificial intelligent robots could go there and find out what we want to know. We may not live long enough to learn the answers, but at least we can imagine and wonder. As Stephen Hawking remarked: "life is common in the universe, but intelligent life is rare, and remains to be discovered here on Earth."

My middle name, William originally Wilhelm, was after my father's older brother, Wilhelm Kohn, who died in 1914 at 17 years of age fighting in the Austrian army on the Russian front. My father's name was Siegfried, but he did not want me to have the same name as the former Kaiser, wherefore my first name came to be Kurt. My father's family lived near the Moravia Slovakia border in a town called Nove Mesto Nadvahom – many Jews lived there; they spoke German not Czech. My father was sent to Vienna when he was 16 to study at Gymnasium. In 1924, he completed a doctoral degree from University of Vienna in political economics with a thesis on the Austrian lumber industry. Together with my mother and her father, he operated a small ladies hat factory located just a few blocks from where we lived on Lerchenfelder

Strasse, which was just a few blocks from the Ring. My mother's father was Orthodox, had remarried after my mother's mother died. Consequently, my mother at age 7 was sent to live with her aunt in Budapest; thus, my mother's native language was Hungarian; though she was fluent in German and Yiddish, English was hard for her. Our apartment was on the top floor and had a balcony from which I saw the torchlight Nazi marching on the night of the Anschluss in March 1938. March through August was extremely stressful for my parents, and it was only through resourcefulness and luck that we managed to get out in time – just barely. Still, I feel an affinity for the German language (although I don't speak it well). As a final note, I trace my fascination with astronomy back to a Friday evening when my grandmother picked me up from our hat factory and pointed to the sky. See that star, she said, that means that Shabbat is here. My brother became a psychoanalyst, specializing in children.

I'd love to have a few like-minded people over occasionally for fellowship, conversation, etc.

Interesting anecdotes in your life:

Born in Vienna, Austria. Escaped with family: Vienna to New York in August 1938. Attended 1st and 2nd grades in Vienna, last few months under Nazis. Elementary school: Yeshiva Rabbi Israel Salanter, Washington Avenue; later Webster Avenue, Bronx. Hated it. Didn't learn much. Regret that I didn't learn Hebrew. There is a story about why I was sent to that school. Junior High School: PS44 on 176th Street, Bronx. Loved it. High School: Bronx High School of Science, graduated 1948. Junior Astronomy Club, American Museum of Natural History 1943-1948. It was the major focus of my life. Talented math friends. Learned calculus – with epsilon/delta rigor. Became President of the Club. Many stories about that most active and multifaceted time of my life. Westinghouse Science Talent Search 1947 (three of us from the JAC were winners that year). College: Harvard, AB 1952. Majors: Chemistry & Physics. Clinical Associate, National Cancer Institute 1957-1960. Children's leukemia ward, headed by Emil J Freireich with Emil (Tom) Frei as overall Chief. It was hard to see the kids eventually get very sick and die -- but the facilities and nurses were great, and it was not as dreadful as one might imagine. Despite criticism, it was the start of what led to cures. See Vincent DeVita's book "The Death of Cancer". Founded and was Chief of Laboratory of Molecular Pharmacology, National Cancer Institute 1966-1995. Currently: Scientist Emeritus, National Cancer Institute. Writing book: "Drugs Against Cancer: Stories of Discovery and the Quest for a Cure."

What would you like your fellow members to know about you? i.e., Short Bio:

My formative years were spent growing up on the North Side of Chicago in the Rogers Park neighborhood. I enjoyed science and decided to be a pre-med at the Univ. Illinois, going to college on an Evans Scholarship, a scholarship for caddies in financial need. While I did not get into medical school, my interest in physiology resulted in my remaining at Illinois to get a PhD in Physiology. I did a couple of post-docs and came to DC as an assistant professor at GWU Medical School. Here, I was bit by 'Potomac Fever' and became interested in science policy and the politics of science. After spending time at NIH as a science administrator, I became the Executive Director of The American Physiological Society (APS), a position I held for 33 years until I retired in 2018. Along the way, I also served on the Gaithersburg City Planning Commission and as a professional clown, 'Jelly Bean the Clown', entertaining on the pediatric oncology floor at the NIH Clinical Center and as a clown at birthday parties and shopping center openings. I was also the founder of the DC Principles Coalition of 75 not for profit publishers believing in free access to science based on our publisher and business models, not based on government mandates. I traveled extensively while leading the APS and signed two bilateral exchange agreements with Pavlov's All-Union Physiological Society of the USSR and with the Cuban Physiological Society.

My current interests include reading, golf, travel and road biking. I also spend a lot of time with my family, especially our 5 grandkids. In addition, I am still providing career guidance and mentoring to students interested in science.

What would you like your fellow members to know about you? i.e., Short Bio:

I lived in Falls Church for almost 30 years; moved to Bethesda in Dec 2016 to be near my wife's family. I survived a stroke from a ruptured aneurysm at age 36, more than 30 years ago, leaving me with aphasia (a speech problem) and right-side weakness (can't use my right hand, and I use a brace on my right leg). In 1999, I published the first edition of "How to Conquer the World With One Hand...And an Attitude," about my stroke recovery, for which I won an award. I have a micro publishing company with my wife, and have published 3 books and 3 e-books, a quarterly e-newsletter, a website - www.strokesurvivor.com, and have made more than 50 speaking presentations. I want people to know that having a stroke doesn't mean giving up. You can live a full life. I enjoy traveling - have been to Australia, New Zealand, Singapore (in 2018), and Europe, as well as different places in the USA (my brother and niece live in Hawaii). I also enjoy following many interests, including politics, space exploration, climate change, infrastructure (bridges, buildings, etc.), reading books on these topics and the biographies of leaders, attending OASIS lectures on every topic, and going to the movies. I am a very big fan of the Nationals baseball team. I volunteer for the Stroke Comeback Center, the American Heart & Stroke Association, and am a member of Rotary. And I enjoy making new friends.

Interesting anecdotes in your life:

1. Before I moved to Bethesda, I had a model railroad in my basement and built the models with just one hand. 2. Also, before moving to Bethesda, I had cats, but now, only occasionally babysit my sister-in-law's corgi, Paddington. 3. Whenever I travel, I ask for a handicapped-accessible bathroom, and always have a good laugh about what hotels believe are accessible. 4. I have lobbied on Capitol Hill as a citizen advocate for health and stroke, and for the commercialization of space. 5. I met my wife on a blind date celebrating the 10th anniversary of the moon landing, at the National Air & Space Museum, July 20, 1979. 6. When I visited Wales, UK, I got lost/separated from the tour group in a coal mine, and it took about an hour to get out.

I am a third-generation twin, second generation identical as I had an identical twin and my father was an identical twin. My twin brother Alan and I had many fun times especially at sporting events in New York. We saw Mickey Mantle hit his 500th homerun at Yankee Stadium and Secretariat win the Triple Crown at Belmont.

After I graduated from college, I moved to Washington, DC to work for the Department of Justice as an auditor. I have been in 12 Federal Prisons but, don't worry, only as an auditor. In 1975 I returned to NY as an auditor with the U.S Department of Transportation. At the end of the year, I met my wife Susan at a dance in Queens at a place that used to be Oscar Hammerstein's family summer home.

In 1980, we moved to Maryland so I could work for DOT in DC. I worked for DOT IG eventually becoming an audit director supervising major audits and writing reports and testimonies. Such projects included runway incursions, close calls in the air, and the Big Dig's Finance Plan in Boston. In October 2007 I retired from the Federal Government after 35 years.

My career did not end. I took 3 days off and became the Internal Audit Director for Frederick County. I retired from that job and, you guessed it, went back to work as a consultant to the Amtrak IG in DC assisting on major audits. I finally retired in November 2016.

My wife and I have two children and four grandchildren. We love to travel and have been to Canada, Europe, and Asia. We spend the winters at our condo in Delray Beach, Florida.

I'm also a member of Amity, a sometimes visitor to the Progress Club, and a board member of the Seaboard Region FJMC.

I'm excited to join you as a new member, but I am still practicing law full-time, so I may not be with you as often as I'd like.

