WHAT IS A TEENAGER?

A teenager is vitality personified. He has divested himself of the bonds of childhood immaturity and stands waiting for his opportunity to express himself as an adult. He cannot be classified as a specific type. Neither can a great work of art.

His interests and dreams can change with the turning of a hand or the flashing of an eye. Whatever may be his immediate goal, he pursues it with the abundance of life he is so fortunate to possess. At times, his boundless vigor may be misguided and he becomes the object of scorn from the adult group he seeks to enter. In spite of the occasional infringements he makes upon the adult world, he is an object of joy and inspiration to those who know and understand him.

Who would suspect that the ivy-league trousers, button down shirt, and dirty bucks were embracing the body that would some day help shape our nation's future? He asks the adult world that governs him to be patient until he decides a definite path over which his talent will be directed.

While enduring this stage his elders call "adolescence," he goes to school. There he finds an outlet for his thoughts, emotions, and desire to be with others.

In your 1958 Dial, the staff will show you, through words and pictures, what a teenager really is and how your own Marshall High School accepts its responsibility in helping the people that grace its halls to become better citizens in today's complex world. Within the pages of the 1958 Dial the many-sided views of the typical teenager is placed into focus. Those who know and understand him realize that he is . . .

To The Teen-ager's Friend.....

This year, the Journalism class wishes to dedicate the year book to its advisor, Mr. Kenneth Drake. Sports loving Vic spent two years on the gridiron and two years on the diamond. His best friends were Myrl Patton, Jim Jeffery and Roger Elyea, while his favorite teachers were Miss Erskine and Mrs. Murray. Vic was a member of the Orchestra and Latin Club for two years and the Varsity Club one year. Vic plans to attend M.S.U. and major in Fisheries and Wildlife.

MAXINE R. WOLF

Likeable Maxine, this year's D.A.R. girl, could usually be found with Mary Meza, Kendra O'Connor, Janette Layden, Katherine Monk, or the crew. Miss Merritt, Mr. Cunningham and Mr. Sherman were tops as teachers. "Max" participated in Latin Club 4 years, G.A.A. 3 years, Student Council 1 year, Usher Club 1 year with Battle Creek Community College and studying teaching in her future plans.

LIM WONG

Lim entered M.H.S. as a sophomore and has since become quite popular with the student body. He has participated in track, choir, and the amateur show where he did an excellent job as a vocalist. He enjoyed Miss Merritt and Mr. Conway very much as teachers and he chummed around with Bruce Rial, and Reinney Steffes.

RUDY YOST

Handsome Rudy enjoyed all school events, but he devoted most of his time to the F.F.A. Mr. Gardner and Mr. Conway were his favorite teachers, and he could usually be found with Frank Kilbourn, Richard Nava, Fred Hamilton, and Dennis Casey. Along with F.F.A., Rudy participated in one year of baseball. After school, Rudy plans to work for himself and then for Uncle Sam.

The Senior Class of 1958 wishes to dedicate this space in fond remembrance of Lawrence Eaton, who was a victim of an unfortunate accident between his sophomore and junior years. "Junior" will long be remembered as a valuable classmate and for his congeniality toward others.

Wow! Man! Pretty Cool!

One of the largest and most determined Reserve football squads reported to Coach Harold Hodnett this year. With most of the members still remaining on the team, the Reserves battled to a 7-7 tie with a highly favored Lakeview team in the season finale.

This year's reserve basketball team was freshman-dominated. The boys had difficulty getting used to game-competition, but soon developed into a smooth-running unit. Mr. Clark's Papooses' main purpose is to develop players that will be an asset to the varsity, despite the reserve won and lost record.

The Marshall Redskins this year finished the most successful season since 1945. After winning the first two games they took on the East Lansing Trojans, who were rated number one in the state. The game was decided on the lone touchdown scored by Marshall in the first quarter of the game. Marshall was then rated number one, and defeated Sturgis, Lakeview, Albion, Adrian, and St. Philip. The postponed Coldwater game was the remaining game to be played. It had to be played on the Wednesday following Marshall's 56-0 victory over St. Philip. The game was played under very poor weather conditions and Marshall was without the services of their leading scorer, Jim Rowe. Coldwater's All State fullback crashed into the end zone in the final minute of the game for the winning margin. This ended Marshall's season with a record of eight wins and one loss.

