

OK!

FILE FOR CELEBRITY NEWS
ISS 1818 • MARCH 13 2012 • £1.99 WEEKLY

WHAT REALLY HAPPENED THE NIGHT
THE BECKHAMS BUMPED INTO THE CRUISES

CATHERINE, DUCHESS OF CAMBRIDGE

A ROYAL BABY

How having a baby
will transform her life

'I'm worried drinking could leave my baby with BRAIN DAMAGE'

CHANTELLE EXCLUSIVE

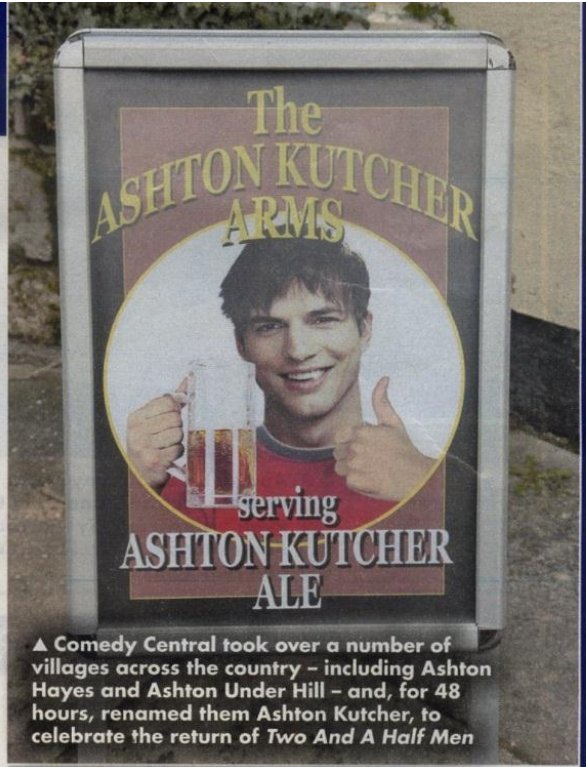

WWW.OK.CO.UK

Printed in the UK by News UK Ltd, London
ISSN 1744-5019 • OK 1818 • £1.99
Retailer: News UK Ltd, London
Distributor: News UK Ltd, London

OK! WORLD IN ACTION

▲ Eight colourful models make their way past the Houses Of Parliament to celebrate Dulux being named one of the year's top ten Superbrands by the Centre For Brand Analysis, joining the likes of Rolex, Google and the BBC

▲ Comedy Central took over a number of villages across the country - including Ashton Hayes and Ashton Under Hill - and, for 48 hours, renamed them Ashton Kutcher, to celebrate the return of Two And A Half Men

▼ Gabriella Cilmi tries out Plan UK's interactive advert in London to launch the Because I Am A Girl campaign. It uses facial recognition technology and is only visible to women

▲ Gina Grant plays the new Zumba Rush for Kinect game at the first ever Zumba Instructor Conference in London's ExCel Centre

▲ Emilia Fox is supporting the Fabergé Big Egg Hunt, in which 200 eggs have been hidden in London for members of the public to find. The prize is a Diamond Jubilee Egg worth £100,000

▼ Colourfully dressed participants in a street dance competition perform their routine at the flower-themed Panagbenga Festival in the Philippines