Interesting anecdotes in your life:

My father's father, Joseph Sternberg, came to this country from Orsei, Romania in 1921 with nothing. Recent research indicates that he came from a wealthy family. He was either wise or lucky, for fairly few from his family survived the next two decades. Grandpa Joe was a handyman, a taxi driver, and he aspired to be a corner grocer in Brooklyn, but the store he finally opened promptly crashed during the Depression. Somehow, he bought a beautiful, gold, Lord Elgin, pocket watch back when gold was cheaper and taxi drivers needed watches, too. I carried that watch in my vest pocket twice into the United States Supreme Court as lead counsel with my briefs in my arms and my legacy in my pocket. My grandfather was a wise man. Sadly, that watch was stolen by my ex with the sanction of the Montgomery County Circuit Court and the Maryland Court of Appeals. Perhaps, justice takes a long time to be realized.

What would you like your fellow members to know about you? i.e., Short Bio:

I was born in 1938 in the former Dutch East Indies (Indonesia) to assimilated German Jewish parents. My father had fought in WW1 after which he joined an import-export company that sent him to Amsterdam and then to Indonesia 1920. My grandparents moved from Germany to Amsterdam in 1938 and perished in Sobibor and Auschwitz. When the Japanese invaded Indonesia in 1942 my mother, brother and I fled to Australia, while my father was interned in a Japanese camp. He survived; we reunited and went back in 1947 to the Netherlands where I received my primary, secondary and undergraduate education. In 1963 I went to Israel for graduate studies in Physical Chemistry at the Weizmann Institute. There I married Rayah, a “Sabra” whose parents moved from Germany to Palestine in the early 1930’s. After postdoctoral work in Paris and New York, NIH recruited me in 1971 to perform basic research in biophysics and virology. Our three children live in San Francisco, Chevy Chase and Silver Spring. They each have three children, so we are blessed with 9 grandchildren. After 40+ years I retired from NIH and keep busy with narrative writing, reading, traveling, exercising, Judaism and the Men's club.

Interesting anecdotes in your life:

In the spring of 1964, I met a beautiful Sabra. I was sitting in San Martin, the cafeteria of the Weizmann Institute reading Time magazine. The lovely Sabra came up to me. She must have been thinking that a man reading Time magazine would be so sophisticated, worldly, a real intellectual. I thought she was interested in me but in reality, she wanted my Time magazine. At that moment all was over. She was so sweet, so warm, so loving, so spontaneous. I had fulfilled my destiny. In Rayah, I had discovered what my family in Holland had been hiding for all those years: Our Jewish and German heritage.

What would you like your fellow members to know about you? i.e., Short Bio:

I retired from full-time law practice in 2016 and now I consult and provide expertise in homeland and transportation security. An attorney, I have practiced law for 45 years, in government, industry and with a firm. I retired in early 2016, where I served as the Assistant Chief Counsel for Security Threat Assessment Operations at TSA. Prior to joining TSA, I was a member of the U.S. Justice Department's Criminal Division, serving as Director of the Iraq Advisory Mission; Resident Legal Adviser to the U.S. Embassy to the Czech Republic, Prague; Regional Director-Central and Eastern Europe; Special Assistant United States Attorney, Office of the United States Attorney for D.C.; and Senior Trial Attorney, Office of Special Investigations. I served in the U.S. Air Force and was a graduate of Syracuse University College of Law and the University of Maryland, Phi Beta Kappa.

Interesting anecdotes in your life:

While I never set out to follow “The Long and Winding Road,” my life has taken many twists and turns, or as Yogi is reported to have said, “when you come to a fork in the road, take it.” After graduating high school, I entered college with the intent to study biology and chemistry and then go to medical school. After two years of doing well in courses that didn’t turn me on (that I enjoyed, but not so well but never failed), I took a break; actually, I was suspended for a year due to a low GPA. Then I decided to get a job and then take courses at night at NYU. After hearing that men my age were being drafted into both the Army and Marines to go to Viet Nam, I volunteered to join the Air Force, where I was trained as a medic and then received further training as a laboratory technician (a field that didn’t turn me on). However, the Air Force didn’t need Military Intelligence troops (my real choice) because it needed medics in Viet Nam. Well, I survived my time in the Air Force, during which I got the government to pay for my tuition to take several college courses. Then I enrolled in college at U of Md. This time I decided that rather than study medicine, I would pursue a law degree. I was accepted at several law schools and decided to attend Syracuse University. After graduation, I came to DC and from 1974 to 1977, worked for the government. In 1977, I was recruited by Ford Motor Company to join their legal department Michigan, where I practiced automotive regulations. After three years, I moved to Volkswagen of America, which was also headquartered in Michigan. There, I was in charge of domestic litigation, as well as regulatory and intellectual property matters. In 1987, because I missed the DC area, I joined the Washington office of a New York law firm, where I stayed until 1989, when I became the President and CEO of a client’s start-up company. It restored and marketed “remanufactured” classic muscle cars of the 60’s and 70’s. After deciding that I was a better lawyer than a business executive, I returned to government law practice in 1991 as a member of the DOJ’s Office of Special Investigations (which some folks call “the Nazi Hunters.” This was one of the most rewarding things that I have done as an attorney. I was meeting survivors and investigating and prosecuting participants and perpetrators of crimes against humanity in the Shoah. This service had a lasting impression on my life. After 7 years at OSI, I became the Criminal Division’s Regional Director for Central and Eastern Europe and managed prosecutors who were placed in several U.S. embassies in former Soviet bloc countries. In 2002 I took a position as the Legal Advisor at our Embassy in Prague, Czech Republic. On my return to the US and a short stint as the Senior Advisor of the DOJ’s program in Iraq, I left the DOJ to become the Assistant Chief Counsel for Criminal Enforcement and Security Threat Assessment Operations at DHS’s Transportation Administration. I retired from that position and the active practice of law in 2016. So, as I said, every time that I came to a fork in the road, I took it. I just did things that interested me and in looking back, it was a pretty good ride.

What would you like your fellow members to know about you? i.e., Short Bio:

I was born in Salonika, Greece, three years after the end of World War II. I emigrated to the US, with my parents, and younger brother, in 1954. We settled in Brooklyn, and I went to Columbia University on a scholarship, where I earned BS and MS degrees, in nuclear engineering. On graduation, I took a job at Westinghouse, in Pittsburgh, designing and analyzing nuclear power plant systems. (In Pittsburgh, I also earned master's degrees in business administration and international affairs through evening studies.) I wrote five technical papers, and won one patent, which was referenced by four subsequent patents. After 25 years, I left Westinghouse, and worked, for the next six years, as an independent contractor. Then, I moved to the DC area, where I worked for the Nuclear Regulatory Commission for 15 years. At the NRC, I reviewed reactor systems designs in commercial nuclear power plants. I also reviewed and approved the propulsion reactor design of the Navy's latest class of aircraft carriers (the Ford Class). For this, the Navy's Chief of Nuclear Operations gave me a letter of commendation.

I retired in 2014. Now, I spend my days volunteering, and writing more technical papers. These are the papers that I didn't have time to write while working, or would not have been approved by my management. I wrote two papers last year, four this year, and plan to write five in 2019.

Interesting anecdotes in your life:

The man who was to become my father, his wife, two young sons, and his three brothers were among the 68,000 Jews who were deported to Auschwitz from Salonika. He was liberated at Dachau; the only member of his family to come out alive. By the end of the war, only about 1,500 of the Jews from Salonika had survived. So, his chance of survival was only about 2.2%.

The woman who was to become my mother, her brother, and her mother were among the 1,000 Jews who were deported to Auschwitz from Kastoria (also in Greece). She was liberated at Mathausen; the only member of her family to come out alive. By the end of the war, only 35 of the Jews from Kastoria had survived. So, her chance of survival was 3.5%.

I figure that the probability of these two people living until the end of the war, when they could meet, marry, and have a child, was only 0.08%. I figure that this probability is equivalent to surviving four games of Russian roulette, each played with five rounds in a six-shot revolver!