Although the Redskins didn't get too close to the top in the Twin Valley Standings, they played the season with a lot of spirit and they never gave up. In the last few seconds the Redskins were defeated by the first place Adrian Maples, and kept up with the Sturgis Trojans, only to be defeated in the last few minutes. But Marshall also came out on the winning side of things. But with the victories and defeats, the 1957-58 basketball season was a success.

Doing an interpretative dance to "Autumn Leaves", Vail Ann Starr placed third in the novelty and dance division.

Marcia North got second place in the vocal with her version of "Tammy."

Birdland Rehearsal

The 1957 Senior Amateur Show was a success largely through the efforts of the able Senior Class sponsors—Miss Merritt and Mr. Conway. The setting for the show was that of Broadway Play Rehearsal and was highlighted by two Hillbillies—Harold Cook and Janet Jo Bryant.

"Sugar Blues" won the Dixieland Band second place in the instrumental division.

Third place in the vocal division was taken by Marilyn Place singing "Till".

Linda Goretzka and Pat Ingraham placed first in the novelty division with a pantomime of "Daddy Dear".

The hard-working sponsors, Mr. Conway and Miss Merritt were presented gifts by emcees Steve Gray and Nancy Sawtelle.

First place in the instrumental division went to Barbara Youngdahl and her violin, playing Sonata in G Minor.

Sally Pearce sang her way to first place in the vocal division with the song, "Basin Street Blues."

A well-done sailor dance by Midge Miller and Sue Smith captured second in the novelty and dance division.

Angie (Jolene Cassens) seems to be enjoying the close company of Jock Duluth (Chuck Ostrander).

"The dents don't come out the way they go in," cries Kitty (Donna Corioscio) while her father (Ken May) and mother (Nancy Delong) look on annoyingly.

Tony, the wolf, (Dick Vincent) makes a friendly pass at Angie (Jolene Cassens) while her old flame, Jock (Chuck Ostrander) watches with some jealousy.

For a moment the world revolves around Lorraine (Diona Copmon) and her love affair. The troubled on-lookers are sister Angie (Jolene Cassens), Jock Duluth (Chuck Ostrander), older sister Margaret (Suzanne Boyd), and Art (John Woller).

"Love and dotes" scorns Kitty (Donna Corioscio) as she watches sister Lorraine (Diona Copmon) and friend (Ken Wirtz).

"Seventeenth Summer" Thrilled Packed House

The 1957 Junior Class scored a victory as they performed, "Seventeenth Summer." The comedy was based on the experiences of a girl after she accepted her first date.

Angie's close (?) friends Jane (Sue Flathau) and Margie (Connie Wilson) with her boyfriend Fitz (Bob Hillobront) have a friendly chat.

THE GREAT BIG DOORSTEP

Mr. Tobin being comforted by Evvie Lou after a blow on the head by Tayo (Mike Fedak), the barber.

The Great Big Doorstep, the 1958 Senior Play, was a hilarious comedy about a Southern family and peculiar situations they seem to get involved in. These poor, confused, and loud people were hurt by the fact they had to leave their shack. In conclusion, a new home was found for them in much confusion and a family is reunited.

"Mr. Crochet, Mrs. Crochet" interrupts Mrs. Beaumont Crochet (Marilyn Rollins), the florist from New Orleans.

"Aren't you twins going to speak to your Uncle Dewey" says the Commodore (Harold Cook). Val Ingraham was Dewey, the Commodore's brother.

Stubbornly the Commodore ignores them, as Topal, Mr. Tabin (Myrl Patton) Evvie, and Mrs. Crochet try to get Arthur's (Ron Cook) mouth closed. In trying to win a nickel bet, Arthur got a pool ball stuck in his mouth.

Mrs. Crochet (Jill Wilson), Evvie, and Elena, look on as Fleece shows their landlady, Mrs. Dupre (Marcia Johnson) the lump she got when she fell off the kitchen table.

