Strategic management journal articles free

The Journal of Strategic Management aims to publish the highest quality research, including questions, evidence and conclusions related to strategic management and involving strategic management scholars. We receive manuscripts with a diverse mix of topics, framing and methods, and embrace their diversity. Specifically, the Journal of Strategic Management aims to publish papers that help answer important and interesting questions in strategic management, development and/or test theory, replicate previous research, explore interesting phenomena, review and synthesize existing research, and evaluate the many methodologies used in our field. The SMJ has also published studies showing a lack of statistical support in specific samples for specific hypotheses or research proposals. We welcome diverse researcher methods and are open to papers that rely on statistical reasoning, qualitative data, linguistic theory, computational models, and mathematical models.