Interesting anecdotes in your life:

Add additional biographical information below:

Sam was an early member of the Club. He was very supportive and was one of the first "volunteers" before the advent of the Seal team. He took over and produced the roster and an as needed basis. He spoke infrequently but when he did, always made the most interesting and insightful comments. When his Parkinson's disease became bad, he had trouble driving to the JCC to attend meetings.

Add unique or interesting events in your life below:

Sam was fascinated by computers his whole life and remained in the information technology field over a career that spanned more than 40 years. He joined NASA to work on a team that installed the first mainframe computer at Goddard Space Flight Center. After five years at NASA, Sam joined Communications Satellite Corporation (COMSAT), where he spent 22 years and managed the transition from mainframe computers to local area networks. In 1990, Sam went to work for Information Management Consultants, entering the world of workflow management and rising to vice president. In 2000, he moved to Grant Thornton as a consultant in computer security, becoming one of the first Certified Information Systems auditors. He retired in 2007. Sam enjoyed travel, photography, gardening and was an expert at household repairs.

What would you like your fellow members to know about you? i.e., Short Bio:

I was born and grew up in Washington. My father had a government job that did not pay much money. My mother supplemented our income by taking in borders. There was a lot of antisemitism during the WW11 era. I attended GW undergraduate school where I was Phi Beta Kappa and then GW medical school where I was first in my class. Then followed an internship in Philadelphia, the Army, where I became an allergist after one week's training. Then followed residencies in internal medicine in DC, and fellowship in allergy in New York. I was in the private practice of allergy in Montgomery County for 44 years and on the teaching staff and clinics at GW. On retirement I was a volunteer docent at the health museum for 13 years, which I had to leave because of health. My wife and I play bridge.

Interesting anecdotes in your life:

Rita and I grew up a few blocks from each other but never met. Her father had a small drug store close by from which he was frequently evicting me. Among my misdeeds I would take the comic books off the shelf, read them, and put them back without paying the whole dime. The first time I dated Rita I was surprised to see who her father was. I survived and we have now been happily married for 64 years. We have four children and six grandchildren, all men, all taller and smarter than me (particularly with computers).

What would you like your fellow members to know about you? i.e., Short Bio:

I love to travel the world and have visited all continents except Antarctica, and I take lots of photographs. I am interested in Judaism, have taught "Intro to Judaism" (more than 110 sessions) and Midrash courses, serve as a lay leader, and am a Jewish Chaplain for the Boy Scouts where I have been involved as a scout and scout leader for 70 years. Active member of Tikvat Israel Congregation (nee: Beth Tikva) and have held every synagogue office. Read lots of detective novels. Repaired and restored a 1936 Chevy, which I drove every weekend from 1991 - 2018. Married 58 years.

Interesting anecdotes in your life:

My first job was boxing screws by hand. Lots of musical "talent" in the family. My Dad was a concert violinist who turned down a "free" trip to Berlin to play with the German Juden Orchestra in 1936 and married my Mom in Williamsburg Brooklyn instead. My first cousins, Bob and Bruce Kulick played guitar with KISS, Meatloaf, and other hard rock bands, but I played clarinet in a klezmer band (and sang in Yiddish as I was the only member who knew the language).

What would you like your fellow members to know about you? i.e., Short Bio:

I grew up in Alexandria and Annandale, Virginia in the 50s and 60s (I learned a lot of Christmas carols). I was a lifelong member of Bethel Hebrew Congregation in Alexandria which was founded by German Reform Jews in 1859. My ancestor was its first President in 1859. I went to Israel in 1971 to study Hebrew in a six-month Ulpan program on Kibbutz Mishmar HaEmek and to work on their chicken farm. We worked half a day and studied Hebrew half a day. I also was a volunteer on an Army base in Dimona, in the northern Negev. I have been to Israel about 10 times. My Modern Orthodox brother and family live there, to the west of the Dead Sea. He has 10 grandchildren, I've got none, but I'm not complaining. Professionally, I worked as a psychologist in the Baltimore City Schools, in facilities for developmentally disabled adults, and in a D.C. Prison. The most rewarding aspect of my career was to work and live within the African American culture and develop lifelong friendships.

What would you like your fellow members to know about you? i.e., Short Bio:

Stuart Weisberg is a native of Brooklyn, New York, and a graduate of Brandeis University (where he played varsity basketball for coach K.C. Jones) and the University of Pennsylvania Law School. He spent nine years as staff director and chief counsel for the House Government Operations Subcommittee on Employment and Housing, initially chaired by Barney Frank and then by Tom Lantos. He directed the subcommittee's lengthy investigation in 1989-90 of what came to be known as the "HUD Scandal." During the Clinton administration, Weisberg served as Chairman of the Occupational Safety and Health Review Commission, an independent adjudicative agency which functions as a court to resolve contested OSHA citations and penalties for health and safety violations. He is the author of “Barney Frank – The Story of America’s Only Left-Handed, Gay, Jewish Congressman.” This authorized biography of the colorful Massachusetts legislator was named an American Library Association Stonewall Honor Book in Non-Fiction in 2010. In 2017 he retired from handling labor relations and collective bargaining issues for Montgomery County, Maryland, where he and his wife, Beth, live.

Interesting anecdotes in your life:

During my first year at Penn Law School, I went to a basketball game to see the Philadelphia 76ers play the Los Angeles Lakers. The Lakers were in the middle of what would become an NBA record 33 game winning streak and K.C. Jones was their assistant coach. The hapless 76ers would finish the season with the worst NBA record of all time. Heywood Hale Broun described the 76ers: “There is an insane sense of gallantry in facing defeat day after day. They are the Belgium army of 1914.” At half time, with the Lakers leading by 35 points, I went down to the Lakers bench to say hello to K.C. Jones, my former coach at Brandeis. When he saw me, he exclaimed: “How are you doing, Stuie? Where are your sneakers? Everyone is going to get in the game today!”

What would you like your fellow members to know about you? i.e., Short Bio:

Born in Uruguay from a Polish father and Austrian mother. Still have a sister and nephews in Uruguay. I came to the US in 1977 in Internal Medicine in Chicago and Pulmonary/Critical Care at Tufts University in Boston. Came to the DC area in 1989, started working for Kaiser Permanente. Retired from Kaiser in 2011 and worked at the Sleep Disorders Center at Walter Reed National Military Medical Center in Bethesda until my final retirement in November 2018. And most importantly, I have 3 grandchildren, aged 6, 4 and 2.

Interesting anecdotes in your life:

After graduating from medical school, I applied for a scholarship to spend a sabbatical in France sponsored by the French Government. However, the required authorization by the Uruguayan authorities was denied by the military de facto government then in power. So, I turned my attention elsewhere...and here I am.

What would you like your fellow members to know about you? i.e., Short Bio:

My father was born and lived on the lower east side of NYC. He moved to DC after completing Brooklyn College in 1939. He was a civilian Naval Engineer for the US Navy. My mother was from Toronto, Canada. I grew up in Silver Spring, MD, we attended B'nai Israel in DC. I went to college at U of MD. I worked for 16 years with Montgomery County Govt. approving all development plans in the 70's and 80's. Appointed to MD State as Director in Environmental Dept. for 4 years. Then for the next 25 years I created several companies dealing in civil engineering, building, development and conservation of farmland.

Interesting anecdotes in your life:

My tested DNA is 100% Ashkenazi. My daughters are both graduates of U of MD. One daughter is a civil engineer, and the other is a biologist. My civil engineer daughter is the third generation of registered Professional Engineers (PE) in our family (my father, me and daughter). I am also a Life Member of the Montgomery County Fair in Gaithersburg and a past Board Member of the local Farm Bureau. I also was on many local and state government boards. I have four step grandchildren, a boy 9 years old, a girl 5 years old and identical twin girls that are two years old.

What would you like your fellow members to know about you? i.e., Short Bio:

Having gone to St. John's College in Annapolis, MD, our method of learning was, for the most part, through reading and discussion. Much later in life, when I joined the JCC Men's Group, I drew on the St. John's experience to start and facilitate the Men's Poetry Group which went on for a couple of years. I will remember the members of that group with great fondness as long as my mental faculties hold out.