Dolls must have funerals. At least that is what the twins, Fleece (Marcia North) and Elena (Sandra Drake) tell their older sisters Topal (Dallas Ostrander) and Evvie (Janet Moon).

Plays, Concerts, Festivals Were on the Agenda.

Under the devotion of Miss Beebe, the members of the Junior Orchestra learns the basic fundamentals of music and of orchestra playing. They gain an appreciation of various types of music and learn how to interpret them.

The Orchestra with their soothing music has provided our school with fine entertainment. They play between acts at the plays, concerts, and other places when called upon. They also always place high at the annual music festivals.

The High School Choir, under the supervision of Mr. Wilkerson has added a great deal to the school program in the line of vocal music and entertaining performances. Singing at Christmas time, at clubs and various places, the choir sang a delightful performance. Their annual vocal concert proved a huge success of our eighty voice choral group.

CHOIR INCREASES IN QUANTITY AND QUALITY

Younger Musicians Learn Fundamentals of Music.

The Junior Band is made up of junior high students, who are hoping to someday play in the high school band. They participate in the football shows, and play in the concerts. Much interest is shown in the Junior Band.

....an object of joy

"Almost Paradise" reigned as the Girl's Athletic Association presented their annual Winter formal. The Community Building served as the nucleus of the festivities. Two floors were adorn with silver stars, Christmas trees, and a sleigh. The center of attraction was a glittering ball which threw off reflection as four spotlights gleamed upon it. Music was provided by Bobby Earle and his Collegiates.

ALMOST PARADISE

OVER THE RAINBOW

Last year's J-Hop proved to be one of the best. The theme of the 1957 formal was Over The Rainbow. The gym was decorated by life-size replicas of a Scarecrow, a Lion, and a Tinman with murals as a background, and the music was provided by Bobby Davidson's band. The juniors did a nice job in saying farewell to the Seniors.

To Better Serve

the Community.

The girls in the Usher Club have the important responsibility of ushering at most civic and school functions. With the assistance of Miss Merrett and the leadership of the head usher, Mary Terwilliger and Diana Capman, these girls enjoy serving the school and community.

Books are Our Business.

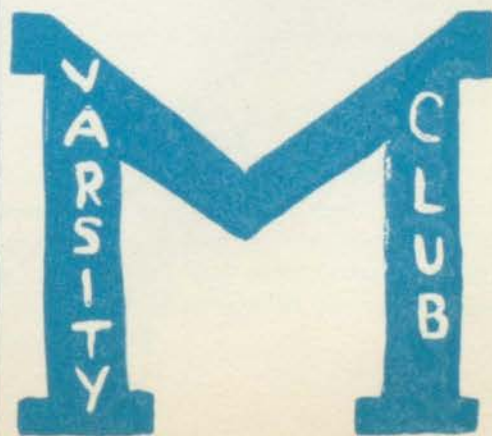

The Library Club members are always on hand to help students locate books and other library materials. There are twenty-two members, each is assigned a certain section of books to keep in order. Under the guidance of Mrs. Miller, the club does a most reliable job.

The Five Pointers.

There are five basic principles which are the backbone of the Marshall Varsity Club. They are:

1. To promote better citizenship in school and community.
2. To promote sportsmanship and good will among schools.
3. To promote better scholarship among club members.
4. To assist in the care and preparation of playing areas.
5. To help enforce training rules set up by coaches and administration.

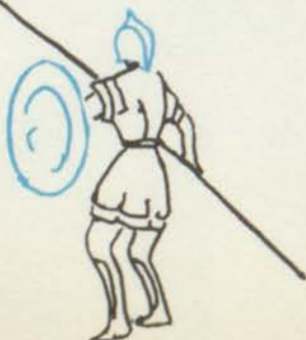

Health, Friendships, Money, and Time to Enjoy Them.

Caroling through the halls at Christmas, the Spanish Fiesta, and the annual trip to Spanish Day at Ann Arbor, make the Spanish Club an enjoyable activity for Spanish students. Under the capable leadership of Miss Shafer, the club strives to further Spanish history, language, and customs.

Labor Conquers All Things.

