The Fountainhead: "I know, it's a cult. I'm not going to take it too far, but I did enjoy it."

AYN RAND
THE FOUNTAINHEAD

Marmite: "I recently discovered Tea & Sympathy in New York, which does all things English, like Marmite and baked beans and whatnot. I go and stock up."

BlackBerry: "I actually switched over to the iPhone, and then returned to the BlackBerry. It's better for texting! But if they had an iPhone with a keyboard, there would be no competition."

Lancôme Vernis in Love Nail Polish in Gris Angora: "I rarely wear nail polish because I hate how it doesn't go with everything you wear. But this cool grey color is super-neutral and goes with everything."

Charlotte Olympia shoes: "I'm obsessed! She's British, and her shoes are killer."

Diptyque candles: "I bring candles everywhere I go. It's something nice you can set up when you're traveling so much."

Shopspanishmoss.com: "I'm always checking out their blog. And, of course, I love The Sartorialist for getting inspiration."

Luzern Pure Cleansing Gelée: "It's so gentle and contains no parabens or fragrance."

L'Oréal Paris Colour Riche Lip Liner in Nudes for Life: "A makeup artist I met recently used a nude pencil around my lips to give them a perfect outline that's not as obvious as a red liner."

Berocca: "If I'm ever feeling like I need a boost, I'll have some Berocca."

Emma Confidential

Even the famously brainy Miss Watson can't resist a good lipstick. Here, she conjures up her must-haves

Lancôme Rouge in Love lipsticks: "I never used to be a 'lipstick person' because I always felt like I would screw it up, but these go on really light and easy."

CHECK OUT FACEBOOK.COM/LANCOME FOR A CHANCE TO WIN A RING.

Rings: "Lancôme collaborated with Solange—whose jewelry I love—by taking three shades of its new lipsticks and making them into these cool rings."

Cotton balls: "Makeup artist Linda Cartello taught me this tip: If you make a mistake with your mascara, dip a cotton ball into some foundation to remove it and conceal at the same time."

Smythson Soho Diary: "I like this particular one because the pages have plenty of space for to-do lists. I'm a crazy list person!"

THE HILLS BLOOD PRESSURES

The Hills: "I've been listening to the new Hills album, Blood Pressures."

Zumba: "I really like to dance! When I was at Brown, I was addicted to Zumba—I did it three times a week, and I was front row. Embarrassing but true."

Goody headbands: "Because my hair is so short now, I've been getting into headbands. I like these plain black ones that you can find at pharmacies."

Mason Pearson brush: "I have a pink one, and I bought a travel-size one for my little sister recently as well. They last a lifetime."

Lancôme BI-Facil Eye Makeup Remover: "After the red carpet or a shoot, this removes makeup without me having to scrub my eyes, which is horrible."

MV Organics Moisturiser: "I have the most unbelievably sensitive skin in the world, so I love this moisturizer. It's extra hydrating and smells of roses, which is heaven."

365 Everyday Value Immune Support: "If you can't afford to be sick, take these throughout the day. They really work!"