Selected Stories of Excursions & Special Meetings

Visit to the National Gallery of Art to See the “1874, The Birth of Impressionism” Exhibit

December 1, 2024

Steve Goldberg led 23 JCC Men’s Club members and their guests on a tour of the 1874, The Birth of Impressionism exhibit at the National Gallery of Art. The tour included a presentation of 130 paintings by the French masters and a landmark film regarding the Birth of Impressionism. Our members and their guests enjoyed both lunch at the Gallery and a post-tour Chinese dinner.

From the film, we learned about the early story of a radical group of French painters known as the impressionists; these artists are presented through period scenes that dramatize key moments in their early careers, while a 3D rendering of the remarkable April 15, 1874, exhibition on the Boulevard des Capucines in Paris allowed the group to experience the revolutionary paintings as they were first beheld.

During the tour, the group experienced the creativity of many beloved painters -- Paul Cézanne, Auguste Renoir, Camille Pissarro, Berthe Morisot, and Claude Monet.

Tour of the Kennedy Center

November 7, 2024

Waiting in the Israeli Lounge

Twenty-five Men's Club members and guests toured the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. Our knowledgeable guide, Maria, took us all over the beautiful building, inside and out, and gave us extensive information regarding the history and construction of the Center. We had to dodge numerous school buses to get in, because the National Symphony was hosting 4th graders from Fairfax public schools. In the main Kennedy Center Building, we visited several theaters, the Halls of States and nations, and the outside Terrace. Also, during the tour, we had to take refuge in the Israeli Lounge to avoid mixing with hundreds of nine-year-olds. However, Maria took the opportunity to emphasize the Jewish connection with the development of the Kennedy Center.

The Terrace Theater

JFK Statue

Besides the many performance venues, we got to see a recently acquired sculpture of JFK generously donated by the philanthropist David Rubenstein and to take advantage of perfect weather to admire the wonderful views of DC from the Center's terrace. We also visited the Reach, a new rehearsal, performance, education, and meeting venue adjacent to the Center made up of 3 buildings.

Heading to one of the Reach Buildings

The tour was enjoyed by all, and we now will have a greater appreciation of the Kennedy Center when we attend its many music and theatrical productions.

American History Through A Jewish Lens: National Museum of American History May 13, 2024

After taking the Metro to the Museum of American history, 13 members and two guests met our docent, Sylvia Rosenthal. She normally gives regular tours at the museum, but she also put together a special version for people interested in the contributions of the Jews to American history. Among the exhibits we saw, were those showing the Jewish role in and contributions to the growth of cities, the development of industries such as clothing manufacturing and entertainment, the labor movement, the American military, the civil rights movement, invention, science, transportation, etc. We learned that we should never buy a model T and that video games were invented by a Jew (which may or may not be a good thing). We then had lunch in the museum cafeteria before going back home.

National Museum of American Jewish Military History

January 11, 2024

Twelve of our members took a field trip to the National Museum of American Jewish Military History. This is the only museum dedicated to documenting and preserving the stories of Jewish service in the American military.

Upon entering the museum, we were greeted by a wall of pictures of the Israeli hostages being held in Gaza. This was very moving. Soon our tour guide, Michael Rugel, Director of Programs and Content welcomed us to the museum.

The core exhibition uses stories, images, artifacts, and multimedia to explore the place of Jews in the military heritage of the United States, from Colonial era to today.

Using the ideas of spirit, conviction, and purpose, the exhibition asks these questions: “Why do people serve in the armed forces;”

When and in what contexts did they serve;” and “How did they serve?”

The exhibit starts with the story of Francis Salvador, the first Jew known to die for American independence. It then presents artifacts and individual stories from the Revolutionary War to the present. All in all, we learned about the contributions of Jewish men and women to the American military. Furthermore, we heard about the “Jewish War Veterans” role as the patriotic voice of American Jewry working to support veterans and combat bigotry.

We also visited “The hall of Heroes.” This exhibit features photographs, citation, and memorabilia from Jewish heroes who received the Medal of Honor or the Distinguished Service Cross, the Navy Cross, or the Air Force

After the museum tour, we had a delicious lunch at Sette Osteria, a nearby restaurant.

Trip to the Capital Jewish Museum

October 5, 2023

A group of 8 of us visited the new Capital Jewish Museum (on 10/5/23). We met at the Grosvenor Metro Station platform and left for the museum at 10 AM. We departed the Metro train at Judiciary Square and proceeded to go up the escalator. However, it was not working, so we asked the station operator to open the elevator for us so we could get to the top of the station. After walking two blocks to the museum, we had to wait until 11 AM for the museum to open.

First, we proceeded to the third level to go to the special Ruth Bader Ginsburg exhibit which showed details of her young life, her legal work, and her work on the Supreme Court. This included information on many of the major

Supreme court decisions that she influenced. While there, we had the opportunity to don Judges robes and pose for pictures as if we were sitting on the court.

We then went to the second floor to view the interior of the old Adas Israel synagogue building and observe some of the permanent exhibits on that level showing the history of Jewish life in the Washington metro region.

The final section was the first floor which had exhibits on the old Washington area Jewish communities and Jewish institutions.

After the museum, lunch was at Jack's Famous Deli just down the street on F St. All of us enjoyed the excursion.

Trip to the National Cryptologic Museum

May 10, 2023

The visitors with our Guide

On May 10, twenty would be spies from the Bender JCC Men's Club journeyed to Fort Meade to visit the National Cryptologic Museum which is part of the NSA. We were led by former NSA IT engineer Steve Groff. The museum was recently renovated, and he made it really come alive.

3 and 4 disk Enigma

First, we were shown cryptologic cylinders dating back to the Revolutionary and Civil Wars. Then we viewed Enigma machines that the Germans used to code and decode messages during World War II. We even saw the machine used by Hitler. Steve demonstrated how the Enigma machines worked. We saw a book of code keys that were distributed to the German units so they would know how to set up the Enigma machine for a given day.

Hitler's Enigma

We were then shown how the allies broke the Enigma code. They used a machine called the “Bombe” originally designed by Alan Turing. Enigma was a polyalphabetic substitution cipher. The Bombe could quickly help the code breakers to determine the key for a given day’s code. We were also shown the Japanese version of the Enigma that the allies were also able to break.

The “Bombe”

Docent Groff, then showed us machines developed by the NSA to protect the transmission of American secret messages. First NSA built its own version of Enigma which had six coding disks making it almost impossible to break our cyphers. Then he showed us versions of the world’s first Cray supercomputers. We learned that the blinking lights on these computers were only there so that they would look cool. Finally, we saw an early version of a satellite phone which made it nearly impossible for an enemy to intercept and steal our messages. After digesting as many facts as we could we transferred to Mission BBQ in Laurel and digested as much food as we could. The trip went off without a hitch and was enjoyed by all.

Hanukkah Party

After missing Hannukah feasts for two years, about 60 members of the club celebrated the holiday and the moderating Covid pandemic with good cheer and fellowship. Keeping with tradition, Toby Gottesman moderated a program reviewing events of the year and recognizing volunteer member contributions, in particular Jay Doniger who emceed hybrid Zoom and in person meetings throughout the year. Special thanks were given to the JCC staff, Marcie Blackman, Bobby Layman and Oscar Rocha who support our activities. They were given a Hannukah gift as an expression of our appreciation.

Then came the feast of latkes, herring, whitefish salad, and rugalach. Ed Chidakel and Dave Fenster took care of logistics and were joined by Vince Berg and Chuck Brownstein who manned the ovens, and Stan Ginsberg who marshalled the service. While we enjoyed our meal, a collage of pictures from Men's Club activities was projected in the auditorium.

Rabbi Mitchell H. Berkowitz of B'nai Israel Congregation delivered remarks about the miracle of Hanukkah. He then led us in the lighting of the Hanukkah candles.

Next, we enjoyed of short video of the Jewish a cappella group Six13 singing Hannukah songs to the melodies from West Side Story Finally, the attendees had ample time to schmooze and catch up with each other.