One of the most popular groups in Marshall High School is the Latin Club sponsored by the enthusiastic Miss Shafer. The highlight of the year is their annual Roman banquet. On this occasion they partake of Roman food, dress in togas, and relive the days of the ancient Roman. Christmas carols are sung in Latin by the group through our halls during the Holiday season.

Character-Service-Scholarship-Leadership.

Miss Merritt heads our Honor Society

The National Honor Society was established to do honor to those students who have excelled scholastically and have shown marked qualities of leadership, service, and character.

Juniors and Seniors whose scholastic rating is B or better are eligible to be considered for membership. Not more than 15% of any one class may be elected to membership. Scholarship is considered first, then the other three qualities.

The emblem of the organization is the keystone and the flaming torch. The keystone is symbolic of strength and perfection; the flaming torch symbolizes the light of knowledge. At the base of the emblem appear the letters C, S, L, and S, the initials of the words Character, Service, Leadership, and Scholarship.

Daily Christian Living Our Aim.

Back row: Miss Wingate, adviser; Ron Cook, song leader; Marcia Johnson, pres.; Jackie Kipley, Vice Pres. Seated: Jennie Shaw, Nancy Clark, pianist.

The Bible Club is the one group which represents the religious life of Marshall students. This group meets every Friday and has varied types of programs. Because of its interdenominational character the club has invited ministers from the different churches of the members. Club members themselves conduct the meetings and put on the programs also.

Face the Future With Warm Courage and High Hopes.

The Future Homemakers of America is a club designed to promote interest in home economics and to maintain worthy home membership for better community living. The members of this club planned and prepared suppers, and the big event of the year was the F.H.A. banquet.

