

DFI's flagship magazine, Deep Foundations, publishes bylined articles from experts in the industry. Articles should be informative in nature and should not read like a press release or sales brochure for the company, should not include any commercialization or promotion, and should not include trademarked product names after the first mention.

Articles shouldn't be academic papers and shouldn't include detailed references. In addition, articles should be original work (not previously published).

Submission guidelines for feature articles are as follows:

Length: Between 1,500 to 3,000 words. Article acceptance is provisional until reviewed by DFI.

Author Information: Each article should be accompanied by a 1–2 sentence author bio including any designations and the company/employer.

Photos: Photography should be submitted as high-resolution digital images saved as JPG files, 300 dpi at 5" wide minimum (1500 pixels) for use in the body of the article. Please include a photo that can be used as an opening image in the article (Ideally 300 dpi at 7.5" wide or 2250 pixels).

Graphs and Illustrations: Illustrations can be submitted as separate JPG or hi-res PDF files.

Please do not submit graphics embedded in Word documents. All graphics must be a minimum of 5" wide at 300 dpi.

All scanned art should be at least 300 dpi and should be scanned at its true size. Solid black-and-white line art (no gray screens) should be scanned at the highest resolution possible—1,200 dpi is ideal—and saved in Bitmap format.

Tables and charts can be created in Microsoft Word or Excel.

Cover Stories: If submitting a photo to be considered for use on the issue cover, digital images must be at least 8" x 10" at 300 dpi.

Contributions: Please consider including the names of project partners and suppliers, particularly if they are DFI corporate members. This can be within the text or in an acknowledgments section at the end.

Format: Articles and images should be uploaded to <https://bit.ly/Deep-Foundations-Article-Submission>