Trip to NASA Goddard Space Flight Center

September 15, 2022

The visitors with our Guide

Seventeen members and our guest speaker headed out to Greenbelt. At the visitor Center we were shown a 15-minute video overview of the Goddard mission and accomplishments. Our personalized welcome message was above the screen. We learned that the facility is huge, with 10,000 employees spread across 35 buildings. NASA operates several distinct divisions that overlap to some degree. We spent about 15 more minutes touring the Visitor Center before meeting our tour guide, DJ Emanuel, and boarding our private bus for transportation on to the Space Center campus.

The Clean Room

We visited two buildings. The first houses the world's largest clean room where satellites are assembled. A wall of the room is made up of entirely HEPA filters because of the ultra-cleanliness requisites. We saw some parts and some mock-ups for the next big project, the Nancy Grace Roman Space Telescope. It will be nice to look back on that as it becomes a big news item in the years to come.

The Assemblers

Model: Nancy Grace Space Telescope

We were then transported to the testing building where the components and assembled satellite are put through tests which simulate take-off and conditions in deep space. These included long exposure to either high heat, extreme cold, or intense vibrations, etc. Our group was asked not to take pictures in this building for security purposes. After the tour, we returned to the Visitor Center to explore the rocket garden and rockets in the back as well as other exhibits inside including fantastic pictures taken by the Hubble Telescope.

The Gardens

Our group then drove to Ruby Tuesdays in Greenbelt for lunch. We sat in a private room and competed to see who could bump their cholesterol the highest. After the meal, Eric Steckler, MD, from Florida gave a talk on “The History of Jews and Beer”. In biblical times, the women used byproducts of bread making to brew barley beer. Since beer was safer to drink than water, everyone was plotzed most of the time. It was a fitting end to a wonderful day.

Lunch

College Park Aviation Museum Tour

June 23, 2022

Twelve souls ventured into Prince George's County to learn about the early days of aviation. The adjacent airport was built by the Wright Brothers and is the world's oldest continuously operating airport. Savannah Laury, our tour guide, explained that the museum displayed many planes that set records for being the first of their kind and represented the origins of early aviation. These early planes looked like they were made of metal but were in fact covered with painted canvas. The first plane we saw was the Wright-B, a 2-seater made with many bicycle parts. The wing struts were flexible to allow the pilots to steer it. Savannah also told us that each night one of the Wright brothers would sleep in the hangar with their plane(s) to prevent others from stealing their designs.

The next plane we saw was the Curtiss "Jenny," originally designed for the Army to be used in WWI but became the first "Air Mail" carrier. It was designed with ailerons (flaps) to control the plane's movement which became a standard for the aircraft industry.

We also saw a prototype helicopter that was built for the navy (but was never used), the first closed cockpit plane, the first plane made out of metal, and the first open cockpit plane to fly over the North Pole. Finally, we were shown the machine gun that was used to test its synchronization so that it could fire through a turning propeller in flight and the first aerial photography camera.

Then Dave Gross gave a talk on Jewish pioneers in aviation. We learned that his grandmother saw Wilbur fly around a racetrack in Vienna in 1909 and that the first person to fly in Australia was a Jew by the pseudonym of Harry Houdini.

After that we decamped to Looney's pub in College Park. The next oldest person there appeared to be about 23. Once our cholesterol readings topped 300, we left and regrouped at the JCC. It was a great way to spend a rainy day together.

Third Cabin John Park Picnic

June 7, 2022

Continuing a tradition, the Men's Club held a picnic at Cabin John Regional Park. More than 40 members enjoyed camaraderie and hot dogs, hamburgers, grilled corn on the cob, watermelon, and all the fixings.

Once again Dave Gross secured the venue, Mike Baker was the major-domo, Mike and Eddie Chidakel arranged the logistics, and Stan Ginsberg managed the finances. Peter Jonas Garry Feldman and Ken Juris joined in to get things set up. Dave Fenster "organized" the grill squad of Neil Shulman, Marty Frank, Burt Bacharach, Gary Katz and Gary (where's the beef?) Feldman. They prepared a feast of hamburgers, hot dogs, and fresh corn.

Chuck Brownstein and Jay Doniger shucked a pile of corn and sliced more watermelon than could be consumed. On the side were coleslaw, potato salad, chips, pickles, and other fixings, very carefully arranged by Mike and Ken, with supervision of Isaac Bokman.

Sports and trivia director Sheldon Lehner, with expert assistance of Wayne Martin, and Corey Dreyfuss conducted the entertainment. Batting ringers Alvin Lieberman and Mike Baker hit whiffleball home runs. Bean bags were tossed. Sports and music trivia were contested, and heroic splashes happened in the balloon toss. Everyone had a great time.

The Men's Health Group

Weekly Presentations

Dr. Lou Siegel (affectionately known as Dr. Lou) took his Men's Health Group (MHG) to new heights over the course of the last year. His creativity, knowledge and good humor were highlighted in weekly Zoom sessions where Men's Club members learned about, discussed, and shared the unique issues that make up the health concerns of senior men. This Men's Club activity has been vital for keeping our members in contact and interacting during the Covid-19-induced separation.

Typical hour-long sessions involved Dr. Lou presenting a topic, a member leading a session of personal interest, or an expert guest speaker; followed by discussion and Q and A. Besides presenting accurate information about the continuing Covid-19 pandemic, meeting subjects focused on critical issues of interest such as diabetes, blood pressure, heart, urinary, digestive, muscular-skeletal, and mental health. Other areas for discussion included pre-prescription and over-the-counter medications.

Dr. Lou and his medical professional Men's Club colleagues also published a weekly e-newsletter called the BLIZZARD for all members of the club. It includes an essay by Dr. Lou on a medical or health topic, announcements of future meetings, and the Blizzard Board where members can have their health, medical, and socialization interests or needs posted to find other members with similar interests or needs. The BLIZZARD also includes the DOCTOR'S INN section, a list of Men's Club member doctors credentialed in the fields of dentistry, psychiatry, sleep medicine, neurology, cardiology, audiology, arthritis and rheumatology, internal medicine, and clinical psychology. These doctors have volunteered to answer member's questions about their field.

Second Cabin John Park Picnic

August 31, 2021

On Tuesday, August 31, the Men's Club held a wonderful get-back-together-in-person picnic at Cabin John Regional Park. More than 40 members enjoyed camaraderie and hot dogs, hamburgers, grilled corn on the cob, watermelon, and all the fixings.

As a result of the hard work of the organizers and workers this repeat event was a huge success. Dave Gross secured the venue, Mike Baker did the overall planning with assistance from Vince Berg who passed a comprehensive logistic baton. Mike and Eddie Chidakel took care of much of the logistics, and Stan Ginsberg managed the finances.

Dave Fenster, Neil Shulman, and Marvin Arluk grilled up a feast of hamburgers, hot dogs, and delicious corn that Chuck Brownstein brought along with perfect watermelons that were both picked-that-morning. On the side were Cole slaw, potato salad, chips, and pickles.

Sheldon Lehner, Wayne Martin, and Corey Dreyfuss conducted the entertainment. We played "Home Run Derby" (whiffleball), "Name That Tune," "Bullseye" Velcro ball toss, bowling (1 pin only), Jewish sports trivia, "Water Balloon Toss" (team pairs), and some board games. Everyone had a great time.

Big Train Picnic

June 21, 2021

After a year and half of JCC Men's Club meetings held virtually on Zoom due to the Covid-19 crisis, we stormed back into face-to-face action. The occasion was a picnic at Shirly Povich field, home of the Bethesda Big Train summer collegiate baseball team.

The event was planned as a picnic in the stadium pavilion in Cabin John Park, followed by a baseball game featuring the reigning champions of the Cal Ripkin Collegiate Baseball League, a nationally recognized league that nurtures future professional players. Organized by picnic rainmaker Vince Berg, forty-plus Club members and friends were welcomed back to a catered feast of pizza, hotdogs, salads, and the fixings. The meal was capped off by a delicious cake commemorating our return to meeting in person.

The food and camaraderie in the pavilion more than made up for the 40-minute downpour that drowned out the game. Rain check dates for ticket holders followed for Club members to return for baseball.