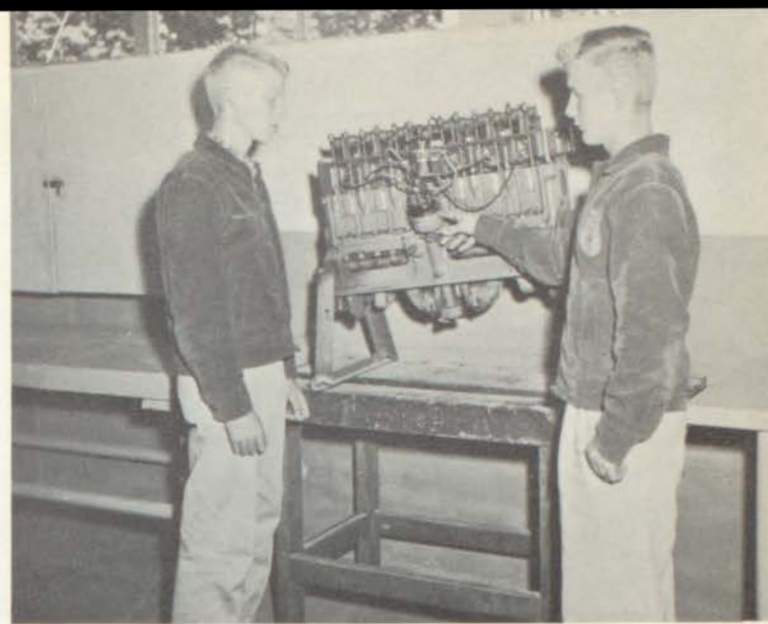

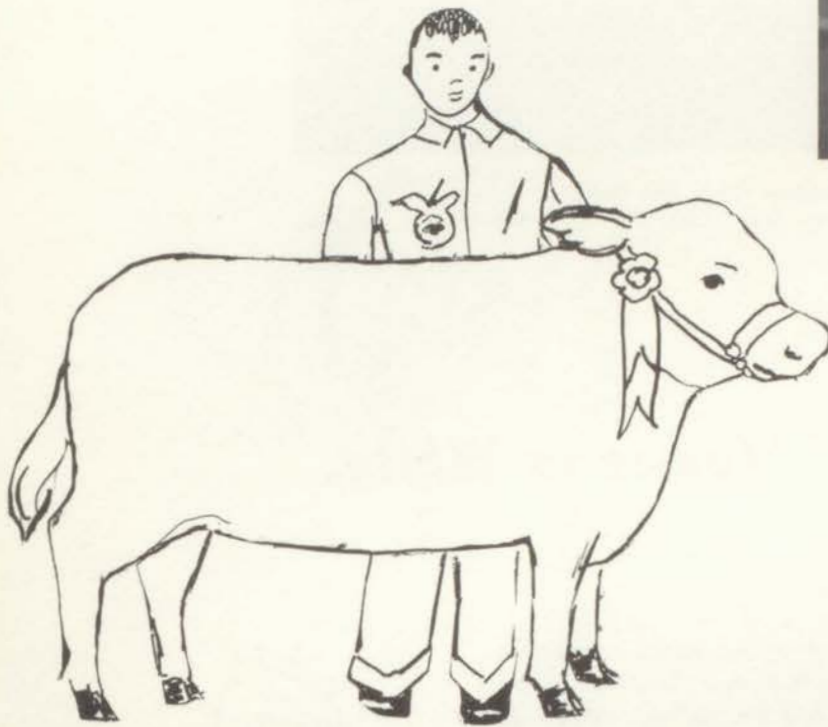

Trying to Reach the Peak.

