Clothespin shark craft template

Picture: Orbon Alija /E+ / Getty Images I love or hate them, sharks are a necessary part of Mother Nature that helps balance our world. Without them, the oceanic food chain would become out of control and global warming would grow rapidly. But even though sharks do us a favor, many still see them as fearful sea creatures. They also show no mercy for animals and humans (or anything that is considered food for them). And speaking of food, if you're a person who likes to eat anything, you're probably more of a shark than you think! Like humans, sharks have many similar personality ities. For example, some sharks are a little friendlier, while others prefer to swim alone. Does that sound familiar? Maybe you're the kind of person who prefers to be alone, or you might be someone who has many friends and acquaintances. Some sharks are also risk-takers, which means they are not afraid to attack larger fish than them. Simple craft projects and creative organizing ideas you can do with these smart scissors. Clothes pins aren't just for washing! Check out our simple craft projects and creative organizing ideas that you can do with these smart scissors. 1/11 The Clever Homemade Trivet Whips up a Scandinavian-style table protector to get it-wood clothespins and floral wire. Oslo-born crafter Paul Lowe shares the easy how-to of a Sweet Paul Eat and Make ($30; Houghton Mifflin Harcourt). Simply spread out 40 clothespins, lay them flat side down and drill a hole each, about 1/2 inch from the tapered end. Thread the pins to the wire so that the double notched sides look to the right, as shown. Then pull the wire into a circle and twist the ends to secure it. You'll be ready before the kettle boils. 2/11 Clothespin Memo Holder Now here's an idea you'd like to clip and save: Inspired by a post aestheticoutburst.blogspot.com, this project takes advantage of tree letters intended for fraternity and fraternity shovels (3/8-wide letters, 80 cents each, paddletramps.com). If you plan to paint the letters and clothespins (3/4-wide clothespins, 75 cents each; bearwithusinc.com), start sliding the clothespins apart into two pieces and setting the metal springs aside. Apply two layers of airbrush to both garments and letters, allowing one hour of drying time for each layer. (We used Krylon's Bahamas and flat white, from $5.60 to $12 an ounce, amazon.com.) Reassemble the clothes pins. For each one, a letter shall be centered in the middle near the upper open edge, as shown; places the wood glue ($5.95 for 4 ounces; amazon.com). Allow to dry for 30 minutes before the clothespins hang the memory of twine. 3/11 Circle Mirror To make this mirror, start painting a circular wooden plaque ($13.99; 111/2D; Michaels.com in stores) and 32 clothespins. When dry, use hot glue to fasten a smaller round mirror ($19.99; 9D; target.com) to the center of the plaque; allow to dry. Place a point of hot glue an inch on the closed end of a pin and stick to the mirror. Space the next pin 1/2 inch above and hold; Repeat to fill the whole around the mirror, making sure to fan the pins outwards as you go. To finish, screw a large saw tooth hanger on the plaque's back and mount. 4/11 Recipe Cards Next dinner, write out copies of your beloved recipes with colorful notecards, and then decorate with stamps. Use clothespins to hang them tape length near the door, so guests can take them when they leave. 5/11 Kitchen cabinet magnets Pin up items should be kept out of sight, such as rubber gloves, sponges, and plastic bags, on the inside of a cupboard door. Use hot glue to attach magnets to the back of plain cloth pins, then hang them on a cabinet or any magnetic surface. If the cabinets are not metal, directly glue the clothespins into the closet. 6/11 Storage Shelf To build this storage shelf, you'll need a 1" x 6" wooden plank and the upper part of door casting, both cut to the same length (ours measure 29 inches long). Use wood glue to attach the plank to the casting, as you can see; allow to dry for one hour. Paint the device and seven clothespins; allow to dry. Apply hot glue to the entire back of the pin, then hold the center of the board so that the pin is vertical, with the closed end down. Evenly place and stick to the other pins in the same way. Allow to dry; screw large ring hangers on the back of the board and hang. 7 of the 11 Wrapping Paper Racks Have You Always Wanted a Gift Packing Station? Make a handy paper rack to hold all the wrapping paper, cards, and festive accessories! Once made (or if you already have one) use clothespins clips with cards and ribbons on it, for easy access. Instructions: Wrapping Paper Rack 8 11 Sweet Treats Supplies: Waxed Bags, Tissue Paper, Holiday Cards, and Clothespins. How-to: Waxed bags, available in most supermarkets, keep baked goods fresh. Then make them festive! Cut decorations paper handkerchief with pink scissors. Fold bag, add decoration or seasonal card, and close it with a clothespin. 9/11 Organizer Tree Keep all papers and cards in order and on display with this light, adorable organizing tree. First, paint or marker, draw beautiful patterns of clothespins. Then, after they dry, clip them onto a store-bought (or DIY) metal necklace organizer. 10/11 Apron-sided table To decorate an apron-sided table, determine how many garments you need to cut on each side. Then paint the table and pins. When dry, apply hot glue to the entire back side of each pin; hold it vertically to the apron, with the closed end down until a bandage is formed. Glue the next needle directly next to the first one; continue this process until the space is full. Repeat on the other three sides, then let the table dry for an hour. 11 of the 11 Party Discounts Use colorful clothespins to hang out-in-light party favors like these miniature books on growing herbs, a simple piece of twine. Smart way to craft your own bed canopy, recreate paper napkins and make a lonely paddle for a new life. 1/5 Sunny Canopy This simple project makes smart use of embroidery hoops and a pair of ready-made curtains. RELATED: DIY Canopy Bed 2 5 Spoon Mirror Makeover of a plain Jane mirror is the most beautiful of all-in-one frame-built spoons. With an 18-inch round mirror, you'll need a hot glue gun and about 105 colored plastic spoons ($3.45 for 24; amazon.com). Step 1: Place a generous point of glue on the back of the base of the handle of the first spoon. Press the spoon on the mirror so that the bowl is outside the edge of the mirror and the handle points towards the center. Step 2: Put another point of glue on the back of the second spoon handle in the same place and lay the mirror next to the first spoon, so that the widest part of the second bowl nestles in the neck of the neighbor. Step 3: Repeat step 1. Then sit back and admire the beautiful needlework. 3/5 Napkin Notes Some paper napkins are so beautiful, it seems a shame to use them to wipe your hands; instead, recycle some of them into one-of-a-kind note cards. First, gently pull the napkin layers apart (you only want the top, printed one) and use an iron over medium heat to smooth out the creases. A blank sheet of paper, like the silk surface, lay the napkin printed with the side down and spritz the flat side spray mount glue ($14.29, 3M; shoplet.com). Place an empty, folded notecard ($21.49 for $60, Avery; staples.com) face down on the napkin, pressing evenly with your hands. Turn the card, fix the folds with your fingers and cut the overhang with scissors. 4/5 Silk Organza Necklace The price of a yard silk organza, some memory wire, and a sterling silver buckle, you can combine your own version of the stylish piece.