On Tuesday, June 29, a hearty band of rain-checkers attended a thriller of a makeup game. Back and forth runs ended in the bottom of the 10th inning as the Big Train walked off with a 7-6 victory over the South County Braves due to a sacrifice fly.

Excursion to the Cloud

Spring, 2020

When the Covid-19 pandemic caused the Bender JCC to close its building, the Seal Team was determined to not let this also close what had become so much part of the lives of our Men's Club members. Without missing a beat, we moved most of our activities to another format i.e. the Internet. Our members were encouraged to download the Zoom application, a user-friendly videoconferencing program that is free to members who can access Zoom on their PC, tablet, or cell phone.

Jay Doniger schedules and hosts all the Zoom meetings. Other volunteers continue to facilitate discussion by suggesting discussion topics, member presentations, and guest speaker lectures. About 60-75 participants “Zoom-in” for general discussion meetings on Tuesdays and Wednesdays. More join when there are outside guest speakers and special events. Most of the activities that make the Club so important continue to happen.

At our Zoom meetings our members keep up with events in their existence, schmooze, argue, smile a lot, catch some zzzzs and laugh together over mostly unprintable jokes. Each week, Dr. Lou Siegel conducts Men’s Health sessions, making topical presentations and leading discussions. The Yiddish group still takes advantage of Internet links to present a wide variety of material selected by its participants. The result is rich discussions of Yiddish and Jewish history and culture. The Investment Group now meets every Friday morning to discuss investments and the economy. Our tradition of meeting for Friday lunch still occurs on Zoom at home. It is a continuation of friends discussing anything and everything, enjoying each other’s company.

For everyone who participates, our Zoom meetings are a virtual perpetuation of what we used to do at the JCC. Most importantly, they are a virtuous part of our lives i.e. what the Men’s Club is all about.

Trip to the Holocaust Memorial Museum

January 23, 2020

The JCC Men's Club visited the US Holocaust Memorial Museum (USHMM) to see the new "America and the Holocaust Exhibit." Approximately 35 members of the Men's Club participated. We split into 2 groups each led by a docent for a 90-minute tour. Arrangements for the tour were made by Isaac Bokman who volunteers as a volunteer at the museum.

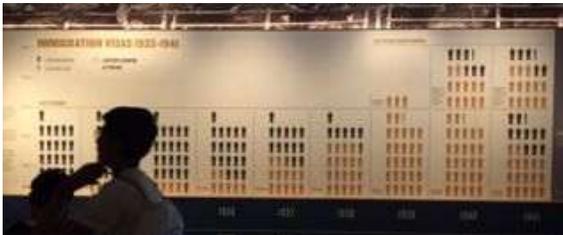

The new exhibit explores the prevailing attitudes of the general population in the US regarding the entry of the US into the war in Europe before the bombing of Pearl Harbor and subsequently. Additionally, the exhibit addresses the attitudes of the American people and its government once the US entered the war. It examines why the failure to rescue Jews because of restrictive immigration policies as well as the failure to use of military force to slow down the rate at which the Nazis were murdering Jews throughout Europe in Death and Concentration Camps. There has been much criticism of the US government for not exerting greater efforts during the war to save Jewish lives by military means such as bombing the rail lines leading to death camps or the bombing of the death camps themselves as adjunct actions to routine US military missions. Either of those adjunct military actions would have reduced overall Jewish deaths by estimates of hundreds of thousands of people.

After viewing the America and the Holocaust Exhibit each of the two groups did a side tour of the Eishishok Tower of Photos Exhibit which is part of the permanent exhibit at the Museum. This photo exhibit was established to provide a picture of typical pre-war Jewish life in an eastern European shtetl (about 6,000 shtetls were destroyed by the Nazis during the war) using personal photos. Because Ken Juris' parents were both born and raised in Eishishok. he gave us a several minute overview about the Tower of photos exhibit, details about Eishishok life, and pointed out photos of his parents and several aunts and uncles whose photos are part of the exhibit. Of the 3,500 Jews that lived in Eishishok approximately 35 survived. Ken's parents were among them.

Upon completion of the USHMM tour the Men's Club group had lunch at the USDA Agriculture building directly across the street from the Museum.

Amazon Fulfillment Center Tour

November 7, 2019

On November 7, about two dozen Men's Club members toured the Amazon Fulfillment Center in Baltimore. After lunch at Matthew's Pizza, an old-fashioned family-owned restaurant that is a stand out compared with the national and regional chains, we proceeded to the fulfillment center.

The Amazon Fulfillment Center is a massive 1.4 million square foot complex that processes more than 1.0 million packages a day for delivery in Maryland, Washington, D.C. and Virginia. The building we toured processes packages up to 18 inches long. Larger items are processed in a separate building. While this Amazon Fulfillment Center is highly automated, it still employs over 4,000 people working 10-hour shifts four days per week.

Packages move along 15 miles of conveyer belts. They are sorted and stored in 7 foot tall, 3 square foot mobile shelving racks that are transported by oversized Roomba-like robots. The robots are in constant motion carrying the shelving units to work stations where workers guided by computers, scanners, cameras, displays and intelligent spotlights either stow items on the shelving units or pick items for placement in bins that move by conveyer to packing stations. As they reach the packing stations items are scanned and packers are directed as to which size box to use. The packers use their discretion in properly packing the box and apply a bar code label to identify it. The box is sent on its way and a shipping label is automatically applied by a contact-less label maker. The package is then directed by scanners along the conveyer belts to its proper place on the loading docks. The speedy processing supports Amazon's thrust into same-day order delivery.

Trip to the National Capital Trolley Museum

October 17, 2019

The JCC Men's Club visited the National Capital Trolley Museum. The museum highlights street car transportation in our local communities including a working street car in the Chevy Chase area.

A docent led us through the museum and explained the History of trolleys operations in the Washington DC area. Trolley service started in Washington in the early 1860s using horse drawn cars. Because horse droppings were causing public health problems, they started to use electricity to power the cars.

Initially, the electric power was supplied by an underground cable that was buried between the tracks. A piece of this infrastructure was on display. After a fire destroyed the electric power plant in the 1890s, the underground cables were replaced with overhead cables. Trolley service ended in the 1950s when ridership dropped dramatically due to other competition.

The docent also led us through the Great Hall where many historic trolley cars are stored. She related the history of the trolleys that we were looking at. We also saw the last trolley that rolled on the streets of Washington, DC.

The 17 attendees then enjoyed a trip around the 1 mile loop on an old trolley car. And our conductor explained more about the history of trolley cars and answered many questions. For one thing, he explained why trolley service disappeared. He told us that after many people bought TV sets, they went to the movies much less often. Most people used trolleys to get to the movie theater.

We then departed for a great lunch at the Big Greek Cafe located at Norbeck Road and Georgia Avenue. Overall it was a nostalgic trip for many of us who grew up riding trolleys as youngsters.

Trip to the Monocacy Battlefield

July 31, 2019

Dave Gross led a group to visit the Monocacy Battlefield near Urbana, Maryland. 21 people including a grandson and the speaker, Dr. Eric Steckler who lives in Florida, carpooled from the JCC to the battlefield. While we enjoyed donuts and hard tack on the field, Eric spoke about the role of Jews in Civil War era America. He had a 14-page handout with pictures of some of the more interesting personalities. After his presentation, Ranger Marcy gave an informative talk on the events leading up to the battle. We then took a mile long walk around a section of the battlefield. The weather cooperated and it was very pleasant outside, but the air conditioning in the Visitor Center still felt good.

Inside the Visitor Center, the electric map of the battle is always a hit among the other interesting exhibits.

The lectures and the hike made us very hungry, so we went to The Black Hog BBQ for a tasty lunch. We carpooled back to the JCC much smarter and somewhat heavier than we were on the way there.

Cabin John Park Picnic

July 16, 2019

David Gross unlocked the gate to the Cabin John Picnic area at 11 am on a perfect summer day. He was joined by grill master Avi Strolson, who set about cleaning and koshering.

Caterer/quartermaster extraordinaire Vince Berg unloaded mountains of hamburgers, hotdogs, and all the fixings. Chuck Brownstein set out fresh corn and watermelon. Isaak Bockman, Dave Fenster, Eddie Chidikel, Simon Sznurman, Avi, Marvin Arluk and Lew Cohen got the food prep going.