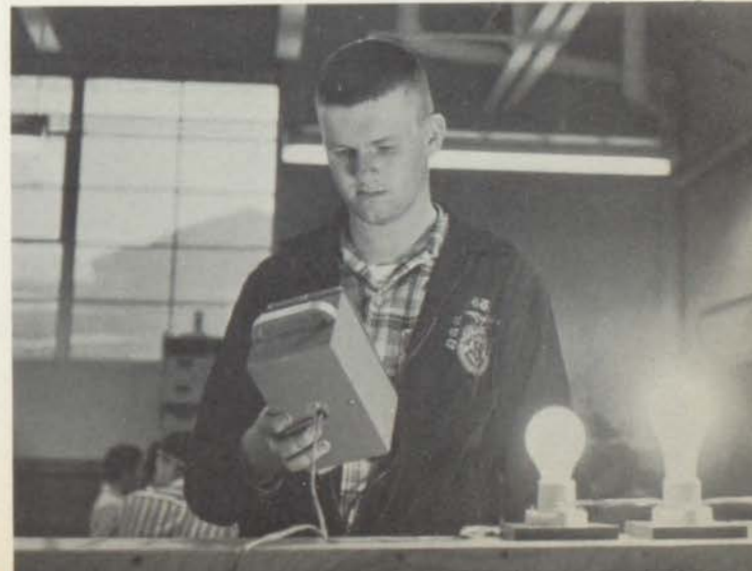

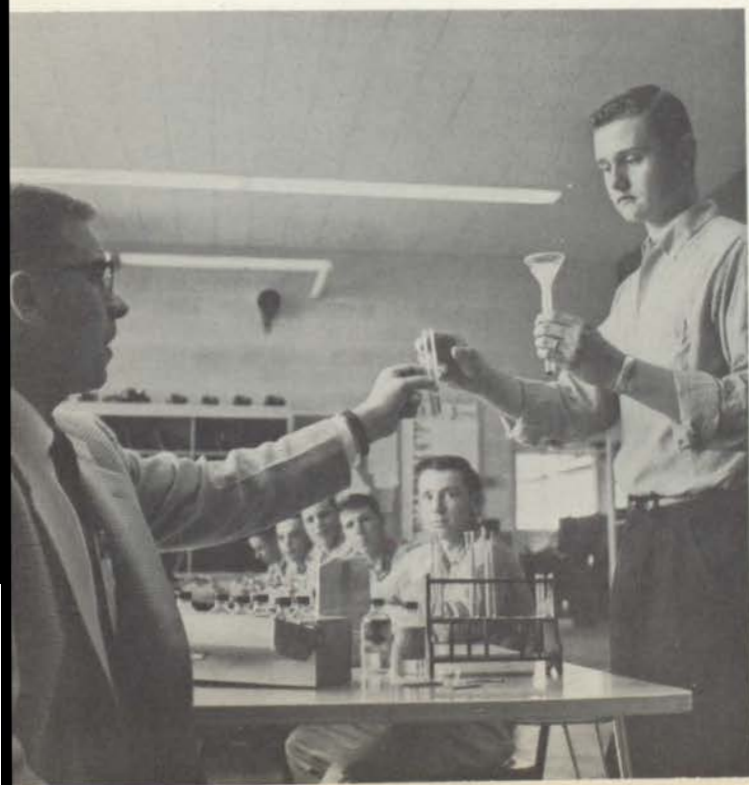

The Secretarial Club is an organization designed to interest those students who are headed for the business world. Speakers from various business schools are enjoyed each year by Secretarial Club members.

Learning to Live.

Our FFA is the busiest club in the school consisting of 100 farm boys who wish to get established in agriculture. To join this club one must take vocational agriculture and have at least one earning project. All boys wishing to be initiated must be accepted 100 per cent by their fellow members.

Future Women in White.

The Future Nurse's Club is an organization for Junior and Senior High School girls interested in nursing as a career. This club informs them of the different phases of nursing and the training required for each. It helps the members in deciding whether this is the right vocation for them.

the nation's future

Math is essential in any student's life, no matter what occupation he intends to pursue. The basic techniques of problem solving that are learned help him to reason clearly and logically.

The Whole is Equal to the Sum of Its Parts.

The three fields of Science, Biology, Physics, and Chemistry are primarily college preparatory courses. They are also very practical for the non-college student, for they give him a basic understanding of our today's scientific world.

"What if It Explodes?"

History represents the recorded information which deals with past significant occurrences and events. History creates better understanding of countries and races, for in our day and age this is rather important for the public to recognize.

Columbus Sailed the Ocean Blue.

In Government you are taught to understand the way a local, state, and national government works. Current affairs are discussed, both local and nationwide.

International Relations is a new course this year. Past events in international politics are studied and discussed. All these affairs are of today. International Relations creates lively discussion and encourages students to think for themselves on international situations.

Are There any Volunteers?

Speech, the basic communications, instills within the student poise, ability to think quickly and accurately, and helps one speak effectively in every situation. Speech is undoubtedly a great help to all students.

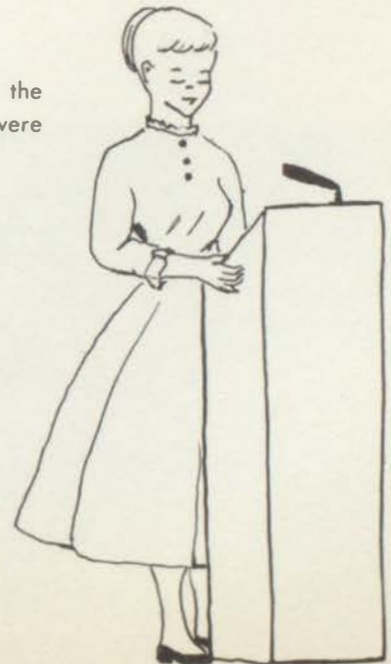

Therefore We See

From This.

Coach Henry Cunningham's debaters compiled a brilliant record, advancing to the state semi-finals before bowing to Jackson. Doing the lion's share of the debating were Sue Boyd, Charlotte Currie, Jill Wilson, Ken Wirtz, and Sue Zinn.

Latin Class teaches not only the fundamentals of the language itself, but also the history of ancient Rome. The many ideas gained here serve the students as an excellent background in their other classes. This year Mr. Harris took over as director of our Music Department. The Senior Band has done a very fine job in all their activities. Their fine programs such as half time shows, concerts, and music festivals, show all the hard work done in this organization.

Spanish not only provides an understanding of the language, but also of the customs, geography, and people of the Spanish speaking countries. Because of the close association we have with our Spanish neighbors, this course is becoming more and more valuable.

Effective Living is a class that in general prepares the students to face the matured traits of life after High School. It is extremely helpful with social and emotional problems and with the understanding and getting along with people. The students develop individual personalities and backgrounds for sound marriages and family life.

The course of study develops by way of movies, reference books, and class discussions.

Live and Learn.

Life without Literature is Death.

