Take a deep inhale and think about high school dance and try to remember what they were like. Anyone who has been up-to-teen probably remembers awkward slow dances, new tank-tops from the mall, and screams along with every word of pop radio hits. Songs from the late 90s and early 2000s may seem like a distant memory now, but at the time many were iconic. Looking back on the era, there are definitely some song lyrics you've completely forgotten have existed so far. Every now and then one of these songs will play, in a clothing store or on a radio or on an ironic party playlist, and those words will bring you right back to this high school audience. Several genres flourished in the late 90s and early catches, and both decades were periods of growth for alt-rock, rap and hip-hop, as well as pop music. While some of the most popular songs don't exactly reinvent genres or experiment in new ways, they're definitely fun. Whether it's Anna Nalick's soft rock or one of Enrique Inglesias's slow dance staples, you may have forgotten some of these tunes. There's no time as a gift to listen again and remember those lyrics that, for better or worse, shaped your teenage years.

1 Too Little, Too Late - JoJo Long, before Taylor Swift declared that she would never get back together with an ex, JoJo was penning pop breakup hits. Every seventh-grader has certainly listened to this after a high school meltdown that everyone knows means no longer sitting together in a cafeteria or group dates in a movie. Things were hard then. Memorable lyrics: I'm going to say this now / Your chance has come and gone / And you know / It's just too little, too late / Too long / And I can't wait

2 About girl - Click five-link entries on YouTube if you forget the protagonist's love interest in this song works on 100 proof of attitude power. So, it's still aspirational after all these years. 3 Crying up time - Semisonic if this one hit miracle doesn't instantly ring the bell, it will come back to you once the piano notes play. It's everywhere from movie opening credits against the backdrop of your fave 2000s TV show, and even now it's a tough song to avoid. Memorable Lyrics: Closing time / Turn on the lights over every boy and every girl / Closing time / One last call for alcohol, so finish whiskey or beer / Closing time / You don't have to go home, but you can't stay here / I know who I want to take me home.

6 This will be me - NSYNC Depending, on which the big boy band of the 2000s was your hunger, may have had a time in your childhood where you knew every word for every NSYNC song. While Bye Bye Bye may be the band's most acclaimed track, for true fans, this song was just as important. Memorable lyrics: Baby when you finally / Get to love somebody / Guess what / It's going to be me

7 Hand In My Pocket — Alanis Morissette Alanis Morissette on YouTube This is a shame that most of Alanya's songs now refer to background music, it's time to bust them for belt purposes. It's hard to pick up the most singing singer along a decent track, but this one is definitely there. Memorable Lyrics: "Clears my throat" I got one hand in my pocket, the other gives a high fee-lll-VVVVEE8 Breathe (2am) - Anna Nalick Admit it - this song still makes you emotional in 2017. Nalick's hit ballad stuck around is not just the way it intertwines with a few sad stories and brings them into a heartfelt chorus. It's the perfect sad pop song. Memorable Lyrics: Because you can't jump the track, we're like cars on cable / And life is like an hourglass stuck to a table / No one can find the rewind button, girl / So cradle head in hand, And breathe ... just breathe / Breathe, just breathe

9 Hero — Enrique Inglesias Enrique Inglesias VEVO on YouTube This song was played at every dance and other school activities I went to in high school and high school. So many awkward slow dances have shared this song. I don't know if I'll ever forget the lyrics, but maybe you did.