Sheldon Lehner arrived with a whole sporting good store worth of picnic game equipment and, with David Gross, set up a whiffle ball field, a horseshoe pitching ground, and an assortment of field game setups.

Toby directed parking traffic and members started arriving at the pavilions. By 1 PM more than 55 were on hand to dig into, and over the next 90 minutes, feast on more than enough hamburgers, hot dogs, veggie burgers, potato salad, cold slaw, ears of grilled corn and oversize watermelons!

With the serious business of chowing down completed, more fun happened. Alvin Lieberman (official Bronx champion) showed how to pitch horseshoes. Before long, a large group of “boys of summer” were off imitating bulldogs and Englishmen in the mid-day sun, first with a whiffle baseball game, then with an extended water balloon-tossing contest. “Official Ref” Sheldon led active competitions in sports trivia, basketball tossing, Velcro baseball pitching and one (giant) pin bowling in the shade of the pavilion.

Picnickers were treated to a gentle breeze, cold beverages, more watermelon and finally, the piece de resistance (for those who couldn't resist) smores (inventively assembled and grilled by Lew and Eddie). Full, tired and happy, a large group lingered in the shade schmoozing and wrapping up a great day out.

A Day to Honor Ed Chidakel

May 28, 2019

A special Men's Club Tuesday meeting was held on to honor an extraordinary member. It was "A Day to Honor Eddie"- our own Ed Chidakel. About 90 people participated, along with Eddie's family and invited friends. We applauded, roasted and toasted Eddie with all the love and respect that he engenders through his fellowship, service and leadership.

After his dramatic heart attack in New York last year, everyone was delighted and amazed by "Fast Eddie's" fast recovery. This inspired Ronny Watts to take up a collection for an event to honor Eddie. The response was substantial; planning for a special event, a surprise party, followed close behind.

Marvin Arluk, Simon Sznurman and Isaac Bockman handled the catering which included post-lunch snacks, cake and ice cream. Ronny David Frome and Chuck Brownstein developed the program.

Ronny served as Master of Ceremonies, presenting two short videos, one composed of photos of Eddie's family and Men's Club lives, and the other a roast featuring photos of historic Jewish actors and athletes that are reflected in Eddie's character and his club activates. Many members who know Eddie well offered testimonials that honored his service and example.

Toby Gottesman, our founder, summed up the general sentiment by observing that the outpouring of concern by the membership about Eddie's illness, and the joy of his fast recovery changed the club from an "organization into a family."

Doctor's Day

The wealth of the JCC's Men's Club resides not in its treasury but in the richness of the accomplishments of its members. Among the members are those who have achieved success in many fields, including law, psychology, research, pharmacy, city planning, geology, and even rocket science. Also, a dozen physicians ranging in age from the seventies to the mid-nineties, practicing nine different specialties, and representing over four-hundred total years' experience, are within our group.

The Men's Club celebrated their physician members by inviting them to join in a program entitled the "JCC Men's Club Doctors' Day". Drs. Herb Tanenbaum, Sol Barr, Sam Itsicoitz, Perry Hookman, Andrew Green, Bruce Smoller, Don Vogel, Dave Gross, Ray Scalletar, and Stu Lessans were asked to form a panel moderated by Dr. Lou Siegel. Stu, Don, Andrew, Herb, and Ray participated to share their collected wisdom and experience.

The panel was asked to share their views on what it was like to be a physician, what they learned about human nature, the highs, and lows, of their careers, and the one thing their fellow members should know about how to be healthy.

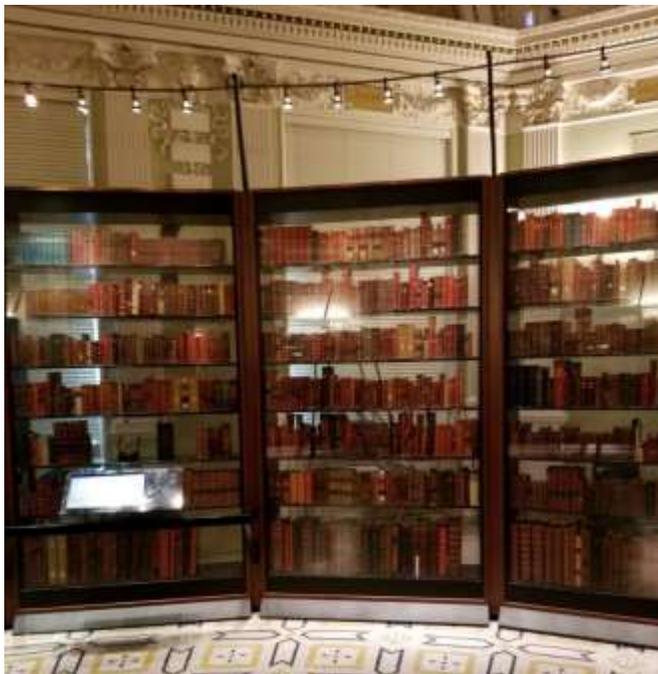

The panel was much appreciated by the packed house and gave proof to all who came to listen how lucky they were to be in the JCC Men's Club.

Trip to the Library of Congress

April 4, 2019

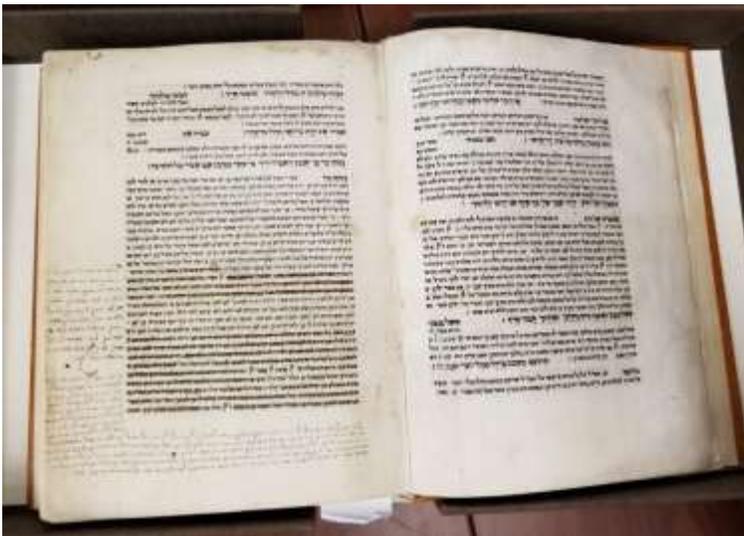

Fifteen members of JCC Men's Club last week went on a guided tour of the Library of Congress.

The tour was guided by Ed Williams and started in the main building of the library, the Jefferson Building. Ed gave the group a brief history of the library, when it was started and where the first books in the library came from (Thomas Jefferson).

When we toured the main hall and viewed the beautiful reading room. Ed then took us through the Baseball section of the library, which included baseball material from early days though current time.

We then visited the Judaica section of the library which was guided by Judaica specialist Dr. Brenner and Sharon Horwitz and spent over an hour looking at some of the earliest Hebrew books that were printed in the early 1500s. They also prepared a collection of early Haggadahs, one of which was a Washington Haggadah. The collections of the Judaica books were incredible, and the stories very interesting. If you want to see this part of the library, call in advance.

The last part of the tour was the incredible music room, which is rarely open to the public. The room contains a collection of the oldest and most beautiful Stradivarius violins and a Stradivarius viola. These instruments were donated to the library on a condition that they must be played in a concert, which happens monthly and is open to the public for free. So, if you visit the library and get to see this, you will be amazed.