The purpose of our English classes is to make the student proficient in speech and original writing and at the same time to give him a background in well-known American and English literature.

Art is Long, Life is Short.

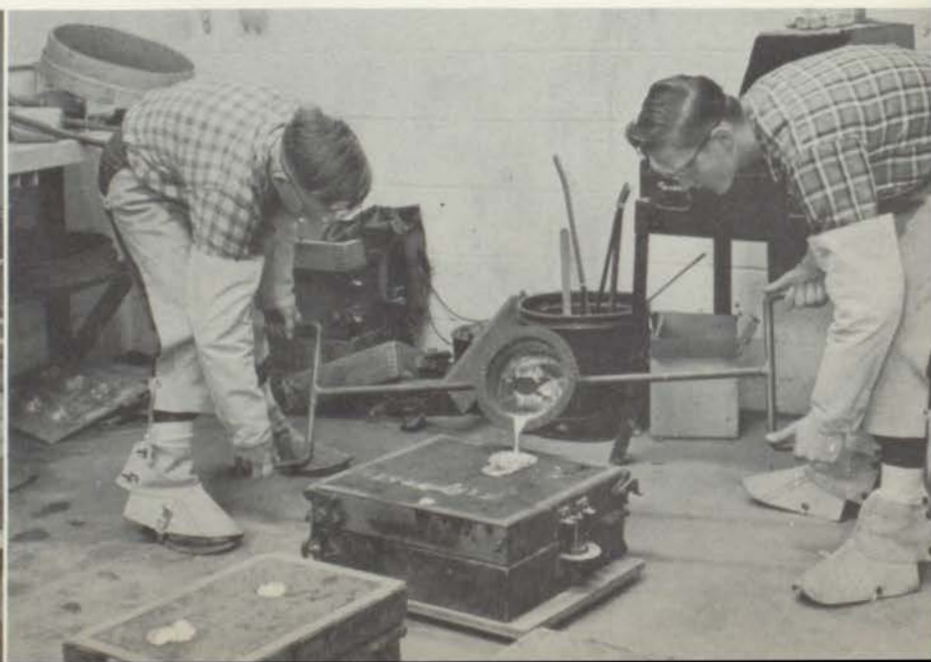

Art is to teach appreciation for the great works of art and to increase the students ability for the work that he himself will do. In class the student has a chance to do work in sandstone, carve in soap and wood, to paint in oil and water-color, to draw in pencil and in crayon, and work in numerous other fields of art.

Hit the Nail, Not the Thumb

The shop classes in Marshall High School provide the learning necessary for practical application in later life.

They give the students a chance to use their constructive ability in the making of useful projects, while they are learning.

Now is the Time for All Good Men. . . .

All students planning to go into the business world, such as a secretary, public accountant, etc., find the commercial courses very useful. The Commercial department offers courses in Typing, Shorthand, Bookkeeping, Business Machines, and General Business in preparation for the future. One or two years of these courses give the student a good sample of what is ahead. These courses are helpful to everyone whether or not they are planning a business course.

Release the Emergency Brake. . .

The Driver Education classes which are now required for all newly licensed drivers teaches the rules and fundamentals of safe driving. The classes are well-filled and should soon make our highways filled with good drivers. The program this year has two instructors, Mr. Sackrider, the classroom teacher, and Mr. Carr, teaching behind the wheel.

Varitypists—Jean Merkle, Bonnie Kinne, and Joanne Langridge.

Journalism is the business of managing or editing a journal or another source of periodical. The work of gathering news, writing stories, directing a publication of a newspaper and different forms of editing is done by the ambitious work of a journalist. So often the art of a newspaper is easily taken for granted until we find the true meaning and work behind it.

Farmers, Outstanding In Their Fields.

We have one of the finest vocational agriculture departments in the state. This class consists of boys interested in farming for a career. Many divisions of farming are taught throughout the four-year program offered. Each student must become a member of the FFA, which is an extension of the class.

A Watched Pot

Through Homeliving, high school girls' minds are stimulated to new interests in family living and responsibilities. The practical skills of home management are taught, all the way from budgeting to diaper-changing.