Trip to the Montgomery County Recycling Center

February 7, 2019

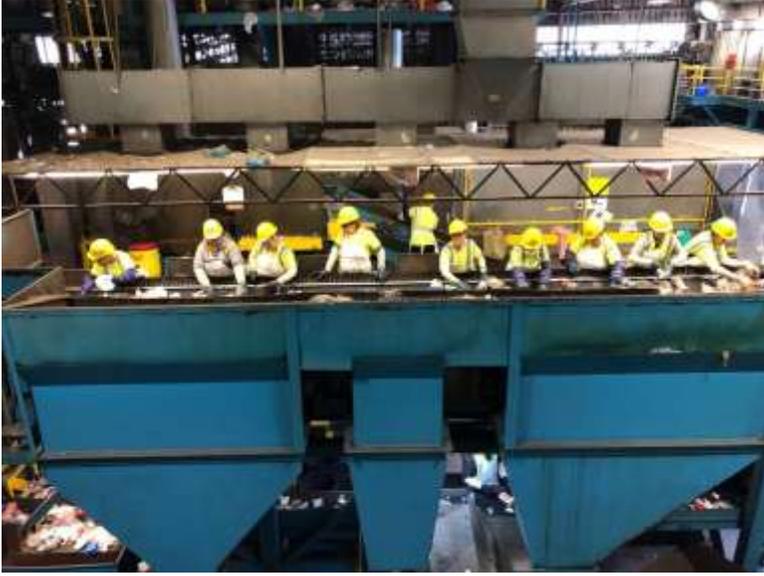

A group from the Men's Club visited the Montgomery County Recycling Center. We met in the Visitor Center, which is actually an informative museum. You can have a guided tour or go through the center on your own and take a self-guided tour.

The plant is noisy, and one has to wear the provided earplugs. Thus, no explanations can be given during the actual tour. Our guide was very knowledgeable, but so were several of our members--she was impressed.

Wherever one looked, trucks were dumping tons of materials. Then the bulldozer pushes them onto the fast-moving belts whirring in every direction.

We were surprised at how hard the women (no men) worked. They are pulling out trash from the recyclables, which are then sifted and sorted by the machines. Surprisingly, the center does not smell.

That was lucky because after the tour, we went to lunch at Mama Lucia, which was quite tasty. Overall, the group had a great experience.

Trip to the Museum of the Bible

November 15, 2018

On a snowy day ten of us went by Metro to the Museum of the Bible. Although the building originally was the icehouse for D.C., it is now completely modern inside.

State of the art displays, including a virtual reality tour of Israel including with actors were presented. For example, an entire Galilee village from two thousand years ago, was depicted, complete with a synagogue and a rabbi. An Israeli rabbi was also at the museum, inscribing a Torah. He entertained us for half an hour.

Although evangelical Christians largely funded the museum, it was more of a history museum than a religious one. Moreover, the historical focus was mostly on The Old Testament.

An added delight was lunch in an excellent deli.

Trip to the National Museum of Health & Medicine

April 2, 2018

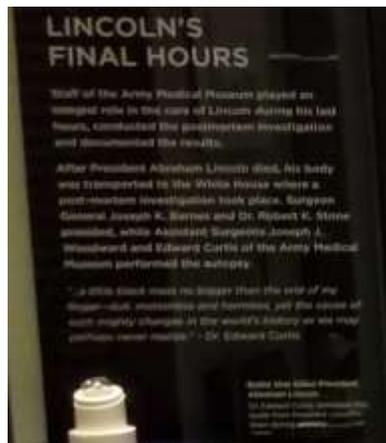

Skeletons of humans and animals, relics from murdered US Presidents, normal and abnormal body parts, plastinated human organs, and much more are on display at the National Museum of Health and Medicine. 20 members of the Men's Club ventured out to Silver Spring, MD for a docent-led tour of this unique institution.

Our excellent guides regaled us with stories of famous, the not so famous, and the infamous. Among the many interesting relics exhibited at museum are the bullet that killed Abraham Lincoln, and his bone and hair fragments. There was a bone with bullet hole from James Garfield, who likely would have survived the assassination attempt had not doctors stuck their fingers in the wound to drain it (the prescribed procedure of the day). We saw the skeleton of the first monkey to orbit the earth, who died on the operating table.

We observed the shattered bones of Union General Daniel Sickles, a controversial soldier whose leg was shot at Gettysburg. He sent his amputated leg to the army to be exhibited, then was livid that his foot was discarded.

The military section showed how military medicine has evolved over the past two centuries, and how innovations during wartime were transferred to the civilian world.

The pathology section contained body parts that had elephantiasis and a set of conjoined twins. Moreover, one exhibit contains a row of skeletons of humans ranging from a fetus of 4 months to a five-year-old child that shows the relative size and development.

We also observed and handled human organs (including a heart) that had been preserved through a process called plastination, in which the water and fat is removed and replaced with a polymer.

The museum has some 25 million holdings, only a fraction of which can be exhibited in its relatively small building. But those that are displayed kept the attendees entranced for the hours of our visit.

Trip to Strathmore

January 11, 2018

In January, the Men's Club visited the Music Center at Strathmore. Sixteen members and wives toured the center, hosted by our terrific guide Bob Schultz. He regaled us with stories and information about the inner workings of the Music Center, which celebrates its 13th anniversary on February 5.

We began our visit by proceeding 3 flights down the grand staircase to The Green Room (which is painted light blue), the waiting area for the artists. A huge and beautiful mobile, "The Music of Light: a suspended sculptural environment," created by Meryl Taradash, hangs above the staircase.

The performers' dressing rooms are next to The Green Room. We learned that Strathmore is one of the few venues in the world having windows in the dressing rooms. In most others they are underground.

Next, we headed through the backstage area onto the stage. Bob pointed out that the stage has a slight spring to it to assist dancers. The back quarter of the stage contains a hidden elevator for bringing up large additional rows for large choruses and large equipment.

Bob then detailed the sophisticated acoustical technology built into the Center. Every part of the auditorium is designed to ensure the best sound possible, from the wood chosen for the walls and floor to the fabric of the seats. He showed us the grills in the walls that have hidden curtains to reflect or absorb sound, depending on the type of group performing.

Bob Shultz standing on the elevator section of the stage

The heart of the acoustical design are 36 glass panels above the stage whose angles can be adjusted independently to deflect the sound evenly to attendees in all 4 levels of the hall, based upon the size and composition of the group performing on the stage. All these features make Strathmore one of the best venues in the country to hear a concert.

After the tour, David Frome said that he has a new respect for the acoustical design of the Center. Alan Kreger remarked about the sophisticated technology that went into the acoustical design. All of the attendees commented about Bob Schultz's depth of knowledge of Strathmore and his obvious love of the hall, where he has volunteered for the past 13 years.

Hanukkah Party

December 12, 2017

About 80 members attended the the JCC Men's Club annual Chanukah Party. Members schmoozed and got to know each better in an informal setting.

Toby Gottesman, the Men' Club founder and Seal Team leader, introduced the program.

Rabbi Mitchell H. Berkowitz of B'nai Israel delivered opening remarks with an interactive discussion about the miracle of Hanukkah. He then led us in the lighting of the Hanukkah candles.

Art Rayman followed with a few Chanukah songs including one in Yiddish.

A terrific repast followed of traditional goodies including latkes, herring, whitefish salad all prepared by Ed Chidakel and Marvin Arluk.

Tour of the Washington Nationals Park

June 2, 2017

Twenty-five of our members and spouses attended a private tour of the Washington National's Baseball Stadium arranged for us by Larry Katz. The tour included the visiting team's clubhouse, the press box (highest in the majors), the Nat's' dugout, several luxury suites and boxes, and the warning path on the field. In the bullpen, members got to try pitching, with varying success.

Besides a ballpark, the stadium is a museum, with amazing photos and memorabilia of baseball history in Washington including Griffith and RFK stadiums and the Washington Grays, the Negro League team.

There is a wall of presidents, from Taft to Obama, throwing out the first pitch; of the Washington Senators' successes (one world-series victory and several American League pennants); and perhaps their greatest old-time player, pitcher Walter Johnson.

Dave Fenster said that our guide, “Maria provided an excellent tour of the Park. I was also very impressed by her knowledge of DC baseball and of the museum-like historical displays in the Park. This tour exceeded my expectations and is a Men’s Club highlight”.

After the tour, the attendees had a delicious lunch at the Gordon Biersch restaurant where they were able to relax and remember their day.

Martin Meyers mused, “That curve ball pitch in the bull pen was a definite strike”, while Art Raymond affirmed “I need more warm-ups in the bullpen”.
